HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Boastfully shouting his unconcern and defying the court, Giuseppe Zangara, the assassin who tried to kill President Roosevelt at Miami, Fla., was sentenced Friday to die in the electric chair for the murder of Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago. "You is crook man, too," Zangara screamed at Circuit Judge Uly O. Thompson after sentence was pronounced. "I no afraid. You one of the capitalists. Put me in electric chair." Zangara asserted he wanted to kill "all presidents and kings" because he had a feud with capitalists and because his stomach hurt him. His murderous desire was to make Mr. Roosevelt suffer "fifty-fifty."

A series of devastating earthquakes in southern California last Friday night took more than six score of lives and injured upwards of 4,000 persons. Property damage mounted into the tens of millions. Fires scattered over the countryside added to the night of terror. Death trod heaviest from Santa Ana across the greater metropolitan Los Angeles area to Long Beach, the latter having bore the brunt of the shocks. Sixty-five bodies were reported recovered from ruins in the business and waterfront areas. Authorities estimated the death toll in Long Beach would reach 100 and the injured 1,000.

President Roosevelt's economy bill was rushed through the house to a divided senate last Saturday in a spectacular battle that split the big democratic majority into two fighting factions. The opposition was led by insurgent democratic forces, which refused at a party caucus earlier to be bound to support the president in his proposal to bring about economies to balance the federal budget and restore the nation's credit. Despite this, the leaders, aided by the conservative wing and a majority of republicans, stamped house approval on the emergency legislation, 266 to 138. On the roll call vote, Speaker Rainey broke precedent and voted for the bill. The speaker usually votes only in case of a tie. Sixty-nine republicans joined 197 democrats in support of the measure, while 92 democrats, 41 republicans and five farmer laborites voted against.

Diphtheria in Linden Section

Dr. Christensen reports that Frieda Bohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bohn, has diphtheria and that she had been given a protective dose of anti-toxin, as had nearly everyone in the entire neighborhood, she having attended school after having a sore throat but before the nature of the disease was discovered. Dr. Christensen states that he had treated 52 people with anti-toxin. He also stated that it would be wise if everyone not having urgent business there, keep away until danger of infection is past.

Those treated gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lyons and Dr. Christensen complimented the people of that neighborhood very highly for their co-operation in attempting to stamp out the disease.

Surprise Party

Mrs. Louis Malnarich was very pleasantly surprised by a number of her friends, the occasion being her birthday, the surprise resolving itself into a lively quilting bee. Mrs. Lester Roberts made a lovely three-tier cake as a surprise for Mrs. Malnarich.

The following guests were present: Mesdames Lester Roberts, Otto Schupfer, Philip Johns and daughter Marjorie, Pearl Rathburn, Gregory, H. C. Halliday and daughter Helen, A. Frazier and son Darrel Glen, Thornton, M. Kite and E. Grant, all of Juliaetta; Mrs. Wm. Freytag, Mrs. S. Thomas and Mrs. May, all of Kendrick.

A sumptuous dinner was served by the hostess. All parted reporting they had had a lovely time.

FRANK HOISINGTON PASSES AWAY AT HOME

Frank Hoisington, a resident of Big Potlatch ridge for the past 20 years, died at his home March 4, 1933, aged 70 years, 10 months and eight days, after a long period of illness.

Frank Hoisington was born in Winterset, Iowa, April 24, 1862. He was married to Susie Francis Eaton, at Nebraska City, Nebraska, January 15, 1887, coming to Idaho two years later. They first settled near Troy, later moving down to Fix ridge and living there for several years. About 20 years ago they moved across to Big Potlatch ridge, where they have since resided.

There were four children, all of whom were with him when death came. They are: Mrs. Mystie Heimgartner, Mrs. Bessie Heimgartner, Mrs. Lona Heimgartner and Cletis F. Hoisington, all living near Juliaetta. He leaves also besides a widow, a sister in Iowa, 27 grandchildren and one great-grandchild, one granddaughter and one great-granddaughter, Bessie May McCall, having preceded him in death.

Mr. Hoisington united with the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints about 23 years ago and faithfully lived his religion day by day since that time.

Mr. Hoisington had been in poor health for many years, at times feeling strong, at other times not so well again. He had been failing steadily for over a year, although he was slightly improved for a time last summer.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church in Juliaetta with Elder Peter F. Klaus in charge. Burial was in Fix Ridge cemetery near his mother and granddaughters.

The song service was rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Fix, Arlie and Jack Fix with Xena Weatherby, at the piano.

Pall bearers were: Wm. Schetzle, John Glenn, J. H. Millard, Wm. Cox, Walter Clark and Robert Hall.

Besides his family he leaves many friends and neighbors who mourn the loss of a sincere and ever helpful friend.

Among The Injured

E. McDowell, who was so badly injured in a fall from a cliff a couple of weeks ago, is still confined to his bed but is making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Harold Abrams, who was also severely injured while coasting down Wauncher gulch road, is still confined to his bed, but is getting along as well as could be expected. He has not as yet fully regained the use of his right arm, but that will eventually come to rights, according to present diagnosis. Harold was brought home last Friday.

Ronald Wolff is suffering with a badly injured right eye, the injury having been caused by a cow that was too handy with her horns. The upper lid of the eye was badly torn and required a surgeon's needle to close the wound.

Ben Callison is nursing a few broken ribs on the right side, caused by his tripping as he was leaving one of his outbuildings when he stepped over the doorsill, falling on a piece of scantling.

Bring In Your Gold

Postmaster E. H. Dammarell states that he will be glad to accept for exchange for currency any gold or gold certificates that anyone may have on hand that they would like to turn back to the government. A call has been issued by the government asking that all hoarded gold coin or gold certificates be returned to the government and in consequence of the banking holiday Mr. Dammarell will be glad to accept your gold and give you currency for it.

Hoarding Date Extended

President Roosevelt on Sunday extended the date when the names of hoarders of gold and gold certificates must be turned in, to March 17.

It was estimated that more than two billions of dollars in gold and gold certificates had been returned to the Federal Reserve banks by last Saturday night.

Quake Turns Hair White

Mrs. J. M. Hammond, wife of the superintendent of the Press-Telegram and Sun, at Long Beach, Calif., was so badly frightened by the earthquake which shook Long Beach Friday last that her hair turned white overnight.

BANKING SITUATION IN IDAHO AND THE NATION

The banking situation still occupies the place of honor in the minds of the people of the entire country—that is, it is the main topic of conversation and speculation. The 12 Federal Reserve banks of the United States have been opened and many branch banks have followed suit, as well as a few north Idaho banks, which have applied and received permission from the state banking department to re-open. Some of the Moscow banks have re-opened for business, but the Lewiston institutions were awaiting instructions from the Federal and state authorities for re-opening, stating that they all wished to open at the same time.

Regarding the local situation, W. J. Carroll, cashier of the Farmers Bank, had the following to say:

"The financial condition of the Farmers Bank having been adjudged and proven 100 per cent sound, will, barring any technicalities, be open for the transaction of regular banking business as soon as official notification from the department is received."

"At this time we cannot state definitely just what this date will be, as the department of finance of the State of Idaho is withholding notification of formal openings of any bank until all eligible banks of the state have been approved."

Mr. Carroll also said that "National regulations and requirements as to operation and clearing of checks are very stringent regarding paying checks to a bank which has not received its authority from its respective state. The Farmers Bank has received many substantial accounts to be held in trust pending official notice. We received yesterday a deposit of $1,000.00 in currency from Seattle, another this morning of $993.50 in currency from Spokane, and numerous deposits for clearing, totaling several thousand dollars for clearing the first day official notice is received. The one reason why the checks have been cleared for us is that we have no borrowed money, no bills payable, and cash reserves above the requirements and ready bonds which are above par. We are prepared to meet the demands and needs of the community in accordance with the proclamation of the President of the United States."

Borah Explains Vote

Senator Borah (R., Idaho) said he voted against President Roosevelt's emergency bank bill because he felt it would destroy state banks and chiefly benefit New York City banks.

"There are several reasons why I voted against the bill," he said. "One of them was that I feared its indirect effect would destroy our state banks and from the telegrams I have received I judge I was correct in my diagnosis."

"Second, I felt only a few banks were sufficiently liquid to really get the benefit of the bill and that most of these were in New York City and that the other banks would in a large measure be unable to comply with the terms of the bill."

Borah ran true to form in casting his vote. No matter if it had been one of Hoover's ideas, Bill would have voted against it on general principles—and no matter how much it might help or hinder the country, if Bill wasn't the father of the idea, he would follow his usual course—vote against it, right or wrong.

Senator Reed Smoot (R., Utah) said: "We are in war against the economic conditions of the world. The president must have far-reaching authority." Senator Smoot has been a member of the upper house of congress for more than 30 years.

KENDRICK COMMERCIAL CLUB IN REGULAR MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club was held in the Raby hotel Monday evening and was attended by 18 men who have the interests of our little city and the community at heart. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock, after which the regular business of the evening was taken up.

The session was one of the shortest ever held by the club, there being little to report by standing committees and little came before the meeting that required serious discussion.

Along with other short reports E. H. Dammarell reported that no word regarding R. F. C. relief money had been received, it being tied up in the banks at Boise on account of the banking holiday in force throughout the state. Just when this money will be released is problematical. In the meantime, the local situation is well in hand, according to report.

Herman Schupfer, for the industrial committee, reported that work was started Monday on the building of the local stockyards by the N. P. Railway company, which was indeed good news. According to plans outlined some time ago, the yards will be entirely modern and will be a great convenience to shippers of stock from Kendrick.

It was stated that the Northern Pacific had some time ago signified their willingness to bring a car of sand to Kendrick and place it on a siding for use in case of emergency should water again threaten to break over the railroad above town and it was decided to ask Agent Ramey to convey this information to the proper authorities and ask that the sand be brought here.

Clean-up day was brought before the meeting and it was suggested that everyone get behind the movement, when the time comes, and make our little city one of the neatest and cleanest to be found anywhere.

The question of beautifying, in a degree, at least, the half block of ground belonging to the village that lies along the railroad track just back of the Raby hotel and other business houses, was again brought up and a desire expressed to have the matter taken in hand and something done to make the plot have a better appearance. Accordingly a committee was appointed to look into the feasibility of planting trees about the outer edge this spring and later to have the plot filled in with clay in the low parts and later a coating of black dirt put on top. This will all take time, of course, but it can be done and when it is done, will add much to the appearance of our little city. The committee expects to get busy right away.

There being nothing more of importance to come before the meeting adjournment was taken until next month.

Kills Rattler

Gordon Peters killed a nice big rattler on Saturday, March 11, on Pine creek. The reptile possessed seven rattles and a button and was in a fine state of repair, being lively and quite vicious.

This seems to us a rather good indication of spring, as they seldom come out of their own accord until that time. This fellow was sunning himself on a nice flat rock when Mr. Peters ended his career.

GRAIN MARKETS CURTAILED BY CLOSING OF BANKS

A very confusing situation prevailing in domestic grain markets during the week ending March 10, states the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. All organized grain exchanges were closed following the executive order suspending the operation of banks. Trading in cash grain was greatly curtailed by lack of facilities for making settlements. Marketings decreased sharply but difficulty was experienced at some points in disposing of arrivals and in moving grain into elevators and mills or to consumers. Railroads suspended demurrage charges pending re-opening of banks and grain exchanges, and shipments of hedged grain remained largely in railroad yards because of inability of shippers to buy back their hedged with future markets closed. In some instances hedged operations were transferred to Winnipeg to effect delivery of grain to millers or other buyers. Trading in cash grain was so limited that quotations were largely nominal. At the close of the week however, wheat prices as reflected in a few sales reported were 4c to 5c higher and feed grains 1c to 2c higher than a week ago. Foreign grain markets were also firmer but uncertainty as to the exchange value of American currency restricted trading and made it difficult to determine prices changes in terms of United States money.

Some strength was apparent in the general wheat situation with further deterioration in the domestic winter wheat belt from lack of moisture. Crop conditions in foreign countries remained generally favorable but were hardly so good as at the same date last year. The Indian harvest is now in progress with weather conditions favorable although the smaller acreage and inadequate supply of moisture in unirrigated districts suggest an outlook under that of a year ago. North American crops were improved by rains during the week. Estimates now available show a combined total acreage of the three North African countries of 8,068,000 acres as against 8,253,000 acres last year. Morocco has a slightly larger acreage but decreases are indicated in both Tunisia and Algeria. Conditions in Europe are mostly favorable. The French crop is rather advanced for the season but no winter damage has been reported. In Italy prospects are generally good except in limited sections where excessive moisture has caused some injury to the crop. The German crop is satisfactory although some winter killing from the severe January freeze is indicated. Crops in the Balkan States are still dormant with the condition at the last of February reported satisfactory to good. The wheat acreage is placed unofficially at 19,348,000 acres as against 19,269,000 acres a year ago. Beneficial rains were received in most of the important winter wheat areas of Russia and the crop is in generally favorable condition. Supplies of seed for spring planting reorted inadequate with collections by the wheat assembly at the first of March only 80 per cent completed.

Pacific coast markets were firmer, influenced by conditions prevailing at Eastern points. Unfavorable prospects for local wheat in California were a further strengthening influence in markets of that state. Grain exchanges were closed at Portland and Seattle but receipts of grain at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled 384 cars, compared with 361 cars received during a corresponding period last year. No export trade was reported and very little cash business done with domestic buyers. Most of the arrivals were delivered on previous sales or consignments for storage.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NEWS

Written and Edited by the Senior Class in English
 Editors—Jack Bailey and George Davidson.
 Typists—Rowena Ramey and Nettie Mae McDowell.
 Advisor—Supt. B. B. Brigham.

Honor Roll

The fourth six weeks of school came to a close and cards were issued Friday, March 10. There was quite a noticeable rise in grades during this period and very few failures were reported. Those making the honor roll were: Seniors—Elma Jones, Mary Johnson. Juniors—Maxine Keene, Sophomores—Wayne Wegner, Robert Ratliff. Freshman—Joe Watts and Mary Elizabeth Thompson.

Student Opinion

As a whole, the grades have been a great deal better this year than for quite a time. This rise in grades may be due mainly to the Kendrick system of checking up on the failing student from week to week. If a student falls off in his studies, his name is printed upon a list, together with the name of the subject in which he is failing. The student is then required to stay in the last period assembly until the grade has been raised to a passing or above passing mark. This is undoubtedly a good system because it makes it imperative that a student keep his work up in order to keep his name off this list. Despite the criticism this method may receive, the results prove its merit. The number of failing students has been held to a lower minimum than has been the case in previous years.

Senior Play Progressing

Most of the parts to "Tea-Toper Tavern," the Senior play, have been distributed to their respective owners in the cast and rehearsals are being held regularly. Everyone in the cast seems very enthused over their progress and present indications are that an excellent Senior play will be in store for the local audience this year. If performed successfully in Kendrick, the play may be taken out of town.

Juniors Practice Play

The Juniors are working hard on their play, "Be An Optimist," most of the students know their parts well and it is expected that within a few more rehearsals the production will begin to take shape. Practices on the first act have been held regularly during the week.

Girls' Basketball

The Sophomore and Freshman girls are practicing hard for a series of games which will be played soon in the local gym. Miss Ferguson, girls' coach, is especially anxious to have all girls turn out for their respective teams. This is being done to stimulate an interest in the sport and prepare the inexperienced players for next year.

Domestic Science

The Domestic Science II class will exhibit most of the work they have done this year, Monday, March 20.

at the next P. T. A. meeting. This material will not be placed on exhibit with other handwork at the all-school exhibit later in the year. This step has been taken because the girls have expressed a desire to wear the garments made.

Manual Training

As a result of the jig saw puzzle fad reaching Kendrick, the manual training boys are indulging in the sport of making puzzles during the class period. This affords good practice in the sawing of complicated designs.

Certain equipment that will be needed for track, such as a base for pole-vaulting, and vaulting standards are being constructed by the classes. The vaulting pole is also being repaired. All of the students are looking forward to the manual training exhibit which will be held during the latter part of the term. Over 60 pieces of furniture will be on display.

Orchestra Students Practice

The Advanced and Beginning orchestras are still practicing hard on the fundamental things that are to be gained in orchestral work this year. No new work has been started besides special assignments. The assignments are found in the "School Musician," an interesting school magazine on musical news of the past and present day.

Class Series

The Junior class won the class series by defeating the sophomores and seniors. In the first game, which was between the freshman and sophomores, the sophomores won by a score of 20 to 23. In another game between the same classes the Freshmen won by a score of 25 to 26. The Juniors and Seniors were tied 50-50 after three over-time periods, but a coin was tossed, giving the Juniors the game. The Juniors won from the smaller sophomore class by a close score of 35 to 36. Much excitement was aroused over the series and much new material was discovered for next year's team. All the games were close and hard fought.

Seniors — '33

If the weather will permit the Seniors will attempt to paint their class numeral on some large rock in the canyon, and in so doing will keep alive a tradition of the school that has existed for many years. The Seniors are supposed to keep their letter up until the rays of the sun strike it in the morning. The ambition of the Juniors is to prevent the Seniors from painting the number. Seniors have been making plans for the event.

Grade School News

Students in the First and Second grade who were neither tardy nor absent this last six weeks are as follows—Charles Deobald, Bobby Lind, Pearl Brown and Aloe Mae Hill.

The eighth grade students plan on taking state examinations in all subjects from April 24 to April 28. Stanford achievement tests will be given this year. A number of students from surrounding districts will also take the examinations this year.

He Sneezed

The horse-doctor, being the only medical aid available, was called to the logging camp to treat Lars Larsen. After a very thorough examination, the vet said to the foreman: "What he needs is something to back-fire in his nose and make him sneeze. Mix up some vinegar, mustard, kerosene, castor oil and red peper and keep dosing him until he sneezes."

That evening the vet. called up the foreman and asked him if Lars had sneezed.

"Yes," replied the foreman disgustedly, "three times. Once before and twice after he died."

MRS. M. A. DEOBALD BEEN RESIDENT FOR 40 YEARS

Mrs. M. A. Deobald has been a resident of American ridge for the past 40 years and in speaking of her arrival here 40 years ago, said: "On March 7, 1893, my husband and myself and three little children landed in Kendrick and went to my folks on American ridge in the evening for supper. We came by train from Summerfield, Marshall county, Kansas, just 40 years ago today (March 7—and today Mrs. Perry Matoon and family invited me to their home for dinner—in the same house where I had first eaten supper 40 years ago. They came and got me and brought me back home again.

"I had never seen or tasted lima beans before my folks raised them here on the ridge—and we had lima beans for dinner today—in the same house just 40 years later.

"This ridge certainly is adapted to the culture of beans. I planted and raised 35 different kinds and have 10 different varieties at home at the present time. In 1920 I took my collection to the Farmers Bank fair, where I took first prize for the largest collection, and they have been on exhibit there ever since.

"In the early days oxen were used for hauling lumber over American ridge to Kendrick and Lewiston. I saw some of the highest and longest loads imaginable drawn by eight yoke of oxen, with five men driving them. In 1893 Brady gulch was just a wagon trail, with only three turn-outs. When you reached a turn-out you had to "yell" or loud call to avoid meeting in a narrow part of the road.

"Horses here in those days were mountain cayuses, there being only a few heavy horses in this section. They could not stand the steep hills. My people brought four heavy horses with them—two bays and two grays. "I first came to American ridge in a four-horse sled, in 1893, and today, just 40 years later, I rode in a sled over the same road, to the same house and with just about the same amount of snow and the same weather conditions.

"In all these years I have watched the country—and American ridge—grow, and think it "the garden of paradise," where I raised my six children—three sons and three daughters. I saw the first telephone line built on the ridge and the many other changes from 40 years ago to the present time—and I still love it.
