NO. 26

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Here are the taxes provided in the Roosevelt social security bill passed by the senate and what they are estimated to raise: For old-age pensions: 1 per cent each by employers and employees up to $3,000 a year in 1937; 1938 and 1939; increasing 1/2 per cent each three years until 1949 when it becomes 3 per cent each. Including farm labor, domestics and casual workers, the tax is expected to cover almost 25,000,000 workers and by 1950 raise about $1,877,200,000 annually. The unemployment benefits: 1 per cent by employers of four or more persons on their total payrolls beginning next year, increasing to 2 per cent in 1937 and 3 per cent in 1938. Including the same classes, it is expected to cover 25,700,000 workers and by 1938 raise $826,000,000 annually. It is estimated that by 1980 the national old-age pension reserve fund will contain almost $46,000,000,000.

A share-the-wealth tax program based on the philosophy that big fortunes are created by collective rather than individual effort was submitted to congress by President Roosevelt with an implication that he hoped for action this session. Briefly, what the president suggested as a "sound public policy of encouraging a wider distribution of wealth," was this: 1. Imposition of inheritance and gift taxes on top of the present estate taxes, to be segregated for reduction of the national debt. 2. Higher taxes on incomes above $1,000,000 a year. 3. Graduated taxes on corporation incomes ranging from 10.34 to 16.34 per cent instead of the present flat 13.34 per cent. 4. A constitutional amendment permitting the taxation of incomes from now tax-free state, county and city bonds and, on the other hand, state and local taxation of future issues of government securities. 5. The "simplification" of corporate structures by the elimination through taxation of "unnecessary holding companies in all lines of business," and the similar discouragement of "unwisely and unnecessary" corporate surpluses.

Torn from his girl wife's arms, perhaps forever, Harmon Metz Waley, 24 years old, on June 21 started a 45-year sentence for the Lindbergh law kidnaping of nine-year-old George Weyerhaeuser. He was taken to McNeil island federal prison until the attorney general of the United States decides in what penitentiary he must serve his term. Shortly before, his wife, Margaret Thulin Waley, former Salt Lake City girl, was led out of U. S. Marshal A. J. Chitty's office, her eyes swollen and red from crying. She had tried to plead guilty, too, to the indictment charging kidnaping and conspiracy, but Judge E. E. Cushman set it aside when her attorney, Stephen J. O'Brien, asked leniency on the ground she knew nothing about the kidnaping until after George was abducted May 24.

With authoritative sources disclosing that more than $100,000,000 will be available July 1 for public works projects in Utah, Idaho, Washington and Oregon, works progress administrators of those states were faced with the task of completing their organizations and preparing some projects for an immediate start. Official sources said $31,000,000 would be made available for the start of work in Washington, approximately $30,000,000 in Oregon and between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 each for Idaho and Utah.

Adding to the confusion as to when President Roosevelt's new tax-the-rich program should be considered, 22 senate liberals from widely scattered states joined in a declaration of willingness to keep congress in session "until action is taken upon this vitally important question." "Young Bob" LaFollette, Wisconsin progressive, who was defeated in his initial effort yesterday to incorporate some of the proposed new levies in the $500,000,000 nuisance tax resolution, started the move to "keep congress here all summer if necessary."

Rev. Poindexter To Return
At the sessions of the Methodist conference, held at Moscow last week, Rev. T. E. Poindexter was returned as pastor of the Kendrick church. His charge also includes Southwick and American Ridge churches.

Rev. Poindexter has been pastor of the local community church for the past year and his return as pastor meets with general approval of the churchgoers and many not affiliated with any church, and he and his estimable family are assured a welcome that is genuine.

A Few Beans Moving

The Kendrick Bean Growers association last week shipped a full car of beans and this week have sent out 920 bags of the fruit.

The Kendrick Rochdale company last week sent out a car of beans for export trade and this week shipped another car for "home" consumption.

SAMUEL STANTON DIES AT HOME ON BEAR RIDGE

Sam Stanton, one of the pioneers of the Potlatch country, died suddenly at his home on Bear ridge Saturday afternoon, June 22, aged 65 years, five months and five days. The immediate cause of death being heart trouble.

While Mr. Stanton had not been in good health for the past two years, he was able to get around and had been bedfast only for the past two weeks.

Samuel Stanton was born at Carlton, Illinois, January 17, 1870. He came west with his parents in 1887, being at that time 17 years of age. They settled on Texas ridge. In 1894 Mr. Stanton was married to Ellen E. Strahl (who passed away four years ago). In 1895 Mr. and Mrs. Stanton went to the Nez Perce reservation, where they homesteaded and where they remained for 15 years, moving back to Kendrick in 1910, locating on Bear ridge, where they had resided for 25 years.

Deceased leaves to mourn their loss two sons, Lloyd L. and Carl A. Stanton, both of Everett, Wash., and two daughters, Mrs. Robert King of Clarkston, Wash., and Mrs. Fred Stedman of Kendrick. He is also survived by two brothers, James of Nezperce and Claude of Elk River, and 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in the Community church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. T. E. Poindexter conducting the services. Music was by a quartet composed of Mrs. D. A. Christensen, Mrs. R. H. Ramey, R. H. Ramey and Lester Hill, with Mrs. Ethel Emery as accompanist. Commitment services were in charge of the Odd Fellows lodge, of which Mr. Stanton was a member. The pallbearers were A. C. Deeter, Ira Foster, Ira Havens, L. S. LaHatt and A. G. Wilson. Burial was in the Kendrick cemetery.

Wayne Herres, Orofino, was in charge of arrangements.

We wish to extend our thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors who so willingly assisted us during our late bereavement, and especially do we wish to thank the singers and those who gave the beautiful floral offerings.

Carl A. Stanton,
Mrs. Robert King,
Mrs. Fred Stedman.

Kendrick-Cameron Team Wins

The Cameron-Kendrick ball club, a newly organized combination, coached and managed by R. H. Ramey and Ted Mielke, made their debut at Southwick last Sunday by defeating that club 13 to 2.

Koepf for Cameron-Kendrick was in good form and struck out eight and kept Southwick's five hits well scattered until the eighth and ninth innings, when two errors and as many hits put over two runs. Triplett was hit hard all the way and several costly errors kept him in hot water.

U. S. EMPLOYMENT OFFICE ANNOUNCES IERA CHANGE

Moscow—A new policy of the IERA in connection with all present clients of the local relief rolls was announced Saturday by the local U. S. Employment office. The new system of checking applicants and present enrollees arose out of a meeting of county administrators and county social service directors of District No. 5, held at Lewiston Friday.

Each client now on the relief rolls will be required to file a new application and resource statement at the IERA office on or before July 1, is the new order. The blanks for this purpose will be available in the county office and zone stations Monday morning, June 24. Each client is requested to contact the county office or his zone station as quickly as possible and receive a blank.

Each blank must be applied for in person, it was pointed out. None can be filled out in the IERA office. They must be taken home, completed, and returned in person. All clients who do not file a revised resource statement by July 1 will be dropped from the rolls.

The administrative officials feel that in the past too much of the burden of proof of a relief client's needs has been placed on the shoulders of the social service departments. Henceforth this burden will be placed on the relief client himself.

The IERA administration has enlarged the authority of the citizen's committee and given these committees a more definite and clear position as part of the administration by this action. Latah county has one of these committees in each of eight communities. It is the function of each of them to determine the eligibility of the relief clients in its community. The social service department is responsible for the gathering of information about each client and for the presentation of the same to the committee.

"It is very important that those on relief note this change in the operation of the IERA in this region," said Estelle Hunter of the office of Harvey J. Smith, relief administrator for Latah county. "It is hoped that this change in policy will make the system more widely than has been true in the past."

An additional purpose for the revised resource statement is that through its use the social service department hopes to be able to sort the cases into two groups: economic cases and problem cases. With economic cases the social service department will dispense with regular home calls, only making occasional visits on cases of this type. The problem cases will continue to have frequent home visits and complete visitation.

Emergency Relief Director Visits

W. T. Lockwood, director of the national emergency council, who is on a tour of Northern Idaho cities explaining the procedure for applying for funds under the new PWA for works progress administration, paid a visit to Moscow Monday afternoon, said the Star-Mirror.

"We are endeavoring to get men and women off relief rolls and into works projects and thence into private employment, just as rapidly as possible," he told a reporter. "Idaho seems assured of from 25 to 30 million dollars of public works funds and what we must do is get our applications whipped into shape and forwarded as rapidly as possible to Washington."

The office of L. J. Hood, works progress administrator for Idaho, will have his office with Mr. Lockwood at Boise until July 1. All information relative to applications can be obtained from Mr. Lockwood, he said.

Buy 840,000 Bushels Idaho Wheat

The agricultural adjustment administration has announced that plans had been completed for the purchase of approximately 3,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat in the Pacific northwest.

Under the plan, state administrators of relief in Oregon, Idaho and Washington would purchase the wheat which is to be shipped into drought areas for stock feed.

The AAA said 1,539,000 bushels will be purchased in Washington, 618,000 in Oregon and 840,000 in Idaho.

Burial At Juliaetta

The burial of Mrs. Esther Garrett, who died at Wallace, was made in the Juliaetta cemetery Tuesday afternoon, there being only a short commitment service. Mrs. Garrett was formerly a resident of Juliaetta.

MAY PURCHASE UNLIMITED NUMBER FEEDER PIGS

Signers of 1935 corn-hog adjustment contracts will be permitted to make unlimited purchases of feeder pigs and stocker and breeding hogs from non-signers as well as from contract signers under a ruling by the Secretary of Agriculture which became effective last December, says L. V. Benjamin, county agent.

In the original form, the 1935 contract provided that the signer might make unlimited purchases of feeder pigs from contract signers but permitted him to buy from non-signers no more than the average number purchased by him during the two-year base period, December 1, 1931, to November 30, 1933, inclusive. Removal of restrictions was based on recommendations of producers.

Contract signers who purchase feeder pigs are required to keep records on the date and place of each purchase, the number purchased, average weight at the time of purchase, the method used to distinguish feeder pigs from pigs farrowed on the farm, the name and address of individuals from whom purchases are made. This evidence must be available on all feeder pigs and stocker and breeder hogs in order to prove compliance with the 1935 contract.

Hungarian Pheasant Becomes Pet

This story is a good one for "Ripley's 'Believe It Or Not' pictures:

Out on the A. Onstott place, on Big Bear ridge, occurred a phase of what might be called "confidence" that is the first of its kind we have ever heard of. It seems that the fowls of the place, when they were in a certain location, made an uproar like they do when there is a snake or other alarming disturbance to cause them to make a noise. Upon investigation by Oscar Onstott it was found that the trouble was the chickens and turkeys were getting too close to the nest of a Hungarian pheasant, and a row was naturally raised by the old mother bird.

On various occasions afterward, Oscar made it a point to go near the bird's nest and finally succeeded in getting close enough to pet the old mother hen without her leaving the nest.

This is the first time we have ever heard of anyone getting close to a Hungarian pheasant only by the shotgun route—and not too many that way.

No Assurance Of Funds

At a breakfast meeting of Gov. C. Ben Ross with the highway committee of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce last Friday morning, Gov. Ross discussed road and highway matters at length with the committee. He stated that while he had hopes of having the tangle regarding federal road appropriations for Idaho unraveled, he said he had no assurance what funds would be allocated by the government.

Along with the mention and discussion of highways and farm-to-market roads, the Arrow-Kendrick highway was mentioned, but aside from that, no information is obtainable.

There have been several rumors regarding this road, but it may be like Josh Billings said when rumors were afloat about himself, that "the report of my death has been greatly exaggerated."

Stork Shower

On Tuesday afternoon, at her lovely Fairview home, Mrs. Ercil Woody entertained twenty-seven guests at a stork shower, given in honor of Mrs. Herbert Wolff. Roses, Madonna lilies and other fragrant blossoms added their beauty to the rooms.

Following an amusing flower game in which Mrs. N. E. Walker won the prize, two tiny tots came in, drawing a cart laden with gifts, which were presented to the honoree.

After delicious refreshments the guests departed with memories of a happy afternoon.

Will Survey Cedar Creek Road

The local crew of state surveyors are now working on the finishing touches of a survey out of the Middle Potlatch canyon, in the Pine Grove section. As soon as this is completed work on the surveying of the Cedar Creek road will be commenced—and it is sincerely hoped we will be able to get action on this abominable piece of road before the hauling season starts.

Undergoes Major Operation

Mrs. Mike Hedler of Juliaetta was taken to St. Joseph's hospital where last Saturday night she underwent a major operation.

KENDRICK PARTY VISITS SOIL CONSERVATION FARM

Upon invitation of County Agricultural Agent L. V. Benjamin, some 20 citizens of Kendrick and Big Bear ridge sections, went to Moscow last Friday morning, where they were met at the county court house by Mr. Benjamin and aides and conducted to the Soil Conservation experiment farm, near Pullman, the party going in private cars and trucks furnished by Mr. Benjamin.

At the experiment farm soil erosion and conservation were explained very thoroughly. First the different plot experiments were shown, there being some 13 or 14 different small plots on a slope, divided by sheet-iron partitions, making sure that no water or erosion could get from one plot to another. Thus the amount of soil erosion, or wash, together with the amount of rain-fall could be accurately measured. After this part of the experiment had been viewed and fully explained, other parts of the farm were viewed and methods used explained to the farmers and others present. After several different plots had been visited, the party returned to the Soil Conservation camp, just south of Moscow, where a splendid dinner was served by the CCC boys, most of whom are from Eastern states. After dinner had been served a very pleasing address relative to soil conservation work was made by a Mr. McDole, one of those in charge of the work, which was attentively listened to.

After the address, the members of the party were taken to various other conservation plots and the methods used explained, which was very interesting and instructive. It was admitted that the one crying need of this section of the country was to stop soil erosion, or washing away, of the soil. Few realize the number of tons of soil per acre that is lost each year on the hills surrounding Kendrick, and unless this washing, or erosion, is stopped our soil will be no more valuable in a few years than are the abandoned farms of the East, where the top soil is practically all gone and where abundant crops were once raised it is next to impossible to now get enough crop to return the seed, and that of a very poor quality.

The party from Kendrick wishes to extend to Mr. Benjamin and those of the Soil Conservation farm and the boys in the CCC camp at Moscow their appreciation of the consideration received and the information gained on this trip.

In addition to the party from Kendrick and contiguous territory, there was a group from Deary and County Commissioner R. E. Nordby and Dr. T. A. Elliot from Genesee.

Every effort is being made to secure a Soil Conservation camp for this section of the county and those in charge of the conservation work have given considerable encouragement along this line. Of course it is principally up to the farmers of this section, all of whom are undoubtedly willing to be told how they can best conserve the rich top soil of their land, which is gradually, year by year, being washed down into the Potlatch and on to the Clearwater.

The log pond, or back bay, of the Clearwater Timber company is already so badly filled with silt that it is necessary to dredge in order to float their logs for milling purposes—and part of your land, Mr. Potlatch, is in it.

Only Few Attended

The class in home hygiene and care of the sick, conducted by Hazel Norton, county health nurse, in the basement of the Community church Tuesday afternoon, was but poorly attended, there being but seven women in attendance.

These classes are entirely free to the women of this section—country and town—and this will be a good opportunity to learn many sick-room necessities that might not otherwise be known.

The next class will be next Tuesday afternoon from 1:30 to 3:30, and all women interested are invited to attend.

GRAIN MARKET SLIGHTLY FIRMER AT CLOSE OF WEEK

Grain markets turned firmer toward the close of the week ended June 21, with delayed harvesting of winter wheat and lateness of the corn crop the principal strengthening factors, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Excessive rains in most of the soft winter wheat belt and in southern sections of the hard winter wheat area gave threat of lower quality and yields and delayed harvesting. After declining to new lows for the season early in the week, futures advanced and closed slightly higher than a week ago. Corn strengthened with a more active inquiry for cash grain but influenced also by the lateness of the crop. Arrivals of foreign corn were relatively heavy but new Argentine shipments were the smallest in several weeks. Oats were in better demand with offerings light and rains delaying harvesting of the new crop. Barley markets were firm with offerings light while feed grades were barely steady until the close of the week, when advancing, corn prices strengthened it. Flax was independently weak and declined 8c to 9c per bushel with abundant offerings of foreign seed and unusually favorable new crop prospects.

While prospects for spring wheat both in the United States and Canada remained quite favorable, heavy rains threatened damage to both quality and yields, of winter wheat in southern Illinois and Indiana and eastern Kansas and parts of Oklahoma and Texas.

Cash grain markets strengthened along with futures toward the close of the week, despite somewhat larger offerings. Receipts at primary markets totaled about 2,466,000 bushels while arrivals in the principal central and southwestern markets amounted to 1,082 cars reflecting the inclination of growers to ship old wheat prior to the harvesting of the new crop. Some new wheat was marketed in Wichita and arrivals increased at Fort Worth. Most of the new wheat contained excessive moisture but otherwise was of good quality.

Milling inquiry was fairly active at Kansas City and No. 2 was quoted at 84c to 85 1/2c. No. 1 hard winter was quoted at Fort Worth delivered Texas common points at 99c. At Chicago premiums were advanced about 1c per bushel with No. 2 hard winter quoted at 93c per bushel. At St. Louis No. 2 hard was quoted at 94c per bushel with active competition between mills and order buyers for the extremely small offerings. Receipts of soft winter wheat were generally below trade needs and the price advanced slightly at most points. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at the close of the week at St. Louis at 86c, at Chicago at 83c and at Kansas City at 83c per bushel.

Marketings of spring wheat fell off slightly with receipts totaling 532 cars at Minneapolis and 178 cars at Duluth. Milling demand was only moderate but improved toward the close of the week with sharply higher premiums for high protein wheat. Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were steady to slightly higher. Harvesting in southern Idaho and northern Utah is expected to start about the middle of July. At the close of the week No. 2 soft white was quoted at Utah-Idaho common points at 63c and No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring at 70c per bushel.

At Portland, bluestem hard white was quoted at 87c, soft and western white at 70c, northern spring at 70c, hard winter at 69 1/2c and western red at 69c per bushel, bulk, No. 1 basis. Milling inquiry improved during the week with an increased flour business to southeastern markets. Charters were reported during the week for a cargo shipment of Northwestern wheat to Gulf and Atlantic ports. Freight space has become more plentiful at lower prices as a result of the lumber strike. Rains have improved crop conditions east of the Cascades but prospects continued poor west of the mountains with continued lack of rain.

Oats markets were somewhat unsettled reflecting varying local demand and increased offerings from the new crop. Pacific Northwestern markets were dull with inquiry limited to small lots for feeding purposes. The new crop is suffering severely from the drought which may result in a heavy decrease in output. No. 2 white and No. 2 gray oats were quoted June 20 at Portland at $1.30 per 100. The San Francisco oats market weakened slightly influenced by the increased new crop prospects and continued dull demand. Offerings of old crop were light but new crop offerings were increasing with No. 2 heavy feed oats offered at $1.07 to $1.12 per 100.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were dull with feed barley quoted nominally at $1.27 per 100. Feeding operations were limited and demand consisted principally of inquiry from mixed feed manufacturers for small lots.

Has Finished "Grandfather's Clock"

A year or two ago B. F. Nesbit received from Connecticut portions of the wooden works of what had been, probably more than a hundred years ago, a perfectly good time-keeper, but had been allowed to fall apart, until many of the wood wheels of the works were missing.

Mr. Nesbit set to work, gradually making and assembling the wheels until the works were finally complete. But that was not enough. The clock had been a 24-hour affair and he decided to make it into an eight-day clock. This being accomplished, he then added to the calendar part of the works a moon phase and the mechanism now tells the time of day in hours, minutes and seconds, tells the day of the month and gives the moon changes in mathematical order. Mr. Nesbit also made the dial and hands—and a right neat job he did, too.

In the meantime, he was leisurely working on a "Grandfather's Clock" case, which is indeed a work of art and shows that Mr. Nesbit is a finished workman as well as an apothecary.

The clock may be seen in the back of his drug store.

Caught Large Trout

Some other fishermen have been doing quite a good deal of "strutting" just because they caught a good-sized fish, using a fancy bamboo pole, reel and other modern paraphernalia, but it remained for young Donald Fry, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fry, to bring in a 23½-inch trout Wednesday evening that he landed with a piece of brush for a pole and using a fish-eye for bait. It was indeed a beauty and the boy was justly proud. The catch was made in Cedar creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schupfer and family returned Wednesday evening from a visit with relatives at Burns Lake, Alberta, Canada.

"Charlie Chan In Paris"
Practically every film fan knows Charlie Chan as one of the greatest film detectives on the screen, and as such in "Charlie Chan In Paris," he is shown in one of his very best mystery-detective pictures. There are few who do not enjoy a good mystery story, and this is one of the best on the screen today—murder stalked the boulevards; a knife glittered in the darkness . . . a beautiful young Apache dancer was murdered . . .
crime followed crime in the gayest city on earth . . . and Charlie Chan plunged into the dangerous shadows of his most baffling mystery—"Charlie Chan In Paris." Mary Brain will be seen in the leading female role.
And now comes Chapter 2 of the "Rustlers of Red Dog"—"Flaming Arrows," in which the wagon train from the east is attacked by Indians.
Mary Lee is captured and carried away by the Red Skins.
There will also be the other regular features.

JULIAETTA NEWS NOTES
(By T. O. Greene)
The haying season is nearly over in the Big Pottlatch region. While the yield is not so heavy as in former years, because of lack of rainfall, the quality was never better, according to Walter Clark, one of the most successful farmers on Fix Ridge, west of Juliaetta. Mr. Clark has just harvested 80 acres of alfalfa hay. He has been unusually successful, not only in raising wheat and hay, but in raising hogs. His hogs are purebred, being crosses between the large-boned Poland China and the Chester White varieties. He sells his pigs at $5 each at weaning time, and is unable to supply the local demand for them. Of four gilts, three recently gave him a litter of 10 pigs each, while the fourth farrowed 13. 41 of the 43 are alive and thriving, giving promise of the neat sum of $205 from the first offspring of only four young sows.

The low price of eggs that has prevailed during the past two years has apparently not discouraged the raising of chickens. Thousands of young chicks, from a day to six weeks old, have been shipped to Juliaetta, this spring. William Heimgartner, of Fix Ridge, reports that of 400 chicks received in one shipment, he has lost very few. Eggs are selling from 18 to 20 cents a dozen locally.

Cherry packing is expected to begin here the first week in July. A carload of box material has already arrived from E. A. White Company, of Lewiston, a firm which packed and shipped several carloads of cherries from Juliaetta last year. While the wheat-growers are anxious for rain, the cherry growers are hoping very strongly that there will be no rain till after cherry picking. Rain at this time would crack the skins of the fruit, and cause heavy loss through culling.

work done. The middle road is beetta take the tenth game of the

THE Bullitin

WE NEED MORE CONTENTED COWS
HAROLD THOMAS, Editor

Well, Folks—Here it is almost July—and a bit more rain wouldn't hurt anything. But while we're waiting for that rain let's talk about cream—your cows produce it rain or shine—we buy it rain or shine. Bring in your can and get the dough. No waiting, no fuss, no bother—payment right now.

For your table—our butter will be found very satisfactory. Made only of specially selected cream—it's sweet, pure and economical—its extra quality makes it go further.

Take home a quart of our ice cream. You'll like it—the kiddies like it—and it's nourishing as well as good.

It is possible that Einstein was in this country to study Mae West's theory that "a curve is the most interesting distance between two points."

Sick from picking cherries, eh? What kind of a tree did you pick them off?

I didn't pick them off a tree; I picked them out of cocktail glasses.

Clarence: (In one of his weak moments) "Mae, darling, will you marry me?"

Mae: "Yes dear. Trail, companionate or fight to the finish?"

Had Tonsillectomy

Chester Vincent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Vincent of Leland, had his tonsils removed at the office of Dr. D. A. Christensen Thursday morning of last week.

LITTLE BEAR RIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Olie Erickson of Troy were Sunday dinner guests of Joe Nelson.

John Thomas and son Roy spent several days fishing at Elk River last week. They report a splendid catch.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Arnot and Gerold, Maxine Campbell, Miss Ada Ferguson and Mr. Strome were Sunday callers at the Hiram Galloway home.

Several from the community attended the funeral of the late Samuel Stanton on Monday.

Jeanette and Ladonna Galloway have joined Miss Rider's class in piano.

What Do You Think?

Some 40 years ago the pioneers of Little Bear Ridge petitioned the county for $300 to be used in building a road to Kendrick. This, along with subscribed labor amounting to $300 established the Little Bear Ridge grade—as is. Then the pioneers had every reason to be very proud of their achievement. Mr. Westendahl, who is the only pioneer left who was interested in the project, was the first to take a wagon over the grade. The late L. D. Porter engineered the work and because of stunted funds and make-shift equipment, followed the course of least resistance, which is not unlike the famous thoro-fare established by the innocent "wobbly-legged calf," we all know about. Years have made very few changes in the grade—it remains a piece of road avoided by the experienced driver and a nightmare to the novice or stranger.

The general sentiment on the ridge is: That we need to be put on the Kendrick Highway District's map. We need the cooperation of the highway board, also that of the relief committee. What we want is a farm-to-market road on the lower end of Little Bear Ridge.

DEPORTATION OF ALIENS FAVORED BY REP. DIES

A nation-wide campaign for legislation to deport approximately 6,000,000 aliens as a partial solution to the United States' unemployment problem was pressed by 155 organizations, estimated by Representative Dies (D., Tex.) to represent five million people. Plans to organize ten million native born and naturalized citizens for a drive to get congressional action on the Dies deportation bill were reported by the tall Texan as he thumbed 50,000 letters and telegrams in support of the measure.

The organization is to be called "The Americans" and is to be organized in each state on a non-sectarian and non-partisan basis, he said.

"At least 150 congressmen have pledged themselves in favor of the bill, which provides that no alien can hold a job in this country that can be filled by a citizen," he said. "It is about the same legislation as the alien deportation laws enforced in England, France, Germany and Italy, to reduce unemployment."

"If there were no aliens in this country we would not have an unemployment problem," he continued, asserting there were around 16,500,000 foreign born in this country, "more than seven million of whom have not been nationalized."
