DEMOCRATIC POLITICAL POT SIMMERING IN SOUTH

That the democratic political pot has begun to simmer in the south part of the state is evidenced by a special to the Lewiston Tribune from Boise, under date of July 15, written by H. H. Miller:

Despite the hot weather, and the fact that Idaho's primary is still 13 months off, the democratic party these days is a seething mass of political gossip. In fact, the primary campaign of 1934 is in full swing.

Partly this is due to the very nature of the direct primary. But largely it arises from Governor Ross' announcement six weeks ago that he is a candidate for a third term.

That announcement did not come as an overwhelming surprise to anyone in Idaho, but it was a distinct break with political tradition. Intended more or less to keep opposition out of the field, it served, on the contrary, to turn loose the fiercest tornado or individual aspirations in many a long day.

Out of the turbulent six weeks that have ensued, however, is beginning to emerge the outlines of a picture, an alignment of forces, definitely pro and anti Ross. This crystallization is due not to lack of individual ambition for the nomination, but a recognition of the fact that a united field is the only chance the opposition has, while a multiplicity of candidates would ensure the nomination of Ross with no difficulty whatever.

A month ago, just prior to the special session, the name most commonly mentioned as the opposition candidate for governor was Barzilla Clark, mayor of Idaho Falls. Clark was the leader of the so-called beer forces, and popularity was given credit for forcing the gubernatorial hand on the beer bill. But there were curious little inconsistencies, not the least being the insistent and highly vocal loyalty of Senator Chase Clark, the mayor's brother, to the governor in special session.

In view of Barzilla's almost-candidacy in 1932, the so-called Ashton conference just prior to the primary, and the promise there made that if Barzilla would not oppose Ross he could have the 1934 nomination; plus the self-evident fact that Ross had no intention of keeping the bargain made in his name, this picture presents some strange contradictions.

But the latest explanation seeping out of the southwest easily accounts for this incongruity. The story goes that Governor Ross is prepared to sacrifice Congressman Tommy Coffin on the altar of his country; to make Barzilla Clark the party nominee for congress in the second district, and thus insure the active assistance of the Clark cohorts in the coming struggle.

Scouting patrols returning from the southeast report the unanimous opinion of the denizens that such a deal has been reached.

This move obviously would push the fiery Coffin bodily into the anti-Ross camp; not that the shove would have to be extremely violent anyway. And since Coffin's closest political friend is Asher B. Wilson, who once held gubernatorial aspirations himself, and was nosed out by Ross, it might not be hard for Coffin to find an anti-Ross candidate, since Ross would appear determined to find an anti-Coffin candidate.

The ensuing embroglio would make caution a necessary ingredient in any predictions to be made. The only safe prophecy would be that the primary campaign probably would make previous events of the kind in the Gem state look like the regular Thursday evening prayer meeting of the women's missionary society.

Put Steel Doors In Place

New steel doors have been put over the place where gas is wholesaled from the Kendrick Garage. One night recently someone tried to work the "combination" at the wholesale spout and get a little free gas, but the attempt failed. However, just to let them know that it will be still harder in future to get to the gas, the steel doors were put in place.

Southwick Couple Marry

Burton Souders and Vera Craig, both of Southwick, were married at Moscow, Thursday afternoon by Judge Louis Peterson in his office at the court house. Bertha Wells and C. L. Thompson were the witnesses. The couple will make their home at Southwick.

Apportionment School Funds

Earnings of the public school income fund were apportioned to the counties Saturday by John W. Condie, state superintendent of public instruction.

The distribution was the first under the new law by which the fund is apportioned among the counties on a plan aiming to give a larger share to poorer school districts than to those with a greater amount of taxable property.

The disbursements, measured by population as well as by taxable wealth, applying to counties in this district are:

Nez Perce $2,363; Lewis $657; Clearwater $756; Idaho $1,425; Latah $2,306.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

President Roosevelt told Senators Nary and Steiwer of Oregon that he has in mind the construction of a dam on the Columbia river between tide-water and the mouth of the Snake river, in the furtherance of navigation, flood control, erosion and power, a special dispatch from Washington, D. C., to the Oregonian stated.

Coolly and with deadly marksmanship, Cashier Isaac McCarty, 35, shot down two bank robbers in the Labette County State Bank at Altamont, Kansas, Friday, and saved his wife from being kidnaped or slain. As one of the holdup men, Kenneth Conn, escaped convict, crouched behind a counter using Mrs. McCarty as a shield, the cashier levelled a rifle from a concealed position above the bank vault and shot Conn under the heart, killing him instantly. A moment before McCarty had fired a charge from a shotgun which brought down Conn's companion, Alvin Payton, with wounds in the head which may prove fatal. Both of the men were among the eleven who escaped from the Kansas penitentiary Memorial day by kidnaping the warden, Kirk Prather.

A group of the nation's highest salaried railroad executives were told directly by Joseph B. Eastman, federal coordinator of transportation, that the administration feels their salaries are too high. Twenty-one of the ranking railroad presidents and executives of the country stood personally by to hear from the lips of the coordinator what the administration thinks are the steps that should be taken to improve the transportation industry. Several of the men in the group, named to represent the railroads under the coordinator act, now receive salaries in excess of or near $100,000 a year.

For various reasons, but chiefly for criticizing the government of Chancellor Hitler, 254 foreign newspapers have been barred from Germany, according to figures from the Prussian minister of the interior.

South Dakota's new public domain of land once privately owned is growing so fast that its return to the tax lists has become a major problem of state and county officials. Four million acres have passed into public ownership during the last few years because of tax delinquencies or foreclosures of state mortgages. Unless the trend changes, this acreage soon is expected to be greatly increased.

Probably Headed Home

It is more than likely the party made up of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald and daughters, Mrs. Roy Thompson of Orofino and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and daughters are headed toward Idaho and home. The last heard from them was a telephone conversation held between them and Herman Schupfer on Thursday night of last week, when they were within 50 miles of Denver. They expected to visit Colorado Springs and take in the sights of the Pike's Peak section before heading toward Kendrick. They are expected home on Sunday. They visited the Century of Progress at Chicago and while there got first-hand information about some of those wind and thunder storms they have back in the Windy City.

Hurt In Fall From Horse

Phyllis Johns, living on Potlatch ridge, fell from a horse she was riding Sunday afternoon and received a bad cut on her chin which required three stitches to close. Dr. Christensen doing the work.

Completes New Garage

Herman Schupfer last week completed a new two-car garage at his home in West Main street.

KENDRICK DELEGATION VISITS SOUTHWICK

At the invitation of citizens of Southwick and vicinity a delegation of good roads boosters from Kendrick went to Southwick Monday evening to attend a road meeting, the main object being in furtherance of the proposed road from the Southwick section to Kendrick.

Of course Kendrick can do nothing more than lend their moral support and help furnish the necessary "pep" that it takes to put over a road program—or any other program, for that matter. But the Kendrick boosters want it distinctly understood that while they are willing to help put over any road program where they can be of any assistance, they are not boosting any particular road to the detriment of any other community or proposed road program. They all believe in better roads and to this end are willing to assist wherever they can in the putting over of any road program. They are not trying to play both ends against the middle. They want good roads all over this section of the country—and we firmly believe the time is not far distant when we will have them.

The meeting at Southwick was very interesting and enthusiastic and from the way the people of that section are going at the matter, they have a good chance of getting what they are going after. Governor Ross has said that he is in favor of farm-to-market roads as against tourist roads, and the proposed road from the Southwick section would open up one of the finest farming sections in the entire Northwest—or any other section, for that matter.

Dan Ziemann acted as chairman of the meeting and succeeded in putting over the idea that Southwick needed an outlet other than knee-deep mud during the soft season. N. E. Walker, chairman of the highway committee of the Kendrick Commercial club and secretary of the Kendrick Highway district, was called upon and gave the Southwick folk some idea of what is necessary to put over a program such as was proposed. Ford Parks of Leland also gave a very interesting short talk on the road question, stating that he had been in communication with Governor Ross regarding the proposed road and that he expected to hear from him within a very short time and would then pass the information along to the Southwick people.

M. O. Raby of Kendrick was asked to make a few remarks on the road question, he stating that some 33 years ago he and Roy Southwick started building roads in that section of the country, but that it is not a one-man job—everyone will have to get his shoulder to the wheel if they expect to accomplish their end.

Interesting short talks were made by Roy Southwick, Henry Brammer, Gordon Harris and others regarding the necessity of such a road. H. B. Thompson, W. J. Carroll, Wade Keene and others from Kendrick made a few remarks on the desirability of such a road leading to Kendrick, which would be of great benefit to both the farmers and the town of Kendrick.

A committee composed of Dan Ziemann, L. J. Southwick and Henry Brammer was appointed to take the matter up with the proper authorities. The members of the Kendrick Commercial club are vitally interested in good roads—no matter where they are and they are willing to do all they possibly can to help any community in any way they can, but when it comes to handling the matter outside of their own county, they are unable to do more than "boost," which they are always ready and willing to do.

There were about 100 present at the meeting. Those making the trip from Kendrick were: N. E. Walker, E. H. Dammarell, Rev. Elmer Beckman, H. B. Thompson, E. H. Emery, W. A. Watts, Dr. G. W. McKeever, Wade T. Keene, M. O. Raby, W. J. Carroll, P. C. McCreary, Herman Schupfer and Marvin Long.

Buys New Pontiac Eight

Dr. D. A. Christensen last Friday took delivery of a new Pontiac straight eight coach, trading in his old car.

This makes four new cars that have been brought to Kendrick within the past few months. They are: Thomas Blevins, Ford V-eight coach; Robert Dammarell, Ford V-eight coupe; George Leith, Chevrolet six coach; Dr. D. A. Christensen, Pontiac straight eight coach.

MORE THAN $3,000,000 FOR IDAHO HIGHWAYS

Forests, parks, Indian roads and state highways have been allotted more than three millions of dollars to be spent during the time the president is trying to put us all on our feet, and in addition the C. C. C. is doing a lot of good work in the forests of the state building roads and trails which will be useful in years to come as well as at the present time.

In this connection Kendrick may benefit to some degree during the coming winter as it is planned to have them rebuild the road from Arrow Junction to Kendrick and there is also talk of building a new road leading down off American ridge, to center somewhere about half-way between Juliaetta and Kendrick, doing away with the steep grade leading from the ridge down to Juliaetta.

The following tentative line-up, taken from the Lewiston Tribune, will give an idea of the projects planned for the winter, or late fall:

A tentative program which could keep members of the civilian conservation corps busy during the winter months building highways in the Lewiston region—based on unofficial reports that the enlistments may be renewed at the end of the six-month period of present service—was discussed at a conference of directors of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce with Capt. C. C. Loughlin, district adjutant, representing the Lewiston C. C. C. headquarters staff.

Possible projects for winter employment were listed and will be submitted to the ninth corps area headquarters at San Francisco. The purpose of the conference was to determine what projects would be feasible during the winter months, that the army may lay its tentative plans for winter camps in case the C. C. C. work is continued.

Among the projects suggested were: Greer-Kamiah link of the Lewis and Clark highway, 15 miles.

Road up the Big Salmon river 15 miles east from Riggins, to connect with old wagon road from the south fork of the Clearwater.

Widening and grading of the Lewis-Clark highway from a point eight miles above Kooskia on the Middle fork to 16 miles above Lowell.

Reconstruction of highway from Arrow to Kendrick.

Construction of new highway from American ridge to Kendrick, to eliminate steep grade leading to Juliaetta.

Arrow-Myrtle link to Lewis and Clark highway.

Widening of Greer-Weippe grade. Completion of road extending up Snake river above Asotin to Rogersburg.

Several projects near Lewiston were discussed, including extension of the Twenty-first street grade to Lewiston Orchards, widening of the road to Waha, reconstruction of the Webb grade from Tammany to Sweetwater creek and other nearby farm-to-market arteries.

A special committee representing the chamber, consisting of R. S. Erb, W. P. Hughes, W. E. Gragg and Boyde Cornelison, was appointed to make a detailed study of these projects, and submit to the army officers data on camp sites, water supply, transportation and other pertinent information.

"There are many special problems which must be considered in formulating a winter program," Capt. Loughlin told the meeting. "Getting food into the camps will be the main one, and they must of necessity be on lower levels comparatively free of snow. Special shelter will have to be provided.

"We have had no official information as to whether the C. C. C. work will be continued after the six-month period is completed. However, the area headquarters has requested us to provide this information at once."

Shoots Self In Foot

Frank Rist of Southwick went hunting Wednesday afternoon with a 30-30 rifle to kill a hawk that had been bothering his chickens.

Rist found the hawk, raised his gun, pulled the trigger—but nothing happened. He lowered the gun to find why it failed to explode the cartridge in the barrel. He pulled the trigger again and the bullet plowed through his left shoe, shattering the middle toe. The hawk flew away.

Rist was taken to Moscow, where the toe was amputated.

No State Tax On Wine

Attorney General Bert Miller has ruled that wine may be sold in Idaho unlicensed and untaxed as far as the state is concerned.

He said the special session of the legislature enacted a bill legalizing all vinous, malt, fermented or spirituous liquors containing not more than 3.2 per cent of alcohol by weight, but when it set up regulatory machinery it specified beer only, leaving other types of beverages out.

For that reason, he said, all beverages except beer "containing not more than 3.2 per cent of alcohol by weight are non-intoxicating in law and their manufacture, use, possession and sale are unrestricted so far as pertains to the laws in Idaho."

FISHING GOOD IN MANY CENTRAL IDAHO STREAMS

Soldiers meadow reservoir was closed to fishermen at 12:01 a. m. Saturday, following the usual procedure. Walter J. Harris, deputy game warden, said. Fish may be taken from the stream below the artificial lake in accordance with legal restrictions.

Lowering of waters by use in irrigating Lewiston Orchards led to the establishment of July 14 as the last fishing date, Harris said. With less water the fish are not so good and there is greater danger of entirely depleting the stock in the lake.

The season opened on May 30, giving anglers approximately six weeks fishing. Many fine baskets were taken this spring. Trout averaged from 10 to 20 inches. Spawning was later than usual this year because of unseasonable high water.

Harris reported that young game birds seemed plentiful in the area. The young are showing up in sufficient numbers to insure fair hunting when the season opens.

In the more distant central Idaho streams fishing is reported better than heretofore, according to Harris. Tributaries of the Clearwater and Snake rivers have ebbed enough to insure anglers fair takes.

Specially good catches have been reported from the Bungalow area. Several fishermen recently hooked 10 and 12-inch cutthroats and one sportsman recorded a 20-inch trout, weighing 3½ pounds. He used salmon eggs for lure.

Some of the waters were reported roily over the week-end from storms localizing in the mountain regions. This condition has cleared up following a week of uninterrupted sunshine it was reported.

Bigham Brings Home The Fish

Walt Bigham doesn't only "bring home the bacon," but he brought home the fish last Friday afternoon after a successful two-day fishing trip to the Marble creek section. He had many beauties that would easily measure 12 inches and better. He said he landed most of them from Hobo creek. Well, if they are anything like most of the hobbos that hit this part of the country, no wonder he landed them—for they must have been hungry. Anyway, they were beauties and while Walt slipped something over that few would or could have done, he came out with a nice string of the speckled beauties.

He was accompanied on the trip by Henry Freytag and Jim Schulz.

Makes Lucky Shot

Albert Altmiller, smokechaser in the Headquarters district, saved himself from a charging female cougar Sunday by a lucky rifle shot that stopped the animal within 50 feet of him.

Unable to catch his dog, the cat turned on Altmiller. The animal was encountered when he was hiking along the trail between Bertha hill lookout and his headquarters at John Lewis lookout.

He was approximately eight miles from camp when the cougar sprang at the dog from the brush. Fido scampered for home with the cat on his trail, but she forsook the hound and turned on Altmiller. Altmiller said the cat probably had kittens along the trail.

Idaho Produce Shipments Decrease

Idaho shipped 472 carloads of perishable produce during June, a decrease from 1,140 carloads in the same month a year ago, a report of the public utilities commission said. The decrease was attributed to the later harvest of early potatoes this year.

The total for the year ending June 30 placed at 31,932 carloads, a reduction of 5,441 carloads from the preceding year.

FORECAST AND COMPARISON IDAHO CROPS 1933

The total 1933 wheat production in Idaho is estimated at 21,331,000 bushels as indicated by July 1 condition.

This compares with 30,656,000 harvested in 1932 and a 5-year average production (1926-1930) of 28,511,000 bushels. Winter wheat this year totals 8,560,000 bushels compared with 14,996,000 last year and spring wheat 12,771,000 against 15,660,000 in 1932. Considerable winter wheat was frozen out last winter, but much of the abandoned acreage was reseeded to spring wheat. Heat and lack of precipitation during June reduced indicated state average yields to 16 bushels for winter wheat and 21.5 bushels for spring wheat, compared with 23 bushels and 29 bushels respectively harvested in 1932.

Feed grains, corn, oats and barley combined, total 10,724,000 bushels, or 21 per cent less than the 13,599,000 bushels harvested in 1932. The total hay crop is estimated at 2,507,000 tons. In 1932, 2,825,000 tons were harvested, while the five year average was 2,442,000 tons. Considerable old alfalfa was winterkilled and wilt and weevil are reducing yields.

There was 126,000 acres of beans planted this year from which 1,436,000 bags (100 lbs.) were expected. In 1932, 93,000 acres produced 1,060,000 bags. The five year average was 1,299,000 bags. Potatoes have been planted on 95,000 acres, or 4 per cent less than 1932 harvested acreage. July 1 condition promises 17,100,000 bushels compared with 19,800,000 in 1932 and 19,582,000, the 5-year average. Late spring increase in potato prices and replanting some abandoned sugar beet acreage influenced some farmers to increase their March planting intentions. A record total of 81,000 acres of sugar beets was planted, compared with 54,000 acres planted in 1932.

However, a material acreage was plowed up and planted to other crops because of some poor stands and weevil infestation, which developed this year in June. Production is estimated at 766,000 tons against 709,000 last year and a five year average of 345,000 tons.

Apples give promise of a 5,658,000 bushel crop in comparison with 4,200,000 harvested in 1932 and a 5-year average of 5,295,000 bushels. Peaches suffered winter injury and promise only 52,000 bushels, or 29 per cent of the 1932 harvest. Prunes are practically a failure at 3,600 tons compared with 26,000 tons produced in 1932. Cherries are going to market from a crop estimated at 2,967 tons. There were 3,402 tons produced in 1932 and 2,780 tons for the 5-year average. Pears promise the same as last year or 60,000 bushels. The 5-year average pear crop was 66,000 bushels.

Ban Lifted From Pierce

Pierce was reopened to entry by the C. C. C. workers by order of Col. William A. Alfonte, district commander, last week. The village had been closed since July 3.

Col. Alfonte said the opening orders were given as a result of the activities of county, state and federal officers in cleaning up the lawless situation alleged to have existed there.

Major W. R. Mann, executive officer, ordered into the Pierce area yesterday by Col. Alfonte, to investigate rumors of alleged misconduct of C. C. C. workers, reported that he found all camps calm and the men happily at work at their appointed tasks.

Lieutenant John E. Foley, chaplain, returned yesterday from a visit among the camps. During his tour he held religious services at different points and ministered to the spiritual welfare of the workers.

Headquarters office announced that 22 New York workers had been given dishonorable discharges for misconduct and insubordination. Two others were also discharged for different reasons.

Gave Parcel Shower

Mrs. Frank Rider and Mrs. George Leith sponsored a parcel shower on Thursday afternoon of last week for Mrs. Stewart Compton, at the Rider home, and many nice gifts were received by Mrs. Compton.

Bridge was played at four tables, Mrs. H. B. Thompson winning high score, while Mrs. W. L. McCreary received the consolation prize. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Aimee Again On Front Page

It had been quite some time since Sister Aimee Semple-MacPherson-Hutton had made the front page with such a "bang" as brought the public standing upon the announcement by her husband, "What-a-Bariton Hutton", had filed suit for divorce from the evangelist.

Aimee is on her way home from a several months' sojourn in Europe, but Hutton says he has been "deceived" by his wife and can therefore not stand the humiliation, agony, etc., that has been heaped upon him through ridicule and otherwise.

Oh, well, it's good front page stuff for the papers, anyway.

Went Picnicking

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Watts and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Silvie Cook and Margaret spent the day Sunday picnicking at Atwater lake. Mr. Watts took his boat along and most of the day was spent on the water.

AN EXPENSIVE LESSON

The future of government-in-business is not so bright as it seemed a while ago.

The people have discovered something. They have found that the only way their community can build, for example, a power plant, is to float a bond issue. They have found that this requires vast sums of additional tax money—laid on top of already onerous taxes. They have found, too, that when such technical endeavors as power plants are operated by politics, deficits customarily occur. These, as well, must be paid by the people through increased taxes.

Again, they have found that book-keeping for a publicly owned utility, not subject to public regulation, is of a curious sort. Pleasant reports are issued, which take little or no account of overhead, depreciation, wear and tear. When the time comes for replacement of broken-down machinery, there is usually no money in the till—and the taxpayer is again called upon.

People are learning by dear experience that when Government goes into business in competition with its citizens, they have lost, not gained—that such service furnished them "at cost", means generally "at cost" to their own pocketbooks. The proponents of schemes to put Government into business never put up the money. They put up the "spiel" to obligate the taxpayer, and then they absorb tax funds through countless new jobs.—Exchange.

TEAKEAN GOSSIP

Earl Daniels has been helping Oral Choate haul hay.

While hauling hay on Tuesday, Clarence Herring had some trouble with an unruly horse, causing the wagon to upset. Clarence jumped to avoid going under the load of hay. The wagon was damaged.

Charles Sewell has been hauling wood to the South Teakean school house.

Last Sunday there were 41 people from Moscow came over and spent the day at the church. They presented an interesting program in the afternoon. A good dinner was served at noon.

Mrs. Merton Preussler has been ill for several days and was taken to Orofino Tuesday for medical treatment. She will stay there a few days.

The eminent lawyer came back from court in something of a huff. There had been some words with the judge. The latter awaited developments.

"The dictionary," stated the eminent lawyer solemnly, "disagrees with my spelling of this word."

"In that case," suggested his equally eminent colleague, "take an appeal to the encyclopaedia."

Need Wholesale Permit

Attorney General Bert Miller has ruled that beer retailers importing their product from outside the state must not only pay the $1 a year retailers' license, but the $100 a year wholesalers' license unless the out-of-state shipper has an Idaho license.

The decision was based on a requirement in the law that retailers may sell only beer purchased from licensed dealers.

Such person importing beer to be sold is liable to the $1.55 per barrel tax, Miller said.

SO SAYS A MAN TO HIS MULE

Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a plow. Says the man to the mule:

"Bill, you are a mule, the son of a jackass, and I am a man made in the image of God. Yet, here we work hitched up together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or if I work for you. Verily, I think it a partnership between a mule and a fool for surely I work as hard as you, if not harder. Plowing or cultivating we cover the same distance, but you do it on four legs and I on two. I, therefore, do twice as much per leg as you do.

"Soon we'll be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested I give one-third to the landlord for being so kind as to let me use this small speck of God's universe. One-third goes to you and the balance is mine. You consume all your portion with the exception of the cobs, while I divide mine among seven children, six hens, 2 ducks and a banker. If we both need shoes, you get 'em. Bill, you are getting the best of me and I ask you, is it fair for you, a mule, the son of a jackass, to swindle a man—a lord of creation, out of his substance?

"Why, you only help to plow and cultivate the ground, and I alone must cut, shock and husk the corn while you look over the pasture fence and hee-haw at me.

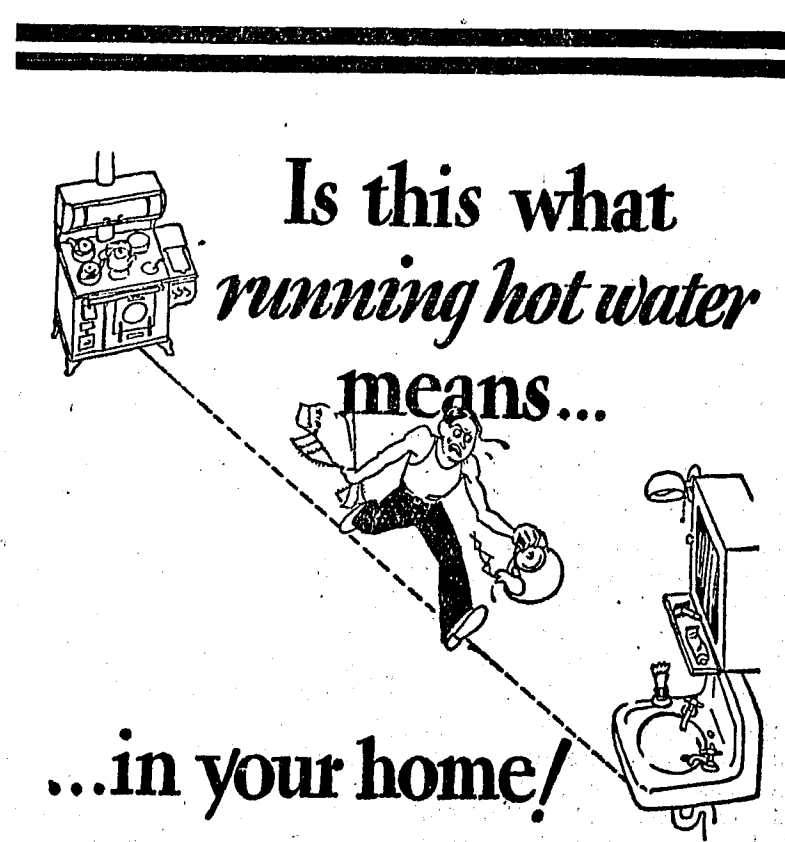

"All fall and most of the winter the whole family, from granny to the baby, pick cotton to help raise money to pay taxes and buy a new set of harness and pay the interest on the mortgage on you. And what do you care about a mortgage? Not a d— You ornery cuss, I even have to do the worrying about the mortgage on your tough, ungrateful hide.

About the only time I am your better is on election day, for I can vote and you can't. And after election I realize that I was fully as gerat a jackass as your papa. Verily, I am prone to wonder if politics were made for men or jackasses, or to make jackasses of men.

"Tell me, Willyum, considering these things, how can you keep a straight face and look so dumb and solemn."—Exchange.

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks, here it is July 21, and just what wheat will do seems to be a bit uncertain, but be that as it may, it is a certain fact that we pay spot cash for cream, no checks, plain old HARD CASH, and cash talks these days.

Beer has come with its resultant rise in barley, but pasture prices have neither risen or fallen and old Bossy still produces her share of the living. Bring in a can of her product and get the coin for it. You'll like our service and our coin. We want your cream.

An Ambitious Climber

"Of all the nerve I ever saw, Miss Upstart has the most complete supply! She seems to think her newly acquired wealth will take her anywhere," said a disgruntled acquaintance of the lady.

"Well, it has taken her into the exclusive Country Club, anyway, I hear," said another.

"Yes, but that is not the limit of her ambitions, by any means. I heard her bragging at luncheon that she thought she would send in her application to join the League of Nations!"

Wiley Post's solo flight to Berlin in 25 hours, 45 minutes set two records:

And it was the fastest flight between the two cities.

In addition it was the first solo trans-Atlantic flight to end at its announced destination since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh flew to Paris. Post is making a solo world flight.

Will Use Ton Shoe Calks

Authorization has been received by Major A. R. Kimball, district quartermaster, for the purchase of 100,000 calks for the comfort and safety of 5,000 forest workers in C.C.C. camps of the Lewiston area, it was announced at district headquarters.

The "ton" of calks will be ordered from eastern factories. Western supplies have been depleted. Every man will receive 40 calks to attach to the soles of his shoes to aid hiking on hillsides and forest carpets.

Bible Lectures

As announced in an advertisement in this issue of the Gazette, Evangelist R. J. Kegley, who has been holding meetings in Lewiston and Clarkston for the past six months, will begin a series of Bible lectures in the Kendrick Hotel building, next to the Ellis store, on Sunday, July 3, which he expects to continue for some time. Stereoptical pictures are used to illustrate many of the lectures.

Rev. Kegley says: "We expect to have special music and also use local talent. We have not come to get the people's money or to add another minister to the town, but just to spend a few weeks in a cool, retired place before going into another big campaign this fall.

"My wife, four children and I will rent a home in Kendrick for a couple of months, but will return in time for school. We have just returned from a trip to the World's fair and will have some things of interest to tell about our trip."

Rev. Kegley and family arrived Thursday and will put the room to be occupied in shape for the meetings.

Non-metallic mineral exports also increased over those of the previous year, being valued at $14,580 in 1932 compared with $4,433 in the preceding year.

Nudist Movement Hits Salt Lake

The weather being what it was at Salt Lake Wednesday—96 at last accounts—a proposal of M. Aparton of Seattle, who identified himself as an organizer of the northwest nudist movement, for founding a colony met with not altogether an unfriendly reception.

Ed. S. Diamond, who said he was deputized by M. Aparton to issue invitations to all and sundry to join the local nudist band and to consider possible sites for the colony, asked the cooperation of the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce.

The site, it was specified, must be located near water suitable for swimming and it must have privacy or can be provided with seclusion.

Antelope island, in Great Salt lake, was suggested as possessing the desired qualities.

The cooperation of the chamber of commerce in finding a suitable site was promised.

"After all, it's business, isn't it?" asked Gus Backman, the secretary. "And the chamber isn't concerned with directing the community's morals."

Much Wheat Being Moved

Many hundreds of tons of wheat was moved through Kendrick during the past several days, especially when the price was at the top, on Tuesday of this week. Practically all north-bound trains making up the Highball have had three engines and many of them coming the other way have also had two engines attached.

Many carloads of wheat have been moved from Kendrick during the past week, but there is still a goodly amount to be moved.

Put In New Dust Container

The Kendrick Bean Growers association has just put in place a new dust collector, which, it is hoped, will do away with a large amount of the dust that comes from cleaning beans. They have also moved their cleaner up a story in order to get it off the ground, thus making it easier to handle the dust.

Surveyors Will Come Here

State surveyors have rented the Heffel building, which is being repaired, and will make Kendrick their headquarters while doing survey work in this section.

No Half-Year Auto License

Those of you who have cars that you have owned for the past year, are losing good time if you expect to get a half-year license for them. The only cars for which you can get a half-year license is a new one. This question has been raised in different quarters, although the Gazette recently published a ruling by Attorney General Miller on the subject, when he ruled that no half-year license could be obtained for any but new cars.
