STATE CHAMBER TELLS IDAHO TAX HISTORY

In 1913 a new item of expense appeared among the state appropriations. It was entitled "timber fire protection" and the amount of the appropriation was $36,000. Eighteen years later, we find this appropriation grown to $150,000. The per year average increase was $6333.

In other words a governmental function which did not have its inception until the state was 23 years old will cost the tax payers $150,000 this biennium. That explains, to a certain extent at least, why expenses of government have increased.

Timber Valuable

However, it is well, before we begin to criticize, to go deeper into the records and determine if possible what lies behind the timber fire protection appropriation and what justification there is, if any, of this expenditure.

Idaho, on becoming a state and at other times, received large land grants from the federal government to hold in trust for our public schools, universities and colleges, and penal and charitable institutions. On these lands there was, and is, standing timber of considerable value.

Fire Destructive

Fires, as citizens of Idaho have good reason to know, is one of timber's most destructive enemies. Fire hazards, also, are materially increased by human occupation of the woods for industrial and recreational purposes.

Quite naturally, the state of Idaho, as trustee of the school land grants, could not stand idly by while the value of the property was being heavily depreciated by forest fires. Therefore the timber fire protection fund was created and the money used to protect state-controlled timber.

Sales Show Profits

For some idea of the value of these timber holdings, let us quote statistics from the state land department. In 1925 and 1926 the returns to the various school funds from timber sales totaled $541,789.25. The fire protection appropriation that year was $90,000. The 1927-1928 returns were $427,296.50; while the appropriation was $100,000. In 1929-1930, a year of unusually light lumber demand, the sales totaled $256,846.

A still more significant figure is that of the total value of all school-grant timber sales up to October 1, 1930. This value is $4,458,569.07, representing the timber disposed of on an area of 286,870 acres.

The state still holds in trust some 700,000 acres of timber land. A considerable portion of it is located in the valuable white pine sections in northern Idaho; other areas lie in the western yellow pine belts. Denser population and heavier recreational use of the forested areas have resulted in increased fire hazards and necessitated a corresponding increase in the costs of prevention and suppression.

No public-minded citizen would urge that these timber holdings be left unprotected; but our present condition of financial annoyance dictates that such protection should be accomplished at the smallest possible cost.

Cost Per Acre

In protecting the timber property it controls, the state works through the various timber protective associations, of which there are six in northern Idaho and one in the southern part of the state. The state has the status of a private member in the association and participates in their activities in proportion to the size of its holdings in their respective districts. For operating expenses, the state is assessed on a per acre basis, as are the other association members.

On the face of this arrangement, it appears that the state is securing its timber protection services at a cost on a par with that of private owners, which argues for thrift and economy. In passing, it might be said that a large portion of the $150,000 fire protection appropriation granted by the 1931 legislature was expended during the disastrous season of last summer, leaving but very little ready cash with which to face the second half of the biennium.

Baseball Game Sunday

There will be a baseball game on the local diamond Sunday afternoon at 2:30 between Southwick and Kendrick. The small sum of 25c will be charged for admission.

Kendrick is going to try and get back the "piece of bacon" that Southwick took away from them two weeks ago. You are invited to come out and help them.

A LITTLE MORE ABOUT OUR ROAD SITUATION

The days are passing swiftly and spring is rapidly fading into summer and still we have heard no more about our state help for farm to market roads.

It has been said that the state is short of funds and that the total of state aid for farm to market roads is but $10,000 per county. If such is the case, will we of the Potlatch country get our road help. We need it as bad as ever any section ever needed a road and we have not yet given up hope.

On a recent trip trip to Genesee the writer was told that Gov. Ross said in a Washington Bi-Centennial speech there that Kendrick would get her road, but we are further told that the Governor didn't say when, nor did he say where. Up there at Genesee they all seemed to feel that the Governor was "spoofig us," and that it was but an empty campaign speech.

As the days roll on such does seem to be rather the case, but we hope they are wrong. Genesee too, is fighting for road-help, they need it too, but not nearly so badly as we of the Potlatch, who have been up to our necks in mud for years.

We started a campaign to get our road help (with the gas tax money we have paid out for years and never gotten a nickle back) and Gov. Ross came, he saw, and told Genesee we were to have. Let us see how good his promises are.

We repeat what we have said before—Time will tell and 2,000 and more votes hang on whether or not we get that help. Come on Potlatchers—let's stick together in this matter and give and take our just dues.

The Magpie Contest

H. B. Thompson reports that the magpie contest is coming right along and that most of the boys are right up on their toes and are bringing in many eggs and heads.

The boys are again advised that the contest will close on June 11, which leaves only a little more than three weeks' time. It is expected that after school is out the boys will get busy in earnest and that many hundreds of eggs and heads will be brought in—but don't wait until they get too old. Mr. Thompson is not being paid for his time and the counting of over-ripe heads and eggs is no pleasant task, so please bring them in at least once a week.

New Safe Door

B. F. Nesbit has just put in place a new safe door, to take the place of the one blown off by robbers last fall. Mr. Nesbit says it will not be of any use to blow the big iron box again as he does not intend to leave anything of value in it, but will use it only for fire protection.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. John L. Woody was given a real birthday surprise Tuesday evening when some 50 neighbors and friends gathered at the Woody home on the invitation of Mr. Woody, and spent the evening visiting and having a general good time. Delicious refreshments were served at about 11 o'clock. There were few residing on American ridge who were not present at the Woody home for the event.

FUNERAL OF MRS. A. G. WILSON HELD IN KENDRICK

The funeral of Mrs. A. G. Wilson, who passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Wolff, May 5, 1932, was held at the Kendrick Community church on Sunday, May 8, and was attended by a large number of friends and neighbors. Rev. Davis, pastor of the Kamiah Presbyterian church conducting the services, with the Community church furnishing the music.

Mary E. Burns Wilson was born in Sacramento, Calif., February 20, 1869. Four years later her parents moved to Prince Edward Island, where they resided until she was 10 years of age, when they moved to Lewiston, Idaho. In the spring of 1879 her father located on the Potlatch river on what is now known as the Janes place, where he built a dam and erected a sawmill, her mother staying on the preemption claim near Lewiston, until she was able to prove up.

There were few settlers on the Potlatch in those days and the only way to get out was on foot, or on horseback, and was not very safe even at that as there were many renegade Indians at that time. From a brush patch and a rugged hillside she lived to see the town of Kendrick grow to be the hub of the Potlatch country.

On the 25th day of May, 1891, she was united in marriage with A. G. Wilson by the Rev. Mr. Allen, the first Presbyterian minister of Kendrick. To this union 10 children were born—six sons and four daughters: Mrs. Olive Catherine Thomas, Little Bear Ridge; Stewart Alvin Wilson, Kendrick; James Alexander Wilson, Kendrick; Mrs. Grace Meron Cox, Kendrick; Orton Fletcher (deceased); Mrs. Sarah Coryell Wolff, Kendrick; David Kirk Wilson, Kendrick; Milford Bruce Wilson, Kendrick; John Herbert Wilson, Kendrick; nine of whom survive, with her husband and 18 grandchildren, three sisters and a large circle of friends.

Born of the spirit of the West, she was always ready and willing to do her part—and a little bit more. Thus passeth another pioneer who will long be remembered.

The pallbearers were: Clarence Fry, W. Weyen, Add. Alexander, Lawrence Bartlett, Fred Schoeffler and Bert Biddison.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors who so willingly aided us in our late bereavement, and especially do we wish to thank the choir of the Kendrick Community church and those who gave the beautiful floral offerings.

A. G. Wilson and Family.

P.-T. A. Meeting Well Attended

The last meeting of the Parent-Teachers association for the year was held in the school building last Monday evening and was well attended by patrons of the school.

One of the main features of the meeting was the exhibit of work done by students during the school year and those who saw it remarked upon its creditability.

There was also a splendid program of instrumental and Glee club music, under the direction of Miss Newman, which was thoroughly enjoyed. This was the first year that music had been taught in the school and the students did remarkably well and they and their instructor are to be congratulated and complimented.

During the course of the evening, Supt. Brigham outlined the course of study expected to be given next year so that prospective students for next year might have an idea of what would be required of them.

Athletics will be given more attention next year, and with the timber available will undoubtedly make a showing that we will all be proud of.

Tarring Roof

Only a short while ago Bill Watts and George Leith were painting things red down around the Kendrick Rochdale warehouse and elevator. Now they have been darkening things up mightily by putting on a new coat of tar paint on the warehouse roof.

George tried to climb the flag pole, or "sumpin" the other day and broke the thing, so now he is going to have to stand on the atmosphere to get hold of the dangling affair. George happened to be near the ground when the rope broke.

FUTURES WEAK BUT CASH GRAIN MOSTLY STEADY

Domestic cash grain markets were unsettled during the week ending May 13. Futures were mostly weak and slightly lower but cash grains held about steady, under the influence of light offerings, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Favorable conditions for spring seeding, slow export demand for the relatively large remaining stocks and low securities markets were the principal weakening influences in wheat futures. While increased acreage of feed grains and generally favorable prospects for the new crops were the dominant factors in the corn, oats and barley markets. With the exception of barley and flax, increased premiums for cash as a result of light offerings, about offset the declines in futures. Barley declined sharply with decreased demand and favorable crop prospects, while flax continued its downward trend and closed 2c to 3c per bushel lower than a week ago.

Winter wheat made generally favorable progress during the week, with the crop heading as far north as southern Kansas and in early fields in western Kentucky. The condition of the crop, however, is below average in nearly all sections of the country, except in the area extending East and northeast from Illinois. For the country as a whole the condition May 1 was only 75.1 per cent of normal, compared with 90.3 per cent a year ago. Abandonment has been above the ten-year average of 12 per cent and was estimated at 16.6 per cent. The May 1 condition indicated a probable production of 440,781,000 bushels, or nearly 350,000,000 bushels less than last season's large crop. Of this season's prospective output but 239,000,000 bushels is hard winter wheat, 156,000,000 bushels soft winter, and 46,000,000 bushels white wheat. In Europe, condition of winter wheat is reported about average in Germany and Austria and generally satisfactory in Italy, Rumania, Poland, Yugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia. Wet, cool weather has retarded the crop in France. Hot winds are reported to have done some damage to ripening grain in Algeria and Tunis.

Pacific Coast markets were slightly lower, influenced by lower prices in eastern markets and a continued dull domestic and export demand. Marketings in Washington and Oregon continued relatively light and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals were just about equal to the limited current requirements. The receipts during the week at these points totaled only 200 cars, compared with 1140 cars during the corresponding week last year. Shipments from the Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals of wheat and flour during April totaled 3,139,000 bushels, making a total for the season of 50,396,000 bushels, compared with 41,148,000 bushels for the corresponding period last season. Increased shipments to California and the Orient this season more than offset decreases in European shipments. Export sales of 750 tons to the United Kingdom were reported during the week. Local mills furnished the principal outlet for current offerings with no sales reported to the Orient or California. At the close of the market May 13, Big Bend bluestem hard white was quoted at Portland at 73c, soft and western white at 63c, hard winter, northern spring and western red at 62c, sacked. Western white and red sold at Seattle at 64c, with 12 per cent protein. No. 1 dark hard winter and bluestem hard white at 74c per bushel, sacked, for No. 1. 16 per cent protein No. 1 dark northern spring in bulk from Montana was quoted at 93c.

Improved prospects for the new crops of both wheat and barley were weakening influences in the wheat market in California. The May 1 condition of 72 per cent of normal indicated a wheat crop of about 291,450 tons, or about 100,000 tons more than was produced last season. Mills were operating at about normal capacity, but were confining purchases largely to immediate needs and high protein lots to round out milling mixtures. Feeders were taking less wheat because of the approaching barley harvest and the relatively lower prices of that grain. Feed wheat in the poultry feeding sections is now $8 to $10 per ton higher than barley and feeders are turning more to the latter grain. At the close of the market

Tennessean Files For Presidency

Harry Joseph Ryan of Nashville, Tenn., wants to be president of the United States and so advised Secretary of State Fred Lukens the other day in a letter asking his name be placed on the ballot in Idaho, says a news dispatch from Boise.

"I am not a member of any political party," he said. "I believe in the nation."

He declared he would, if elected, support the constitution. He is 35 years old and has been a resident of the United States for 14 years.

He inquires if the legislature had chosen the presidential electors yet, apparently overlooking the fact these are not designated by the legislature.

He said he had nominated himself. This would be a mighty good chance to "take the presidency out of politics."

THE WORK OF THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Every live town has a commercial club. Dead towns have none and cemeteries do not need them.

The mission of a commercial club is to make good towns better—to make live towns livelier, and to promote healthy business and social conditions. In brief, the true mission of any commercial club is to make the community a better place to live in.

Individualism may accomplish something. Every business man working by himself may get some results. Organization and co-operative effort, if rightly directed, can accomplish much more; and it is this co-operative idea that gives rise to commercial clubs and other like civic bodies.

A good commercial club has the business interests of the community at heart, first of all, for without healthy business conditions there can be little other worth mentioning. To promote better business is one of the chief functions of a commercial club or chamber of commerce, and to do this it is needful to keep a watchful eye on the trade territory of the town and to cultivate the "trade center" idea. It is, for example, the business of every community club to carry the "Buy It In The Home Town Idea" to all the country side for miles around, and as much farther as possible, so that when any person living in that territory contemplates buying any sort of merchandise, he thinks first of all of the home town as his trading point.

Promoting better business requires cooperative effort among the merchants, and this can best be secured through a commercial club with a secretary who is constantly on the job.

The work of a commercial club is not, however, entirely directed toward a purely commercial objective. There are many phases of this work, which, while they have no distinctive commercial significance, are no less valuable to the community.

A live commercial club is supposed to, and can, cultivate among the members a feeling of esprit de corps—a solidarity of interest and spirit of working together for the common good. A live commercial club which carries on as it should, can do away with petty jealousies and rivalries which injure individual business men and retard growth of the town.

Through frequent meetings and discussions petty differences can be ironed out and grievances adjusted. To often the country town commercial club is wholly in a subjunctive mood. It might, it could, would or should do a great many things and be of great benefit to the city, if—And it is precisely this stumbling block that they must remove. They must fully realize that they live in the present and not in the past, and that this is an ever changing world. Conditions today are different from those of yesterday, and the conditions of tomorrow will be different from those of today. They must learn to adopt themselves to these changes, and constantly be on their toes.

Present business conditions will not last forever—in fact the coming of the new day is at hand, and light of the morning already tints the hill tops. Times are going to be better and all must do their part to keep their city and its business and social interests abreast of the times, so that they may be partakers of the good days to come.

It is easy to slide down hill, but it requires grit and stubborn endurance to make the long climb upwards to the sunlight, and if they keep pulling together, and pulling with a will, they shall reach the top and breathe the sweet air of more prosperous times and happier conditions. They cannot do it by working each one by himself, but they can do it by pulling together!—Sumner Brainerd, in St. James (Minn.) Plaindealer.

Business Conditions

Our statistician, after interviewing a number of business men and others as to the conditions of business, has reported the following:

"It's vial," said the druggist.

"Always growing," said the market gardener.

"Rotten," said the egg man.

"My business is sound," said the band-master.

"I have seen the worst," said the butcher.

"I am kept on the jump," said the athlete.

"It suits me," said the tailor.

"Just sew, sew," said the seamstress.

"Bum," said the hobo.

"Looking brighter," said the boot-black.

"It is a gamble," said the gambler.

"Our business is grate," said the fireplace manufacturer.

"I am working to beat the devil," said the preacher, the last one interviewed.

Almost Simpler

He skidded around a bend at close to forty. A sudden flip and the car overturned. They found themselves sitting together unhurt, alongside the completely wrecked car. He put his arm lovingly about her waist but she pulled it away.

"It's all very nice," she sighed, "but wouldn't it have been simpler to have run out of gas?"

FARMERS NON-SELLING "STRIKE" GAINING FORCE

The "No Selling" strike of the farmers, which had its start in Ohio is rapidly gathering force and when and if, consummated, will indeed play "hob" with things.

The purpose of this strike is said to be to bring home to the "ivory-domed" politicians, congressmen and grain gamblers what an important place the farmer plays in this great big land of ours and to bring home to them the idea that it is not the price of stocks and bonds that need regulating, but the price of produce, produced by the farmers—the backbone of our nation—and truly, we believe it will do the work.

Think of it—every farmer pledging himself to sell nothing from his farm during the proposed length of the strike (60 days). He pledges himself to sell no wheat, corn, rye, barley, hogs, sheep, cattle, beans or flax, no butter, cream, chickens, eggs, or what have you, for the proposed 60 days. Truly, we believe it would bring home his importance to the nation.

But there is another side of the problem too, think of the opportunity that will be afforded the big elevator interests to unload their stored grain at fancy prices, the cold storage dealers to unload their eggs, butter, cheese and other items at fancy prices—they to make a huge profit at the expense of poor people, who now, of all times, cannot afford it, and thereby reap a usurious profit, to gain the farmer naught. True, these stocks would have to be replaced, but after the first flurry of buying, down would go prices to their former level or even lower. Truly, it is a mighty problem.

It is said that the price of wheat has been stabilized in Germany at $1.25 per bushel, and that the German farmers are happy and contented. Why can't some practical scheme be worked out in this great nation of ours? We believe this time is coming when it will have to be.

We of the little towns live close to the soil, almost as close as if we ourselves were on the farms, and can therefore appreciate his problems as no politician or congressman from the large city can ever do, and it's a shame that such people, who don't know what a cow looks like, have no idea how a binder works, and who believe a threshing machine has paddles, should have the power they do.

What care we of the west what the price of bonds on a skyscraper in New York City may drop to, or the price of power company bonds—give us a fair price for our products, then we can take an interest in these things, start the wheels of industry turning by buying farm machinery, lumber, and even the bonds, which our government is trying so hard to raise in value. First of all we must put money into the pockets of our farmers by buying their products at a fair price—then they will do the rest.

Idaho Fruit and Vegetable Shipments

Fruit and vegetable shipments from Idaho in 1931, totaling 40,539 cars, surpassed 1930 shipments by approximately 25 per cent, the increase being largely of the famous Idaho potatoes, it is revealed by the annual report of the federal bureau of agricultural economics.

Potato shipments last year filled 31,240 cars, which carried the well-known Gem State tuber to all parts of the nation as well as to foreign countries. In 1930, 22,162 cars leaving Idaho loading points carried potatoes. The increase in spud shipments was 40 per cent.

A large increase is also noted in the shipments of onions, the most profitable, financially, of Idaho's 1931 vegetable crops. The number of carloads of onions increased from 635 in 1930 to 1484 in 1931. Apple shipments decreased, largely because of an inactive market, from 6776 to 5396 cars. Plum and fresh prune shipments also decreased, from 1602 to 1403 cars. Four hundred and fifteen cars of green peas, representing a slight gain over 1930, were shipped.

Where Is "Equality"

Last week a man down at Lewiston was fined $200 just because he had a little poker game for the entertainment of his customers, while over at Chicago and New York the gamblers have beaten the farmers of the United States out of millions of dollars and paralyzed industry. And the other day one of them went down to a little hearing at Washington and said "we didn't do it"—and that was about all there will be to it.

The one is just plain gambling while the other is "high finance."

Time For Action

The boat was sinking. The skipper rushed up to a crowd of scared passengers. "Who among you can pray?" he asked them.

"I can," answered a minister. "Then pray, mister," ordered the skipper. "The rest of you put on life preservers. We're one short."

See the home merchant first.

MIGHT TRY REDUCING JUST A WEE BIT

Postal rates were raised and stock sales levies modified by the senate finance committee as it struggled to raise enough revenue to offset the growing treasury deficit and the dying house economy bill.

The house increase from two to three cents in the first class postage rate was approved and the committee also reached out for five million dollars more by boosting the second class postal rates to the high 1921 schedule.

Some of the solons over at Washington are crying their eyes out because of the tremendous deficit that seems to be bothering them at this time, especially in the postal department. Yet they are spending untold millions trying to establish new air-mail routes and have reduced the air-mail postage to a point that it could never be self-sustaining. Let those that are in such a hurry about having their mail delivered pay the proper postage on it. Letter postage has been at two cents for many years but it only within recent years that the deficit has become so great.

It seems to be a case of the poor man helping to pay for the rich man's hobby—air-mail.

Government in Business

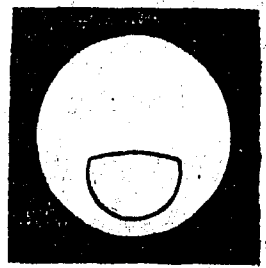

Despite a recent renewal of the efforts by certain politicians to put the government further into business, there are evidences that results of certain projects of this kind strengthening the cause of those who are opposed to the government in business. It is to be noted that the government has just retired from the wheat market and some time ago in an address at New Orleans, D. T. McCuen, of Greenville, S. C., president of the American Cotton Shippers Association, declared that there would be a real advance in the price of cotton when the "Government retires from the merchandising of cotton." In the course of his remarks, Mr. McCuen said:

"Let the government retire from the merchandising of cotton, both spots and futures, turn its stabilization stock over to the trade at a fair price, and give proper assurances that they will never re-enter the market again, and I will promise you an advance within six months."

"Let the government continue, and the farmer is doomed; the present merchandising system destroyed; the fertilizer plant will be converted to other uses; oil mills, gineries, and compresses must enter other fields of industry, and the farmer must move to the city, join the bread line and depend upon a paternalistic government for the dole."

Following close on this came the report in Minnesota of the joint legislative committee which had been investigating the "department of rural credit" in that state, a project whereby the state government was "put into business." Needless to say the joint committee found that this business venture had been disastrous, too. The credit department was founded back in 1923 and it was believed that if the state gave the farmers long time loans at reasonable interest, the farmers would at once be put back on the high road to prosperity. The report declares that this project, involving at first the lending of $40,000,000, required shrewd financiers, but that many of the men employed by the bureau were hired for political purposes and had neither the required skill or experience. The bureau, according to the report, was almost wrecked in the first two years by mismanagement. A reorganization in 1925 could not restore it and now the bureau has taken over 2,000 farms, which it financed, and it may be required to take over 1,500 more. It is said that 12,000 loans amounting to nearly $58,000,000 were placed; but that the farmers got little of the money, most of it going to pay loans the farmers had secured previously at the banks. The report concludes that the bureau was imposed on by politicians, that political pressure was used on it and that unsafe loans were made. Despite all these indictments the committee, representing, of course, the legislative department of Minnesota, expresses the belief that the bureau has done considerable good and that if it continues to make loans as recommended that it will only do so on a very conservative basis to "efficient farmers."

No. 2 dark hard winter, 13 per cent protein, was quoted at Los Angeles at $1.35 to $1.40 and No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, at $1.25. No. 2 soft and western white, sacked, was quoted at $1.30 to $1.32½ and No. 1 hard white at $1.35 to $1.40 per 100. Receipts at Los Angeles totaled 2,452 tons and were principally from Texas and New Mexico.

Spring wheat seeding was practically completed in the United States during the week with ample moisture for germination, which is satisfactory in most sections. Canadian spring wheat seeding made good progress and was about 95 per cent completed in Manitoba, 75 per cent in Saskatchewan and 65 per cent in Alberta, according to the Manitoba Free Press. Moisture conditions are favorable for germination but the crop is 10 to 14 days later than in 1931. Rainfall during April in all three provinces was about four times that of April last season. According to the farmers' intentions May 1, the spring wheat acreage in Canada is estimated at 24,671,500 acres, a reduction of about 1,000,000 acres from the 25,554,000 acres seeded as spring wheat in 1931. Most of the decrease has occurred in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Spring seedings in Russia have been further delayed by the late spring and spring wheat seedings to May 1 amounted to only 15,293,000 acres of a planned total of 64,700,000 acres. Seedings to May 1 last season totaled 16,121,000 acres.

World shipments of wheat continued fairly large during the week but offerings from the Southern Hemisphere were less pressing. World stocks have declined steadily during the recent months, reflecting the gradual absorption of the relatively large world supplies into consuming channels despite important milling restrictions. Supplies available for export or carry-over at the first of April in the principal exporting countries, together with grain afloat on ocean passage, were around 25,000,000 bushels less than a year ago. United States wheat stocks in North America at the first of April were about 56,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago, while Canadian wheat stocks were about 32,000,000 bushels smaller than at the first of April, 1931. Southern Hemisphere stocks at the first of April appeared to be around 70,000,000 bushels under the corresponding estimate a year ago. The surplus available from Danubian countries as of April 1 was about 3,400,000 bushels less than last year.

Domestic cash wheat markets were steady under a fairly active mill demand for the light offerings. Receipts at the principal winter wheat markets totaled 1541 cars or about 1000 cars less than for the corresponding week last year. Hard winter wheat was in better demand than soft winter, particularly high protein types. At the close of the market May 13, ordinary protein hard winter was quoted at Kansas City at 51c to 52c, 12 per cent protein at 52c to 54c and 13 per cent protein at 56c to 58c per bushel. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at Omaha at 49½c and No. 1 yellow hard with 10 to 10½ per cent protein at the same price. Western mills were the principal buyers of Colorado wheat at Denver and No. 2 hard winter, 12 per cent protein, was quoted FOB eastern Colorado points at 38c and 14 per cent protein at 46c per bushel. Export inquiry at Fort Worth was negligible and current offerings were taken by local mills. No. 1 hard winter, 13 per cent protein, was quoted at Fort Worth at 60c to 61c, basis Galveston export rate. Hard winter wheat was in good demand at St. Louis but offerings were extremely light and current trade needs were supplied from elevator stocks. No. 2 hard winter was quoted in that market at 56c May 13, while No. 2 soft red winter sold at 53½c. Southern inquiry was fairly active at Cincinnati where No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at 54½c to 56½c.

Spring wheat markets were firmer under an active demand for good milling wheat. Receipts at Minneapolis totaled 521 cars and at Duluth 166 cars. Of the Minneapolis inspections 53 cars were winter wheat. Premiums on protein were advanced about 1c per bushel and at the close of the market May 13, No. 1 dark northern, 12 per cent protein, was quoted at Minneapolis at 3c to 5c over the May price of 60c, 13 per cent sold at 4c to 7c over and 15 per cent at 10c to 13c over. The protein of the week's inspections averaged 14.48 per cent. No. 1 dark northern spring sold at Duluth at 63c to 77c. Durum wheat was also steady in the cash market although futures were slightly lower. An active milling demand for the light offerings resulted in increased premiums, particularly for high protein types. Ordinary protein No. 2 amber was quoted at Minneapolis May 13, at 51½c to 56½c while best milling lots were quoted at 67½c to 72½c. No. 1 amber durum was quoted at Duluth at 61c to 72½c, No. 1 durum at 57c to 60c and No. 2 red durum at 52c per bushel. Canadian spring wheat markets were relatively firmer than domestic markets as a result of rather liberal foreign takings of Canadian wheat. No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg May 13 at 63c, which was equivalent in U. S. currency to 55½c per bushel. Similar quality spring wheat sold at Minneapolis at 70c to 73c per bushel.

The Tax Crisis
 We have heard much in the the last year, of the industrial crisis and of the obligations business owes to its employes, its investors and the general public.
 Business is doing its best to bring light out of darkness, and to live up completely to those obligations. It is now time for the government to do what it can to prevent another kind of crisis—that of confiscatory taxation.
 This does not mean that the operation of any legitimate department of government must be hampered. But it does mean that public officials should do away with waste and unnecessary expense. It means that statesmanship, not politics, should dictate the action taken on so-called "relief" proposals which would cost the taxpayers millions or billions of dollars and produce nothing of permanent value. It means that bureaucracy should be pruned so that the tree of real government may be seen again. It means that the public's money should be conserved and not thrown away.
 The public realizes the tremendous problems now confronting them and

Kendrick Loses Game

The Kendrick nine journeyed to Genesee Sunday and played the local team there, losing by a score of 14 to 1.

The game was full of errors on both sides, but Kendrick made more and more costly ones, the opinion being expressed among the fans there that Kendrick did not lose the game because of being outclassed, but because of costly errors, and that what our boys needed was practice.

Genesee has a good team and they are good sports. There was no "beefing" on either side.

Odd Fellows To Troy

Several members of the local Odd Fellows lodge will go to Troy next Monday evening to attend a district meeting of the order.

Good Samaritans

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgenson, who are rearing a family of six adopted children at their farm home south of Jerome, were awakened early Monday morning by a tiny baby's cries, and on investigation found on their doorstep a baby boy a week old in a basket. The basket contained also a generous supply of baby clothes and a bottle of milk.

A note pinned to the clothes said the baby's father had been killed in an accident last year, and that the mother died when the baby was born. Neighbors said "everybody knows the baby has found a home and will get the best of care."

Fine meals, good clean beds, generous servings, when you sleep and eat at the Raby Hotel, Kendrick. 14-

Kendrick A Pretty Town

We doubt very much if there is another small town anywhere that is more beautiful right now than is Kendrick. Most of the homes are well cared for—both houses and grounds—and the trees are coming into full leaf. Within a short time the hundreds of locust trees that line the streets will be in full bloom and the entire town will be a veritable garden of blooming trees and plants.

If you really want to appreciate Kendrick and the Potlatch section, just make a trip to some other part of the country and then come back here and be glad you have been permitted by a wise providence, to enjoy life where one can really live.

Mrs. Ike Harris, who was taken to a Lewiston hospital last week, is reported as a little better at this time. Mrs. Bruce Wilson of Cedar Creek was taken to a hospital last Tuesday where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

GAZETTE'S BIG-EGG CONTEST COMES TO A CLOSE

The Gazette's big egg contest has come to a close—with two winners. The reason for this is that two of the eggs brought in were of exact size, so far as the egg content is concerned. One brought in by Mrs. D. A. Bishop of Juliaetta that measured 6 1/4 x 8 1/4 inches and the other by Mrs. Clarence Dougherty of American ridge that measured 6 1/2 x 8 inches. We are going to give each of the ladies a six-months subscription to the Gazette.

There were 22 big eggs brought in of various sizes, the smallest of which was 5 1/2 x 7 1/2 inches in size.

Those bringing in eggs were Mrs. C. A. Bishop, Mrs. Clarence Dougherty, Joe Perry, Mrs. L. Davis, Frank Lyons, H. L. Groseclose, Everett Weeks, H. H. Sparber, Betty Boyd, Mrs. J. F. Brown, A. Onstott, A. W. Schultz, Mitch Blackburn, K. D. Ingle, H. Sneeuw and Fred Bailey. Some of the contestants brought in two or three; which accounts for the discrepancy between the number of eggs and the number of names.

We might say that Mrs. D. A. Bishop won the six-months subscription offered last year for the largest egg.

It all goes to show that the hens of this section of the country believe in laying large eggs, regardless of the small price.

Politics Booming

Many candidates for various county offices have been making Kendrick during the past week, but aside from their occasional appearance, not much is heard about the coming primary election—May 24—or about the qualifications of the various office seekers in Latah county. Registration in Kendrick precinct has been light.

According to the Lewiston Tribune there has been a heavy registration there and a large vote is expected in Nez Perce county. Both parties are said to be well organized and are preparing for a hot fight.

Earl Elstone, out fishing, shot a four-pound bass out of a pine tree with a shotgun, says a Wallace News item.

Here's how he came to claim the title of "world's most unorthodox fisherman" today. A hawk caught the fish in its beak and flew to the tree, 50 feet above the ground.

Elstone cast aside his rod, grabbed his shotgun and blasted hawk and bass off a limb.

Proof? Well, he has the bass, the hawk, the shotgun and a reputation for veracity.

Here's One For Ripley

Mrs. H. H. Sparber has a chicken, a White Leghorn Rooster from the Fresh Laid Farms at Colfax that is just three weeks old and is crowing. Not any imitation crow, but a real, healthy honest-to-goodness crow. We have always known that things grew fast and matured rapidly on the Potlatch, but this one is certainly worth mentioning.

The chicken is on exhibition at their farm home for any doubters to see.

Will Not Be So Easy

It will not be as easy a task as some seem to think to locate the kidnapers and murders of the Lindberg baby. They may be caught some day—and when they are, the punishment cannot be made too severe.

Our remedy for clearing the fact-finders and grafters would be to round up every known gangster and racketeer and stand them with their backs to the wall—then give them what they have been giving others—a little machine gun practice.
