The Senior girls defeated the combined forces of the other classes in a fast and hard-fought game last Thursday after school. The Senior forwards broke through the stiff defense of the underclassmen to pile up a score of 29-5.

The Sophomore boys defeated the Freshmen boys Thursday night.

With Ramey and Koepp absent from the squad the Tigers were unable to cope with the tougher team put on the floor by Culesac. The Kendrick defense was entirely shattered during the first half, which ended with the score 18-3. A better attack was shown the second half, but they were unable to overcome the huge lead, and the final score ended 33-17.

Cold blows the wind,

But what care I?
Home I see at last.
With a mother's welcome kiss,
A cupboard of goodies so fine,
Nothing is better than this—
Who has a home like mine?
Father sitting by the fire—
Upon his brow a kiss I press,
Little baby sweet and fair,
Coos and asks for her caress.
What could be more welcome
Coming home from school?
Safe and warm from a winter storm,

Plants Lean to Luring Lights
The blue and green colored parts of sunlight are those that play the chief part in making a plant bend in any direction, says the annual report of the Smithsonian institution.

It was found that green light is 1,000 times more active than yellow light in causing a plant to bend, and blue light is 30 times more active than green. Red and infra-red light visible red" light do not cause any do not cause any bending.

The bending effect of different colors of light was measured by growing an oat sprout between two lights of different colors. If the sprout started to bend toward one light, intensity of the other was increased so that the sprout was kept growing straight upward.

The increase needed in the intensity of one light to offset the bending of the plant toward the other light showed how much more of a "bender" one color was than another.

active as a result of some improvement in the domestic flour trade but export demand for Northwestern wheat continued dull. The Emergency Export Association put out a buying price of 77c on Wednesday, the only quotation since January 5. Some flour business was reported done with California buyers but sales to the Atlantic seaboard were small. Wheat receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled 884 cars for the week, as compared with 484 cars for the corresponding week last year.

NINTH ANNUAL POULTRY SHORT COURSE—FEB. 1-2

The annual poultry short course offered by the University of Idaho Poultry department is scheduled this year for February 1 and 2. The chief purpose of this short course is to provide an opportunity for farmers and all others interested in poultry to meet and discuss their problems and experiences and to obtain information upon recent developments and practices. The discussions will deal specifically with those problems which are commonly experienced by those keeping poultry. For the beginners or newcomers who desire information on elementary and fundamental practices, an opportunity will be provided to discuss their problems with them.

The following High school students have had perfect attendance for the first semester: Donald Behrens, Jack Buckkallew, Marcella Burns, Virginia Burns, Thelma Davis, Edgar Heath, Eugene Heath, Walter Millard, Addie Sams, Lloyd Nye.

Perfect attendance—Intermediate grades—James Danforth, Leona Gruehl, Ernest Nye, Maribel Schupfer, Bobby Burns, Robert Groseclose, Evelyn Millard, Dorothy Miller, Donald Miller, Eva Sams, Marian Schupfer.

California markets strengthened during the week and prices of most grades advanced 2 1-2c to 5c per 100, while prices at Eastern Points and some improvement in local demand were the principal strengthening features. Trading at San Francisco was confined almost entirely to California grown wheat, supplies of which are double those of last year. Farm and commercial stocks at the first of January totaled approximately 292,000 tons compared with 146,000 tons a year earlier. The advance in local prices has narrowed the spread between California wheat and grain from Washington and Oregon and Intermountain states, but quotations on Northern and Intermountain wheats were still mostly above a trading basis except for special protein lots required for milling mixtures.

On Thursday, February 1 the program will be as follows: 9:30—Taking Stock of the Poultry Enterprise by C. E. Lampman; 10:30—A Program of Selection of Laying Hens by J. K. Foreign markets were rather unsettled, reflecting in part the unsettled currency situation. Canadian markets were slightly firmer, reflecting higher prices at Liverpool. The Winnipeg market advanced about 2c with No. 1 Manitoba northern quoted on January 19 at 66 3/4c. Quotations on foreign wheats at Liverpool were all slightly higher, but increased offerings of Argentine and Australian wheat were competing with Canadian grain at that market.

International Agreement Requisite

Some things cannot be done merely by voting to do them. "Free Silver" in the sense meant by its advocates, is one of them. They mean the free and unlimited coinage of silver, at a fixed ratio with gold, by the United States alone.

Pacific Northwest barley markets were about steady with a quiet demand for feed barley and mixed feeds furnishing the principal outlet for this type. Inquiry for malting types from eastern points had slackened materially with brewers and malsters current needs apparently well filled. The holding tendency among growers of both feeding and malting types has tended to maintain a steady market and No. 2 bright western barley was quoted at Portland January 18 at 92 1/2c per 100 and best malting types at around $1.15 per 100, sacked.

This two-day school will afford the farmers of Latah county a splendid opportunity to learn something more about the keeping and handling of poultry. Any farmer with even a small flock can well afford to come in for these two days. If anyone is interested in learning more about the school please get in touch with the Poultry department at the U. of I. or the County Agent at the Court house.

None of these conditions could be met, even if we were unanimously resolved to do so and passed a law to that effect. The free coinage of two metals would mean not bimetalism but monometalism, on which ever metal was the cheaper. Keeping both in circulation by coinage at a fixed ratio is impossible unless by international agreement on that ratio, and unless coins of whichever is the cheaper metal, whether permanently or temporarily, are redeemable at their full face value in coin of the dearer metal.

Oats markets advanced with light offerings meeting a fair demand. The Pacific Northwestern markets held about firm with a steady movement to eastern points and a firm holding tendency among growers the principal strengthening factor. Local inquiry for feed and cereal oats was dull with offerings about equal to current trade needs. On January 18 No. 2 white or grey oats were quoted at Portland at $1.12 1/2 per 100, sacked.

Dont Stay Buried

This story isn't ours but nevertheless it is a good one:

A farmer had an old blind horse which had outlived his usefulness. One day he fell into an old well. The farmer looked in and saw him standing deep in the water. There seemed to be no way to get him out, as he was quite useless, and the well abandoned and dangerous, the farmer ordered his men to fill up the well and leave the horse buried in it.

Mistakes

The men began to shovel dirt into the well. But the horse was not willing to be buried. When the dirt began to pour in upon him he began to shake it off and tread it under foot. As the well was filled up the horse came nearer and nearer to the surface, and when the men finished their task, the horse walked out into the pasture.

The very things which conspire to bury the lion-hearted these days, are used by them to lift themselves out of difficulties and into the light. The very last thing one should do is to agree to stay dead and buried.

Let's We Forget

In these days of business recovery when many of us who have known the pinch of poverty are again able to bring home the welcome pay envelope, let us not forget the man who befriended us when we most needed friendship—the merchant who extended us credit when he knew we just didn't have the money to pay.

No Doubt

A farmer, bringing a load of produce to town, decided to buy himself a complete new set of clothes and surprise his wife. After placing his new purchases in the back of his car, he attended to the rest of his business. Crossing a river on his way home, he decided to change clothes, and throwing them into the river, he discovered that his new ones had been stolen. "Oh well," he said as he got into his car, "I'll surprise her anyhow."

Predators Killed More Deer

Predatory animals killed more deer than hunters last year in the Boise national forest, a report of Supervisor Guy Mains said Monday. The forest is one of the principal game areas of the state. Hunters during the last fall season killed 900 deer—and there were 2,925 hunters. Cougars, numbering 49, and coyotes, numbering 1,675, killed 980 deer. Mains said the cougars killed by far the largest number. The survey said there were 5,100 deer in the forest as well as 1,175 elk.

Counties Pay Million To State

More than a million dollars in taxes have been paid by the counties to the state in the 45 days ending January 15. Mrs. Myrtle Enking, state treasurer, reported Thursday. The payments, totaling $570,000 reduced the outstanding debt to slightly less than two million dollars. "December 1, 1933, the outstanding state tax debt to be paid by the different counties amounted to more than $2,500,000," Mrs. Enking said. "Of this more than $700,000 was delinquent tax for 1931 and 1932. Since that time 35 counties have remitted to the state more than $570,000 or almost 23 per cent of the entire amount.

"Twenty-four counties, or two more than half, still owe some of the 1932 tax in addition to their 1933 taxes, and one county has not yet paid its 1931 tax in full. To amounts due from amounts due the state range from $566 due from Boise county up to more than $127,000 due from Canyon county."

BANKS-BUSINESSES AIDED BY LOANS TO FARMERS

Thirty-six per cent of Federal land bank loans and 33.6 per cent of Land Bank Commissioner's loans used for refinancing farmers' indebtedness, re-financed such indebtedness to commercial banks, usually banks in the smaller centers, it is indicated by reports to the Farm Credit Administration.

When commercial bank loans to farmers were refinanced, both the farmers and the banks were benefited. The loans of the farmers, a large part of them current, were placed on an amortized, long-term basis with regular semi-annual or annual payments, and with a temporary postponement of principal payments in nearly all cases. Farmers whose debts were owed to the banks were relieved of the pressure of these debts in the same manner as farmers whose debts were owed to other creditors. The proceeds of the land bank and Commissioner's loans in cases of refinancing, are used by the borrowers to repay their creditors in cash. When banks were the creditors, the receipt of the cash benefited them, their depositors and their communities in the various ways which cash aids banks in times of credit stringency, such as have prevailed.

The largest proportion of the proceeds of the land bank and Commissioner's loans from June 1 through November were used for refinancing indebtedness. In the case of the land bank, or first mortgage loans, 86.8 per cent were used during this period for refinancing, while 92 per cent of the Commissioner's loans, from May 12, through November 30, 1933, made usually on second mortgage security, were used for this purpose.

A total of over $111,000,00 of land bank and Commissioner's loans were made from May 1 through November 30, of which only a little more than $3,000,000 was made in May. In December, over $98,000,000 of these loans were made, and the percentage of these loans which were used for refinancing was about the same as the percentage from May through November, it is expected.

Corn-Hog Allotment Program

Preliminary arrangements are being made this week to start the Corn-Hog Allotment campaign in Latah county. A mailing list of hog growers in the county is being made as rapidly as possible and each grower on this list will receive the following material before any meetings are held: C-H 10 "What the Adjustment Program Offers to Corn-Hog Producers"

C-H 14 Producers Statement of Supporting Evidence.

C-H 16 Map of Farm and Contracted acreage.

C-H 17 Instructions for filling in Preliminary Work Sheet.

C-H 8b Salmon-colored Contract Form.

C-H 13 Preliminary Work Sheet.

Each hog producer should carefully study these forms and obtain the necessary information, filling in all spaces possible. Later, Community meeting will be held throughout the country at which time the formal contracts and applications will be filled in and signed.

Since this campaign will be handled in much the same manner as the Wheat Allotment Program, greater speed will be possible in completing the Corn-Hog program, due to the fact that the majority of those participating will be familiar with the method of assembling data and filling out the necessary forms.

All hog raisers who wish to take part in this campaign, if they do not receive forms within the next few days should get in touch with the County Agent, in Moscow, so that their names may be added to the mailing list.

N. P. FIREMAN KILLED IN WRECK TUESDAY A. M.

to the other. The first thing was to get out and find what the trouble was.

"The train was flagged all the way from Juliaetta on account of water conditions. Care was exercised crossing the shoo-fly track at Juliaetta, constructed after the washout in December, and little danger was expected ahead." Wimer said that on account of the rays of the headlight being directed against the embankment when the train was rounding a curve apparently the engineer and fireman were unable to see danger ahead. Wimer said the engineer stayed by the engine until forced out by escaping steam.

Roof Torn Off Cab

When daylight came a search was made for the fireman's body. Poles and rakes were used to try and contact it but without success. Skidmore's street clothes were dragged from the box in the cab and his cap was found floating.

Robert Vermeer, Spokane, was conductor on the train. He walked to Arrow and notified company officials at Lewiston, Robert Robertson, Spokane, was brakeman.

In the December flood the railroad experienced no serious trouble where Tuesday's fatality occurred.

Got On Wrong Train

Spencer, Sam Pysinger, 19, Lexington, N. C., and one other stealing rides boarded the train thinking it was the North Coast Limited. They were going to Portland, Wimer said last night. Curran gave Spencer first aid and he was brought to Lewiston for treatment. His left leg was badly sprained and bruised between the knee and ankle. He was sent to his home at Portland on last night's train.

A Northern Pacific wrecker was sent from Spokane to raise the engine but was unable to proceed to the wreck because of track conditions. The Camas Prairie system sent a crew to Arrow Tuesday with a pile driver to erect a temporary crossing over the creek. Manager R. E. Hanrahan said it was possible travel would be restored by Thursday. Mails for Spokane and the east are being rerouted. Skidmore was married and had a wife and children in Spokane. He was an engineer but on account of conditions had accepted work as a fireman. He was well known in Lewiston, having run out of here for several years. He was engineer on the Clearwater run for several yeas.

Mr. Skidmore was also quite well known in Kendrick. The family had visited at the H. B. Thompson home at different times.

Since the above item was written the cars and tender have been removed. The cars were taken late Wednesday morning and the tender Wednesday evening. The fireman's body has not yet been found and it is not definitely known just when the locomotive will be raised, but work is being pushed to the limit because of the belief that the body is pinned within its wreckage. Many, however, do not subscribe to the belief that the body is in the wreckage, favoring the theory it was carried away by the swirling waters of the Big Potlatch.

Red Cross Drive Completed

A Red Cross drive has been completed in Juliaetta. Some time ago Grace Stinson was appointed from Moscow to act as chairman until a branch organization could be completed. Mrs. E. P. Wilcoxon, Mrs. Bert Sherman and Mrs. Lettie Israel accepted the work as block captains and received a membership of 29.

On January 19 a branch organization was completed and officers elected as follows: Grace Stinson, chairman; Mrs. W. I. Combs, vice-chairman; Mrs. J. H. Millard, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Lettie Israel and Bert Sherman were elected executive committeemen. Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Wilcoxon and D. H. Hunt were appointed the chapter board. Laura Groseclose has the flour depot in her store and Grace Stinson has the store room supplies in her residence at the corner of State and 3rd streets.

The CWA work so far has made but very few calls to be taken care of from Red Cross funds, but all calls have been taken care of so far. Juliaetta business firms stood 100 per cent for Red Cross membership.
