NO. 41

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Uncovering a probable change of course for the NRA, Donald R. Richberg, the president's coordinator, advised American business last Friday to leave the "lopsided guild socialism" of price fixing and production control in favor of "the old competitive system." He labeled as an "iridescent dream" the belief of some industrialists that permanent prosperity can be obtained through the price fixing production limited method. At the same time he asserted such practices were justified in emergencies to prevent the waste of natural resources.

Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the German carpenter accused of extorting the $50,000 ransom in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, was pronounced sane by four alienists who examined him for New York and New Jersey authorities. A fifth psychiatrist, representing the defense, did not join the other doctors in signing the announcement nor did he express any opinion on the case. "After a thorough examination of Bruno Richard Hauptmann," said the alienists' report, "we have come to the conclusion that he is sane and that there is no evidence indicative of any previously existing mental disorder."

In a decision which may affect other codes of major American industries, Judge Harry B. Anderson at Memphis, Tenn., ruled that price fixing features of the national lumber code are illegal. Judge Anderson held that "any price fixing is the antithesis of competition, fair or otherwise—and there is nothing in the national recovery act to show that such was the intention of congress." The term "fair competition," Judge Anderson said in his opinion, "negatives any such construction. There is no mention in the national recovery act, itself, of price fixing or price protection." And he added, however, that the act did authorize the various industries to compile codes of fair competition.

The American Federation of Labor committed itself at San Francisco Monday to the 5-day, 30-hour week and pledged all its power to establish that work basis in the hope of ending unemployment. Amid tumultuous cheers and without a dissenting vote the federation convention approved a resolution binding the big labor organization to spare no effort in obtaining legislation to that end. The plan calls for establishment of the shorter work period with no reduction in wages. "Nothing can stop us short of realization of our purpose," said William Green, president of the federation, as the action was taken.

Local communities must pay their own welfare work bills, Newton D. Baker wrote in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, or be prepared to meet greatly increased federal taxes for that purpose. "We can assure ourselves that if we wash our hands of local welfare, we are going to increase our federal taxes for welfare administration by government," says the former secretary of war, who is chairman of the 1934 mobilization of human needs. "We may stalk off with our hands in our petty-cash pockets, but what we do not realize is that government has a thread of our income-tax shirt and, if it chooses, it can unravel the whole thing right off our backs to support those very measures from a centralized, authoritative source that we refuse to do at home."

A one-house Washington legislature, meeting annually and with a membership of not more than 46, was visualized at Olympia, Tuesday, as a means of expediting legislation, cutting government cost, and facilitating the enactment of better laws. The proposal was taken under consideration by the state advisory constitutional revision commission. The commission was created recently by Governor Clarence D. Martin to study and recommend constitutional changes that would lead to modernizing state, county and local governments and the elimination of duplication and waste.

King Alexander of Yugoslavia, dictatorial ruler of the land where the World war flamed 20 years ago, and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou, France's champion of peace, were shot to death by a Czechoslovakian assassin five minutes after the king arrived at Marseille, France, Tuesday. From all the capitals of Europe came concern that the spectacular slaying would unsettle the balance of peace on the continent, although no immediate danger of war was foreseen.

I wish you wouldn't speak when I'm interrupting!

U. S. Employment Office at Lewiston

Lewiston will hereafter be headquarters for 10 northern Idaho counties in U. S. employment work in accordance with jurisdiction over the five counties of Nez Perce, Clearwater, Latah, Lewis and Idaho, according to Jack Running, district U. S. employment supervisor.

"The recent change has been made in accordance with economy steps recently taken by the federal government," said Mr. Running. "Previously the five northernmost counties were supervised from the Coeur d'Alene office, which has been closed. General activities and office matters will be cleared through Lewiston headquarters."

GOV. ROSS AND OTHERS AT KENDRICK MONDAY

Gov. C. Ben Ross, Franklin Girard and Gub Mix were in Kendrick Monday afternoon for the purpose of looking after their political interests.

A meeting was held in the town park commencing about 2 p. m. The high school had been dismissed and were allowed to go and listen to the governor and the other speakers.

The speakers were introduced by J. F. Brown, Franklin Girard, secretary of state, being the first to be introduced. His talk was quite brief and to the point, he giving the governor the credit of saving the state one million dollars per year and quoted from the state laws to clinch his assertion and naturally exhorted the people to vote the democratic ticket at the coming election.

Gub Mix of Moscow was next introduced and made a few remarks which were well received, as they naturally would be, for he stated that the Potlatch section was one of the best in the whole United States. All present agreed with him, whether republicans or democrats.

Gov. C. Ben Ross was next introduced and made a very pleasant talk, touching lightly on the political situation, directing most of his remarks to the high school students. His was more in the nature of a sermon than a political talk, although he did in a mild way pay his respects to both republicans and those democrats within his own party who are opposed to him and his policies.

Gov. Ross said the reason some of the democrats were opposed to him is because he will not allow any of them to tell him what to do; that he is governor, and as such, intends to run that office without fear or hindrance from others. He intimated that the reason he had lost Kendrick precinct in the primary was because some of his democratic opponents had created a slush fund and had used it against him. He also stated that he did not care the snap of his finger whether anyone here voted for him or not. But on the whole the talk made was quite interesting.

At a private conference after the meeting, when the governor was approached regarding the road situation in this section, he said: "I cannot enter into a family quarrel. You will have to decide for yourselves and then perhaps something can be done." This was in answer to a delegation from the Cedar creek section, one from Southwick, and local questioners. He stated that he might be able to do something in this section, but that funds were lacking to do any great amount of work.

Oversmith Stranded

A. H. Oversmith, attorney at Moscow, was on his way from Moscow to Orofino last Friday evening to make a political speech. When just above Kendrick something got wrong with the mechanism of his car and he was forced to seek other means of transportation to Orofino. Not being able to find a way, Archie May, who happened to be in town, agreed to land him at his place of destination, which he did in just 55 minutes from the time they "took off" from Kendrick. Mr. Oversmith was accompanied by Mrs. Oversmith on the trip.

More Streamlining on Way

The automobile of 1935 will not be substantially different from this year's models, mechanically, H. M. Crane told the metropolitan section of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

"Streamlining will be more in evidence," asserted Crane, technical assistant to the president of General Motors corporation.

"Gear shifting will be smoother and easier than ever before, but entirely automatic transmissions do not appear to be an immediate prospect in large production."

COUNTY AGENT MAILED OUT PRODUCTION FORMS

During the past two weeks forms have been mailed to each member of the Latah County wheat production control association, showing each member exactly what their acreage was in 1934 and what they will be allowed to plant in 1935. According to County Agent, L. V. Benjamin, some of the members seem to have some confusion regarding these forms. These forms were mailed out for the information of the members, and to enable them to stay between their maximum and minimum acreage in 1935, and to know the required amount of contracted acreage to be left out for 1935.

Some of the confusion to come from the question concerning the penalty for having left stubble land for contracted acreage in 1934, when the wheat was planted on summer fallow land. If this was the case it will be necessary for those who have not already done so, to make an adjustment before they will receive their 1934 payment. This adjustment is based upon the difference in yield between wheat planted on stubble and wheat planted on summer-fallow. However, if wheat was planted on stubble and the contracted acreage was left out on stubble land no adjustment is necessary, nor is any adjustment necessary if the wheat was planted on summer-fallow land and the contracted acreage was left out on summer-fallow land.

These forms which were sent out by the County Allotment Committee are to be retained by each producer as a guide for 1935. Of course, it is understood by all producers that the contracted acreage for 1935 shall be left out on the same type of land as that which was planted for 1935 harvest, that is if all the wheat was planted on summer fallow, which includes bean ground and pea ground, then contracted acreage should be left on the same type of ground. If stubble is planted, then contracted acreage may be left on stubble ground, and if part of each is used, then the contracted acreage may be left on summer fallow and stubble in the same proportions as the land planted to wheat.

Care must be taken by each producer in 1935 to see that they do not exceed their maximum limit and that they have sufficient contracted acreage, because we have already been warned by the wheat section in Washington that there will be no adjustments of acreage made in 1935. The producer should also note that no wheat or wheat hay may be grown on contracted acreage in 1935.

Hunters Return

Wade Keene and Tommy and John Thomas returned Monday night from a few days spent in the Red River Hot Springs country trying to connect with a deer or elk, but their luck seemed to be rather poor.

Mr. Keene said the game department had just gotten through posting that section as they arrived and that there were men there from several places in the southern part of the state waiting to go in—but nothing doing.

Entertained At Dinner

On Thursday of last week Mrs. M. A. Deobald had as dinner guests at her home on American ridge, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Robbins of Juliaetta, and John and Gordon Haliday of Juliaetta, who were hauling Mrs. Deobald's winter wood.

On Tuesday of this week Mrs. Deobald also entertained at dinner Mrs. George Dougherty of Juliaetta, Mrs. Clarence Dougherty of American ridge and Mrs. Carl Kinzer of Miami, Florida.

Stephan Speak Here Monday

The republicans announce that Frank Stephan, candidate for governor on the republican ticket, will address the people of this section Monday forenoon at 10 o'clock (Oct. 15), in the park, if weather will permit; if not, in the Kendrick Theatre.

They ask everyone interested in state affairs to come out and hear Mr. Stephan.

Crookers Get Elk, Deer

Fred Crocker and sons returned Wednesday afternoon with a kill of three elk and three deer—the best reported so far. They were hunting in the Selway country.

You can't play around if you want to play square with yourself and your boss.

NEZ PERCE COUNTY WILL RECEIVE $60,000 FOR HOGS

Stockmen and farmers of Nez Perce county have voted overwhelmingly in favor of an adjustment program dealing with corn and hogs in 1935, as well as favoring a one-contract-per-farm adjustment program dealing with grains and livestock to become effective next year, according to the results of the survey made in the eight districts by Joe Thometz, county agricultural agent. Meetings were held by Mr. Thometz at Genesee, Leland, Lenore, Peck, Reubens, Gifford, Culdesac and Lewiston.

The total vote in answer to the two questions resulted as follows:

"Do you favor an adjustment program with corn and hogs in 1935?" Yes 288; no 61.

"Do you favor a one-contract-per-farm adjustment program dealing with grains and livestock in 1935?" Yes 307; no 42. Of those attending the meetings, 94 did not vote, according to the county agent, these being orchardists and other soil tillers who are not interested in corn, hogs and grain.

There are now 16,150 hogs listed in the contracts signed with about 600 contract acres of corn on which payments will be made by the federal government, according to Thometz. It is anticipated that the government will distribute about $60,000 on this basis in Nez Perce county. The first payment on hogs is $2 per head, the second payment is $1 and the third payment, which will be made after the first of the new year, will be $2.

"The time has come for the corn-hog producers of this county to take stock of the situation and decide their course for the next year," said the county agent. "They have about finished their emergency job of eliminating surpluses. By the end of 1934, livestock numbers will be substantially below the level of recent years. The next job is to see that the ground thus gained is not lost through a return to excessive levels of production."

The Answer!

When Gov. Ross, during his address in the park here Monday afternoon, intimated that a slush fund had been used against him, as one of the reasons why he lost Kendrick precinct at the primary election, could have been told that the reason lay between Kendrick and Arrow, mostly in Nez Perce county, and that if he had been compelled to travel over that stretch of road coming to Kendrick, he probably would have known the answer long before he reached here.

However, the governor is not wholly to blame for the condition of the road between here and Arrow. The elements did the work last December and January, and the county commissioners and the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce have allowed this road to remain in an almost impassable condition since that time. The business men of Lewiston and the Lewiston Chamber should be informed that the people of the entire Potlatch region, which embraces some of the richest and best section of the country, that they are through going to Lewiston until something is done to alleviate the torture suffered while traversing the road between Kendrick and Arrow. Up on your toes, folks, and demand

Family Reunion

The L. S. LaHatt home was the scene of a happy gathering Sunday when, for the first time in five years, they had a family reunion. The occasion was also the birthday anniversary of Herbert LaHatt. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. S. LaHatt and Florrian, Beatrice and Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert LaHatt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney LaHatt, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mielke of Cameron and Miss Reva Berreman.

"The Good Old Summer Time"

It would seem that the good old summer time has again arrived in the Potlatch section as summer weather has prevailed here for the past several days and bids fair to continue—notwithstanding the predictions of "XYZ" of "probable weather."

On Tuesday the mercury reached a high point on the school house hill of 87 degrees and at 6:30 in the evening it stood at 69 1/2.

Having Roof Reshingled

Mrs. A. Schupfer is getting ready for those fall rains by having the roof of her house reshingled this week. Cleve Aikin is doing the work.

More About Arrow Road

A telephone call from Juliaetta to the Gazette the other day contained the following information:

Two auto loads of people started from a point in California, with Juliaetta as their destination, traveling portions of California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and said the "rottenest piece of road we found on the entire trip was between Arrow Junction and Juliaetta."

This is not an item for the "Believe it or not column," but an actual fact, according to the travelers, and it can well be believed by all those who have occasion to travel that road.

LEWISTON PLANE CRACKS UP NEAR ELK CITY

Marshall N. Dana of Portland and Pilot Bert Zimmerly are safe and sound after miraculous escape from death in a crackup Sunday at 4 p. m. that wrecked the Zimmerly plane in the wilds of the Elk City mining district, a night spent in drizzle and rain striving to find habitation, a hike in the hills of more than eight miles down a trickling water course and then a cabin and comfort.

The Zimmerly plane, flown from Lewiston to Elk City region to employ Mr. Dana to confer with state and federal officials regarding anticipated construction of highways to isolated camps, crashed immediately north and east of Elk City a few minutes after the takeoff. Its engine developed trouble, the pilot attempted to swing out of the heavy fog that followed the first rain of the fall season and the ship refused to come out of the bank, heading straight through a pine tree and into the side of a mountain where the tangled remains now repose, said the Lewiston Tribune.

By some strange, inexplicable twist of fate or fatalism, Mr. Dana and the pilot escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Both reached Lewiston Monday in a cabin plane flown by Fred Zimmerly, brother of the pilot of the plane carrying Mr. Dana. They were given medical and surgical attention at Elk City and Grangeville. Mr. Dana left Monday by train for his home at Portland, where he is associate editor of the Oregon Journal, as well as regional director of the PWA and the federal planning boards with jurisdiction over Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

Farmers Favor Corn-Hog Program

The members of the Latah County Corn-Hog Producers control association have been called upon to vote on the referendum which is being conducted by the Corn-Hog section of the AAA. The questions which they have voted upon are:

1. Do you favor an adjustment program dealing with corn and hogs in 1935?

2. Do you favor a one-contract-per-farm adjustment program dealing with grain and live-stock to become effective in 1935?

The results on question one were Yes 241, No 133. On question two, Yes 284, No 90.

Those votes are from the total of 437 members of the County Corn-Hog Control association. This vote seems to indicate very clearly that the majority of the farmers of the county are in favor of continuing the program started by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, and that they realize that unless same control is exercised through production control associations, that farmers will soon find themselves faced with the same situation that they have faced for the past several years.

The Irony Of Fate
The other day a "tourist" stopped at one of the local warehouses and asked if they had a few beans they could spare—to which the answer was yes. He was a rather "oldish" man and had the appearance of being "down and out" for some time. The warehouseman engaged him in conversation for a few minutes while getting the "fruit." The tourist finally remarked that: "The old town don't look like it did 45 years ago. I was here at that time and hauled the first lumber that went into the old Pacific Hotel, which used to stand somewhere where the park is now. The lumber was brought over the hill road, (past the Dave Gentry place). It was a precipitous place at that time and fire flew from the old wagon-tires as they scraped over the rocks." The lumber was brought from Johnson's mill, near Moscow.

Seed Now Obtainable
Word has been received by the County Agent this week from W. W. Godfrey, director of commodity distribution, that the grass seed reserved for Latah county is available in the government warehouse at Coeur d'Alene. It was originally planned that this seed would be shipped directly to Moscow and distributed from there, but due to the drought and flood control work necessary in the emergency drought areas, much of this free seed has been retained in these areas, so it is impossible to make more shipments into this territory.

Those who have placed orders with the county agent for grass seed for erosion control and the reseeding of cut-over lands may obtain an order on the warehouse at Coeur d'Alene and may obtain their seed by calling for it there.

To Reduce Predatory Animals
An extensive program for controlling predatory animals has been launched by the federal government, according to Owen Morris, northern and central Idaho director of United States biological survey.

"Now is the time of year when coyotes, mink, bobcats, cougars and other predatory animals begin to prey on domestic stock," explains Morris. "These animals were able to secure sufficient food during the summer by stalking grouse, groundhogs and other smaller birds and animals. These smaller animals and birds are now disappearing or beginning to hibernate, and the predatory animals turn to livestock.

"We have been successful in controlling the numbers of these animals through the use of poison and traps. If we were able to secure sufficient funds, probably we would be able to destroy them altogether, but our main job now is to keep them from increasing.

"When one considers that coyotes and some of the other predatory animals have a litter of from five to eight, he can appreciate just how difficult the job is."

Idaho Road Cost $3,000,000
A $3,000,000 road building program for Idaho for the present fiscal year has been sent to Washington for approval. E. H. Stemmer, director of highways, announced recently.

The program includes 46 projects calling for $2,277,486 of emergency federal aid, and ten to be undertaken with $750,000 granted for forest highway construction in the state.

Besides those two items, $131,682 has been allowed for building highways on federal lands, such as the public domain, and $250,000 has been requested for rebuilding highways damaged in the Shoshone county floods of last winter.

Construction of new highways, bridge building, resurfacing and elimination of highway crossings are included in the program.

Pending approval of the program, a detailed list of suggested projects was withheld, but Stemmer said some of the major projects included building of the Nampa subway on the Old Oregon trail, constructing the Myrtle-Spaulding highway, building a new entrance into Wallace, and improving the Inkam-McCammon highway.

One hundred thousand dollars has been allocated to the Idaho-Nevada-Oregon highway connecting Boise with northern California. Already $200,000 has been set aside for work on this road, now under way.

And Still The List Grows
A painstaking assembling of government statistics recently disclosed that more than 7,000,000 adult Americans are now receiving pay checks from the government. This more than equals the total number of families in the eleven largest American cities, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Buffalo.

The Idaho Bean Outlook
The following regarding the bean crop in Idaho for 1934 is furnished by J. H. Jacobson, statistician for the State of Idaho:

"The September 1 reported condition is 70 per cent of normal compared with 85 per cent for September 1, 1933 and the 10-year average. Production forecast is 1,162,000 bags of 100 pounds, whereas, last year 1,670,000 bags were harvested and the 5-year average was 1,565,000.

The saddest story this week is about the too-observant fellow who remarked to his girl: "Your stocking seems rather wrinkled, dearest."

"You brute," she cried, "I have no stockings on."

NEW $500,000,000 TAX BILL LOOMS—MUST FILL GAP

The administration will be forced to ask the next congress to enact a $500,000,000 tax bill in January because numerous levies now returning that sum to the treasury will expire on July 1, 1935.

Already there is some talk on Capitol hill about reviving the once defeated general sales tax to replace the existing so-called nuisance levies. Unless the administration recommends the proposition, however, the chances for its adoption are considered slim.

The revenue question is being studied by treasury and house ways and means committee experts. Their recommendations are to be placed before President Roosevelt probably in November when a ways and means subcommittee begins to formulate the new bill.

Roswell Magill, Secretary Morgenthau's chief tax expert, and H. L. Parker, chief of the ways and means committee staff, have spent the summer in Europe studying revenue systems with a view to bringing the information before the administration.

That a general sales tax is the most prolific source of revenue is not denied by its opponents in the house and senate. They claim, however, that it would impose burdens on those least able to pay.

Not only will the new tax measure seek revenue to fill the gap that will result if the present manufacturer's excise and miscellaneous taxes are allowed to drop next July, but will further tighten up on loopholes in the income tax provisions.

While the $370,000,000 act passed last spring plugged many avenues through which some big financiers have evaded payments, it was not considered perfect. Experts claim it will not be sufficient to take care of the levies lapsing next July. One of the miscellaneous imposts, that on bank checks, which returned $41,000,000 in the last fiscal year, terminates January 1, 1935.

Of the numerous levies ending July 1, the one cent a gallon tax on gasoline is the biggest producer, having yielded $202,000,000 in the last fiscal year. Unless continued by congress, this tax and those on lubricating oils, electrical energy, automobiles and parts, communications systems, admissions, among many others go off the books at the end of the present fiscal year.

Use Of Contracted Acreage
Numerous inquiries have been received by County Agent L. V. Benjamin, relative to use that may be made of the land which was left out for Contracted Acreage in 1934. It seems that many have the impression that this land cannot be used for wheat in 1935.

As far as the AAA is concerned this land may be treated just the came as any other summer-fallow land and may be used for wheat or any other crop in 1935. If the farmer operator wishes, this land may be left for contracted acreage in 1935 but it is not advisable to do this if it can be conveniently avoided. Summer-fallowing land three years in succession is not desirable unless it is being done to control weeds.

The reduction in 1935 is to be 10 per cent of the base acreage in regular cases. This contracted acreage must be left out of the same type of land as is being planted to wheat. That is, if all summer-fallow land is planted, then the contracted acreage must be left for summer-fallow land that was summer-fallowed this year. If part summer-fallow and part stubble are planted, then the contracted acreage may be part summer-fallow and part stubble ground, but must be in the same proportion as the type of land planted. The summer-fallow ground left out may or may not be the same ground which was left out for contracted acreage in 1934. If it is not left for contracted acreage in 1935, it may be planted to any crop.

It is recommended that wherever possible, the contracted acreage be planted to some soil building or erosion controlling crops. Sweet clover to be plowed under or alfalfa are especially recommended. The AAA will permit a farmer to set aside hill-top land as contracted acreage provided this land is seeded to alfalfa, sweet clover or some permanent pasture or hay crop. Careful checks by the Erosion Service have shown that, in general, the returns from wheat on clay hill tops does not pay the cost of operation. By using these as contracted acreage and seeding to some permanent cover, the erosion will be controlled, the soil built up and practically no difference in total wheat grown will be noticed.

However, in no case can hill top land be left for contracted acreage unless it is sown to permanent hay or soil building crops, such as sweet clover or alfalfa.

Registration of Cars Increases
Automobile registration increased 11 per cent during the first seven months of this year over the same period of 1933, the department of law enforcement reported today.

Registration to date is 80,138 passenger cars, a gain of 9,348 over last year. Other registrations include 5,803 private trucks, 6,419 farm trucks and 1,021 commercial trucks, representing an increase of 2,869 in all classes of trucks.

Revenue for the seven months this year amounted to $1,380,476, an increase of $185,257 over last year. Passenger cars brought in $1,015,427 of the total.

Something For Nothing? No

The truth of the statement, "you can't get something for nothing" was demonstrated in tests made by the engineering department of Washington State College concerning the use of hot water coils in residential furnaces. The tests showed that furnace fuel consumption was increased by 20 per cent when water coils were installed in the furnace.

The tests brought out the fact that fuel contains a certain number of heat units which are used up during combustion. When used in an ordinary furnace these heat units furnished a certain amount of heat in the house. But when water coils were installed in the furnace for the purpose of heating hot water, twenty per cent of the heat units went into the hot water coils to heat the water, thus requiring an additional twenty per cent of fuel to maintain the room temperature in the house.

The tests actually showed that it costs $2.60 a month in extra fuel consumed to have hot water coils in a furnace. The tests were made in a house equipped with a 30-gallon water heating tank installation. When the coils were in the furnace, 121.4 pounds of coal were used; whereas, when the coils were removed, only 104 pounds of coal were required per day to maintain the same room temperature. This saving of 17.4 pounds of coal per day amounted to a monthly saving of $2.60. The same results were shown with other fuels.

Idaho Relief Load Increasing

Idaho's relief load is increasing steadily as winter advances, the emergency relief administration reported. In September, 30,437 persons were extended relief, almost double the number aided during May.

In that month there were 16,556 persons receiving aid from the administration at an outlay of $214,084. June found 13,935 on the rolls at a cost of $177,976, a reduction because of a smaller quota of funds. July brought 16,726 on relief at a cost of $174,040, August 28,414 at a cost of $316,332, and in September 30,437 at a cost of $341,174.

Expenditures during the final week of September were $83,676. Of this $13,419 went to north Idaho counties and the balance to counties in southern Idaho designated in the drought area.

Sales Tax Talk Is On Again

Sales tax talk—pro and con—is sweeping the country. A survey showed that the sales tax wave has rolled over the nation until 22 states now have such levies in one form or another.

Under the domes of many a state capitol this winter the controversial subject of inaugurating or extending such taxes will arise again. For states, like their Uncle Sam, are wrestling with deficits.

The movement toward sales and other new forms of taxation has gained momentum as real estate taxes in many cases have reached a point of diminishing returns. Real property owners have been crying for relief.

Direct Hit

A preacher in New Jersey, as he looked over his large congregation Easter Sunday morning, said: "I realize that there are many here who will not be with us again until next Easter time, I take this opportunity of wishing them a Merry Christmas."

Cheery "Good Morning"

We are all pretty moody at times, even though we may be able to cover up our real feelings when we meet others. This is usually caused by eating too well, but not wisely, or by overwork, or maybe by dissipation. Then come to us questionings as to why we are here and why all this rushing here and there, getting and spending. We must use the spurs vigorously to keep ambition from lying down on the job. Fortunately, we have some regular tasks that keep us plugging along through the fog until we come out where we get the long view again.

Then is when a slap on the back and a cheery, "Good Morning" is worth more than a million. It lifts a fellow out of the mire of despondency up onto the old highway where life is good again. We are again a part of the great benevolent force of the universe, and have forgotten the low-hanging mists of the morning. Tomorrow morning we roll out of bed just bubbling over with enthusiasm for life. We could whip our weight in wildcats. We meet our friend of yesterday who slapped us on the back and restored our courage. He is in the dumps today, and our cheery, "Howdy" brings his spirits back to normalcy. At times, we all need the enthusiasm of a friend to lift us out of the mire and start us going.— Sam H. Plumer in Ohio Farmer.

A high school assembly Monday elected vice-president Roy Ramey to the presidency in place of Clem Lyons, who did not return to school this semester. Cecil Spekter was elected vice-president. Committees were appointed to arrange for the season tickets for the athletic association.

Horse Sale Went Over Big

The 18 head of horses brought here last Saturday from Lewiston for sale made a very good average as to price—and the lot, on the whole, was exceptionally good. The animals averaged nearly $101.00 each, the highest price paid for any one animal being $134.00. John Roach of Genesee was the auctioneer—and John can sell 'em, too, and he generally gets what an animal or an article is worth but doesn't try to rob the bidder.

Hearst Not Support Sinclair

William Randolph Hearst will not support Upton Sinclair in the California gubernatorial race.

"Will you support Sinclair?" the publisher was asked when he returned from a tour of Europe.

"Certainly not," Hearst replied. He attributed the support of Sinclair party "to the fact that we are not a calm and conservative people like the English, but are more like various European nations, disposed to go headlong into the support of radicalism as a cure-all."

"Personally, I think it is a kill-all," he added.

Hearst said the world has had 15 years of radicalism in Russia, "and the people are still starving."

"To my mind," he continued, "it is a piece of intolerable impudence for a set of visionary theorists suddenly to decide that the American system of government, which has proved to be the most successful in the world, should be abandoned in favor of the political experiments of foreign nations, which are immeasurably worse off than we are."
