ED. DEOBALD says:

"If you want your money to go 30% farther, here's my advice—
 "Break in new tires at this time because cool roads toughen rubber—cold-cure it. Thus tires put on now will run about 30% farther than the same tires started off new on hot summer roads. That means you get 30% more mileage plus immediate non-skid safety. At today's low prices, isn't that worth thinking about?"

In the life of Lincoln, one finds Courage and Hope of the highest degree — for . . . if ever a man had no fear of the future . . . if ever a man possessed fortitude, foresight and determination . . . if ever a man saw the silver lining to every cloud . . . it was the Great Emancipator. CONSIDERING REOPENING WHEAT SIGN-UP

Idaho wheat farmers who failed to sign wheat allotment contracts last summer may yet have a chance to share in wheat allotment payments, according to recent advices from Washington. Wheat farmers in a number of states who did not participate in the wheat acreage reduction program are requesting the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for further opportunity to apply for these allotments. These requests are under consideration. Administration officials attribute much of the demand for another opportunity to sign agreements to an increased realization by growers of the definite advantages of the wheat plan and the risks involved in staying out of it.

SCHOOL NEWS The students at Pilot Rock have completed the required list of songs for the primary and junior chorus.

Last Friday everyone received 100 in spelling. As a reward Miss Ward gave us our choice of what we wanted to do when we had finished our work. It was decided to practice for the track meet part time and to paint pictures the remainder of the period. Marjorie Groseclose missed her first word in spelling this year on last Wednesday.

GRAIN MARKETS HOLD STEADY DESPITE SALES

2. Bluestem Hard Winter was quoted at Portland at 78 1/2c. Protein Dark Hard Winter at 84c and other varieties at 75 1-2c-76c per bushel, sacked, basis No. 1. Northwestern winter wheat prospects continued quite favorable with more moisture than usual in the Hard White wheat producing districts. On Feb. 2, the Emergency Export Association was bidding 77c for No. 1 Soft White wheat, sacked, track tidewater terminals.

California wheat markets were barely steady with the relatively heavy supplies of local grain and slow demand for feed wheat, the principal weakening influences. Flour business continued relatively heavy at San Francisco, but mills were mostly utilizing stocks accumulated early in the year, and were restricting purchases to high protein types to complete milling moistures. California growers were inclined to seek bids but were not selling freely at current prices. However, offerings of California wheat were sufficient for most trade needs so that little wheat was being purchased from northern shippers.

At the close of the market, Feb. 2, No. 1 Hard White wheat was quoted at $1.25-1.30, delivered San Francisco, sacked, and $1.30-1.32 1-2 at Los Angeles. No. 1 Soft White wheat was quoted at $1.22 to $1.25 at San Francisco and at $1.30-1.32 1-2 per 100, at Los Angeles. No. 2 Soft and Western White wheats from Washington and Oregon were offered at $1.35-1.37 in bulk, delivered San Francisco, and at $1.42 1-2 per 100 delivered Los Angeles.

Domestic barley markets were quiet during the week ended February 1, with trading light and inquiry only moderate for both feeding and malting types, according to the Weekly Barley Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Foreign markets were dull with liberal offerings exceeding current inquiry and accumulated stocks in Northwestern European ports a depressing influence.

Corn oats and grain sorghums were steady to slightly firmer with a more active feeding demand and a slackening in deliveries at country points as a result of cold weather.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were steady despite a dull demand from Eastern areas for malting types. Local inquiry for feeding types was also quiet. Prices held unchanged with No. 2 Bright Western quoted at 92-1-2c and malting grades around $1.15 per 100, sacked.

Oats markets tended upward with a better inquiry and lighter country movement. A fairly good demand at Kansas City absorbed current offerings and liberal sales of red, partly for feed and partly for seed purposes, were reported to the Southwest.

At the close of the market Feb. 1, No. 3 White oats were quoted at Kansas City at $1.15 5-8-1.18, and at Minneapolis at $1.05 7-8-1.09. The Portland market was slightly firmer with light offerings from growers the principal strengthening factor. Local inquiry was dull but a steady movement to the Atlantic Coast markets was a firming market influence. At the close of the market Feb. 1, No. 2 White and Gray oats were quoted at Portland at $1.15 per 100, sacked.

A REAL WELCOME The brilliant porch lamp and happy-lighted windows are signs of real welcome to your friends. When they go through the gate and up the walk, cheerfully lighted, they can't help but feel their company is really desired. Such a greeting is a happy contrast to the gloomy reception one receives when forced to move along a dark walk with its lurking shadows; then stumbling up porch steps and fumbling for the door-bell. The difference between the two greetings is less than a penny, for it costs less than a penny to burn a 40-watt lamp for several hours.
