About Relief Money

E. H. Dammare, chairman of the local relief committee, received word Wednesday of this week from Moscow that they had received a check for $2,000 from Governor Ross, covering the first payment of the allotment for relief work for December, which, it was stated, would give Kendrick only $180 at this time.

Whether this is all that will be received this month is problematical, but it is thought more will be received later, but it is not certain.

Governor Ross has received but $82,000 out of $165,000 promised him for January relief, so it is presumed that more will be received later.

"Lame Duck" Congress Doomed

The approval of only 12 states is needed for ratification of the "lame duck" amendment to the constitution after Monday's favorable action by state legislatures of Oregon and of Kansas.

Twenty-four states have sanctioned the amendment, which would move up from March to January after election in November, the dates of inaugurating the president and seating newly-elected congressmen.

Thirty-six states must ratify the proposed amendment within seven years.

GOVERNOR C. BEN ROSS TO SPONSOR SALES TAX

Governor C. Ben Ross said, in an interview Monday that a sales tax aimed at bringing $1,000,000 a year in revenues was being drafted under his direction and would be submitted to the house committee on revenue and taxation late this week.

He said neither he nor members of the legislature working with him on the measure had "definitely decided to sponsor it," but that it would be made ready for consideration "along with one or two other proposals."

He named as a previous proposal the income tax, revisions in which he said he was considering to bring on the tax list incomes of $800 or above for single persons and $1,500 and up for married persons. This represented reductions in the exemption list from $1,000 and $2,500.

The sales tax bill being drawn, he said, bears the same general terms as the Mississippi tax, placing a 2 per cent excise on all retail sales and a similar tax on receipts for personal services, the so-called "professional service" tax.

Should it bring $1,000,000 a year as estimated, he said "it will eliminate the necessity of an ad valorem tax for state purposes," if taken together with proposed reductions in state expenditures he has listed already in his budget now before the legislature.

Volume Same—Value Reduced

Retail trade in the large Pacific coast department stores averaged about 2 per cent lower in 1932 than in 1931, preliminary statistics of the San Francisco federal reserve bank showed. The comparison was based on value of merchandise sold, rather than on volume, which was much closer to the 1931 level.

The drop was much larger than in preceding years, the 1931 crop having approximated 12 per cent and the 1930 decline being about 6 per cent.

The Pacific slope area, having been somewhat slower to take the downward road early in the depression, traveled it slightly faster during 1932 the 24 per cent decline being slightly more than the nation's average loss of 23 per cent.

Neighbors of Woodcraft Install

At their regular meeting last week the Neighbors of Woodcraft installed the following officers for the ensuing year:

Mrs. LaHatt, past guardian neighbor; Mrs. Frank W. Ellis, guardian neighbor; Mrs. O. C. Aiken, advisor; Sylvia Cook, banker; A. K. Carlson, musician; Mrs. C. A. Oppenborn, magician; Ira Bolon, attendant; Mrs. M. O. Raby, captain of guard; Mrs. Thos. McDowell, inner sentinel; Mrs. T. H. Daugherty, outer sentinel; Mesdames F. H. Rider, Joe Davis and Helen Boyd, managers.

After the lodge session cards were indulged in and refreshments served.

Young People's Meeting

The young people held their monthly meeting Wednesday in the Community church basement. Rev. Smith has consented to give over the evening service hour on Sunday, January 29, to the young people, who will present a program of musical numbers and short talks. A free-will offering will be taken to help the young people pay their expenses to the mid-winter Institute, which is to be held in Clarkston, February 3 and 4.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend this entertainment.

After the business meeting adjourned the remainder of the evening was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served.

Shipped Beans

The Kendrick Bean Growers association last week sent out 775 sacks of cleaned beans to various points, indicating that some people are eating Kendrick beans.

DOINGS OF THE 22ND IDAHO LEGISLATURE

Slow but certain progress was made by the Twenty-second legislature last week in its efforts to bring about a solution of Idaho's tax problem. While there was no definite accomplishment in the form of enacted laws, bills were introduced and other bills were in a state of preparation which have as their aim the lowering of real property taxes and the reduction of governmental expenses.

And, as pointed out in a previous article of this series, in these two actions lie the only successful solution of the most important problem confronting the session.

Visions that the heavy reduction in the budget recommended by Governor Ross is really going to be realized were much more distinct on Monday when the state board of education announced a cut ranging from 11 to 21 per cent in salaries at all state educational institutions.

Education Slashes

Because education is one of the heaviest users of tax monies and because of the almost invulnerable position in public esteem which education enjoys, Monday's action of the state board was a gallant movement in the right direction and outlines the path of acquiescence for other of the state departments.

With education, the mightiest of them having bowed her head, bold indeed—to say nothing of foolhardy—will be the public official, whether elected or appointed, who hesitates to follow suit. The other departments may grumble a little but—jobs being what they are—they will fall in line.

And in addition those departments which heretofore have enjoyed a healthy allotment annually from the general fund to bolster up their collections in fees and licenses will very probably find they must subsist during the coming biennium on their own efforts. In other words, they will receive no general fund appropriation and will be forced to cut their expenditures to the size of their fees and license receipts.

Costs Reduced

So, it looks at this writing as if a material reduction, warranted and demanded by general conditions, will be successfully effected in the costs of state government and the administration can be applauded for having set a worthy example for the local governing units.

There still remains, however, two important steps that must be taken before real tax relief can be assured the Idaho real property owner. First, some way must be found to curb the expenditures of local governing units and, second, the revenue system must be revised so that the funds necessary to these reduced budgets will be provided without placing an undue burden upon any individual or industry.

Nothing regarding the first step has as yet appeared on the floor of either house, but it is reported from authoritative quarters that a bill providing for a single county budget control board to supervise the expenditures of all local governing units is in preparation.

A new revenue possibility made its appearance in the house last week in the form of a 2 per cent tax on retail sales. It was later "withdrawn to be amended." Much discussion centers around this form of taxation.

Sales Tax Appears

Proponents, pointing to heavy governmental deficits, hold that an assured form of revenue is necessary to protect the public credit. They likewise assert that the sales tax will relieve the present burden on real property.

Opponents of the measure declare that it is unworkable, unjust, a tax on the poor man and that it will mean just that much more money for public officials to spend. Also there is a marked antagonism in the legislature towards new taxation measures of any kind. While it is rumored that the sales tax proposal does not have the approval of the Governor, there is but little question that it will be fought on the floor.

Another proposal now receiving considerable consideration is that of a state wide equalization tax for school purposes, a measure as yet still held in the obscurity of caucuses and committee meetings.

Departments Under Fire

Evidence that some members of the legislature are desirous of going still a step beyond the Governor's recommendations in public economy is seen in the introduction in the

COMMERCIAL CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club was held in the Raby Hotel Monday evening of this week, it being a week later than usual. Dinner was served at 6:30 to the 21 members who are really interested in the doings of our little city—and its continuance on the map.

After dinner had been served the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and the reports of standing committees called for. It was reported that a letter had been received from Governor Ross relative to the road situation in this community, in answer to a request that the local road program be incorporated in the state highway budget for 1933, the Governor stating that as yet no definite plans had been made, nor would there be any until a summing up of available funds had been made, but he assured that when the budget was made up, that Kendrick's request would be taken into consideration.

N. E. Walker, chairman of the highway committee, reported that in other years much more road money had been received from the county treasurer, but that this year only $1450 had been received, which will make it rather hard to even keep roads in repair, not taking into consideration the possibility of damage by high water—which we hope to avoid. It was suggested by the committee in charge that a survey be made of needed road work and that the money, expected from the R. F. C. be used in rip-rapping the highway up the Potlatch canyon, where the water had already begun to cut under the roadway where it is alongside the creek. While no money has been received from the R. F. C. for January or February use, there is little question but that it will be forthcoming, although it may be reduced somewhat from the former allowances as the state allowance has been cut from the request made by Governor Ross.

The matter of itinerant peddlers, who periodically work the town for various things, many of them using sharp practices, was discussed at length. The statement was made that recently a man taking pictures for enlargement purposes had visited town and had used unfair means to procure a rather large sum of money from a certain lady. Such methods are often used by solicitors of all kinds and the public is warned not to have anything to do with them, regardless of how plausible their statements may sound. They come here to get all the money out of the community they can, giving as little in return as possible, regardless of the methods employed—and nearly always the purchaser of their wares, of whatever nature, gets the worst of the deal.

It will soon be time for the horde of magazine solicitors to visit the community, as they always do with the coming of spring and summer, and all citizens are warned not to take advantage of their offers. If you want magazines of any kind, they can be obtained right here in town at a rate fully as low, if not lower, than any peddler can give you. So, unless the agent or solicitor bears a letter of recommendation from the Industrial committee of the Kendrick Commercial club, beware of them. This committee is composed of W. A. Watts and Herman Schupfer, and unless a solicitor bears a letter of card of recommendation signed by one or both of them, pass them by, no matter what they are peddling—unless you are personally acquainted with them.

The Fish and Game committee of the Commercial club does not agree with some of the recommendations made for the handling of that department by some of the game wardens and a letter of protest will be directed to Governor Ross asking that due consideration be made of the matter before action is taken.

M. O. Raby announced that he had been duly elected to the office of Justice of the Peace for this district, but that he is one democrat who does not want an office and refuses to qualify for the same. He recommended that J. F. Brown be endorsed by the Commercial club to fill the position, which was done, unanimously, and Mr. Brown will undoubtedly be appointed to fill the position by the county commissioners, who have the power to fill the place left vacant by the refusal of Mr. Raby to qualify.

County Pay Cut

The board of commissioners of Nez Perce county last Friday applied the pruning knife to wages paid road overseers and road labor, this action followed a cut made last Thursday of 10 per cent in the salaries of the county physician, welfare workers and all deputies at the courthouse and a cut made in the per diem wage of special clerk hire.

The adjustments in the wage scale were figured out carefully by the commissioners before framing the preliminary budget for 1933.

Under the new scale road overseers instead of being paid $3.50 per day will receive $2.50; common labor on the roads will be paid $2 in place of $3 and for the use of each horse the county will pay 75 cents instead of the old charge of $1. The wage of powdermen was unchanged. They are paid $4 per day.

Given Miscellaneous Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. H. Rider by the teachers of the Kendrick school for Mrs. Francis Lightfoot (nee Deagen), one of the high school teachers, who was very recently married at Spokane. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received by Mrs. Lightfoot.

Bridge was played during the afternoon at six tables, Mrs. D. A. Christensen receiving high score and Mrs. Harold Thomas second high. A very delicious luncheon was served at the close of play.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Two children, left huddled beneath a blanket by a father, who did not realize he was only a quarter mile from home, were frozen to death during a blizzard which subsided after raging in parts of Minnesota and North Dakota, last Thursday.

Fifty men and women were named in indictments reported by a federal grand jury after its final session at Spokane last week. Most of the true bills contained liquor law charges.

The state of Washington last week greeted a new governor and said goodbye to another as the last cards from their "new deal" were distributed, giving democrats complete political control for the first time in history. It seemed like a "cold shuffle" to the outgoing republican "old guard" as Clarence D. Martin of Cheney led a host of new democratic officials into office when he was inaugurated shortly after noon in the spacious, marble-walled chamber at a joint session of the legislature. He succeeded Roland H. Hartley, republican, who served two terms, or eight years.

Governor C. Ben Ross announced he had laid before democrats in majority in the legislature a proposal to lower exemptions in the income tax law so as to reach salaried classes never before taxed by income tax laws in the state. He stated in an interview that among changes he was considering was a reduction in exemptions of single individuals from $1,000 to $800 annual income and for married persons a reduction from $2,500 to $1,500. Reports of the income tax department indicated that married classes paid by far a larger tax than single persons.

One formidable obstacle stood between the Philippine islands and freedom—a senate vote on over-riding President Hoover's veto. The house voted emphatically to set aside the chief executive's veto and make law the pending measure to give the Pacific dependency its independence after 10 years. Senate sponsors of the bill were uncertain of commanding the votes necessary for similar action in their branch. The democratic controlled house voted 274 to 94 to disregard Mr. Hoover's arguments that the bill invited "grave dangers of foreign invasion and war." It acted within two hours from the time the president's veto message was received.

Formation of a special committee of 27 senators to recommend a way of deflating the dollar was proposed in a resolution by Senator Thomas (Dem., Okla.), one of the senate's advocates of inflation of currency. In the resolution, which was referred to the banking committee for consideration, the committee's object was given as: "To consider the present value of the dollar with relation to taxes, interests and debts and to make recommendations and report a plan or plans for reducing the value of such dollar."

LACK OF DOMESTIC DEMAND WEAKENS WHEAT

Domestic grain markets turned weaker towards the close of the week ended January 13, following a rather sharp advance earlier in the period and most of the recent price gains were lost, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Weakness in foreign wheat markets under the influence of a limited European demand for the increasing new crop offerings from the Southern Hemisphere and large stocks remaining for export in Canada, were largely responsible for the decline in domestic wheat markets and offset the strengthening influence of light local offerings and unfavorable prospects for winter wheat. Corn and other feed grains turned downward with wheat since demand remained dull and current takings by shippers and industries were hardly sufficient to absorb the larger receipts brought out by the recent gains in prices. Rye fluctuated with wheat but flax held steady under a more active crush demand for the small arrivals.

Export outlet for United States wheat has been practically closed by active competition from lower priced wheats from other surplus areas. Southern Hemisphere wheat is now being offered in European markets at prices no higher than those now quoted in United States markets. At the close of the market Jan. 13, Argentine wheat for January-February shipments was offered at 46½¢ per bushel CIF British ports, while Australian wheat was offered at 52½¢. Canadian wheat was quoted in London at 53½¢ for No. 1 Manitoba, afloat from Vancouver. Supplies available for export in Canada, Argentine and Australia at the first of January were considerably larger than at the corresponding date last year. Canada apparently has around 60,000,000 bushels more wheat than a year ago but the market influence of this increase was sharply offset by a reduction of around 11,700,000 bushels in Canadian grain in bond in the United States so that the net increase in Canadian supplies in North America available for overseas shipment was only about 48,300,000 bushels.

Pacific coast markets fluctuated with central western markets and prices turned downward toward the close of the week following the advance earlier in the period. Cash grain at Portland and Seattle was relatively firmer than futures, reflecting the light country offerings and fairly active demand from domestic mills. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled 412 cars, compared with 635 cars for the corresponding week last year. No export sales of wheat or flour were reported during the week since local prices were above an export basis. Some business in both wheat and flour was done with California and Atlantic Coast buyers but local mills provided the best outlet. Shipments of wheat and flour from Puget Sound and Columbia river ports during December totaled 2,419,000 bushels, bringing the season's total to 15,244,000 bushels, compared with 34,954,000 bushels during the corresponding period last year. Shipments to California and the Philippine Islands were about equal to last season while shipments to Atlantic ports were slightly larger. Exports to the Orient and Europe, however, were much below last year. Trading at Spokane was very light as a result of limited demand for eastern Washington and Montana wheat from Pacific Coast mills.

California wheat markets were firm early in the week but weakened toward the close along with other points. At the close of the week prices at both San Francisco and Los Angeles were reported unchanged to 5c per 100 higher. Good soaking rains in the near future are necessary to insure average yields, according to trade reports. Local holders of wheat were reluctant to sell old crop supplies until outturns from next season's crop are more definitely known.

No. 2 soft white wheat from Washington and Oregon was quoted delivered San Francisco at 90c and at Los Angeles at 95c and 96c per 100, in bulk.

Mills were fairly active buyers with flour business reported of about normal volume. Demand for feed wheat, however, continued slow as a result of competition from lower priced feed barley and relatively low corn prices.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY MEET

Rev. Smith asked that the entertainment committee of the Commercial club sponsor a short program for Boy Scout week, which will occur early in February, and an effort will be made to at least assist in entertaining the boys for an evening.

A good interest was taken in all the discussions of the evening and it is hoped that next month more of those who should be interested in the doings of this public-spirited organization will be in attendance. However, there are few small towns that have as active a commercial club as Kendrick and we should be, and are, duly proud of the citizens who take an active and sincere part in looking after the welfare of the community. There would be much more privation and suffering in the community than has been reported thus far were it not for the activities of this club, and everyone who has the welfare of the community at heart should be present and assist in solving the problems of the community—which are many at this time.

Thometz Will Be Retained

Regardless of the protest of many taxpayers of Nez Perce county, the county commissioners of that county have again retained the services of J. W. Thometz as county agent, at a reduced salary. Mr. Thometz has accomplished much good for the farmers of Nez Perce county, and while his salary has been reduced, it is safe to say that his efforts to be of real benefit to the farmers of that county will not diminish.

BOTULINUS POISONING IS MOST FATAL FORM IN FOOD

Precautions which the housewife should observe to avoid botulinus poisoning in home-canned foods have been compiled by Dr. W. V. Halverson, bacteriologist with the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station. With more home canning being done the past two years there has been a sharp increase in the number of cases of botulism.

Botulinus poisoning is the most fatal form of food poisoning known, he relates. The mortality rate reported from 151 outbreaks, including 518 cases and 347 deaths, was about 67 per cent. This death rate is much higher than the rate of other types of food poisoning.

It is significant, he continues, that since 1925 no product commercially canned in the United States has been connected with an outbreak of botulism. The canning industry has had scientists work out reliable canning methods to replace guess work. The same principles the commercial industry uses can be applied to home canning to accomplish the same safety.

Housewives should learn the signs of spoilage, he explains. If the jar lid is bulged, if the contents look milky, if they give off a rancid odor, or if the solid parts of the food have a mushy appearance, it should be destroyed. It is not safe to taste non-acid foods, such as meats, peas, beans, corn and spinach, to find out if it is spoiled.

All home canned vegetables and meats that have been canned by the cold pack or oven or any other method of heating except the steam pressure cooker, should be boiled in an open container for not less than 10 minutes before tasting or serving. This simple precaution would prevent any possibility of botulinus poisoning because boiling destroys the deadly toxin.

Two Basketball Games This Week

Coach Dawald's boys will play their second Conference game of the season with Southwick at the local gym, Friday evening. Fans are looking forward to one of the tightest games of the season and it is difficult to pick the winner. On Saturday following this contest the locals will journey to Genesee where they meet the Farmers in a Conference game. Genesee has a formidable club this year, having won a majority of games played thus far. A close score is predicted.

Any way you figure it—

You Pay For "FREE" HOT WATER

There is a joker in the "FREE" HOT WATER deal! No matter how you figure it, it takes extra fuel to heat water and money to buy fuel!

Water coils in your furnace only add to your fuel bill. They are the thieves that rob your home of needed heat, make merry with your pocket book and invite trouble in the bargain.

B. H. Steele, while professor of physics at Washington State College, in a series of tests demonstrated that:

*It costs more in increased fuel consumption, with coal at $10 a ton, to heat water in your furnace than to have hot water in abundance from an automatic electric water heater.

Why tax your furnace with hot water heating ...impair its efficiency...go to the cost of an extra installation...and increase the cost of your hot water?

The lowest of electric water heating rates are yours through the Washington Water Power Company.

*Copy of the Steele report on file at all our offices.

DOINGS OF THE 22ND IDAHO LEGISLATURE

senate last week of a bill that would abolish the cabinet form of government. The bill would do away with some five of the present eight departments.

This measure, since it is a heavy slap at political patronage, could not be expected to meet with the enthusiasm of political leaders, regardless of the fact that it was for many years a foremost plank in the Democratic platform. It would theoretically do away with a number of choice jobs. There are those, however, who contend, and it seems reasonable, that these jobs would bob up in other places and under other names, so that nothing would really be accomplished. In the final analysis, the economy or lack of economy to be effected under the abolition of the cabinet form of government would, in the opinion of the observer, be up to the administration.

While the house and senate groups are marking time for the more important legislation to appear, those with pet measures, theories and projects are busily grinding their axes, with varying degrees of success. It is noteworthy and encouraging, however, that the prevailing attitude towards additional expenditures, appropriations and extravagances is "thumbs down."
