HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Amelia Earhart, tired but happy, brought her red monoplane across the 2,100 miles between Mexico, D. F., and Newark, N. J., airport last Thursday, making the first non-stop flight from the Mexican capital to the greater New York area. Her face and hands were dirty, but she grinned as she brought her ship to the ground at 9:28:50 p. m. eastern standard time, 14 hours, 22 minutes and 50 seconds after her perilous takeoff from a three-mile runway. She landed as one of the greatest crowds ever assembled, at Newark airport shouted and screamed their cheers and struggled against an inadequate force of 30 policemen, assigned to the field for the emergency.

A notice to the world that "Washington will not be an obstacle" to international currency stabilization was coupled by Secretary Morgenthau with a warning that this nation will not act singly to peg the dollar. In a nationwide radio address—awaited intently by business and financial interests as one of the administration's infrequent statements of its money policy—the treasury secretary summed up his argument in these words: "Why should we be singled out and admonished that the moral duty to restore order is primarily ours? Before we make any commitments, we must be sure that we will not lose what we have just regained. We are not unwilling to stabilize. However, if the great trading nations elect to continue under the present absence of rules we are no longer at a disadvantage. We revalued our currency no more than was necessary and we can go either way. Our hands are untied."

In virtual concession of defeat of the Patman bill by the veto route, cash bonus forces went into a huddle to decide upon future strategy for getting the legislation as this session of congress. The conference was called by Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, Patman bill leader in the senate. Thomas said he expected to withdraw tomorrow his reconsideration motion that has been holding the Patman bill in the senate, and let it go to the White House. The chief executive found 40,500 telegrams favoring the Patman bill by a ratio of about 8 to 1 on his desk, but went ahead with preparations to veto the measure immediately it reaches him. There seemed to be a marked let-up in the volume of telegrams today. Telegraph companies reported they had dropped off to almost normal.

It was reported in the Tribune that between 25,000 and 30,000 people witnessed the parades and attended the various amusement places.

Death Of Infant Daughter

Georgie Frances Groseclose, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Groseclose, was born April 2, 1935 and died May 8, 1935, age one month and six days.

She leaves to mourn, father and mother, two brothers, Jimmie and Bennie, two sisters, Virgie and Phyllis; grandparents, and other relatives. Funeral services were held at the Juliaetta Methodist church, with the Rev. F. O. Sapp, officiating. Interment was in the Juliaetta cemetery.

We wish to express our appreciation for the beautiful floral offerings and the sympathy of our kind friends at the death of our baby, Georgie Frances.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Groseclose and Family.

"If" Bonuses Paid

Veterans have already borrowed on a large part of the bonus for which the Patman bill would direct cash payment.

Of the $3,479,802,408 originally owed veterans, $1,707,198,516 already has been drawn out in loans.

World War veterans in Idaho number 13,541; total amount of certificates issued, $12,815,339, leaving the remainder due veterans $7,441,798.

IDAHO STATE LIQUOR STORES WILL STAY

The state liquor control act passed by the 23rd legislature Saturday withstood the first attack made on it on grounds of unconstitutionality.

The second victory of the week for the measure came when District Judge C. E. Winstead overruled a motion by E. S. Delana, Boise, to quash an information filed by the Ada county prosecuting attorney, Willis Moffatt, charging Lester Morehouse, of Star, with violating the liquor control act.

Judge Winstead held that the legislature is permitted under the constitution to pass such laws as are not specifically prohibited by the constitution, and that the prosecutor's general objects "were well taken."

Delana argued the motion to quash should be granted because a provision of an amendment to the state constitution which gives the legislature the right "to permit, regulate and control" the sale of liquor does not entitle the state to enter into the business of selling liquor.

The prosecuting attorney in urging the court to deny the motion, interpreted the provision of the amendment as being legally synonymous with the term "police power." Even if it would not thus be interpreted, he declared, "the defendant had no legal right to attack the constitutionality of the entire act since he was charged only with violating the section of the law that made bootlegging of alcoholic liquor unlawful. That is an accepted principle of law."

The act, Moffatt argued, provides that even if certain sections of the liquor law are declared unconstitutional, the other sections will remain in operation and be regarded as legal. Judge Winstead's decision was given orally and was brief.

Immediately after it was announced, Morehouse entered a plea of not guilty to the charge, and the time for his trial will be fixed June 3, Judge Winstead decided.

Earlier this week, the Anti-State Liquor Stores league dropped its endeavors to attack the liquor act under the referendum law.

Chain Letters Dying Out

A few chain letters are still passing through the local postoffice, but the crest has been passed and only a few are still "doin' it." Most of the letters being handled now are from the outside.

In practically every city of any size "racketeers" have taken over the business and in some places have made a killing before police officers were aware of just what was going on.

A heavy business was going on down at Lewiston for a time, but that, too, has passed into the limbo. Over at Seattle one outfit with offices in the Smith Tower had 20 stenographers typing letters which they were selling at 25c each. The place was raided by the police and closed, with one or two fined. The officers said they had no authority over what was going through the mails, but would stop the "hand to hand" proposition.

It is evident that those who invested a dime or two just for the kick they could get out of it, did no harm, but when it was turned into a "racket" it was time to put a halt to it.

Only Three Reactors

According to report, out of 193 children of the Kendrick school given the "T. B." test recently, only three reactors were found. After an X-ray examination the three were found to be in a very mild form and can easily soon be put in perfect health. This is indeed a remarkable record and speaks well for the health of the community, as well as our splendid climate.

One school in Latah county was found to contain as many as 10 per cent reactors.

Entertained At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Manning Onstott were entertained at Sunday dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cummings and family.

KENDRICK COMMERCIAL CLUB IN REGULAR MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club was held in the Raby Hotel Monday evening, dinner being served at 6:30, with about 20 residents of our little city interested in its welfare in attendance.

After the reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, N. E. Walker, as chairman of the Highways committee, made a very interesting report on road affairs, although it was not all that members of the club would have liked to hear. Mr. Walker stated that he and H. B. Thompson had made a trip to towns and cities to the north regarding highway matters and had been accorded cordial reception and found most of those contacted in sympathy with the idea of having a highway up the Potlatch canyon, through Harvard. He also reported that he and M. O. Raby had made a trip to Boise for the purpose of interviewing Gov. Ross and J. H. Stemmer regarding the highway and that they had been promised that the road would be built, at least part way this year, making a two year program of the project. He also reported that a delegation from Southwick, Cameron and Leland were also in Boise for the purpose of securing a road from Kendrick to Southwick and eventually to connect with the highway out of Orofino. However, as practically all of that proposed road lies within Nez Perce county, all the Kendrick delegates could do was to voice their approval and the unqualified support in every way possible of the Kendrick Commercial club and the entire community. (A project long dear to the heart of townspeople.) It has since been learned that the Lewiston Planning board is undecided whether to recommend that a road be built from Cameron to Kendrick or down Pine creek, from Leland to the Clearwater. A letter from J. H. Stemmer to Mr. Walker states that it will be impossible for the state to do anything toward rebuilding the Cedar Creek road at this time, but that a survey had been ordered, which would indicate that some sort of work is contemplated in the future. If possible, it will undoubtedly be made a winter project.

M. O. Raby, a member of a delegation that went to Pullman recently to see what could be done regarding a soil erosion camp for the Kendrick section, reported that the delegation had been cordially received by Mr. Rockie, head of the soil erosion projects, and Mr. Johnson, second in command, and had been promised every consideration, but that it was a long-drawn-out program and that farmers would necessarily have to be contacted to learn of their reaction to the scheme. The matter was left in the hands of the Agricultural committee for action.

Marvin Long, chairman of the Fish and Game committee, reported that fishing is fairly good in the Potlatch, but that he hadn't caught the biggest one. He also stated that the magpie contest was not going over so big, as all the boys are in school. He stated that he had written to State Game Warden Eckert asking that an extension of the time for gathering eggs and heads be granted.

Geo. P. Barnum, who has charge of the contest, stated that only about 2,000 eggs had been brought in and that very few heads had been reported. If the extension is secured, there is little doubt but that the trophies brought in will be more than double those to date.

James M. Lyle reported that the time was nearing for the close of school and extended an invitation to everyone to attend the various activities. He stated that a school exhibit will be given in the school house at the regular monthly meeting of the P. T. A. next Monday.

These exhibits will be of work that has been done by the students in the regular course of their school work, and not made especially for exhibition purposes, so all will have an opportunity of seeing what is being done regularly in our school.

At this time a report of a special committee appointed by President Keene on the beautification of Kendrick was read by the secretary, as follows:

"At a meeting of the General Committee on the Beautification of Kendrick a decision was reached that six prizes be offered for a garden contest to be held in the early fall. These would consist of first and second prizes for the best flower garden, which would mean the garden of most consistent beautiful appearance dur-

WHEAT BALLOT WILL CONTAIN BUT ONE QUESTION

One simple question is all that farmers will be asked to vote on when they cast their ballots in the national wheat referendum on Saturday, May 25, County Agent L. V. Benjamin announces. This is the question: "Do you favor continuing a wheat adjustment program to follow the present one, which expires with the 1935 crop year?"

"Every wheat farmer in Latah county will be asked to vote Yes or No to this question. Although the referendum includes only this one question, there are a great many problems which farmers need to consider before casting their ballots," Mr. Benjamin says. "These include the policy which the United States should follow in wheat production: the advantages and disadvantages of a wheat program, whether adjustment would be necessary if drought continues, if several bumper crops should follow the several years of drought, or if conditions are normal; and what the 1936 contract is expected to contain."

All these problems are being discussed in the community meetings which are being held in order that farmers may discuss the wheat plan thoroughly before voting. Members of local community wheat committees will be in charge of local arrangements for these meetings. Mr. Benjamin or some member of the county wheat allotment committee will be present at each meeting to supply authentic information. The schedule of these meetings will be as follows:

Troy: IOOF hall, Saturday, May 11, 3:00 p. m.
Deary: Legion hall, Monday, May 20, 8:00 p. m.

Bear Ridge: Community Hall, Thursday, May 16, 1:30 p. m.

Any farmer who signed a wheat allotment contract, or who is eligible to sign a contract, will be eligible to vote in the national wheat referendum in which Latah County farmers will take part on Saturday, May 25, County Agent Benjamin announces.

"This plan of opening the voting to all wheat producers has been undertaken in order that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration may have a complete cross section of the opinion of all wheat producers upon the question of continuing the wheat adjustment program for 1936 and later years," Mr. Benjamin says.

"The referendum will be similar to an ordinary election, according to the outline of procedure which has developed. All producers who are now signers of wheat contracts will be registered on the vote register, and when they cast their ballots their names will be checked off."

When questioned about the income received in Latah County from the adjustment program, Mr. Benjamin submitted the official records of the wheat association:

Contracts	1037
Acers wheat (4 yr. average)	72,819
Average annual wheat production	2,032,789 bu.
Allotment (34 per cent average production)	1,097,706 bu.
Allotment payments 1933 (28c per bu.)	$307,357.68
Allotment payments 1934 (26c per bu.) (est.)	$285,403.56
Total allotment payments to fall 1934	$592,761.24
Contracted acreage 1934	10,923
Contracted acreage 1935 (est.)	7,509
Total contracted acreage under the present contract	18,432
Average payment per acre contracted acreage	$32.17

Whatever payment is received for 1935 will be added to this as will any value of hay grown on contracted acreage this year.

Isn't It The Truth?

They're spread upon the table,
They're lying on the chair,
They're piled upon the organ,
In fact they're everywhere.

We get them from our neighbors,
We get them from our friends,
We get them from our relatives,
From a dozen welded pens.

The mails are over crowded,
Although they say 'tis sin,
I think I see the postmaster
Turn aside and grin.

Our post department long has grieved
For several years now past,
About their being far behind—
They're getting theirs at last.

Our President has many plans.
We now have one that's better—
God's blessings on the man
Who wrote the first chain letter!

— Mrs. D. W. Whybark.

Caught Four-Pound Trout

George Crocker can boast that he has thus far caught the largest trout that has been taken from the Potlatch this season—or for several other seasons, for that matter—he having landed a beautiful specimen last Sunday that tipped the scales at four pounds and measured an even two feet in length. He also had several others that were "not so bad."

SALES TAX PETITION IS FILED—HEARING FRIDAY

The anti-sales tax league formally opened its fight on the recently enacted 2 per cent tax, marking the first time in the history of the state that a law has been attacked by a referendum.

The league filed petitions bearing the names of 23,298 persons with Secretary of State Franklin Girard. The petitions represented every county in the state except Teton.

The constitutional provision for the referendum was adopted by a vote of the people in 1912, but legal machinery for its operation was not enacted by the legislature until 1931.

The filing of the petitions came only a short time before attorneys for the tax league and a group of Boise merchants went before the third district court to urge Judge Charles F. Koelsch to issue a temporary injunction to halt operations of the law on the ground it is unconstitutional and that filing of the petitions make the act inoperative.

Whether the filing of the petitions makes the law immediately inoperative or whether it only makes it subject to a vote of the people in the next general election is a question attorneys have differed on since the anti-sales tax league began its referendum movement several weeks ago. Judge Koelsch is expected to decide this question.

Then the action will be appealed to the state supreme court for final action.

The tax law was passed by the 23rd session of the legislature for the purpose of raising $1,700,000 for the relief of Idaho's needy. The league is headed by Frank Kinyon, Boise attorney.

Next Friday morning attorneys will appear before Judge Charles F. Koelsch in district court to present arguments for and against issuance of a permanent injunction to prevent operation of the 2 per cent retail sales tax act.

Judge Koelsch will be called upon to decide two major points:

1. Does the filing by the anti-sales tax league of referendum petitions signed by 23,298 persons halt the operation of the law?
2. Is the sales tax unconstitutional?

'36 Wheat Plan Attack Erosion

Continuance of wheat adjustment for 1936 and future years, upon which wheat farmers will express their opinions in the national referendum May 25, offers an opportunity for a positive attack on the problem of soil erosion, according to County Agent L. V. Benjamin.

"It is contemplated that every farmer cooperating in a wheat program will have an opportunity to combat the erosion menace by planting his contracted acreage to soil-binding crops, or getting some of it back into grass," Mr. Benjamin said. "The number of contracted acres under a new program will be determined by the crop this year and by the outlook for the coming year. The maximum adjustment which can be asked under the proposed new contract is 25 per cent of the base. This provision is intended to meet extreme conditions only. In the present wheat program the limit to adjustment was 20 per cent, but the most that was asked in any one year was 15 per cent in 1934.

Unlimited acreage and plenty of rainfall in past years have produced bumper crops and caused prices to tumble. The object of the proposed new program to to avoid as far as possible the creation of new burdensome surpluses."

Liquor Board Sells More Bonds

Because sale of liquor through the state's new store system has not yet yielded sufficient operating revenue, the Idaho liquor commission has sold a second $100,000 bond issue.

Funds will be repaid when adequate revenue begins to come in from the stores and agencies throughout the state.

The first bond issue of $100,000 was sold when the commission began work several weeks ago. It has legislative authority to issue still another $50,000 in bonds if necessary.

GRAIN MARKET WEAK AND SOMEWHAT LOWER

Grain markets declined moderately during the week ended May 10, with futures particularly the deferred deliveries, relatively weaker than cash grain, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Favorable prospects for spring wheat, lower domestic demand, more than offset the light market receipts and the prospective short hard winter wheat crop, and wheat futures declined 2c to 3c per bushel. Increased premiums for cash grain in some instances, however, counterbalanced declines in futures. Oats and barley were weak and lower with a slow demand for the moderate offerings.

Wheat crop prospects continue an important influence in the wheat situation. Prospects for domestic winter wheat at the first of May were for a crop of only 432,000,000 bushels, or slightly below the April 1 forecast.

Domestic cash wheat markets were relatively firmer than futures, largely as the result of light offerings. Only 280 cars of wheat were received at Minneapolis and 83 cars at Duluth.

Marketings of winter wheat fell off materially with a total of only 644 cars received at the principal central western markets. Demand for high protein wheat improved materially, influenced by the poor new crop prospects in areas from which central and southwestern mills usually draw their supplies. A considerable percentage of the wheat delivered on contracts at Kansas City during the week consisted of grain from Washington and Oregon. Cash prices declined with futures at Chicago, where No. 2 hard winter was quoted at $1.07 per bushel at the close of the week. Milling inquiry was fairly active at St. Louis where No. 2 hard winter was quoted at $1.06 per bushel. Premiums for cash grains advanced 3c to 4c per bushel at Fort Worth, with storage stocks very low and country offerings negligible. No. 1 hard winter from Texas and Oklahoma was quoted at $1.16 per bushel, delivered-Texas common points.

Soft winter wheat was weaker than hard winter due to the more favorable prospects for the new crop. No. 2 soft winter was selling about 10c below the hard winter wheat at St. Louis and was quoted May 10 at 95c. No. 2 soft winter was quoted nominally at Chicago at 97½c and at Kansas City at $1.00 to $1.02 per bushel.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were also weak and lower, influenced in part by weakness at the eastern points. Denver mills lowered bids 1c per bushel and were offering 89c per bushel for No. 1 hard winter and 91c per bushel for No. 2 northern spring FOB Colorado shipping points. Prices at Ogden dropped 2c to 5c with white wheat relatively firmer than other classes because of the active demand. No. 2 soft white was quoted FOB Utah-Idaho common points May 10 at 74c, No. 2 hard white at 76c, No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring at 81c per bushel.

Marketings in the Pacific Northwest remain light with farmers not selling freely and waiting for expected purchases by federal relief agencies. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river ports totaled 541 cars. Local milling demand was dull except for high protein wheat. California buyers took moderate amounts and some hard winter wheat also moved by rail from interior points to Kansas City. Some small quantities were also reported sold to Gulf ports. At the close of the week bluestem hard white was quoted at Portland at 96½c, dark hard winter at $1.00, soft and western white at 84c, northern spring at 84c, hard winter at 83½c and western red at 83c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. At Seattle western white, hard winter and western red were all quoted at 86c and bant hard white at $1.03 per bushel, No. 1 sacked basis.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were very dull with mixers providing the principal outlet for current offerings. Inquiry for malting types was slack and little interest in the low priced California feed barley offerings was in evidence. California feed barley was quoted at Seattle at around $1.25 per 100, with a fair trade reported, while No. 2 bright western barley, sacked, was quoted at Portland at $1.35 per 100.

Oats markets continued dull and prices declined, influenced by the downward trend in other grains, a slack demand and additional receipts of foreign grain at Gulf ports. Offerings in Pacific Northwest markets were light and despite the slack inquiry prices held unchanged, with No. 2 white and No. 2 gray oats quoted at Portland at $1.40 per 100, sacked basis. Eastern Washington heavy white oats were quoted at Seattle at $1.45 per 100, sacked. Scattered cars of heavy white oats continued to move from eastern Washington points by rail to Minnesota and the Dakotas for seed purposes.

The muscles in Mr. Plocker's right leg were torn loose, necessitating care by Dr. Christensen, following which he was taken to his home.

AN OLD ROMAN LAW

AND ITS PRESENT DAY SIGNIFICANCE

THERE was an old Roman law relating to bank deposits to the effect that a depositor who left his money only for safety ranked before a depositor who received interest for his money.

Today, in America, each of those depositors is protected against loss in insured banks. Whether or not their funds earn interest makes no difference. All depositors of an insured bank, share in the benefits of Deposit Insurance.

Deposits up to $5,000.00 in This Bank Insured

KENDRICK STATE BANK
A Home Bank

IN THE VANGUARD OF BANKING PROGRESS

Always among the first to adopt new banking practices designed to safeguard the funds of its depositors, this Bank now provides the benefits extended by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to individuals, firms and corporations.

The protection thus made available is a permanent feature of Federal banking statutes and offers an important attribute of sound banking to all banks. It applies to all accounts up to and including $5,000 for each depositor. Larger deposits are insured up to the maximum of five thousand dollars.

In extending this additional safeguard of deposits to our customers, we are keeping step now as in the past with all new developments of constructive value to modern banking.

An immortal story of student nurses—with a heart—gay of spirit—brave of soul—behind whose chaste white uniforms there is a spirit of laughter—and the most human drama that ever touched a sympathetic heart. Bang's Disease Explained

"Many dairymen and farmers are wondering why so many of the reactors to Bang's abortion disease in their herds are their best producing and best breeding cows," says Dr. E. M. Gildow, experiment station veterinarian. "They are wondering if it is advisable to eliminate such cows as required by the Federal Bang's abortion disease control program."
In answering these questions, Dr. Gildow emphasizes two major points: first, that the test for Bang's abortion disease as just as accurate as the tuberculin test; second, that cows classified as reactors are carriers and spreaders of the disease.
"Bang's disease quite often develops in a herd very rapidly, with many of the cows aborting. Following such an outbreak the cows that do not get with calf are discarded and those that develop sufficient resistance to carry a calf to term are retained. These resistant cows that are kept in the herd after an abortion outbreak always react to the test. Heifers and young cows added to the herd after the outbreak are much less likely to be affected with the disease than those that have been in the herd for a long time."
"This accounts for the old cows reacting to the blood test, but why should they be discarded? The answer is that these old cows not only react to the blood test, but every time they discharge the organisms responsible for Bang's disease, and sooner or later they are responsible for another outbreak of abortion in the heifers and clean cows that have been added to the herd."
"Recently one of these reacting old cows that had calved normally for six years was allowed to calve in a pasture with the heifers and dry cows. During the next twelve months, 22 new reactors developed in the herd of 50 breeding animals, traceable directly to this one cow. Finally, the reactor cow is a serious menace to the health of any herd."

Correspondents Wanted

The Gazette is in need of a few more correspondents in various communities. Most all of the larger communities, especially, are represented in our columns, but there are still a few that we would like to hear from. If your community is not represented in the columns of the Gazette, we would be pleased to have someone represent you. Other communities like to read about what you are doing as well as you like to read about them.
Occasionally we get a short communication from American ridge. We would like very much to have a regular correspondent on this ridge, so if the party who occasionally sends in items will let us know that they will accept the "job," we will be glad to send them the necessary stationery, stamps, etc.—and the paper.

the whole season; a first and second prize for the best cared-for lawn, and also first and second prizes for homes showing the greatest general improvement during the season. The first prizes would be of $2.50 each and the second prize $1.00.
"A flower show to be held in the church basement at the same time and to be open to anyone residing in Kendrick and the outlying districts. Prizes donated by the merchants would be offered. Everyone attending the flower show would be eligible to vote on the flower displays. A committee would be appointed later to judge the homes, lawns and gardens.
"It was also decided to request the town to find a more suitable place off of Main street for the hitching rack and to request owners of buildings where gandy posters are displayed, to kindly remove them.
"It would be the suggestion of the committee that proper play ground equipment be provided for the park. This might consist of three or four swings, two teeter boards and a slide. Several trees might be removed in the west side of the park as they are too dense and grow too tall and spreading. This would give more room for a playground and improve the appearance vastly. In this way we could do away with a fine crop of dandelions.
(It might be stated here that some are laboring under a misapprehension regarding the removal of the hitching racks from the lot on Main street. It was not the intention of the committee to ask that the racks be abolished by any means, but to try and find a suitable place on the back street where farmers could have the same use of them as in their present location.)

Mr. Morgan of Lewiston was at this time introduced and made a few pleasing remarks, among which was made mention of the Kendrick-Arrow road. He stated that the club seemed to have a mistaken idea regarding the attitude of Lewiston business men regarding the road; that the large majority of all business men of Lewiston were in favor of having the road rebuilt or repaired.
A Mr. Ross, representing the W. W. P. Co., was present and gave a "picture show" and talk on the proper lighting of the home and office.
President Keene announced that at the next meeting of the club officers for the ensuing year would be elected.

About Overdue Subscriptions

About once in a "blue moon" the Gazette has a paper returned to the office marked "Refused." This does not happen often, but once in a great while it does, and when it does, you can just bet that the one who refused it is from one to four years in arrears on subscription and takes that way of "paying the bill."
Now, we can't just say that we like that method. If a subscriber is unable to pay for the paper, we would much prefer having them drop us a line and tell us so and ask us to please discontinue same; or, better still, come to the office and state his case. We have always tried to treat our subscribers fairly and give them value received, to the best of our ability. If the subscriber feels he is not getting his money's worth, the proper time to stop the paper is at the expiration of his subscription, which is plainly marked on every paper, just opposite his name.
We have mailed the paper in good faith, and naturally presume that the subscriber is satisfied with what he is paying for (or getting) and is the only way we have of knowing is for him to notify us.

Idaho Relief Costs Up

The average relief per family case on the Idaho emergency relief administration rolls declined from $31 in December, 1934, to $21.50 in March of this year, figures at the office of A. W. Jacomini, IERA assistant administrator, showed.

Nevertheless the total relief load increased 3.3 per cent in March as compared with February.

New Idaho PWA Head

Appointment of J. Leo Hood, Pocatello banker, as public works progress administrator for Idaho under the new program was announced on Monday by Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator.

Hood went to Washington to accept a post with the federal housing administration, but members of the Idaho congressional delegation and Gov. C. Ben Ross, who had been in Washington more than a week, succeeded in obtaining his transfer to the new post.

Senator Pope (D., Idaho) said that Hood had the approval of Harry L. Hopkins, emergency relief administrator, under whom Hood will work.

Under the program as outlined by representatives White and Clark, Idaho democrats, Hood will have charge of all small projects in the state, including irrigation, reclamation, highway construction, rural electrification and many others. The program of development of small irrigation projects to supply additional water to irrigation projects already operating and to open up new areas will come under his direction, they said.

What Some "U" Students Think

If Huey Long is a lightweight boxer and Fiorello La Guardia is the dictator of Spain, two senior students at the University of Idaho got "100" in their quiz on current events.

Prof. Lawrence Chamberlain, a political science instructor at the university, turned these and other answers over to the press.

One student came closer on the La Guardia question by saying that the mayor of New York, whose ancestors were Italians, is the ambassador from Italy.
