KENDRICK, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, JULY 5, 1935

NO. 27

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Shearing off a 2½-foot tree in its plunge, the auto of Perley Stumo, 42, Butte salesman, carried him to death off the Lolo grade highway near Missoula, Montana. His skull pierced, he died an hour after the crash. Officers, who released Stumo from the wreck, said they believed he dozed at the wheel. The base of the toppled tree held the auto from rolling down a 150-foot embankment.

President Roosevelt asked congress to fortify the treasury finally and definitely against legal actions arising from the new deal's monetary policies. To the indignation of senate conservatives his special message urged immediate legislation to block all gold suits—those brought by holders of government gold clause bonds for payment either in gold or in devalued dollars to the sum of $1.69 for every dollar of face value. Mr. Roosevelt said the law he asked for would assure maintenance of "the equal value of every dollar in the market" and demonstrate that the courts are not to be used "in aid of efforts to sabotage the government or aid in private speculation." Specifically Mr. Roosevelt's message asked authority for the treasury to pay the holders of $10,136,570,340 in gold securities that sum in devalued dollars or non-gold clause securities; for congress to close the court of claims to all suits on securities, coins and currency and for reaffirmation of "dollar for dollar" equality.

Rep. Kenny (D., N. J.) will seek a vote this session on his plan to establish a national lottery and "take a billion dollars a year away from racketeers and gamblers." He said a house ways and means subcommittee would begin hearings Friday. The lottery would be patterned after Cuban lotteries with prizes offered monthly or even oftener. Despite the fact that he was unsuccessful last year, Kenney expressed confidence that the committee would approve the legislation and report it to the house floor for a vote "in the time," he said, "that we stopped letting our people send three to four billions abroad or invest it in petty, cheap, illegal gambling that now goes on. We can do that by setting up a national lottery."

Direct pressure was exerted on the chieftains of the six-months-old congress Saturday by President Roosevelt to rush through his health-tax program unchanged with the apparently vain hope of adjourning August 1. The program projected in White House discussions as congress reached the year's half-way mark involved an administration determination to squelch any attempt to expand or contract the wealth taxes specifically asked by Mr. Roosevelt. It contemplated, too, renewed pressure behind all the bulky administration legislative program.

Preparing for another major transfer of the government's huge gold reserve, secret orders were disclosed for the rush construction of a new, subterranean vault in the center of an army post 31 miles from Louisville, Ky. Into it will be transferred a good portion of the billions in gold now held by the government in New York and Philadelphia. The structure, officials reluctantly disclosed, will be built in continuation of the policy of moving precious monetary reserves away from vulnerable coast cities to more isolated inland territory. The policy was instituted months ago, and has resulted in the shipment of nearly three billion dollars worth of gold from San Francisco to Denver. Completion of the project at Fort Knox, Ky., will mean that the Rocky mountains on one side of the continent and the Appalachians on the other separate the nation's monetary base from any possible enemy attack on either seaboard. Interestingly, the army's only completely mechanized cavalry unit is stationed at Fort Knox. It is equipped with speed armored cars. Each carries high-powered machine guns, radio and other modern equipment.

Potlatch Country Gets Fine Rain

The Potlatch section received a fine rain last Friday and Saturday, which did much good to the entire section, especially for the beans. There was some hay down, of course, but not enough to make a very great difference, one farmer remarking that green goggles could be put on the cows and they would never know the difference. Not much damage, if any, was done the cherry crop at Juliaetta, it was said, and on the whole the rain was very beneficial.

Drivers' License Now Due

July 1 was the opening date for the securing of drivers' licenses in Idaho, but there didn't seem to be any available in this part of the country as the supply had very evidently not been received by the dispensers (and no one seems just sure as yet who the dispensers will be). They will cost 50 cents and are good for two years—if you are lucky enough not to have them taken away from you.

WHAT SOIL CONSERVATION WOULD DO FOR COMMUNITY

As a part of their program for intensive work within type areas, Soil Conservation Service officials announced today that 20 CCC camps would be either constructed or occupied this summer in Washington, Idaho and Oregon, to help safeguard the Northwest against destruction of our greatest natural resource—the soil. These plans, which include the preservation of farm, range, and forest lands, were announced simultaneously with the occupancy of Camp SCS-Washington-2, the Soil Conservation Service's second occupied camp, near Pullman, Wash.

Washington will receive six camps, two of which have been previously constructed; Idaho, five camps; and Oregon, seven camps.

As well as affording employment for unemployed boys between the ages of 18 and 28, Soil Conservation Service work will add a lasting and permanent benefit to the Northwest through soil conservation.

Directed by the Soil Conservation Service and governed by the U. S. army, the camps will follow construction plans similar to other CCC camps in the United States and provide office and housing quarters for Soil Conservation Service officials assigned to the camps. Each are to accommodate 200 men.

The camps are to be active the year round. CCC men working under the direction of Soil Conservation Service officials will furnish labor for erosion control practices.

The Soil Conservation Service, which is sponsoring the camps, is a bureau of the Department of Agriculture established to assist the farmers of the United States in a program to check the billions of dollars lost annually through erosion of topsoil by wind and rain. This is accomplished by retiring submarginal grain land to grass and grass-legume mixtures restoring soil fertility, reforesting denuded mountain slopes, regulating grazing and practicing gully control measures.

Project 6 is one of 40 similar projects in the United States located in representative type study areas in which there has been serious accelerated erosion. It comprises 100,000 acres in the Palouse wheat belt and a sub-project of 32,000 acres in the Wildhorse Creek watershed, Umitilla County, Oregon.

In Idaho, construction is already under way in Kootenai County, where, at Worley, Camp Peone is being constructed. Kootenai county has been found to be a typical Palouse type problem, its erosion problems mainly being concerned with farm gully control, both permanent and strip seedings on hilltops and slopes, stream bank erosion control, which includes dam construction and bank seedings. In addition to five other camps, Idaho has one camp near Moscow, in the Palouse area, and another under construction near Genesee, both under the direction of the Soil Conservation Service.

Since When

At a recent convention of 39 nations held at Paris, France, it was decided that the world depression is over. The death of the depression was considered an accomplished fact, but they did not give any specific date as to just when it would reach the U. S. A. The delegations to the convention cited the U. S. and England as showing signs of recuperation.

We don't know much about what is going on over in England, but we do know that our poor old Uncle Samuel is a mighty sick man and that he will need something besides artificial respiration if he is going to ever get up and around again. Most of his business friends have forsaken him and given him up as lost. The death of his pet blue buzzard seemed to upset him, but some other kind of a bird, with different initials, has been put in the buzzard's cage. The poor thing is rather weak and it is a moot question whether it will survive the hard winter that appears in the offing.

NOXIOUS WEEDS MUST BE TAKEN CARE OF BY JULY 15

Numerous inquiries are being received at the office of the county agent, relative to weed control for this coming year. Now is the time when noxious weeds should be receiving the attention of every farmer in the county.

In an effort to contro lthe weeds which are already growing, and to protect the farmer who is making an effort to control his weeds, the county commissioners declared a weed district in this county for 1935. This was done at the January session as is authorized under Chapter 17, Title 22 of the 1932 Idaho Code Annotated. Under this order the following weeds are declared and specified as noxious weeds:

Group 1. Russian thistle, fan weed, Jim Hill mustard, California puncture vine.

Group 2. Canada thistle, morning glory, quack grass, Russian knapweed, blue flowering lettuce and white top.

All noxious weeds in Group 1 are ordered to be destroyed by burning, plowing, cutting, pulling or plowing under by the 15th day of July, 1935. Those weeds in group 2 are to be fought continuously throughout the year to prevent them from seeding. If they are not destroyed, the commissioners are authorized to go in and take care of the weeds and charge the expenses back as tax against the land. The weeds in group 1 are all annuals, and can be controlled and cleaned up by the use of clean seed and good cultivation methods. These weeds do not live over from year to year, but are grown each year from the seed. So in controlling these weeds, if they can be started an dthen destroyed, there is no danger from reinfection. If they are prevented from seeding, eventually most of the seed in the soil will be destroyed.

Weeds in Group 2 are what is known as perennial weeds, that is they not only reproduce themselves from seed, but they also reproduce from roots and when once established in the ground they live over from year to year in the soil. The eradication of these weeds offers a serious problem. There are two recognized methods of controlling these weeds (1) mowing or plowing to prevent the formation of seed and (2) treatment with chemicals to affect their eradication. By mowing these perennial weeds each year to prevent them from seeding, their spreading will be materially lessened. However, in some cases to effectively prevent them from seeding, it may be necessary to mow several times during the summer. Plowing once during the season usually prevents seed from forming that year. If cultivation is practiced persistently, perennial weeds can not only be controlled, but can be completely eradicated. This takes very close attention, so that they are prevented from showing any green growth at any time during the season. If persistently practiced, this method is the best and cheapest way to control weeds.

Chlorates and carbon bisulphide have proven the most satisfactory chemicals for weed control. Last year there were 46,000 pounds of chlorates used in this country for weed control. Sodium chlorate and its compounds have been very effective when used either as a spray or dusted on. In either case the weeds should be prevented from seeding during the summer by mowing off the top growth, removing it from the weed patch and burning. Then late in the fall the chlorate may be applied. If dusted on, the chemical may be sown broadcast by hand, applying about three or four pounds per square rod of weed area. This should not be applied until after the fall rains have thoroughly moistened the soil.

Chlorates will again be available at cost to the farmers of this county. Dealers will be located at convenient places. A letter is being prepared which will be mailed to each farmer in the county showing where chlorates may be purchased, and at what price, together with recommendations for application. In the meantime every effort will be made to keep all weeds from going to seed. If every farmer will do this, we will have gone a long way toward at least controlling our weed situation.

Genesee Will Celebrate

Genesee will hold a two-day celebration—July 4 and 5. There will be baseball games both days, a rodeo, with $150 in cash prizes. There will be various sports, with prizes for each: band music, fireworks and a dance both nights.

WILL CONVENE SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Gov. C. Ben Ross issued a proclamation Monday, calling into extraordinary session the lawmakers of the State of Idaho for Monday, July 8, to clarify the road and highway situation the state finds itself up against owing to a recent decision of Judge Koelsch regarding an underpass contemplated at Pocatello.

The state highway department said the state now has $1,200,000 allocated to it by the federal government that can be used immediately when the present laws are amended to permit them to do so.

Gov. Ross has laid out a 7-point program for the 104 lawmakers, which he expects them to follow, and says that they should get through in two days. If they don't have any better luck getting through than they did when the regular and special sessions were on, they will be there two weeks instead of two days.

Mahan Legally Pardoned

It would seem that "Mr. Mahan," allegedly one of young George Weyerhaeuser's kidnapers, was "legally" pardoned from the Idaho pen in 1933 and Attorney General Bert Miller is spending considerable time justifying such pardon. Miller said Mahan had served more than the minimum sentence for the small crime of robbing the Rathdrum bank of $89,000, and that the honoring of what they call a "detainer" is merely courtesy between states, as there is no law covering such instrument. Of course such a small offense as that would hardly warrant the holding of the "rat" since all money now is computed in billions, so why bother about a measly little old $89,000—mere pin money.

1935 Pig Crop Short

A decrease of 20 per cent in the 1935 spring pig crop as compared with the small 1934 spring crop has been reported by the agricultural department.

Officials said "this means very definitely that the pork shortage will continue the spring and summer of 1936."

Blaming the short 1934 corn crop for the decrease in the 1935 crop, officials declined to comment upon the possible effect of the pork situation upon the price of meat.

Whose fault is it?

Kendrick Residents To Picnic

The former residents of Kendrick and vicinity are having their annual picnic in Manito Park, Spokane, Sunday, July 14, according to information sent the Kendrick Gazette this week by Ethel Hoyt, secretary of the former Kendrick residents club of that section, of which organization Walter Thomas is president.

The communication further says: "Picnic lunches will be spread at 1 p. m., and we are hoping to see many of our old friends and neighbors present. Plan to come."

Send In Fourth News

We would ask as a special favor of our correspondents and readers to please send us your items regarding picnic parties, visitors, or where you spent the Fourth. We need news, and that will help a lot. Thank you.

Commercial Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club will be held in the Ruby Hotel dining room next Monday evening, July 8.

It is hoped that everyone interested in the welfare of our little city and the entire community, will be present. Dinner will be served at 6:30. Please be on time.

SCS BOYS PUT OUT BAD FIRE NEAR KENDRICK

There was considerable speculation, consternation, and a near bad conflagration on the hillside to the southeast of Kendrick on Thursday of last week, when fire was discovered gaining headway on the Herman Lohman land. It was at first thought to be but a small affair, but towards noon it reached such proportions that it was thought best to secure help in putting a stop to it, consequently Ed. Deobald and Wade Keene got in touch with the officers at the SCS camp at Moscow, and as soon as possible some 55 boys and officers, making 60 all told, were in Kendrick and ready for work. At that time there had been no rain and everything in the pasture and timber was as dry as tinder and the fire was spreading rapidly, taking practically everything in its path, killing many fine trees, that will soon show brown against the hillside.

The SCS boys, under the supervision of Supt. W. C. Pettibone, who worked with them, went into action and worked practically all night, felling trees, digging ditches and fighting fire, until the blaze was under control, the boys and officers returning to Moscow Friday morning.

The command was directly under Major Rathjean, Capt. Fred C. Erb and Supt. Pettibone, to whom the Kendrick community is under deep obligation for their timely and prompt work in quelling the fire, as well as the members of SCS Idaho 1, Moscow.

Supt. Pettibone expressed his appreciation of the fine treatment he and his boys received at the hands of the Kendrick people, saying that few communities he had been in under similar circumstances were as appreciative as were the Kendrick residents, especially those with whom he came in contact and who have the best interests of the community and the beauty of the surroundings at heart.

During the rush of work Thursday night Wesley Bickel, one of the SCS boys, had the misfortune to cut his left foot quite badly while chopping. It was necessary to carry him to the top of the hill. First aid was given the unfortunate boy immediately by a first-aid man with the company, after which he was brought to the office of Dr. D. A. Christensen and later sent to a Lewiston hospital.

Responsibility for the fire was not fixed, but the officers in charge of the crew reducing the flames said that if the responsibility were fixed, it would lead to prosecution and the defraying of all expenses connected with the work of putting out the fire. They stated that this is the closed season and that no one is permitted to set out fire, even on his own land, unless they have first secured a permit from the proper authorities.

Relief Families Shun Questions

Difficulty has been encountered in the process of re-registering Nez Perce county persons on relief rolls, according to Capt. Arthur Ward, county administrator, and of about 600 families on the relief rolls only about 350 have acceded to the demand of the federal and state governments that they re-register. Out of this total of about 600 only 30 have filed satisfactory applications, according to a check at county headquarters. Troubles have been encountered when families and heads of families have declined to answer pointed questions or have evaded the issue, according to Capt. Ward. Where evasive answers are made the blanks are returned for complete information. Until these applications are approved, they will not be considered eligible for relief. Monday is the deadline for filing these applications, according to Capt. Ward.—Lewiston Tribune.

Will Hold Public Sale

J. S. Lehman, residing three miles east of Cavendish and one mile south of Teakan, will sell at public sale on Monday, July 8, one team of horses, weight 2600; four milch cows; nine head of hogs; farm machinery, and some household goods. Sale will start at 1 p. m.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER CAUSES MARKET UPTURN

Weather and crop conditions remained the dominating influence in the grain market during the week ending June 28, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Further delays in winter wheat harvesting as a result of rain and wet fields and reports of rust damage in some areas, advanced wheat prices sharply toward the close of the week. Backwardness of the corn crop had a strengthening influence in feed grains and prices were steady to slightly higher on corn, oats and barley. Flax was steady with increased offerings readily taken by crushers at slight premiums over a week ago.

Delayed harvesting with threatened rust damage was the outstanding feature in the domestic wheat situation during the week. Further heavy rains in the main hard winter wheat belt lowered quality, threatened rust damage and retarded cutting and threshing. Trade agencies reported rust infestation in northern Nebraska and southern Minnesota. Marketings of new wheat were light with only 23 cars received at Kansas City compared with over 2,000 for the corresponding week last year.

Spring wheat continues to make good progress with rains and continued cool temperatures but warm, clear weather is now needed. The outlook in Canada continued good in Manitoba and Saskatchewan but the prospects in Alberta were not quite so favorable as a week earlier, with crops suffering from dryness in the southern and southwestern areas. The conditions in Europe were not materially changed although some improvement was reported in France, Germany and the United Kingdom as a result of warm and dry weather which was urgently needed. Prospects in Russia continue favorable. In the southern hemisphere dryness continued to retard seeding of new crop and a smaller acreage than last season was in prospect.

Domestic cash wheat markets followed generally the advance in futures but were influenced also by delayed marketings of the new crop. Receipts at the principal winter wheat markets totaled only 1,495 cars compared with 12,302 cars for the corresponding week last year. Harvesting had advanced as far north as the Kaw river in Kansas but irregular ripening and wet fields made the use of binders necessary and this further delayed threshing and marketing. Mills were the principal buyers and premiums were firm, particularly for the higher protein types which now promise to be scarce for the season. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Kansas City at the close of the week at 86c to 90c. Marketings at Fort Worth were materially reduced by rains throughout that territory. Receipts averaged about 50 cars daily. Milling demand was active with increased premiums for high protein wheat. No. 1 hard winter was quoted at 98c per bushel delivered Texas common points. Cash wheat at Chicago advanced nearly 5c per bushel along with futures. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at the close of the week at 95c per bushel. The same grade sold at St. Louis at 95c with demand rather irregular.

Soft winter wheat advanced along with hard winter, with marketings light. The first car of new crop soft wheat arrived at Kansas City June 27, from Oklahoma, graded No. 1. No. 2 soft winter was quoted at that market at 84c to 89c per bushel. No. 2 soft winter was quoted at St. Louis at 89c and at Chicago at 82c to 87c per bushel. Weather was more favorable for harvesting wheat along the Atlantic seaboard where cutting has started. At the close of the week Virginia mills were paying 85c to 90c per bushel and North Carolina mills around $1.00 per bushel for soft winter wheat.

Marketings of spring wheat were materially larger with country elevators shipping remaining supplies. Receipts totaled 736 cars at Minneapolis and 312 at Duluth. Of the Minneapolis receipts 120 cars were durum and 24 cars winter wheat. Mill demand was rather slow.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets strengthened following the advance at eastern points. At the close of the week Denver mills were bidding 79c for No. 2 hard winter and 81c per bushel for No. 2 northern spring, FOB Colorado shipping points. Mills at Ogden were offering 66c for No. 2 soft white, 68c for No. 2 hard white, 73c for No. 2 hard

'Twas Money Wasted
Along the state highway, between Orofino and Peck, we note that some money was spent in "beautification of said highway by planting trees along it." We figure that that money came out of the taxpayer pockets.

What sense is there in spending money for tree planting along a highway when the money so wasted might well be spent in providing good roads in some areas where the residents wallow thru the same mud in rainy weather that they did fifty years ago. It might be nice, fifty years hence, to drive along highways shaded by tall weeping poplars, but if our present ideas of speed are maintained or increased within said fifty years, the passing motorist will not have time to admire the sylvan beauty. Instead, he will swear at it because it blocks his vision on turns that he could see across if the foliage were removed. Ye editor loves the natural beauty of things, but it would seem more sensible to put it in places where one can stop and safely admire it, instead of scooting thru it at one hundred per with the risk of being suddenly introduced to a husky tree trunk.—Latah Journal (Deary).

Time Of Plowing Important
To gain the most value from green manure or second year sweet clover, both should be plowed under immediately, according to a bulletin issued by the Soil Conservation Service. For this plowing a 16-inch plow was found to be more practical than a 14-inch plow.

The plants have now reached the bud stage, which has been found to be the latest time sweet clover may be turned under, since after the plant blooms it becomes fibrous and is less valuable as green manure.

Plowing all of the crop under is one effective way to prevent the setting of seed and to reduce the volunteer that appears in subsequent crops.

It has been observed that long, dry weeds will clog 14-inch plows, plugging them, and throwing the plow out of the soil. Plowing in such interrupted fashion is impractical since it requires the services of one man to keep the plows free from weeds.

It has also been observed by field men of the Soil Conservation Service that when a 16-inch plow is used, there is little plugging or stopping, no plow riders are required, and all of the material is plowed under.

Spokane's Liquor Supply
Each Sunday night two and one-half carloads of liquor arrive in Spokane for distribution there and in the surrounding territory. One carload is sold weekly by the main store on Sprague avenue, half a carload by the store on Riverside avenue and the remaining carload is distributed by the state liquor commission by truck from a warehouse near the Great Northern depot, which supplies all agencies east of Wenatchee.

Swallowed 224 Pieces Hardware
Mrs. Paul Pappas was recovering from an operation for stomach trouble at Nyack, N. Y.—caused by swallowing 224 pieces of hardware in the last few years, including a meat skewer, teaspoons, pins, links of automobile tire chains, and fragments of bed springs.

Dr. George A. Leitner, who operated on her, said Mrs. Pappas apparently would have no serious effects.

Time Of Plowing Important
To gain the most value from green manure or second year sweet clover, both should be plowed under immediately, according to a bulletin issued by the Soil Conservation Service. For this plowing a 16-inch plow was found to be more practical than a 14-inch plow.

The plants have now reached the bud stage, which has been found to be the latest time sweet clover may be turned under, since after the plant blooms it becomes fibrous and is less valuable as green manure.

winter and 74c for No. 2 northern spring FOB Utah-Idaho common points. Present indications are for a larger than normal yield in southern Utah and Idaho producing areas. The Portland market advanced around 4c but trading and movement continued light. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled only 341 cars with farmers selling slowly at current values. Milling demand was not urgent and other buyers took only moderate amounts. The surplus emergency relief administration entered the market to purchase surplus grain and were bidding 77c per bushel for No. 1 white wheat, sacked, delivered tidewater terminals. In the cash market Big Bend bluestem hard white was quoted at 91c, dark hard winter at 94c, soft and western white at 78c, northern spring at 77c, hard winter at 76c and western red at 76c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. At Seattle western white was quoted at 78c, western red and hard winter at 77c, and baart hard white at 94c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. California wheat markets were very slightly firmer, influenced by advances in eastern markets. Local demand, however, was slightly more active but trading was confined principally to feed requirements which were being supplied by shipments. Growers were offering more freely but sales were not large. Harvesting made rapid progress but early samples showed only fair quality. Oats markets were irregular with a light inquiry for current offerings and an increased movement from the new crop in the southern states and in California. Pacific northwestern markets were quiet with the new crop suffering from lack of moisture in the Willamette valley. No. 2 white and gray oats were quoted at Portland at $1.30 per 100, sacked basis, and eastern Washington white oats at Seattle at $1.32 per 100. No. 2 heavy red oats, feed quality, were quoted at San Francisco at $1.05 per 100. Pacific Northwestern barley markets continued quiet with trading of limited volume. Liberal offerings of California feed barley at around $1.05 per 100 at Portland and Seattle tended to restrict trading although inquiry for this type of barley remained light. Harvesting of winter barley is now in progress in western Oregon districts. No. 2 bright western, sacked, was quoted at Portland June 27, at $1.10 per 100.

Mussolini, Hitler, or —?

And now our own FDR has started a youth movement that corresponds very favorably to the movements in both Italy and Germany for the training of the youth of the land. The government is to sponsor the training of boys and girls, $50,000,000 having been set aside for that purpose. Just what this will lead to is problematical, but it is evident that FDR will have something to say as to what sort of training they will receive, if the thing is carried out as planned.

Tires Should Be Checked

Automobiles, and especially tires, should be checked over before the car owner starts on an extended July trip, in the opinion of Ed. Deobald, local dealer for Goodyear Tires and Tubes.

"If the car and tires haven't been checked over since the start of the summer driving season, the wise motorist will see that this important matter is attended to before starting on a holiday tour," Mr. Deobald said.

"Tires especially should be checked over, if they haven't had this attention since last summer or early spring. Smooth worn tires are likely to give the motorist trouble at a time when he is all set to enjoy himself.

"Heat is the natural enemy of tire life, and the hot roads of summer time will help cause an old tire to go bad as quickly as any other means. Also, on a rainy day, when pavements are slippery, the danger of skids is increased immeasurably with old tires. New tires relieve the motorist from worry or bother with tire trouble and give him trouble-free miles over the holiday. "Goodyear G-3 tires, that are in the public eye a great deal just now, as a result of the investigations on tire mileage conducted by Joseph A. Faurot, noted detective, have proved especially popular by reason of their long-wearing qualities. Persons coming in to have their tires checked up at our station have seen these tires and many have put them on in place of 'smoothies' in order that their summer driving will be absolutely, without worry," Mr. Deobald concluded.

Motor License Receipts Heavy

Receipts from registration of motor vehicles in Idaho from January 1 to May 31, 1935, amounted to $1,178,504, figures released by T. P. Graham, assistant chief clerk of the state department of law enforcement showed. Registrations this year up to June 1 exceeded that of the same month in 1934 except for commercial trucks, fewer of which have been registered this year than last.

The receipts were allocated as follows: Department of law enforcement, $40,498; state highway departments, $130,945, and counties of the state, $1,178,504.

The number of passenger cars registered since January is 74,495.

Five thousand four hundred three private trucks were registered and 6,685 farm trucks were listed.

Receipts from these three sources amounted to $1,272,151.

Official figures showed 1,724 more passenger cars, 1,554 more trucks and 106 more dealers registered during the first five months of 1935 than for the corresponding period.

Well, Folks—Now we have the Fourth of July—and what a day historically and financially — for some folks. But it's easy to repair the finances—with cream. We buy it—the more the merrier—and we offer right-now payment. Try us and see.

The man who brags, "I run things in my house," usually refers to the lawn mower, washing machine, vacuum sweeper, baby carriage and the errands.

Thirsty?—Come in and have a milk shake or a bottle of pop. Ice cold—pure.

Ed. Deobald: "Now that you're married, I suppose you'll take out a life insurance policy."

Norla Calison: "Oh, no, I don't think she's dangerous."

Says Ed. Long—If looks could kill most husbands would die with bridge cards in their hands.

Need New Dictionary

It would seem that someone who wants to make themselves famous should concoct a new loose-leaf dictionary to take care of all the new abbreviations that are constantly being brought into being by the powers-that-be at Washington. Scarcely a day passes that some new concoction isn't added to the alphabetical soup.

We would suggest that a movement be started to get a few millions appropriated to take care of this fast-growing crop of unintelligible abbreviations that are worrying the general public, for fear they might be on it and wouldn't know it.
