Each member of the class is preparing a pamphlet outlining and illustrating material studied the last two weeks on "War." Material has been obtained from Washington, D. C., and from the office of National Council for the Prevention of War in Portland.

The geometry class has been studying measurements. Monday the class was divided into two groups and each group measured the distance across the river by geometric means. One group found it to be 78 feet across in front of the Abrams home, while the other group found it to be 75 feet.

Kendrick's unbeaten Tigers again went into action here Friday evening, February 1, and routed the Culdesac squad by a score of 47-4. Culdesac made their first and only field goal at the beginning of the game. The score being 28-2 at the end of the first half. Although the Culdesac team has had a poor year, they are good sports and keep on trying. This game showed how strong the Tigers really are. Ramey was high point man with 12 points.

Grade News

The first grade illustrated the story of the farm in the sand table and made small booklets on farm animals. They are beginning the different families to work up in spelling.

The second grade finished both required readers and are starting supplementary work. They are illustrating Peter Rabbit.

The sixth grade painted pictures on the subject of beaver dams.

The fifth and sixth grade room has been decorated with valentine decorations. They are having a health contest, the Washingtons vs. the Lincolns.

Now What About It?

Now that the bill introduced last week asking that the proceedings of the pardon board (consisting of Gov. Ross, Attorney General Miller and Secretary of State Girard) has been properly squelched and the whitewash brush applied, what are the good people of Idaho going to say about it?

If the pardon board had done nothing they should not have done, why not satisfy an interested public regarding their doings during the past four years? There is a statute on the books (so it is said by good authority) stating that such report shall be made. Mayhap there might be something in the findings of such a report that would not lend color to the Governor's proposed race for the United States senate two years hence.

After talking all day to anyone who will listen to them, many people complain there is no free speech any longer.

DR. ELLIOT'S Veterinary Supply

Lots of pleasure and satisfaction in raising livestock that is free from parasites—they are healthy and make a quick growth. Hogs and poultry can be treated for parasites at small cost and hardly any effort. Phone or write us for information. It will be given without cost to you.

Our increasing number of Conomineral and Viamineral users have been flooding us with praise for these products, and we wish to extend them through this space our most grateful appreciation.

Some of the statements in regard to these products are as follows: "More milk, better health of dairy animals." One man said: "I have never owned as sleek and healthy a bunch of cows; they just shine—enjoy drinking the milk." Others claim more eggs, healthier flocks, and a representative of a very conservative organization made the following statement at a two-day short course for poultrymen: "We believe that since we have begun the use of Viamineral in our mashes that the disease resistance of our flocks fed our mash has been increased to such extent that we feel it will prevent Fowl Paralysis by building up the resistance."

"Baby Take a Bow"

There are few picture fans who really keep up with the new things in pictures who have not seen or heard of beautiful little Shirley Temple, the baby star. She is a winsome child and will capture your heart at once. She is the only juvenile in a "grown-up" picture and the way she carries her part would do credit to one who might have spent many years in the picture game. She is cast as the innocent child who plays many funny pranks while detectives are trying to capture a crook who has just made away with a string of pearls.

Then, too, there is the seventh episode of "The Red Rider," and the usual comedy and other features.

The car to watch is the car behind the car in front of you.
 The modern girl adores spinning wheels, but she wants four of them and a spare.

GRAIN MARKET LOWER DESPITE LIGHT OFFERINGS

northern spring at 88c, and No. 2 dark hard winter at 79c per bushel. Pacific Coast markets were somewhat unsettled. Wheat futures at Portland declined about 1c per bushel, with cash grain about 1/2c per bushel lower, compared with a week ago. Bluestem hard white was quoted at Portland at the close of the week at 92c, soft white, northern spring, hard winter and western red at 85c and western white at 84c per bushel, basis No. 1, sacked. At Seattle western white and western red were quoted at 85c, hard winter at 85c, baart hard white at 93c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. Growers were not free sellers but continued to await developments of the proposal to move Northwestern feed wheat to drouth areas. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled only 375 cars. Demand was limited, with local mills providing about the only outlet. A few lots of high protein milling wheat moved to California but local values were too high for shipment to the central west and Atlantic Coast markets.

California wheat markets were independently firm, reflecting diminishing supplies of local grains. Milling inquiry was fairly active but feeders and industries were mostly purchasing for immediate needs only.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets continued extremely quiet with trading and movement small, largely reflecting the substitution of lower priced feed wheat for barley and a slack demand for malting types. The market undertone held steady, however, with No. 2 bright western barley quoted at Portland at $1.57 and at Seattle at $1.52 per 100. California feed barley continued to move to Puget Sound points, with offerings at around $1.52 per 100. Northwestern malting barley was quoted for shipment to midwestern points at $1.85 per 100.

Oats markets were extremely dull and prices were irregularly lower with the weakness in corn. Pacific Northwest markets were quiet despite some demand for good heavy white oats from the Atlantic Coast. Importations of Argentine oats at Atlantic Coast and Gulf ports were tending to restrict demand for domestic offerings from the Pacific Northwest. No. 2 white oats were quoted at Portland Jan. 31 at $1.65 to $1.70 and at Seattle at $1.62 per 100, sacked basis.
