NO. 27

THE MEANING OF FARM RELIEF TO IDAHO

Farm relief activities have taken a fourfold aspect within recent weeks. First, there is the farm credit relief program; second, price inflationary measures; third, production control program; fourth, international action to revive world trade in agricultural products. It is this last method of attack which will be emphasized at the London Economic Conference. What benefits, if any, can Idaho farmers obtain from such a conference? Let us see if any crop in Idaho is dependent upon a market outside of the United States. Wheat occurs to us as the first crop so affected. About half of the wheat raised in Northern Idaho is exported. Wheat produced in southern Idaho is largely used domestically at points in the East and on the Pacific Coast, but the prices received are directly affected by what is being offered for soft white wheat in the foreign markets. At times like the present, the prices in the United States are somewhat above the price in foreign countries, but for Idaho wheat this will probably be a temporary situation unless measures are taken to reduce all wheat production to a domestic consumption basis.

The program of reducing wheat production on dry land will be difficult because of the lack of practical crop substitutes. Consequently, the elimination of dry-land wheat acreage will meet objections in Idaho because it will mean no use of the land whatever or at least a very much less productive use. Therefore, in order to keep good available dry wheat land in production, Idaho will be interested in maintaining profitable foreign outlets for this grain. This will be one of the objectives at the London Conference.

First, it has been suggested that the main wheat surplus producing nations—United States, Canada, Argentina, and Australia—agree to curtail acreage until the very large world surplus is disposed of. When this is accomplished, world prices should rise above the present low, disaster levels. With these higher world prices prevailing, wheat importing countries will have less to fear for their wheat growers. This will make feasible a decrease in the present extremely high tariffs and milling quotas, etc. From such a program America has a chance to regain foreign markets for those wheat producers who can afford to accept rather low prices because they use low-cost methods. Many Idaho dry-land wheat producers are in this class.

About the same effect will be obtained with respect to a better market for hogs. As long as Iowa and other hog-producing states cannot sell at least 10 percent of their pork products to foreign countries, huge pork supplies will continue to depress the market prices in the United States, and in Idaho. Only very drastic restrictive measures on production can change this situation.

It will be necessary for all nations to give and take in the London Conference. If foreign countries agree to accept more of our wheat and hogs, we will have to take more of their goods or services. As is true in all trade, both domestic and foreign, both parties usually gain in comfort and convenience by such interchange of goods. This is as true in interchange of goods between China and the United States as between England and the United States. For example, the exchange of goods made by the high-class, well-paid labor of the Northern States for goods made by the poorly paid negro labor of the Southern States has raised the living standards of both groups, and yet the living standards have not been made the same. In this connection it is well to remember that wages and living standards in the Southern States have been much lower in real living comfort than those of the industrialized European countries against whom high protection has been maintained.

If the threat of war can be dissipated, all currencies brought to a common standard, tariff and trade wars minimized, then world exchange of goods and services will go a long way in restoring the economic health of all nations.

Editors Note: The Gazette presents this series of articles by Dr. Eke, economist with the University of Idaho college of agriculture, without comment. You to be the sole judge of their true value. The next will appear in an early issue of this paper.

Kendrick May Get Road

It is practically certain that Kendrick is in line for at least a link of the long-sought road over Big Bear ridge—providing, of course, they can meet the necessary requirements—which are that rights-of-way must be secured and the road fenced, as none of the money to be received from the government, through the state, can be used for anything except labor.

However, those having the road question in hand, will make every effort to meet the requirements, thereby securing a necessary farm-to-market road leading to Kendrick, details of which will have to be worked out before being put into execution.

NO HALF YEAR TAX ON STORED AUTOMOBILES

Many people will be sorely disappointed when they learn that it will be impossible to buy a half-year license for their cars, where they have had them stored, or have used them until May 31 and then put them in storage, expecting to get a six-month's license for them, says the attorney general in the following ruling:

Attorney General Bert Miller ruled Friday that it does no good to keep automobiles in storage until August 1 in an attempt to be eligible for a half year license—the full charge is due anyway.

In an opinion written for John T. Kenward, Payette county attorney, it was stated that where an automobile owner has driven his automobile under a 1932 license until the end of the license year, May 31, 1933, he must get a full year's license for it, no matter when he buys it.

In the opinion he said it was the practice of some owners to keep their automobile in storage between the end of the license year and the time half year licenses become effective, August 1. By paying a personal property tax on them for the first half year, a considerable saving has been made possible.

Such a procedure is illegal, the attorney general ruled. Only where it is shown to be the intent of the owner to keep the car as personal property and not use it on the highway, he said, can it escape the full year's tax. If the car is used until the expiration of the license year, he said, it cannot then be defined as personal property.

Ramey's Sluggers Slugged

Ramey's Sluggers played Big Bear Ridge on the Bear Ridge grounds Sunday and came out on the short end of the 8 to 6 score. The boys were somewhat handicapped by the bad condition in which they found the Bear Ridge grounds.

Bear Ridge will play on the Kendrick diamond next Sunday, July 2, and the kids will try and even up the score.

Lineup of teams was as follows: Sluggers—T. Blevins ss, R. Blevins p, Plummer cf, Brocke 2 b, Emery 3 b, Ramey 1 b, Carlson c, Hartung lf, Big Bear Ridge—Frank Fairfield 2b, Edwin Forest ss, Cecil Chamberlain 3 b and p, Claud Jones cf, Gabe Farest c, H. Fairfield rf, Church Davis 1 b, Morey lf, R. Cremenhagen p.

Runs—Sluggers 6, Big Bear Ridge 8. Hits off Blevins 11, off Clemenhagen 7 in 6 innings; off Chamberlain 4 in two innings. Struck out by Blevins 13, by Clemenhagen 6, by Chamberlain 4.

A nice crowd of boys and girls went up in Mr. Brown's truck and had a good time, judging by the noise they made.

Three Die of Botulism

The third death in one family attributed to botulinous poisoning from home-canned beets served Sunday, June 18, occurred June 26, when Mrs. Alvin Laughery succumbed in the hospital at Dayton, Wash.

Elmer Laughery, her father-in-law and head of the household in which the food was served, died early Sunday. His daughter, Dorothy, 14, died Friday.

Mrs. Laughery did not dine with the others, but tasted the beets later and said they tasted queer.

Slight paralysis of the face later set in and then extended to her throat.

She was taken to the hospital Saturday night, but even then physicians did not consider her condition serious.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

The joining of the Great Lakes with the Gulf of Mexico 1,000 miles away by a $102,000,000 inland waterway was completed officially last week. Half a dozen squat, unpretentious freight barges were pushed up the Chicago river, a stream made to flow backward by man's engineering genius, and entered Lake Michigan. It was the first cargo of freight, enough of it to fill 60 railroad cars, to arrive in the northern lake waters from the southern states and from foreign ports via the waterway.

A Holy Year Crowd in St. Peter's

Was thrown into a panic at noon Sunday by the explosion of a bomb in the portico of the basilica which injured four persons, one seriously. An unknown visitor left the bomb in a small valise at the booth used for checking umbrellas and other property within the portico just outside the main door and 30 feet from the holy doors. The explosion occurred at 12:15 o'clock when a large crowd, including many pilgrims—of whom some were Americans—was surging in and out of the main doors. The last mass had just been finished.

A one-cent increase in the price of gasoline, effective Monday, was announced by the Standard Oil company of California Sunday night. The advance is for all grades of gasoline and is simultaneous with increases of from two to 15 cents in prices offered by the company for crude oils. Seattle prices will also go up a cent.

The 30 cents a bushel processing tax on wheat which will go into effect at midnight, July 8, when reduced to terms of foodstuffs, has been figured to amount to these sums by the pound of the following wheat products: Whole wheat and graham flour, .50 of a cent or 98 cents a barrel. All flour except whole wheat and graham including semolina and farina, .704 of a cent or 1.38 a barrel.

Thirteen hundred employees of the prohibition bureau were given notice that their services will be dispensed with June 30, in an effort to cut the bureau's expenses $4,000,000 annually. Attorney General Homer Cummings announced that letters have been sent to workers in all grades of the service advising them they will be furloughed or dismissed. Included are administrators, attorneys, investigators, special agents, secretaries, stenographers, typists and clerks.

Travelers Heard From

The motor party made up of the E. A. Deobald and Otto Schupfer families and Mrs. Roy Thompson of Orofino, have been heard from and have been having a fine trip and making very good time. The first information was received in a telephone call from Cody, Wyoming, to Herman Schupfer, stating that they had been through Yellowstone Park and were heading east for the Windy City. The next word came from Ames, Iowa, about a third of the distance across the state, on Sunday evening, when Mr. Schupfer was again called by phone by his brother. They were then a little more than a day's drive from their first stop at Tonica, Illinois, where they intended to visit relatives for a time before going on to attend the big fair at Chicago.

Four Trains "CCC" Monday

Four trains containing more than 1300 men and boys passed through Kendrick Monday, three of them passing through early in the morning and the last one about 9 o'clock in the evening. Those who talked with some of the men said that many foreigners of some variety were among them—and very evidently some of them were from the lower East side of New York. One of the passengers said to a man near-by, "Hey, buddy, what 'boig' is this", indicating that he knew something of the "Bowery" section of New York.

There were six trains through Lewiston during Monday, coming over the U. P.

Boys Get Limit of Trout

Elmer Emery, Jr., and Franklin Abrams seem to be about the champion fishermen of this section just now, they having gone up Bear creek last Friday forenoon and brought back the limit in time for dinner.

Several others have made very good catches of trout in both Bear and Potlatch creeks, some of the fish measuring up to a foot in length. If the Potlatch were properly stocked there would undoubtedly be good fishing there within a year or two.

July Fourth Tournament

Julietta has again been invited to play ball in the Fourth of July celebration to be held at Clarkston. On the opening day, next Sunday, they will play the strong team from Pomeroy, at Clarkston. July 3 will see a game played between the Lewiston Boosters and Asotin-Clarkston teams. Tuesday, the Fourth, the championship game between the winners of the first two games will be played.

Julietta won the championship game at Lewiston last year, beating Lewiston on the first day, and Clarkston 7-6 in a 12 inning game on the last day, after Clarkston had won from Kellogg, giving her second place in the tournament.

The line up is the same this year, with the exception of the pitcher, Stuart replacing Tilden.

Julietta is in good condition and high hopes are held for another big victory. Nine games have been won this year with only four losses.

Near Beer Sellers Subject To Tax

Dispensers of near-beer who for years have been selling the beverage without a license or special tax were declared by Attorney General Bert Miller to be subject to both under legislation enacted by the special session.

Dispensers of beer, regardless of what amount of alcohol it contains, are subject both to the tax and licensing provisions of the act, the attorney general ruled.

This requires payment of a license of $1 to the state, not more than $12.50 to the county, a like amount to the city, and a tax of 5 cents a gallon on the beverage, the later going to the state.

JOHN WESLEY THOMAS PASSES AT FARM HOME

The following, taken from the Clarkston department of the Lewiston Tribune, will be of interest to Kendrick people, as Mr. Thomas is well known here, being a brother of the late Martin Thomas:

John Wesley Thomas, 63, passed away suddenly at his ranch home near Peck Sunday evening about 9 o'clock. Although he had been in failing health for several years, he was able to continue his work and made a trip to Peck Saturday.

On her return home from an absence of about 30 minutes Sunday evening, his daughter found Mr. Thomas had retired for the night. His reading glasses and a book were lying near the bed, and he had entered his final sleep.

Mr. Thomas was born in Howell county, Mo., and came to the north-west about 1891, settling in the Kendrick country. Later he took up a homestead on the Nez Perce Indian reservation. He had made his home in Clarkston for 16 years, spending some of the time at his ranch near Peck.

Mr. Thomas is survived by one daughter and two sons, Theodosia Thomas, at home; Howard Thomas, Peck, and Martin Thomas at Portland, Ore.

The funeral was held from the Merchant Undertaking Parlors, Clarkston, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Many friends and relatives attended from Kendrick.

Powerful Stuff—and Weak

Back at Peterson, N. J., the other day the head of a barrel of beer blew off and killed Frank DePorter, aged 50, parcel post carrier, in a cafe in that city. The explosion ripped a hole in the ceiling of the cafe.

And a news dispatch from Boise, Idaho, under date of June 25, said a new 3.2 beer by the fire department of that city.

A big truck was reported burning at a rural point Friday. When the department engines returned without finding the burning van, a call came right in on the telephone. "We were further out than we thought," said the voice on the wire. "We're all right now. We were loaded with beer, so we just sprinkled a little on the flames. Everything's okeh now."

Market News Discontinued

The wheat market news, which has been published weekly in the Gazette for the past three years, will be discontinued with this issue of the Gazette for the reason that the government has decided that they can save some four million dollars a year by so doing. However, pressure is being brought to bear on Secretary Wallace, in whose hands the matter lay, to continue the service. If the government decides to continue the service, the Gazette will again carry the government report each week.

Gave Church Supper

The ladies of the Community church gave a supper in the basement of the church Monday evening, the event taking the form of a farewell for Rev. and Mrs. Edward J. Smith and a welcome for Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Beckman, the new minister and wife. Rev. and Mrs. Smith left Wednesday of this week for Walla Walla, where Rev. Smith has a charge.

The front of the Evergreen service station, J. F. Brown, proprietor, has been receiving a new coat of paint, brightening up the place very materially. There is nothing that adds as many dollars, for money expended, as a supply of paint properly spread on a building of any kind.

GRAIN MARKETS HIGHER AS CROPS DETERIORATE

Grain markets advanced sharply during the week ending June 23, influenced principally by less favorable crop prospects and some broadening in demand for cash grain, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Early threshing returns for winter wheat show disappointing yields, particularly in Northern Kansas, while intense heat waves reduce prospects for spring wheat belts in the United States and Canada. As a result wheat markets strengthened and domestic prices advanced 6 to 8c per bu. Rye was independently firm and advanced around 10c per bu. with deterioration in the crop the principal strengthening influence. Corn, oats and barley were also sharply higher as new crop prospects became less favorable. Corn gained 2 to 3c, oats about 6c and barley 4 to 5c per bu. Flax reached a new high for the season and sold as high as $1.84½ at Duluth.

The wheat crop developments dominated domestic wheat markets during the week. Harvesting of winter wheat progressed northward to Southern Nebraska. Early threshing returns showed low yields in areas where hot, dry weather caused premature ripening and shriveling. Marketings of new Hard Winter wheat increased but protein tests remained high and the bulk of the arrivals at Southwestern markets graded No. 1 and No. 2. Receipts from more Northern districts of Kansas showed signs of premature ripening in light weight test. Spring wheat deteriorated rapidly, particularly in Eastern South Dakota where a total loss of small grains was reported. Dryness was intensified by extremely high temperatures. Rain and cooler weather relieved the situation in some areas towards the close of the week, but damage has been irreparable in many sections. Extensive crop damage was reported in the Canadian Prairie Provinces as the result of the extremely high temperatures and limited rainfall. Crop injury from heat and drought was accompanied by increasing damage from insects, disease and hail. Rain is required over practically the whole of the Prairie Provinces to prevent further damage.

World wheat markets were influenced by many unusual conditions during the season now closing. The 1932-33 crop year began with record stocks of old wheat which with good harvests in European countries and some of the exporting regions, furnished a bountiful world supply of bread grains. International trade in wheat, however, was greatly restricted through legislative measures and world shipments were the smallest of the past ten years with the exception of the years 1925 to 1926 and 1929-1930 when European markets were unusually large.

An important feature of the wheat in the year was the maintenance of the exceptionally high tariffs and milling quotas even through the closing months in contrast to other seasons when regulations were released as local supplies diminished. Prices in world markets held near record low levels through the early months of the year but during the final quarter advanced sharply, reflecting the firmer situation in the United States. The wheat situation at the beginning of the 1933-34 crop season differs materially from a year ago. World stocks are still large with supplies in exporting countries and also in the principal producing countries of Europe outside of Russia, slightly above those of the corresponding date last year. Exportable stocks in countries outside of Europe are easily sufficient to supply normal world shipments for an entire crop year. Offsetting these large stocks however, are prospects for a material reduction in the new world crop. The greatly reduced winter wheat crop with rapid deterioration in spring wheat suggests the smallest United States output since 1904. Canadian spring wheat has also suffered serious damage from recent dry, hot weather accompanied by increased losses from insects, disease and hail.

Domestic cash wheat markets reflected the strength in futures and advanced 6 to 7c per bu., helped also by some broadening in demand. Marketings were moderately large, receipts at the principal Central and Southwestern markets totaling 3,107 cars. Milling inquiry was active as a result of enlarged flour demand with retailers accumulating stocks prior to the application of the processing.

Beer Revenue Short

The Associated Press has sent out a dispatch saying that at the April-May rate, treasury revenues from beer would approximate $280,000,000 annually. This was an error, due to a mistake in mathematics.

Beer In Kansas Falls

Plans of hundreds of retailers to introduce 3.2 beer into Kansas, a pioneer prohibition state, were upset when Federal Judge John C. Pollock denied an injunction sought by a Wichita firm to restrain state officials.

More than 600 persons had obtained federal beer permits in the expectation that Judge Pollock, outspoken critic of the federal prohibition laws, would issue an order restraining authorities from interfering with selling the brew.

They were disappointed along with brewers who were reary to rush beer into the state in the event of a favorable decision.

"NO BLOWOUTS On My 4th of July Trip! I'm Getting New Goodyears NOW!"

YOU don't need to be told that a thin, risky tire can take all the joy out of driving—but perhaps you have never figured that it costs you money to ride on old tires, with prices on the way up—if you pay more for new tires later on.

So buy now—enjoy your big July 4th week-end—and save yourself some money.

And while you're buying—get the SAFETY of blowout protection in every ply—get the SAFETY of grip in the center of the tread. Only Goodyear can give you the double safety of Superwrist Cord in every ply—and every ply from bead to bead—combined with the safety of the world-famous All-Weather Tread.

You can buy Goodyears—the world's first-choice tires—for not a cent more than tires which give far less value and protection.

Prices Have Started UP!
Don't wait to buy your tires!

You can see for yourself these prices are still low. Don't miss them by trying to squeeze a few more miles out of old tires.

After the reading of the town's history, Mr. Carroll was called upon to make a few remarks over the radio, he telling at that time of the many advantages to be had in Kendrick and of the different business activities carried on here, all of which was commented upon very favorably by those who heard the history and Mr. Carroll's remarks.

MUST HAVE SHOVEL, AXE AND BUCKET IN FORESTS

The following item of warning to those who expect to enter the national forests, appeared in Monday's Lewiston Tribune—and will have to be complied with by all who enter:

"Remember your shovel, axe and bucket," is the word going out to everyone who intends to visit the national forests by car or pack train this summer.

After July 1 the carrying of a shovel, ax and bucket per car or pack train is required of all parties.

In many cases persons traveling over forest roads have been able to put out fires which were yet small enough to be handled by quick action on the part of one or two persons equipped with these tools.

Even if a fire emergency never arises, the tools are useful about camp. The shovel is almost indispensable in making a safe place for a camp fire, and in putting it out properly before leaving. And both shovel and ax come in handy in case a car gets off the road or into a soft spot.

A new ruling by the secretary of agriculture, and applicable to national forests in all parts of the country, makes it an offense punishable by jail sentences, fine, or both, to throw a burning cigarette, cigar, match, pipe heel, or firecrackers on national forest land.

Last season smokers set 167 fires in Montana and northern Idaho, which burned 9,331 acres, and caused a loss to the taxpayers of over $35,000. It is toward this class of fires that the new regulation is directed.

Smoking in the woods will again be limited to camps and places of human habitation during the dry months.
