NO. 12

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Charles A. Lindbergh Friday, told a senate committee the cancellation of air mail contracts "violated fundamental American rights" and that a section of the administration's air mail bill "is as contrary to American liberty as anything I have ever seen." This reference was flung at a section of the proposed measures which would bar the companies whose contracts were annulled from bidding for new awards if they present claims growing out of the cancellation. Lindbergh's views on the air mail episode have become well known since Postmaster General Farley announced recently that the contracts were scrapped because of fraud.

Preparing for resumption of air mail flying by the army, Monday, Lieut. H. G. Richardson, 25, of Cheyenne, reserve air corps officer, dived 1,000 feet to a flaming death just two days after he had been ordered into active flying service. The spot about three miles west of Cheyenne where he crashed is only a short distance from the scene of the death of two other army air mail flyers in a test flight crash and fire on the night of March 9. The day after their deaths, which brought to 11 the fatalities in the brief time the army flew the mail, the order to curtail air mail service temporarily was issued by President Roosevelt.

Many eyes were turned towards that section of the central west, known as the "seat of insurgency" to see which way the spring primary winds blow the political straws. With the control of the national house of representatives possibly resting on the fall balloting of the middle west as a whole, importance attaches to developments on the proving ground of political theorists composed of the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa. One movement on foot there now involves establishment of a third party, designed according to one of its leading sponsors, Thomas A. Amie, of Bilkent, Wis., "to attract the progressive elements of all the old parties."

Perplexed physicians who found 1,203 separate items of hardware in the stomach of Miss Mabel Wolf of Brooklyn were told by their patient that "I did it to be funny. Please don't ask me any more." She is now a patient in Kings county hospital, where she was operated on Saturday. Physicians said the woman, who is slim, dark and 40, will recover from the operation but that long rest and a more orthodox diet would be necessary.

The government, through Attorney General Cummings, has asked new legislative weapons to crush an organized underworld "that has more people under arms than are in the army and navy of the United States." Illustrating his testimony by reference to the Dillingers, Touhys and the Capones, Cummings requested the senate judiciary committee to approve six measures which would give federal authorities power as formidable in its field as the machine guns and sawed off shot guns of the criminals.

President Roosevelt Monday, asked congress to set up 12 industrial credit banks which he had been told would safeguard the jobs of 346,000 persons and create work for 378,000 more. Legislation to allow the federal reserve system to create the banks, financing them by selling $140,000,000 of stock to the treasury, was introduced in both houses immediately after the president's wishes were made known to chairmen of the house banking committee. The plight of the "small or medium size" industrialist was stressed by Mr. Roosevelt and he cited results of a survey indicating that such industry was badly in need of $700,000,000 of working capital. The president asked for "early consideration" of his proposal, pointing out that the situation called for immediate relief.

Making Extended Trip

G. W. Phillips of Lewiston, father of Mrs. Harold Thomas, left last Friday for Seattle for a visit, after which he will go to Frisco to visit an uncle. Later he will go on to Los Angeles for a visit with his son. Leaving there he will go via the southern route to New Orleans, thence to Chicago, later returning home via Iowa, where he will again visit relatives. He expects to be gone about two months. Mr. Phillips is well known in Kendrick.

No Commercial Club Meeting
Owing to the death of the late E. H. Emery the Kendrick Commercial Club did not hold its regular monthly meeting on March 12 and it has been decided not to hold a meeting this month on account of other meetings of various kinds.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held Monday night, April 9.

CORN-HOG MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED

At the meeting of the Corn-Hog Production association in the town hall last Saturday afternoon a goodly number of farmers were present and listened to explanations made by County Agent L. V. Benjamin, who also acted as chairman of the meeting.

A permanent district committee was elected, it being composed of Clarence Dougherty, chairman; F. C. Lyons and Fred Bailey.

Mr. Benjamin presented a system of farm accounting and explained its workings to those present and several of the farmers purchased the books, the price being small.

The books, said Mr. Benjamin, will serve as a basis for information required in filling out contract applications and proof of compliance, as well as helping the farmer to plan his crop production.

Besides their value in the adjustment programs, such records should be valuable to farmers making application for loans from either their local lending agency or other credit sources.

Road Work Progressing

Good progress has been made on the road work under the CWA projects. Much improvement has been made in the Brady gulch road, something like a mile and a half having been rebuilt and it is hoped to have at least a mile of this road covered with coarse gravel by March 29, when the CWA work will come to a close, and no more work will be done at this time—at least not until some other set-up for road work has been made.

It is hoped to continue the work on the Little Bear ridge road through flood relief money, but nothing definite has been learned regarding this matter. However, it is possible that the road will be widened and raised farther up the hillside before work is discontinued.

A crew of men has been doing good work in the Cedar creek section, also, and much improvement has been made in the road up that way.

Attend Birthday Party

Totten and daughter, Mrs. Jim Ward and son Jimmie Ward and Otto Gladden, all of Coeur d'Alene, Mrs. W. K. Gillivary and daughter, Clarice, of Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schultz and daughter, Viola, of Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gladden of Bean Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Alttag and Roy Phayer of Deary, left for their homes about 5 o'clock in the evening, wishing Grandma Gladden many more happy birthday anniversaries.

Dick N. Crooks of Whitebird and Miss Esther Aiken of Kendrick were united in marriage Monday afternoon in Moscow, with Probate Judge L. G. Peterson performing the ceremony in his office at the court house. The young people were attended by Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Shepherd of Troy, Mrs. Shepherd is a sister of the bride. The newly-weds will make their home at Whitebird.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Aiken of Kendrick.

"The Fiddlin' Buckaroo"

Everyone who likes a real Western picture will have the opportunity of seeing Ken Maynard in "The Fiddlin' Buckaroo" at the Kendrick Theater this Friday and Saturday nights. Ken and his horse, Tarzan, are at their best in this picture. The cowboy actor not only proves that he is a hard-riding cowboy but also somewhat of a musician and even a magician of sorts. And more action than you have seen on the screen in months.

Corn-Hog Review Board Announced

The following personnel for the Idaho State Board of Review for corn-hog contracts was officially announced to E. J. Iddings, Director of Extension, in a recent letter from Dr. A. G. Black, Chief of the Corn-Hog section; J. H. Jacobson, Boise, Chairman; E. T. Benson, Boise; Dr. P. A. Eke, Moscow; Ambrose W. Johnson, Nampa.

Mr. Jacobson, as Federal Crop Statistician for Idaho, has more complete and authentic records of corn and hog production in the State than are available from any other source. Mr. Benson, State Extension Agricultural Economist, and in charge of interpreting the corn-hog program for Idaho, is also well informed on corn and hog production in the state, as well as on all phases of the corn-hog program. Dr. Eke is head of the Department of Agricultural Economics in the College of Agriculture, University of Idaho, and Chairman of the State Board of Review for wheat contracts. Mr. Johnson, a graduate of the college of Agriculture in 1920, is a prominent producer of hogs and dairy cattle in the Boise Valley.

Has Many Visitors

Mrs. M. A. Deobald, Sunday afternoon, had as visitors at her ranch home, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bechtel and family of Moscow, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and family, Juliaetta, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald of Kendrick—the result being a very pleasant family gathering.

FARM INFORMATION FROM COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

The County Allotment Board of the Latah County Wheat Production Control Association, will meet at the County Agent's office, at the Court House, Moscow, on Saturday, March 24, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

This meeting is to hear any complaints or requests for changes from signers of Wheat Allotment Contracts. If any grower has questions which should be decided by the Allotment Committee, he should plan on meeting them at this time. Growers who have already signed requests for changes in compliance for 1934, need not attend, as their requests will be passed upon at this time.

Ask Farmers Remove Excess Acres

Wheat farmers, who, pending final approval of their contracts, planted more acres to wheat than the 85 per cent of the base acreage which was indicated on their approved contracts, will need to remove the extra acreage from wheat production in order to meet the terms of their contracts. J. H. Reardon, State Director of Extension Work, has been informed by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Although this excess wheat must be kept from reaching maturity, the manner of withholding it from production is for each farmer to decide, George E. Farrell, in charge of the wheat section in Washington, has announced.

The wheat section has suggested that the land be plowed up, the wheat cut for hay before it ripens and while it is still green, or pastured, Mr. Reardon says.

The 1934 seeded acreage and contracted acreage must be in line with the final figure in the contract, as payments are made upon that basis, and the total reduction of cooperating farmers is computed from these figures.

There are two main points for every contracting farmer to remember regarding his 1934 acreage, Mr. Reardon says. The first is that every farmer must show 15 per cent of his final approved base acreage as contracted acreage; is kept out of production in line with the replacement crop regulations. The second is that he must not show a planted acreage of wheat for grain of more than 85 per cent of the average base acreage finally approved in the contract.

If, in addition to the contracted acreage which he has already set aside, a farmer still has more than 85 per cent of his base acreage in wheat, he should plan to keep it definitely from wheat production. This means that when his farm is inspected, which is to be made of every contracting farmer to clear it for later adjustment payments, it must be certain that none of this excess acreage can be harvested for wheat.

New Plan Favors 1933 Applicants

Farmers who actually applied for contracts in the original wheat campaign but who were unable to complete them, may now complete the contracts and be eligible for all payments, provided their applications were filed with the County Allotment Committee before January 1, 1934, County Agent L. V. Benjamin, says.

Farmers who make applications under the reopened program, but who did not sign up in the original campaign, may also sign contracts, but they will be eligible only for the second 1933 payment, and for 1934 and 1935 payments, Mr. Benjamin says.

The provision on this point says: "A producer who actually filed an application for a wheat allotment contract, with a complete statement of acreage production, before the close of the calendar year 1933, and who was willing to sign a contract but was unable to do so, may complete such contract and will be eligible for 1933 and subsequent payments. These contracts are, of course, subject to the approval of the County Allotment Committee and the Wheat Section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration."

Another provision applies to farmers who filed applications and whose contracts were refused because they failed to plant the minimum acreage required for harvest in 1934. This says:

"Producers who filed application during 1933 and who failed to seed for harvest in 1934 an acreage of wheat sufficient to fulfill the minimum acreage requirements and whose contracts were refused for that reason may now complete their contracts

Has Many Fine Sheep

Archie May, one of whose hobbies is raising pure-bred sheep, reports that the lambing season is on and that he is having splendid luck with the lambs. He has some 40 head of pure-bred Shropshire sheep, among which are 30 lambing ewes, and to date he has not lost an animal of any kind. Mr. May goes on the theory that it doesn't cost any more to raise a good sheep than it does a scrub.

RULING PERMITS BUYING NEEDED BREEDING STOCK

Farmers who are eligible to raise hogs in 1934 under the terms of the corn-hog contract, but who have no breeding stock on hand at the time of signing the contract, will now be permitted, under certain conditions, to purchase additional breeding stock, it has been announced by L. V. Benjamin, County Agent.

This interpretation of the contract was made to accommodate farmers who produced hogs for market in 1932 and 1933, but who have sold or lost all their breeding stock through disease, and financial reverses. Unless some provision was made for replacement of stock, these farmers would be prevented from raising any hogs in 1934, although they actually had hog bases according to the terms of the contract.

Paragraph 3, of the contract allows for the replacement of breeding stock, since the producer is permitted to buy as many feeder pigs in 1934 as his annual average number bought in 1932 and 1933. According to this new interpretation, if the producer has to buy more hogs for breeding purposes in 1934 than his 1932-1933 feeder pig average allows, he will not be considered as having violated the feeder pig limitation in his contract. His production of hogs for market from 1934 litters, however, must be additionally reduced below the required 25 per cent sufficiently to offset his purchases of breeding stock for this year's farrow.

In filling in the contract, the producer will count the hogs purchased as breeding stock during the two-year base period as feeder pigs.

Reduction payments are made only on hogs which the farmer produced for market from his 1932-1933 litters. However, since under normal conditions the farmer is continually replacing old breeding stock with new stock, the contract provides that the contracting producer will include in his hog base as hogs produced for market the hogs which he has retained for breeding purposes.

The producer will not include in his hog base any breeding stock from litters farrowed prior to December 1, 1931, because according to the terms of the contract he can count in his hog base as hogs produced for market only hogs from litters farrowed during the two-year base period, December 1, 1931, to November 30, 1933, inclusive.

Typhoid at Juliaetta

A case of para-typhoid fever has developed at Juliaetta, Donald Miller, son of Mrs. Eula Miller, being the victim. He is said to be getting along very nicely at this time.

Dr. Loehr of Moscow, county physician, and Dr. D. A. Christensen went to Juliaetta Tuesday and made an examination of the children out of school and will make an effort to check the disease before fly-time, when the danger of spreading the disease will be much greater. Samples of the Juliaetta water were also sent to the University of Idaho for analysis.

The above precautions do not mean that the disease will spread and every effort will be made to confine it to the one patient. Dr. Christensen states that the State has sent him a supply of typhoid vaccine, diptheria toxoid, and small-pox vaccine and anyone wishing to be vaccinated for any of the above diseases should see Dr. Christensen. Cases of smallpox have been reported from Genesee and Troy—and the ounce of prevention might be worth several pounds of cure.

Has Returned Home

Fred Schoeffler, who has been suffering with a badly infected left leg, has so far recovered as to be able to return to his home last Tuesday.

Also Handles Poison

Farmers may obtain squirrel poison at the Kendrick Bean Growers' association at cost, as well as at the two warehouses.

NEW CROP PROSPECTS IMPORTANT INFLUENCE

The domestic grain market situation held about unchanged during the week ended March 16, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Price fluctuations were narrow and trading in cash grain was only of moderate volume. Lack of sub-soil moisture in both winter and spring wheat areas, with reports of high winds and soil blowing in western Kansas were strengthening influences in the wheat market early in the week but these were largely offset by weakness in the foreign situation and the bearish interpretation placed by the trade on Spring wheat seeding prospects. Corn held steady despite more liberal offerings, while oats were independently firm, reflecting diminishing supplies and smaller market receipts. Current arrivals of barley moved readily into consuming channels at steady prices. Rye held about unchanged but flax declined further with a continued slow demand for oil and meal.

Wheat acreage and crop conditions are now figuring more prominently as market factors. Winter wheat acreage in the principal producing areas from data now available shows little change from a year ago. Reductions in winter seedings in North America, north Africa and Europe outside of Russia. The acreage now reported totals 171,870,000 acres as against 170,318,000 acres for the same countries last year. Great Britain, Greece, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria reported moderate gains, but decreases are shown for all other European countries, outside of Russia, for which data have been received. The second estimate of the Indian acreage is 34,503,000 acres as against 32,386,000 acres reported at the same time last year, and is the largest seeding since the record acreage of 1918. The Russian plan fixes the area at 87,970,000 acres, of which 58,070,000 acres are for spring wheat and 29,900,000 acres for winter wheat. Actual seedings of winter wheat are placed at 29,785,000 acres, as compared with 26,705,000 acres last year.

The condition of winter wheat appears to be above average in the Northern Hemisphere as a whole. The United States crop has suffered from inadequate moisture in Southwestern areas and from soil blowing in some places. Less abandonment was in prospect at the first of March than was indicated December 1, when probable loss was placed in the neighborhood of twenty percent. Trade agencies placed the condition of winter wheat March 1, about 15% higher than a year ago. European crop conditions are about normal but less favorable than last year. Local damage is reported from dry weather in southern Italy and from wet weather and winter killing in northern France and parts of Spain. In Germany however, winter killing is reported light.

No information is available as to the probable seedings of spring wheat with the exception of the U. S. farmers planting intentions at the first of March indicated a reduction of about 2.5% in the domestic spring wheat acreage compared with that harvested in 1933. The acreage of spring wheat other than Durum, to be harvested this season, is placed at 16,439,000 acres compared with 16,763,000 acres harvested last season. The Durum acreage is estimated at 2,155,000 acres compared with 2,310,000 acres harvested in 1933.

Pacific Coast markets were steady to slightly firmer. Cash wheat was about unchanged at Portland where the activities of the Emergency Export Association were the principal market features. About 1,500,000 bushels of Northwestern wheat were sold for export by the Association during the week, bringing the total to about 21,600,000 bushels. The week's sales were principally to China although about one and one-half cargoes were sold to the United Kingdom. The heavy arrivals at Columbia river and Puget Sound terminals totaling 917 cars went principally to the Export Association. Local mill demand was dull and very few sales were made to the Atlantic Seaboard and to California. The Export Association was bidding 70¢ per bushel for No. 1 soft white wheat, sacked, on track at tidewater terminals at the close of the week, while Bluestem hard white was quoted in the cash market at 77¢. 12% protein dark hard winter at 81¢ and other varieties at 75-75½¢.

and become eligible for the 1933 payments.

Mr. Benjamin points out that these signers will not be eligible for the 1934 payment, unless conditions for planting in the county were so bad that the wheat section designates the County as one in which farmers may secure waivers on 1934 planting requirements. In those areas farmers may receive the 1934 payments, subject to the terms of the waiver.

Little Change In Sign-Up Plan

The procedure for signing up farmers in the reopened wheat adjustment program will be practically the same as that in the original campaign, County Agent L. V. Benjamin, has been informed by J. H. Reardan, State director of extension.

April 15, is the last day upon which contracts can be signed.

There will be no campaign, but each interested farmer should get in touch with his community committee, the County Allotment Committee, or the County Agent.

The community committees are being supplied with application forms, which will be handled in the same manner as the original ones.

The County Allotment Committee will use the same procedure in handling the applications and contracts, except that minor changes will be made in numbering, in order to keep the new and old contracts separate.

Statements of acreage and production covered by the new applications are to be published as were the first publications, except that in certain areas copies of the lists may be posted.

In general, yields of the new applicants must be in line with yields of those who signed up originally.

Contracts are all to be sent to Washington at one time, and they must be passed by the State board of review.

Democrats To Tag "Unruly"

According to a news dispatch from Washington, D. C., dated March 18, all democrats who are members of either the senate or congress and have the internal improvements (or guts, if you like) to oppose any of President Roosevelt's pet schemes that are generally asked for a quick return to the presidential desk, will be "tagged" and undoubtedly put under the presidential ban at the next election as "unruly" and it is intimated that the elimination of all those who dare to think for themselves will be undertaken.

Rainey and other leaders are unwilling to admit that they plan any action against the outstanding "irregulars," "but we'll have the information showing how many men have voted against us and on what occasions," the speaker said. Again the proceeding at Washington smacks very much of Facism and Hitlerism. Many people are beginning to wonder if we are really living in "Free" America.

"A Sharp" Club Entertains

At the March 20 meeting of the "A Sharp" club held at the home of Mrs. Carver Wheelchel, the members entertained their mothers with music and delicious refreshments.

The program was as follows: Clarinet solo by Dick Carlson; piano solo by Marie Havens; violin numbers by Arlene and Annabel Deobald and Betty Boyd. For a final number Lois Deobald, Betty Boyd and Arlene and Annabel Deobald sang "My Old Kentucky Home," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Wheelchel. Following the musical program John Brewster Thompson gave a talk on "The Life of Mozart."

Later a fruit Jello was served and the surprise of the afternoon was the birthday cake with ten candles, which Mrs. Helen Boyd had baked for little Miss Betty.

The mothers present were Mrs. A. K. Carlson, Mrs. E. A. Deobald, Mrs. W. B. Deobald, Mrs. Rose Farrington and Mrs. Ira Havens.

NEW CROP PROSPECTS

per bushel, sacked, No. 1.
California wheat markets strengthened slightly influenced by lighter offerings and further sales to the Atlantic Seaboard. Local inquiry was light with mills taking only occasional cars of high protein wheat to round out milling mixtures and industries were drawing upon supplies accumulated earlier in the season. Approximately 115,000 bushels of California wheat were sold to North Atlantic markets during the week, bringing the total to about 200,000 bushels. Eastern inquiry however, slackened toward the close of the week. California grown No. 1 hard white wheat was quoted at San Francisco March 16, at $1.15-1.120 and at Los Angeles at $1.22½ per 100. No. 1 soft white wheat was quoted at San Francisco at $1.12½-1.15 and at Los Angeles at $1.20-1.22½. No. 2 soft and western white from Washington and Oregon were offered at $1.30 per 100, in bulk, delivered San Francisco docks.
Oats markets were irregularly lower as market inquiry continued dull and improved pasturage and green feeds reduced feeding requirements of grain. Pacific Northwestern markets were weak and quiet as eastern demand for white oats was negligible and inquiry for gray oats for cereal milling only moderate. The prospective increase in ocean freight rates, effective March 21, was a weakening market influence. At the close of the market March 15, No. 2 white oats were quoted at Portland at $1.02½ per 100. Middlewestern oats markets were quiet with demand for both milling and feeding oats only moderate.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were extremely quiet during the week, with demand from all classes of trade very dull. Lack of selling pressure from growers was a sustaining market influence and prices for No. 2 Bright Western barley at Portland held steady at 90c per 100, sacked. Slackening in Eastern demand was reflected in weakness in the market for Willamette Valley malting barley which declined to $1.05 per 100. The movement from the Pacific Northwest eastward, comprising mostly deliveries on former sales, continued fairly good.

Dangerous Discrepancy
"A Government official is but a servant of the people," said the man with the old-fashioned ideas.
"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "The trouble is that in so many cases the tips amount to more than the regular wages."
