Ramey's Sluggers Win

Ramey's Sluggers defeated Cameron here Sunday afternoon in a good game that took 10 innings to decide.

Cameron started the scoring in the first, when Schoeffer and Walker combined two hits with a stolen base to put over one run, but the Sluggers came right back in their half to tie the score when after two outs Brocke got a hit, stole second and scored on Plummer's two-base smash. Cameron got one more in the second inning and the Sluggers tied it up in the fourth and in the fifth put over three runs on three hits and an error, and added one more in the sixth. Cameron came across with a rally in the sixth and again in the eighth with two runs each to tie the score at 6-all.

Neither team could again score until the last of the tenth inning when Plummer started with a hit, Ramey followed, McDowell struck out and Carlson got a walk, filling the bases and Hughes got a two-base hit just inside third for the winning runs.

Pete Blevins pitched the full ten innings for Kendrick while Fleshman and Koepf divided pitching for Cameron.

Struck out by Blevins, 7; by Fleshman 6; by Koepf, 8. Hits off Blevins, 6; off Fleshman, 7; off Koepf, 6.

Big Bear Ridge plays here next Sunday. This should be a good game.

Christian Culture Institute

The Christian Culture Institute of the North Idaho Union will meet at Leland Saturday afternoon for three periods and at Sweetwater Sunday afternoon for three periods.

This institute includes the young people from Troy, Bethel, Leland, Juliaetta, Arrow and Sweetwater. All who are interested should attend this year and receive their certificates.

The older group, aged 15 to 24 years, will meet with their instructors Friday evening, May 25, at Juliaetta. The teachers of these two groups are Mrs. Raleigh Albright of Arrow and Rev. Joe Gibson of Troy. Those unable to attend this first meeting can make up the work by seeing their instructors for written work Saturday afternoon.

The Adventure Group, aged 12 to 15 years, will be composed of three classes, taught by Rev. Howard Graybeal of Leland, Mrs. Hinkle Cox of Juliaetta, and Mrs. Wm. Clem of Leland.

Sweetwater invites all students and teachers to picnic with them Sunday noon and stay for the evening sermon by Dr. Shangle, Presiding Elder of the Spokane district.

Ninety Cars Of Grass Seed

Ninety carloads of grass seed reached Boise recently, most of it bound for north Idaho where it will be planted in burned over areas to restore watershed protection.

Part of the seed, however, will be sown along highways for beautification purposes, W. W. Godfrey of the relief service said. Some will be available also for airports, school grounds, public parks, and other uses to which communities wish to put it.

The shipment weighed some 2,800,000 pounds.

About 200,000 acres of burned over land in north Idaho will be seeded, he said, employing 500 men for two weeks. Assistance of the University of Idaho extension division has been offered by Dean E. J. Iddings in supervising and advising on the planting. The seed is blue grass, purchased as a surplus commodity.

The grass seeding of highways and burned over land is part of a program which also contemplates seeding thousands of acres of sage brush range land in southern Idaho. A Chinese grass seed hardened to drought will be used for this purpose. It will be planted next September Godfrey said, to give it a good opportunity to start before the land is grazed the following spring and summer.

Sovietizing The Farmer

Representative Harold A. McGugin, of Kansas, takes issue with Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Tugwell on the socialization of the farms of the United States. He says:

"In a recent speech in Philadelphia, Mr. Tugwell said: 'Private control has failed to use wisely its control of land. For the first time the Government is thinking of the land as a whole. For the first time we are preparing to build a land program which will control the use of that greatest of all natural resources, not merely for the benefit of those who hold title to it, but for the greater welfare of all the citizens of the country.' I submit that this program is not in keeping with the free, independent American program we have known. It is more in keeping with the philosophy of Stalin and Marx. There is no star in Russia which points the way to a better day for the American farmer!"

Why Destroy Food?

Destruction of food products by the Administration is questioned by Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of North Carolina, a Democrat:

"I have listened for the past year with a great deal of interest to the remarks submitted by divers and sundry members of the Senate in relation to the destruction of property. I have never yet been able to understand why, in a country like the United States, where there are 125,000,000 people of whom millions upon millions are, and for several years for that matter have been hungry and starving and undernourished and ragged and naked, we of this nation, who are supposed to be God-fearing civilized citizens, should indulge in willful destruction of food for which millions upon millions of people are crying and praying at this very hour. I never yet have been able to understand why we are presently calling for the destruction of cotton when millions are praying for raiment with which to clothe their naked bodies."

Race Meet At Lewiston

A celebration is scheduled for Lewiston on May 30-31 and June 1-2 that will attract widespread attention. Billed as a May-time race meet, the program will include night horse racing at Recreation Park under floodlights that will permit the audience to view every phase of the entertainment.

Four main events will be featured each evening with horses from prominent racing stables all over the northwest. Between the races there will be a program which will include 30 dancing girls. Following the main events there will be boxing matches each evening. An attractive midway will be located between the entrance to the grounds and the grandstand. The meet is being sponsored by the Northwest Fair & Recreation Association.

Moratorium Be Extended Again

Governor Ross has renewed the mortgage moratorium in Idaho by issuing a proclamation to continue it 60 days.

Under the proclamation, foreclosure may be made provided there is evidence of bad faith on the part of the property owners, or a disposition not to pay if able.

Disregarding several court opinions holding the moratorium act unconstitutional, the moratorium proclamation has been renewed regularly at 60 day intervals since it was first employed in March, 1933, to set up a bank holiday.

3,000,000 Bushel Increase

An increase of more than 3,000,000 bushels in Idaho's winter wheat crop compared to last year regardless of the drought, was foreseen by Julius H. Jacobson, federal crop statistician for this state.

In his monthly report Jacobson said the crop would be about 11,466,000 bushels based on the May 1 condition of 90 per cent of normal.

This indicated a yield of about 19.5 bushels per acre on the 588,000 acres remaining in production.

The production for 1933 was 8,025,000 bushels and for the 1926-1930 average was 12,867,000 bushels.

In the 10 northern counties the crop made excellent progress up to May 1, Jacobson reported.

Bridge Club Meets

The Afternoon Bridge club held a very pleasant session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leith Wednesday evening, after a delightful picnic dinner in the park, the hostesses being Mesdames F. H. Rider, R. H. Ramey, H. B. Thompson, E. A. Deobald and D. A. Christensen. Mrs. Geo. Leith and Harold Thomas received high honors for the evening. Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Crocker.

Attend Hardware Meeting

Ira Havens, George Brocke, Geo. Barnum and Frank Curtiss attended a meeting of hardware and implement dealers in Lewiston Friday, where it was attempted to put in effect a district code of fair competition.

As we understand the situation at this time, no agreement as to prices of implements and parts was put in operation.

Given Bridal Shower

A bridal shower was given Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Ivan Craig (nee Plummer) by her grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Plummer. Many very pretty and useful gifts were received by the bride, along with congratulations and best wishes for a happy future.

Shoots "Albino" Squirrel

Vernon Henry again comes to the fore with something new. This time he reports having shot an "albino," or white squirrel on the home place last Sunday. He has sent the animal to Lewiston to have it mounted, after which he says he will be prepared to prove his contention.

Sympathy of Golfers

Will Be With Dreamer

One morning a more or less methodical individual was awakened as usual by the alarm clock. He scrambled out of bed, but instead of shutting off the alarm and proceeding about the leisurely process of dressing, he merely reset the clock and climbed back into bed. His wife noted his unusual behavior with some surprise.

"What's the matter?" she asked. "Don't you feel well?" "Keep quiet!" he grumbled, and went about the intensive business of going back to sleep.

He explained everything later, and in spite of her huff the mistress of the household got a laugh out of it. It seemed that the alarm clock summons interrupted a dream in which the husband was engaged in an exciting game of golf with Bobby Jones.

"Well," his wife observed, "how does that explain your hopping back into bed again?"

"I wanted to finish that match," her husband replied, "and I wanted to give one particularly offensive post a good punch in the nose. And the sad part of it is I can't for the life of me remember whether I did or not."

Linon "Textbooks" Used

in Early Schoolrooms

"Your lesson for tomorrow will be on the blue handkerchief."

Children in the primary schools of Wisconsin, during the days of a century ago, fully realized the significance of the school marm's words.

In the absence of textbooks, linon handkerchiefs, full of prints depicting the great moments and the great men of history, were used to instruct the youngsters. This method was used to teach children how to read and to spell. Different lessons required different handkerchiefs.

Fortunately, little Mary and little Johnny did not have to tote pocketful references. A handkerchief a day made schooling pay.

In a shaded corridor of the Historical museum, on the University of Wisconsin campus, one may see the faded linon, once the pride of a studious child. George Washington is the lesson text. A full-length print of George in characteristic Napoleonic pose fills the center of the foot-square goods. To the right, in large type, still legible, are the birth, death and other vital facts.

Byron's Pet Goose

Byron, though he sneered at many other British institutions, seems to have retained a truly John-Bullish hankering after roast goose at Michaelmas, a Manchester Guardian writer observes. Countess Guiccioli records how one year, in Venice, the poet bought a goose early in August with the idea of hand-feeding it in readiness for September 23. Sentiment, however, interfered with the plan, for he and the bird became so attached that when Michaelmas arrived he could not bear the thought of killing it. He bought another bird for his table; and had a cage made for the pet goose, which he suspended under his carriage when he traveled.

Recalls Famous Nurse

Withered and wrinkled by years in a museum, the carriage Florence Nightingale used in the Crimean war now occupies a place of honor in St. Thomas' hospital at London.

It was at St. Thomas' that the "Lady With the Lamp" started her training school for nurses after the war.

Black with age, the carriage is ten feet long, five feet wide and about eight high. A four-wheeler with a leather hood, it was built to be drawn by two horses.

Technical Shop Term

The bureau of standards says that a "Dutchman" is a shop term applied to makeshifts which may or may not be justified, depending upon conditions. More specifically, "dutching" a sheet metal roof is the term applied to the fastening of the middle of the sheet to the sheathing below when the metal roof becomes noisy after years of use. When the wind blows, the sheets of metal slap up and down. After fastening, a cap is soldered over the nail (or screw) to prevent leakage.

Exit the Ghost

The tourist was making a tour of inspection of the very ancient-looking hostel.

"Charming old place," he mentioned to his companion, a regular boarder. "Yes," mumbled the other, steering his head past an old oak beam just in time to save a nasty bruise.

"They say it's haunted," went on the tourist enthusiastically.

"Yes, it used to be," replied the regular boarder, "but the management raised the prices so high the ghost left."—London Answers.

Whist in History

Few of the many bridge enthusiasts today realize that the original of their favorite game was whist, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. And fewer, if any, know that whist was once looked upon as a pastime fit for servants and the "lower classes" only. But they may take heart and break their silence, for once the grand old game broke into the "upper class" society about 1740, it became so popular that even children gave whist parties. But only in the present century was whist "bridged" to its present form.

UNCERTAIN NEW CROP IS DOMINATING INFLUENCE

Stocks in store at the principal markets on May 14, totaled slightly less than 82,000,000 bushels compared with 92,000,000 bushels in store a month earlier and 119,000,000 bushels a year ago. Receipts at Chicago were relatively heavy but the bulk of the arrivals were from Kansas City and went to local concerns for application on May contracts. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Chicago May 18, at 92c, and at St. Louis at 87½c per bushel. No. 1 hard winter was quoted at Fort Worth, delivered Galveston, at 90c per bushel and No. 2 hard winter at Denver, FOB Colorado or western Nebraska shipping points, at 66c per bushel. Offerings of soft red winter wheat increased somewhat but met ready sale. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at St. Louis at 86½c, at Chicago at 92c and at Kansas City at 84c per bushel.

Spring wheat markets were steady with moderate offerings. Receipts at Minneapolis totaled 511 cars and at Duluth 411 cars. At the latter market arrivals included considerable re-consigned grain.

Pacific Coast markets held about unchanged. Trading at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals was greatly restricted by the strike of the Longshoremen and grain handlers. Receipts decreased to 393 cars compared with 784 cars during the corresponding week last year. No price was put out by the Emergency Export Association because of difficulty in making deliveries. Export sales of 449,000 bushels for latter shipment, however, were reported during the week. Local milling operations were curtailed by the strike and local stocks were running low although many cars were on track awaiting unloading. In the cash market at Portland, bluestem hard white was quoted nominally on May 18 at 77c, dark hard winter at 83c and other varieties at 76½c, sacked, basis No. 1.

California markets were steady with trading principally in local grain, since Northern shipments were restricted by strike conditions and quotations on intermountain grain were mostly above local prices. Local milling inquiry was fair at San Francisco but demand for feed wheat was slow, with dealers and industries inclined to reduce stocks prior to the arrival of the new crop.

Oats markets were only moderately active and prices reacted downward slightly from the gains of a week ago. Demand for oats at Minneapolis was quiet to fair but good shipping directions on previous contracts resulted in a liberal outward movement and local elevator stocks were reduced almost 1,000,000 bushels during the week. No. 3 white oats were quoted at $1.04 per 100. The Kansas City market declined slightly with an indifferent demand for the limited offerings, and at the close of the market on May 17, No. 3 white oats were quoted at $1.16 to $1.18 per 100. Pacific Northwestern markets were firm, reflecting the tight country offerings. Some inquiry from Atlantic Coast points for Oregon white oats was still apparent with moderate sales reported during the week. Recent rains in the Willamette valley improved crop conditions but uncertainty as to crop outturns was reflected in the firm holding tendency of growers in this area. On May 17, No. 2 white oats, sacked, were quoted at Portland at $1.00 per 100, with No. 2 gray oats, sacked, at 97½c per 100.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets held steady although trading and movement were negligible as a result of the tieup in shipping resulting from the longshoremen's strike. The light remaining supplies of malting barley in growers' hands, together with the firm holding tendency of growers, has held the market for these grades steady. Some inquiry from eastern markets was still in evidence but business consummated was light. Local inquiry for feeding grades continued dull and No. 2 bright western, sacked, was nominally quoted at Portland at 92½c per 100, with malting quality from the Willamette valley nominally quoted at $1.10 per 100.

To Study Educational Costs

The State Chamber of Commerce and the state superintendent of public instruction's office, under the direction of State Superintendent Condie, are cooperating in a financial and financial study of the approximately 1400 public school districts in the state, it is reported.

The purpose of the current study is primarily to determine the financial needs and resources of the various districts with a view to pointing out means of educational costs and opportunity over the entire state.

Considerable data and statistics for the surveys are being assimilated from the analysis and reports of the various county superintendents.

"Serve and Save" Contest Interesting

With ten merchandise prizes offered, widespread interest is being shown in the "Serve and Save" contest being conducted by the Washington Water Power Company, according to Lewis A. Lewis, assistant general manager in charge of sales for the company.

The contest centers on the two figures "Serve" and "Save" which are being used in advertisements of the electric service company.

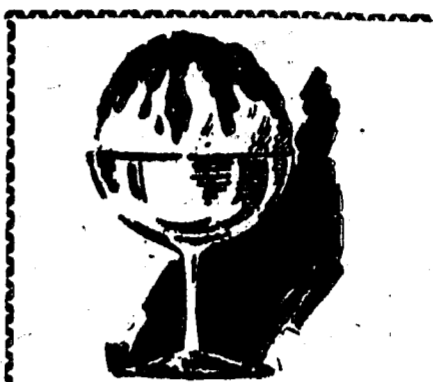

"The contest is open to all direct customers of the company and those entering the contest do not have to buy anything to compete," states Mr. Lewis. "The only requirements are that they get an entry blank at one of our offices, write a 100 word letter telling how the 'Water Power Twins' serve and save for them and mail it to the company before midnight on May 31."

The winner of the first prize in the contest will be allowed the choice of either a General Electric or Westinghouse 1934 model table top electric range. Nine other prizes will be awarded.

Our ridge was well represented at the farm meeting held in Kendrick Saturday afternoon.

Farmers Disappointed

"The N.R.A., as now administered is largely neutralizing any advantage the farmer is receiving from remedial measures adopted for his relief up to this time," said Representative Clarence Cannon, of Missouri, a Democrat.

"More than one hundred codes have been adopted which have created monopolies and fixed prices so as to more than absorb the slight increases accruing from the subsidies being paid on farm products. These monopolies created under government supervision are mulcting the farm consumer out of all proportion to the increase in wages and employment afforded their employees. Cotton in the farmer's shirt went up 5 cents and the price charged the farmer went up 25 cents. Materials in his overalls went up 10 cents and the overalls went up $1. Wheat advanced 25 per cent and concrete went up 69 per cent. The collusive prices adopted by the N.R.A. codes decreased the farmer's purchasing power from an index of 71 in July 1932 to 57 in December, 1933.

The Country Newspaper

Turning from city newspapers to small town press exchanges that come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavender and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers, says the Christian Science Monitor. The pages of big dailies are so full of murder, theivery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the business men, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births and deaths, farmers' items, and all the thousand and one daily occurrences that make up the simple annals of the great common people, who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.—Nampa Free Press.

School Notes

The pupils with perfect attendance during the school year are Norman Fry, Louis Hunt, Ruth Hunt, Everett Farrington, John Keeler and Marvin Garner.

Mr. and Mrs. Perryman closed a very successful second term of school on Friday, May 18. The pupils as well as the parents, are very happy to know they will be with us another year.

The Gold Hill school closed on Friday, May 18, when all the school children and a number of the parents and friends gathered at the Sater clearing for a picnic. A short program was given by the pupils, after which Mr. Perryman presented the class with their eighth grade diplomas. A sumptuous dinner was spread about noon and greatly enjoyed by all. The afternoon was spent playing games and visiting.

The Proper Answer

"Do you think you could learn to love me?"

"Possibly; but if I were a man, I'd dislike to think I was an acquired taste."

DISPELS MYSTERY OF BANK BUSINESS

Country Banker Gives Simplified Picture of How a Bank Works to Help Other People's Business

A COUNTRY banker recently prepared the following simplified statement for his neighbors on how a bank goes about helping them:

"It is the most important part of a bank's business to lend money. Of all the money deposited in a bank, the law requires that a certain percentage be kept on hand as a reserve to meet the demands of depositors. It is the business of its officers to lend the balance conservatively and safely.

"The loans of a properly managed bank are invariably made to those who believe are able to repay, and always on condition that they be repaid at a stipulated time.

"The promise of an individual to repay a loan to a bank on a certain date is as sacredly inviolable as the promise of a bank to repay its depositors on demand, or, in the case of a certificate of deposit, on the date it falls due. When it comes to be known of an individual that he 'always pays,' his credit is established and his bank is always glad to extend him needed accommodations.

"A well managed bank never capitalizes industries. That is, it does not place its loans in fixed form, but puts them where they are to be used for temporary requirements, and where they will be taken up at the time specified.

How a Bank Lends

"It is not the function of a bank to become a partner in industries, nor could it be legitimately done with the money of depositors. Its loans must be kept in 'liquid' form,—that is, repayable in cash at stated intervals.

"A bank must use the greatest discrimination in making loans. A stranger cannot expect accommodations. It is customary for the borrower to make a statement of his financial affairs, which is kept in the bank's records. It is a punishable offense to make a false statement for the purpose of borrowing funds.

"Naturally, in their dealing with the regular depositors of the bank, its officers become well acquainted with their characters and their resources, and are thus in a position to determine how large a line of credit each one is entitled to. That is one of the great advantages of being a bank depositor.

"The man who knows how to get into debt wisely, that is, who borrows money with which to make more money through legitimate enterprises, is the borrower whom the bank is looking for. By the frank interchange of opinion and a free discussion of various projects, the borrower is often guided and helped by his banker.

"In order to procure a line of credit at a bank three things are important:

1. A statement of assets showing a basis of credit in the way of invested capital, or collateral of sufficient value to cover amount of loan, or
2. An endorser whose credit is established at the bank; and
3. Average deposits of a sufficient amount to justify the extension of the desired accommodation."

AS WILL ROGERS SEES IT

Will Rogers recently told why the banks had got into trouble. "Don't blame it all on the bankers," he said. "When we all needed money they loaned it to us—but when they needed it we couldn't pay it back."

Advertising Aids Business Revival

NEW YORK.—Aggressive concerns are expanding business by effective advertising despite depressed business conditions, declared A. W. Diller, advertising counsel, at a bankers' conference here recently.

"Is 1933 a good year in which to advertise?" Mr. Diller asked. "Yes, if 1933 is a good year to stay in business, to reinforce the public's confidence in you, to put more business on the books. There is new business to be had today and aggressive companies are getting it. But new business will come in only if you go out for it. Advertising certainly goes out for it."

"Will people read newspaper advertisements these days? They will read anything that interests them. There are plenty of present-day arguments for business."

Advertising Mistakes

A QUESTION before many of us is what change of advertising policy, if any, should be made in view of present financial and business conditions. It is perfectly natural for us to give consideration to some degree of retrenchment, but it is dangerous to let reduction in expenditure be such as to bring about a real gap in the continuity of the advertising. It is a common mistake for some advertisers to think that they can turn advertising on and off, like water from a faucet, and expect it to become immediately effective whenever they are prepared to resume operations. Advertising does not work that way. Temporary conditions should not influence us to make too serious inroads on the program of advertising, which can be wisely conceived only on a long term basis.—Francis H. Sleson, President American Bankers Association.

BIGGEST "SPECIAL INTEREST"

Many radical professional politicians who make a living out of office holding, and who are continually seeking through legislation to destroy private and to build up public payrolls, talk frequently about the malign influence of the "interest" in politics.

It is not generally realized by the public that the most active "interest" operative in politics is the "office-holding interest," and that it contributes to politics more in time, which means more in (public) money, than all of the other interests combined.

Today more than six million men and women are on our national government payroll. Add to this the number of office holders and workers for the state, county, township and city or town "political interests" and one will begin to awaken to the enormity which the growth of governmental bureaucracy is fast reaching. Every eight persons are supporting an employee of either national, state or local government and this ratio is increasing, not decreasing. Besides paying out billions for the upkeep of national state and local government and for huge relief through same, Americans paid out in 1933 over $75,000,000 in charities. It would appear that if this keeps up, the cow will sooner or later be milked dry.

The demagogic sort speaks often of high transportation rates, of high power rates, high this and high that, but he never speaks of the fact that these industries pay more taxes than they pay in dividends to their owners.

The declared purpose of the politicians is to still further lengthen the public payrolls, and thus still further lengthen the public payrolls, and thus still further increase the number of public office holders who have interest in politics not always identical with those of the people who pay the bills for the huge government upkeep. They object to the activities of private individuals and concerns in politics, even when questions are involved which threaten the rights or the investments of the non-office holding portion of the population, but uphold the right to carry on in politics against them without criticism.

The individual investors and workers in private enterprises who are the targets of socialist and semi-socialist politicians, are engaged in undertakings which increase the common wealth. Some office holders are and some are not, but the public payroll is a charge upon the cost of living for every citizen.

The objective of some of these professional-perpetual-political-office holders is to destroy private ownership of industry and therefore public jobs, by taxing industry to death or interfering with it to the extent that it becomes an unprofitable enterprise. This they term "socialism of industry." Their object is "political ownership" which would put on the backs of every five, not every eight, ordinary citizens a political employe to support. The end is complete socialism.

Didn't Want to Starve
When the new deal carnival was showing in Washington not long ago a young man applied to the manager of one of the side-show outfits, and the following conversation took place:
"Who are you?"
"I am Eggmont, the Egg King."
"What's your speciality?"
"I eat three dozen hen's eggs, two dozen duck eggs, and one dozen goose eggs, all at one sitting."
"Do you know our program?"
"What is it?"
"We give four shows every day."
"Oh, yes, I understand that."
"And do you think you can do it?"
"I know I can."
"On Saturday's we give six shows."
"That's O. K. with me."
"On holiday's we usually give a performance every hour."
"In that case, I must have one thing plainly understood before I'd be willing to sign a contract."
"What is it?"
"Well I always have a good appetite, and I want you to agree that no matter what a rush of business you have for the show, you've got to give me time to go to a restaurant and get my regular meals."

Public Debt
Associated Press dispatches of January 4, summarize the public debt of the United States, as follows: "August 31, 1929, the war peak, $26,596,701, 648. "The 1930 post war low, $16, 185,309,831. "Today's public debt, $23, 817,036,025. "Estimated for June 30, $29,847,000,000. "Estimated for June 30, 1935, $31,834,000,000. "The amount of money in circulation, save for some governmental for which no accounting can be made, totaled only $5,791,000, 000 on January 3, 1934. "At 3 per cent, interest on public debt in 1935, will be nearly $1,000,000,000, a year.

Day Of Reckoning Coming

When do we pay? is again asked, this time by Representative Ross A. Collins, a Democrat, of Mississippi. He says:

"In view of our large interest bearing debt that is piling up, I just do not see how we are going to pay the annual interest charges, to say nothing of retiring any part of the principal; and having anything left for other Federal activities, without so burdening the people with taxation as to cause a general revolt. We have got to look to the future, in my judgement. It is all very nice to sit here and applaud speeches of this fellow or that who waves the flag and would lead you to believe that he is more patriotic than some other fellow who believes in reckoning the cost, but, however distasteful it may be to be reminded of it, your constituents and my constituents sooner or later have got to pay for any extravagance in which we may here indulge. This terrible emergency should not be used as an excuse for wasteful expenditure."

Farm Credit Loans

Word has just been received by L. V. Benjamin, county agent, that the Farm Credit Administration is now prepared to accept applications for loans for summer fallowing. The maximum allowance will be $1.00 per acre for fallowing and will not exceed $1.00 per acre for the purchase of seed wheat. A first lien on all crops to be harvested on lands on which summer fallowing is financed by the Farm Credit Administration will be required as security for such loans.

Everyone Should Read

We are in this issue of the Gazette publishing an article directed to the farmers who have participated in the corn-hog allotment contract. We ask that each and everyone read this article, whether he ever saw a hog or not, to the end that he may be able to grasp in some measure just what is being done to private initiative and enterprise.

Under the present administration a farmer, business man or even an ordinary "loafer" can not do it the way he has been accustomed to doing (hours of labor being limited). Every branch of business in the United States, except the large manufacturers and other business of similar size (Henry Ford, etc), from the ordinary laborer up, is feeling the tightening grasp upon his throat. And especially is this true of the smaller business man, who is gradually being strangled and his business is drifting to the larger institution.

The government tells the printer, among other trades and business enterprises, just what he shall charge for the work he turns out of his office or shop, making it next to impossible to be able to compete with the larger firms, and placing a price on certain printing he has to sell so high that his smaller customers cannot afford to indulge in printed matter.

But anyway, don't miss reading the article published in this paper under the caption "Hog Men May Buy Extra Feeder Pigs," then draw your own conclusions.

It will be understood, of course, that the article referred to was sent out from national headquarters and does not cast any reflection on our county or local officers in any way.

"Six of a Kind" — All Nuts

There are many kinds of nuts in the world, but none have ever been discovered that were quite as nutty as the nuts, "Six of a Kind," that will come to the Kendrick Theatre this Friday and Saturday evenings, May 25-26.

They're so nutty that even the squirrels won't have anything to do with them. The ace comedians of the stage, screen and radio get together in this hilarious picture and they surely are "Six of a Kind." They undertake a trip across country from New York to Hollywood—and the trouble they encounter would discourage many—but not this bunch of nuts.

Advertisers appreciate your trade!

Farm Record Books Distributed.

Community meetings for the purpose of distributing the AAA free farm record books to all reduction contract signers have been held in every community in Latah county, according to County Agent L. V. Benjamin. In each of these meetings the importance of farm record keeping and the use of the AAA record book was explained by a local leader.

Interest in the keeping of farm records and in the use of the AAA book is very gratifying, and a high percentage of contract signers have secured the books. It is estimated that approximately 90 per cent of the contract signers in the county have received theirs.

It was important and necessary that the books be placed in the hands of Latah county contract signers as quickly as possible, since all the books not used in the county are to be sent as soon as permitted to other counties that have more requests than can be filled. Then, too, the time for checking compliance with wheat contracts is fast approaching. Inspectors are requested by the wheat section to ask to see and check the AAA account book, so each contract signer should immediately take his opening inventory, draw his map, and get his record book in shape for the inspector.

Frost Monday Morning

Several sections of the Potlatch country were visited by frost early Monday morning, reports to that effect coming from Leland, Troy and upper Bear Ridge, where it was pretty well in evidence, and in several places tender vegetation was nipped.

Lester Hill reports his cucumber plants were blackened at his place only a short distance up Potlatch canyon. So far as known, no frost was reported in Kendrick.

Entire Continent Under Pacific

Stretching beneath the surface of the North Pacific lies a complete continent hitherto unknown, with huge plateaus than any above surface continent; with twice the width of America; with mountains higher than Mr. Everest, the highest peaks of which are known to us as the Hawaiian islands, and with great depths, separating it from Asia, that drop more than six miles to their bottoms.

This unknown territory was discovered recently by the echoes from the sonic depth finder aboard the U. S. S. Ramapo on a survey of the ocean bottom from America to Asia and from 10 to 50 degrees north latitude, when she was commanded by Capt. Claude B. Mayo, U. S. N.

Captain Mayo visited the Scripps Institute of Oceanography at La Jolla Christmas day and left a graphic picture of the complete subterranean continent revealed by his surroundings.

Captain Mayo constructed a relief model of the floor of the Pacific now on display at the Museum of Natural History in Balboa Park near here.

The submerged territory is not marked by steep depths in its separation from the continent of North America, which appears more to be a raised eastern shoulder of the submerged continent. But it is separated from the west coast of Asia by a series of tremendous depths, some being more than six miles to their bottoms.

Charges Russia Breaks Word
Matthew Woll, acting president of the National Civic Federation, charged in an open letter to Secretary Hull that the Soviet government was violating pledges entered into prior to recognition of Russia, to refrain from propaganda.

Woll said among other things that Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, pledged his government not to permit any organization on its soil which aimed at the overthrow of the government of the United States.

"Since that time, however," Woll's letter said, "pronouncements, declarations, instructions and resolutions emanating from Moscow and brazenly published in its official organ in the United States, the 'Daily Worker,' have revealed the monstrous fact that no attempt whatever is being made to adhere to that solemn pledge.
