NO. 31

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

The senate heard a blistering attack by Senator Glass (D., Va.) on the monetary views of Gov. Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board. Then with a burst of speed it approved the first title of the bank bill making permanent the temporary deposit insurance plan. Supporters of the compromise measure, which gives the reserve board majority control over the nation's credit needs, won the first test when they defeated an attempt by Senator Murphy (D., Iowa) to strike out a provision requiring state banks with deposits of $1,000,000 or more to become members of the reserve system by July 1, 1937, in order to retain their deposit insurance.

Iowa farm women have taken to the fields to help their husbands through the harvest jam—just as their great grandmothers did in the pioneer days. Wearing their menfolk's overalls, many sturdy farmers' wives and daughters have discarded their pots and pans for the tractors and binders when farm hands could not be hired. One Des Moines farmer said he knew of a woman who has been working in the fields all season. A farmer's daughter near White Oak has been operating a binder while her father shocked grain. The labor shortage is still acute, but the small grain harvest is being completed in most of the counties. Farmers complain that relief workers refuse to accept temporary harvest jobs at wages from $1 to $3 a day. Relief officials in more than twenty counties have cut off relief from able-bodied men in order to make harvest jobs more attractive.

Flame throwers and poison gas, lumbering tanks and swift bombing planes, all the frightful death-dealing devices of 20th century warfare will meet Emperor Haile Selassie's Ethiopian army if Italy and Ethiopia finally come to blows in East Africa. A modern, mechanized army and armaments such as Africa in all its history has never seen have been assembled in Italy's African colonies ready for the word "war." Lord Kitchener's force in the Boer war, General Napier's in Ethiopia, Napoleon's in Egypt and the Roman's in Carthage were as child's play compared to the mighty war machine Benito Mussolini has planted on the Eritrean plateau. It is authoritatively said to be determined to spare no mechanical weapon if by doing so he can lessen the mortality among his soldiers. Special flame-throwing tanks are among the many tanks that have gone to East Africa. Instead of machine guns, these monsters carry nozzles like firearms. An operator inside pulls a trigger, a stream of flame 150 feet long shoots out.

A brief communique released by the official German press service said Germany considered her commercial treaty with America had been broken by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York and looked to Washington to make amends. The communique appeared shortly after the German press demanded diplomatic intervention and an apology from New York for the tearing of the German flag from the stern of the liner Bremen during the rioting as it was about to sail from New York. The New York mayor was assailed in the Berlin news bureau release for refusing a masseur's license to a German immigrant on "unwarranted grounds." "This constitutes a clear breach of the German-American friendship, commercial and consular treaty of December 8, 1923," the communique continued.

Great Britain plans to build almost a complete new fleet costing $750,000,000 by 1942, the London Daily Herald said in an article which it claimed revealed a secret seven-year plan developed by the admiralty. Despite a statement in the house of commons by Commander B. M. Eyres-Monsell, first lord of the admiralty, declaring publication of the program would "be against the interests of the public and the peace of the world," the newspaper published what it described as "the admiralty's famous 'hush-hush' plan which already has been communicated to the admiralties of the United States, France, Germany, Italy and Japan." The huge new schedule, the newspaper announced, calls for the construction of twelve new capital ships and 33 cruisers.

A strong disposition to oppose the reelection of Senator Borah (R., Ida.) emanated from democratic leaders, accompanied by emphatic denials a decision to do so had been reached at a meeting of party chieftains. Postmaster General Farley, chairman of the democratic national committee, denying such a meeting had been held,

Beware of Hitch-Hikers

Picking up a hitch-hiker near Colfax, George Moore, Billings, Mont., was held up and robbed of $57 by the man, he reported to police at Spokane Saturday evening. The itinerant got into Moore's car on the pretense of wanting to go to Spokane, but three miles from Colfax he drew a small gun on the driver and ordered him to hand over his purse. The bandit ran off after the robbery. The gunman was about 26 years old, of average height and build and dressed like a working man.

IDAHO RECEIVE TWO MILLIONS RELIEF PROJECTS

Projects totaling approximately $2,000,000 have been approved by the Idaho works progress administration, J. L. Hood, state administrator, announced.

The projects will include dams and reservoirs for farming communities and "miscellaneous" work, the nature of which will be announced as soon as the allotments have been granted by the national administration. "The money will be divided equally between the tentative list of projects," Hood stated, "about $1,000,000 being spent for dams and reservoirs to aid farmers and the remainder of the money for miscellaneous projects. The latter items have not yet been determined."

"We have tried to apportion the money equally throughout the state. The location of the water conservation projects will be announced later. Those sections of the state that are not included in this allotment will be taken care of later, when we hope to obtain a similar appropriation from the national administration."

No Road News Yet

We have noticed that many meetings have been held regarding the allotment of various funds for various purposes in Idaho, but as yet there has been nothing said regarding the calling for bids for any of the roads asked for by the Potlatch section, and it is presumed that we will be bumping over the same rocks and descending into the same chuck-holes next fall that we are "going over and into" at the present time. Our own CBR (C. Ben Ross) has as yet failed to mention to FDR, very evidently, the need of roads in this section of the country.

However, CBR mentioned the fact once upon a time, right here in Kendrick that he did not need the votes of this section to put him over. He may have the same idea about the U. S. senatorship, but he must remember that the territory is enlarging and that the votes will not be confined to Kendrick precinct.

Nesbits Return From South

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Nesbit returned last Thursday evening from a four-weeks trip to the San Diego exposition, Tia Juana, Caliente, Los Angeles, Phoenix, Tucson and other points of interest in the southland. At San Diego they visited Dr. and Mrs. J. M. McCall, formerly of Troy; at Phoenix they visited a brother and sister of Mr. Nesbit, and at Tucson they visited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ameling. They report Mr. Ameling as gaining in health, but they expect to remain there for at least another year.

They returned home via the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, Salt Lake City, Ogden and the North and South highway—and the only bad piece of road encountered on the entire trip was from Arrow to Kendrick.

At Ogden they attended a rodeo, the first Mr. Nesbit had ever witnessed, which he said he enjoyed very much.

Erosion Camp Enrollment Halted

Rumors now floating through the Northwest that the completed and partly completed CCC erosion camps are to be abandoned are false, according to a statement made today by W. A. Rockie, regional director of the Palouse Project of the Soil Conservation Service. Rockie denied that the CCC projects of the Soil Conservation Service were being given up, explaining that, because of possible conflicts in getting harvest crews, enrollment will be withheld until after this important season of farm work.

Rockie's statement in full follows: "The enrollment of men for work in the CCC camps has been temporarily halted until the harvest crews are fully manned. Enrollment for the camps will later be gradually resumed, and it has been reliably stated that all of the camps assigned to the Soil Conservation Service will be occupied by full companies around October 1."

VOLLMER-CLEARWATER SELLS ELEVATORS

When farmers buy $250,000 worth of elevators and warehouses in one transaction, in one important section of the wheat empire, which is but one of numerous transactions completed during the present season totalling about $900,000, one pauses to consider the vast and far-reaching changes that are taking place in farm marketing.

On July 24, the cooperatives of Lewiston, Grangeville and other points between purchased 17 elevators and warehouses and stocks of grain from the Vollmer Clearwater Company of Lewiston, Idaho, the total consideration for which reached $250,000. The capacity of the facilities bought amounts to 2,000,000 bushels of grain. They have been serving as storage and marketing facilities for approximately 900 farmers. Some of these facilities were built as far back as 1889 by John P. Vollmer and E. W. Eaves. They now pass into the hands of the producers' own organizations and after these many years the profits they will hereafter earn upon the millions of bushels of grain they will handle will go into the pockets of the farmers who produce the grain. It transfers to farmer ownership and operation one of the largest facility groups of the independent dealers and completes a chain of farmer-owned and operated facilities that now cover all principal sections of the wheat producing areas of the Inland Empire. Only 5 years ago it was a rare thing to find a farmer-owned and cooperatively operated elevator or warehouse. Since that time, facilities purchased and built by the farmers and their own representative organizations run into hundreds. In the short space of these few years there has been a veritable revolution in the system of handling and marketing the wheat of the North Pacific states.

Of the facilities purchased by the cooperatives from the Vollmer Clearwater Company, the Lewiston Grain Growers, Inc., will operate eight warehouses and elevators at Lewiston; Lapwai, Sweetwater, Culesac, Reubens, Sities and Kooskia, Idaho, and Asotin, Washington.

The Union Warehouse & Supply Company of Grangeville will take over and operate the elevators and warehouses at that place and at Fenn, Idaho.

For the present and until local cooperatives are in position to purchase them, Farmers National Warehouse Corporation will continue to operate, for the benefit of the producers, other facilities owned and those purchased from the Vollmer Clearwater Company at Craigmont, Ferdinand, Greer, Lenore, Kendrick and Genesee.

This purchase gives Lewiston Grain Growers, Inc., of which Walter Mitchell has been the manager since organization, one of the largest warehouse systems in the wheat country. It adds materially to the large capacity of the facilities of the Union Warehouse & Supply Company at Grangeville.

The purchase of these facilities completes a chain of farmer-owned and operated facilities which extends from Lewiston across the great Nezperce and Camas Prairie country to Grangeville.

FDR Designs Midget Monday

President Roosevelt, himself, has been named the designer of the midget money proposed by the treasury.

Secretary Morgenthau said the chief executive had sketched a square coin for the one mill piece, while his design for the half cent coin was "doughnut in character" with a hole in the center.

Coincidentally, the question of what metal should go into the coins—should congress authorize their issue—was reopened. Copper still was designated for the half penny, but aluminum apparently was out as a possible base for the mill.

"I cannot imagine this administration manufacturing its currency out of aluminum," Morgenthau said.

The Aluminum Company of America virtually controls the source of virgin aluminum. It is known as a "Mellon interest" and Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, is a large stockholder. Just now the treasury is trying to collect from Mellon more than $3,000,000 it claims due on back taxes.

Morgenthau said zinc, brass and various alloys are under consideration for the mills. The miniature coins are intended to aid state sales tax systems.

See the home merchant first!

W. W. P. ELECTRIC COOKING SCHOOL GREAT SUCCESS

The Cooking School held in the basement of the Community church last Thursday afternoon, commencing at 1:30, by the Washington Water Power company, was attended by some 90 interested ladies of this community and Juliaetta.

The school was conducted by Lucille Ramirez, assisted by Miss Emily Williams, home economist for the W. W. P. Co., who gave demonstrations of electric cookery in all its phases and it is safe to say that a similar demonstration conducted later on would bring even a larger attendance as more and more people are turning to electric cooking as they learn the advantages over the old-fashioned range, especially in warm weather.

In the evening a talking movie showing the Westinghouse "Home of Tomorrow" was given in the church basement, which showed all the latest electrical equipment used in the very modern home, as well as air conditioning in the home.

Mr. Toole and Mr. Bender from the W. W. P. office, Spokane, and W. R. Foster, local manager from Troy, were also in attendance.

Miss Williams will be stationed in this territory and will be available to those in need of assistance with their electric cookery troubles, which is more fully explained in another article in this issue of the Gazette.

Picnic Dinner in Park

A picnic of old time friends of Mrs. E. F. Melony and Mrs. Victor Lindberg (nee Margaret and Loraine Terry) was held in the city park Sunday evening when about fifty adults and children gathered for the occasion with a no-host, no-hostess dinner and general good time.

Those making up the party were Mr. and Mrs. Sid Dicks and Miss Evelyn Hanson of Troy, Mrs. Gregory Eaves of Lewiston, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and family of Juliaetta, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Benschoter and sons, and Mrs. Snyder, Mrs. Sam Bigham and Walter Bigham, Mrs. Mary Deobald, Miss Frances Deobald, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Deobald and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Watts and Bobbie, Mrs. Helen Boyd and Betty, Mrs. Jennie Plummer, Mrs. Stella Plummer, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. McKeever and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Long and Barbara.

Has New Irrigating System

Dr. G. W. McKeever, aware of the fact that there might later be a shortage of water for irrigating purposes, took "time by the forelock" last week and went after water in a way that brought it right to his door.

Last year he dug a well and when it was completed he had the well alright, but there was no water in it, so he gave up the idea until a week or two ago when he happened to think that he had a right-of-way under the N. P. tracks in the shape of a drain that had been used when his residence was used as a creamery. Anyway, he got men to work, and the drain was uncovered and a water pipe lead put through it to the creek, where a pump was installed, and now he has all the water he wants, just for the pumping.

Return From Park Trip

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thompson and Mary Elizabeth and John Brewster returned home Sunday evening from a ten-day trip through the Yellowstone National Park. While there Mr. Thompson attended the State Bankers' convention at the Canyon hotel. En route home they came through Arlee, Montana, where they visited friends whom they had known in Pullman. They also visited Sunday at the home of Mrs. Thompson's folks, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Leshner, in Spokane.

New Beauty Parlor

Zelva De Goin and Miriam Skina have leased the old postoffice building and are installing a beauty parlor. The operators are from Lewiston and were formerly with the Temple Beautycraft and the Louise Taylor Young Beauty shop. They have leased the Frank Ellis residence on the school house hill, where they will reside.

Record Spud Crop

William Sonderman, Jr., of the Highland district, Kennewick, has just completed the harvesting of what he believes is a record crop of potatoes for this region. From 2½ acres of irrigated land he has dug 23 tons of U. S. number ones.

Be 21 Blister Rust Camps

Twenty-one blister rust control camps in the vicinity of Clarkia and Elk River, northeast of Moscow, are to be opened, according to announcement of the Moscow IERA office. Men are to be sent to the camps in groups of 15, and it is expected that the blister rust control program will give employment to about 1,200 men in the Moscow area during the remainder of the season.

WHEAT HARVEST GETTING INTO FULL SWING

The local wheat harvest is entering its first week of real activity, although the first new wheat made its appearance last week, the first in the Potlatch canyon section going to the Farmer's Union Warehouse Company of Juliaetta on Tuesday, July 23, Danner Bros. of Fix ridge delivering it.

The first wheat to arrive locally was received at the Kendrick Rochdale Co., the honor of being first going to Wilbur Corkill of Potlatch ridge, who delivered a load of Albit on Friday, July 26. Mr. Corkill was closely followed by George Wilken, also of Potlatch ridge, who also delivered Albit wheat. The grain in both cases was said to be of excellent quality, with good test.

The first wheat received by the Farmers' National (Vollmer-Clearwater) was brought to the tram warehouse on Monday, July 29, by Cecil Emmett and he was closely followed by A. G. Peters, who made delivery to the town warehouse. This wheat was also Albit and said to be of excellent quality and test. Both men live on Potlatch ridge.

Grain is also arriving in good quantities from other ridges, but it so happened that all first local deliveries were from Big Potlatch ridge. It is expected that the last of this week will see the wheat harvest in full swing, to be closely followed by other grains. Although harvest is early this year, it is not nearly so early as that of last season, when harvest was winding up at this date. Beans generally make their appearance at a much later date.

Georgia Governor Fires On Idle

Governor Eugene Talmadge—eyes on the White House—considers himself "the only presidential possibility outside the gimme crowds." The governor, bitter critic of the Roosevelt administration, has shied at a formal announcement of his candidacy.

"You boys seem to forget," Talmadge said, "that there are certain formalities and traditions when a man announces his candidacy. I am not going to say anything like that until the time comes, if it does, and then there won't be any secrecy about it." The governor's eyes flashed as he talked about those he classed in the "gimme crowd."

"I'm outside that gimme crowd—Roosevelt, Father Coughlin, Upton Sinclair and Huey Long," he said. "Every one of those fellows thinks the government ought to support the people as it is now doing."

"I say the people have to support the government. No government can exist that takes the taxpayers' money to feed folks who are not working. If a government keeps it up, eventually the taxpayers go broke and so does the government."

"If I were in Washington I would stop this crazy spending of the people's money, end processing taxes and fix it so private business could function and take care of the unemployed." There is one phase of his campaigning, he said, he is going to follow through—criticism of the Roosevelt policies. He emphasized he considers the renomination of the president would be "a calamity."

Went On Fishing Trip

Marvin Long and Ernest Sams returned Monday from a week-end fishing trip in the Little North Fork country. They report roads only partly open in that section and as a result fishing not too good.

Parents of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rockwood, living up Potlatch canyon a short distance, are the parents of a daughter born last Friday. Mother and babe are reported as doing nicely.

Tonsils Removed

Melvin Nead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nead of Lewiston Orchards, had his tonsils removed Wednesday morning, Dr. D. A. Christensen doing the work.

Advertising makes a good business better.

WHEAT HIGHER WITH BAD SPREAD OF RUST

Wheat markets continued to advance during the week ended July 26, influenced by the spread of serious rust damage in spring wheat areas of both the United States and Canada, disappointing returns from the domestic winter wheat crop, less favorable prospects in Europe and reduced seedings in the Southern Hemisphere, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Corn was steady with light offerings and diminishing stocks strengthening factors which tended to offset the weakening influence of improved new crop prospects. Rye was firmer with wheat but demand continued dull. Oats were steady to slightly higher with a moderate inquiry for continued light offerings. Barley regained a part of recent declines and premiums for malting types were advanced sharply. Flax advanced influenced by gains in wheat and a good current demand. New crop prospects continued favorable with early sowings in boll stage and late fields in bloom.

Prospects of sharp reductions in spring wheat harvests in both the United States and Canada were dominant factors in the wheat situation during the week. Rust damage became steadily worse in the domestic spring wheat belt with hot weather favoring development, particularly in North Dakota and Minnesota. Extremely hot weather, together with rust infestation, caused premature ripening in South Dakota. The extent of the damage varies greatly and ranged from 35 per cent to 70 per cent at the close of the week, according to reports from Department specialists, with losses almost total in some localities. Losses now promise to be the heaviest since 1927 when rust damage averaging 10 per cent in South Dakota, 12 per cent in North Dakota and 30 per cent in Minnesota caused a loss of about 32,000,000 bushels of spring wheat. An accurate appraisal of this season's losses, however, cannot be made until marketing returns become available. Private trade agencies estimate prospective losses at 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 bushels. Rust infestation in durum wheat has been relatively light.

Rapid deterioration in the Canadian spring wheat crop is shown by the fourth general report of the Manitoba Free Press. A survey by representatives of the Free Press shows approximately 20 per cent of seeded acreage in the Prairie Provinces seriously affected with stem rust. About 3,000,000 acres are infested in eastern Saskatchewan and about 1,500,000 acres in Manitoba. In addition to rust damage, extremely high temperatures and hot winds with continued drought in southern Alberta and western Saskatchewan have caused further losses. The Canadian crop is ten days to two weeks later than normal while rust infestation is two weeks earlier than is usual. Those conditions have favored the development of rust and damage in Manitoba is the most severe since 1916. Because of the lateness of the crop in Saskatchewan, more serious infection is feared in that Province before crops mature. Areas affected by drought have been enlarged and now include southern and east central Alberta, southwestern, west central and parts of northern Saskatchewan. In some districts losses as high as 50 per cent are shown from drought, according to the Free Press.

Some deterioration has occurred in Europe in the countries of the Lower Danube and in the United Kingdom, Belgium, Spain and France, where extreme heat has forced maturity and caused some shriveling of grain. The conditions have been about maintained in Germany, Poland and Italy, and harvests are expected to be above those of 1934. Large outturns are still in prospect in Russia. Prolonged drought has reduced acreage in the Southern Hemisphere and trade reports suggest a reduction of about 15 per cent or more in Argentine. Rains are needed in Australia.

Domestic cash wheat markets mostly strengthened with the advance in futures, but price gains were rather irregular depending upon local supply and demand conditions. Marketings of winter wheat increased with total receipts of 6,077 cars at the principal Central and Southwestern markets, compared with 5,501 cars last week and 3,507 cars a year ago.

No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Chicago at 98c-$1.02 and at St. Louis at $1.00 per bushel. No. 1 hard winter, ordinary protein was quoted at Fort Worth, delivered at $1.12½.

said at Salt Lake City, nevertheless, the party would be "justified in doing everything it can to defeat Borah." He thought Idaho's democratic governor, C. Ben Ross, had a good chance of doing so and also predicted President Roosevelt's reelection by a majority equal to his landslide vote in 1932. Borah, a leader of the independent republican group, while not backing President Roosevelt, was not active in support of Herbert Hoover in 1932. He has supported numerous new deal measures and opposed some, notably NRA.

LITTLE BEAR RIDGE (Delayed)

Last Wednesday when returning from Moscow, R. J. Johnson overturned his car. The accident was caused by his attention being given for a moment to a large bumble bee that flew into his car. Mrs. Johnson and two grandchildren were in the car, but all escaped without injury. His car, a new Hudson, was not damaged mechanically, but the fenders were bent and the top dented. He sent it immediately to Spokane to have the damage repaired.

Receipts at spring wheat markets were somewhat larger totaling 484 cars at Minneapolis and 127 cars at Duluth. The increase was principally in arrivals of winter wheat. Cash prices were quite unsettled because of the uncertain new crop prospects and the sharp fluctuations in futures. Premiums for cash grain at Minneapolis were considerably weaker with test weight a more important factor than protein. The arrival of new spring wheat at Minneapolis during the week graded No. 4, dark northern, tested 53.3 pounds.

Durum prices gained about 1c per bushel with No. 2 quoted at Minneapolis at 1c under to 4c over the Duluth September price of 86c. Ordinary to choice milling durum sold at 2c to 22c over the Duluth September. Canadian wheat markets strengthened influenced by reports of deterioration in spring wheat in the Prairie Provinces. Prices at Winnipeg advanced 3c with No. 1 Manitoba northern quoted at 83c per bushel.

Markets in the Intermountain area advanced along with Central Western points, but Pacific Coast markets were slightly higher. Denver mills were bidding 88c for No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring FOB Colorado shipping points at the close of the week. Mills at Ogden advanced prices 3c-4c per bushel with an urgent demand for high protein wheat. New wheat began to arrive in carlots and truck shipments remained heavy. At the close of the week No. 2 soft white was quoted at 72c; No. 2 northern spring, No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 hard winter at 74c FOB Utah-Idaho common points.

The Portland market advanced 1c-2c on most grades. Harvesting of winter wheat was well advanced and marketings increased, with receipts totaling 552 cars at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals. Milling inquiry was only moderate, but some Northwestern hard winter moved out by rail to Middlewestern markets. Occasional lots of high protein wheats were sold to California and moderate quantities were purchased by the Surplus Emergency Relief Administration, which was bidding 77½c per bushel for No. 1 soft white and red wheats, sacked, delivered tidewater terminals. Thirteen per cent protein Big Bend Bluestem hard white was quoted at Portland at 96c, ordinary bluestem hard white at 92c, soft and western white at 77c, northern spring, hard winter and western red at 76c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. At Seattle western white, western red and hard winter were quoted at 78c and Baart hard white at 99c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. 16 per cent protein dark northern spring from Montana was quoted at Seattle at $1.25 per bushel.

California markets were independently weak. Prices at Los Angeles were unchanged to 2½c lower, influenced by a limited demand from both mills and feeders. The San Francisco market, on the other hand, was slightly firmer although milling demand was slow with a dull flour business and feed wheats were in only moderate request, reflecting sharp competition from liberal offerings of feed barley. At the close of the week, No. 1 hard white was quoted at San Francisco at $1.35-1.40 and at Los Angeles at $1.35-1.37½. No. 1 soft white was quoted at $1.32½-1.35 at San Francisco and $1.35-1.40 per 100 at Los Angeles.

Oats tended downward with a light inquiry and buyers limited takings to current needs in anticipation of heavier offerings from the new crop. Pacific Northwestern markets were only moderately active reflecting the usual seasonal dullness prior to the movement of new crop supplies. No. 2 white oats declined around 2½c per 100 and were quoted at Portland July 25, at $1.25 per 100, sacked basis, while No. 2 gray oats were 7½c lower at $1.20 per 100. White oats from Eastern Washington were quoted at Seattle at $1.27½ per 100 for old crop and $1.20 for new crop, sacked basis.

Pacific Northwest barley markets were dull, reflecting the slow demand from all classes of trade. Offerings of California barley and prospective increase in local new crop offerings were weakening influences in this area. No. 2 bright Western barley was quoted at Portland July 25 at $1.10 per 100, sacked basis, with California feed barley quoted at $1.07½. California feed barley at Seattle was quoted at $1.02½ per 100 and barley from Eastern Washington at $1.05 per 100, sacked basis.

A party made up of Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arneberg and family and Mr. and Mrs. H. Galloway and family spent Wednesday in the mountains picking huckleberries. They brought back 3½ crates of berries and had a very enjoyable picnic.

Quite a large crowd attended the dance at Joe Nelson's Saturday evening.

Harry Ross and son, Johnny, Mr. Westendahl and Hi Galloway went fishing on Marble creek Saturday and Sunday. They really brought back some fine specimen.

John Thomas and Ray spent Sunday at Vassor Meadow and picked five gallons of huckleberries.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas and family spent Sunday at the Leonard Wolff home near Leland.

Mrs. Tom Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolff, returned home Friday from the sanitarium at Coeur d'Alene. Her many friends are glad to hear that her health has greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Oloi Reierson had as week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Arnold from Chicago.

Another car accident was reported Friday. Just as Mrs. William Nelson was entering the main highway after leaving the home of Felix Nelson, her car was struck by a car driven by a Mr. Johnson. The front bumper was torn from Mrs. Nelson's car, but little damage was done. The Johnson car was quite badly damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Keene and Maxine and Tommy called at the John Thomas home Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Erickson from Troy were out to their farm on Little Bear ridge Saturday. They had supper at the Hi Galloway home. Mr. Erickson recently built a house for Mr. Oberg near Genesee and is now doing carpentry work at the university.

Gunder Reierson, who is farming the B. N. Emmett place, bought a new tractor, fitted with rubber tires.

The Little Bear ridge correspondent regrets having been misinformed about the disposed of junk up Bear creek. Most of us are surprised to learn that Kendrick's property extends so far out our way. I think we must all concede, however, that junk and garbage on a highway is quite unsightly and unsanitary, whether it is on Kendrick's Bear creek street or elsewhere. Near the top of our grade tin cans and other discarded articles had been thrown over a steep, rocky waste long before the Kendrick Highway District was created. It is of no credit to the road, of course, but it is free from garbage and not especially offensive.

Just now there is some very fine work being done on our grade which will be greatly appreciated by us all.

In spite of the statement in last week's paper, the people of Little Bear ridge know that it is not an act of charity. We are getting what we have howled for, and only what we have coming. We thank you!

EMILY WILLIAMS

Emily Williams, home economist of the Washington Water Power company will be assigned to the Palouse territory for immediate service as a part of an enlarged home service program of the power company, according to an announcement by W. R. Foster, local manager.

Emily Williams was presented to Kendrick audiences during the cooking school here last week.

"Miss Williams will be permanently assigned," said Mr. Foster. "She will be pleased to discuss any home service problem related to electric appliances with customers at any time, even though the appliance may not have been purchased through our company. This includes cooking, refrigeration, laundering, cleaning and similar electric services. Her service is offered toward creating the full utilization and economic operation of electric appliances."

For appointments with Miss Williams, it is suggested that the customer phone, call or write to the nearest Washington Water Power company office.

MANY NOXIOUS WEEDS INFEST LATAH FARMS

While ordinarily farmers consider perennial weeds as their most serious menace, here in Latah county the annual and biennial weeds may become our most serious weed pests.

Annual weeds come each year from the seed produced some year before. Under this class come nearly all of the mustard family, as well as most of our common garden and field weeds. We should be especially concerned with two of the mustards—Fan weed and Jim Hill mustard.

Fan weed is gradually spreading throughout Latah county and probably will continue as long as our present system of farming is followed. Fan weed blooms early in the spring and matures seed before any crops are harvested. Each plant produces from ten to one hundred or more seed pods which may contain as high as 20 seeds each. Thus one plant may produce as high as two hundred seeds. While these seeds have no means of propulsion, such as thistles have, yet the seed pods shatter easily, and the seeds are easily scattered around in harvesting the crop. Once in the ground these seeds will lie dormant for as long as 20 years, awaiting a favorable opportunity to develop. So if a farmer does not yet have Fan weed he should be on the lookout to pull and destroy all of these plants before they mature.

Jim Hill mustard is rapidly becoming one of our most serious weed pests, since it not only grows out in the cultivated fields, making crops almost impossible to harvest, but it also grows well along fence rows, and in waste places. The seed of Jim Hill has all the tenacity of life of Fan weed and in addition, the plant is admirably adapted to spreading itself. Upon ripening, the long slender pods snap open, giving the seed a throw, which spreads them considerably. Then the plant breaks off at the surface of the ground and becomes a tumble weed. Thus it completes the job of seed scattering. It is a common sight to see piles of these plants ten feet high lodged against a fence or in a brush row. They may be burned then, but by that time they probably have scattered all their seeds. Not much use in locking the stable after the horse is gone.

We have several biennials, but none are so serious. Included in these are Curled Dock, with its brown triangular seed and Burdock, so well known because the burs mat in the fleeces and tails of our farm livestock.

The problem of control of either annuals or biennials lies first in not sowing crop seeds containing weed seed. Idaho farmers annually send many cars of weed seed to market. All crop seed should be thoroughly cleaned before planting. Then all threshing machinery should be cleaned before moving from one farm to another. A farmer should insist on this, especially if some weedy grain was threshed immediately before.

Once weeds have started, they should be prevented from seeding. If this is persistently followed, eventually they can be cleaned up, but it takes time and plenty of persistence. Weedy fields should be harrowed early then time given for seed to germinate, and then harrowed again. It may be necessary to plow several times at varying depths in order to turn up all the weed seed and give it a chance to germinate. Weeds offer a farmer one of his greatest problems, and it is one he can't beat alone. It takes community effort with every farmer helping to really get control.

ASSESSED VALUE OF NEZ PERCE COUNTY DECREASED

The 1935 assessed valuation of real and personal property in Nez Perce county is $11,157,776, compared to $11,863,915 in 1934, a decrease of $248,149, according to compilations at the office of County Auditor Philip Weisgerber, but exemptions for widows, soldiers and fatherless children were greater by $15,774 in 1935 than in 1934, making the total decrease in the assessed valuation $263,923, says the Lewiston Tribune.

Exemptions in 1934 on the real property rolls totaled $198,370, and in 1935, $214,144. Each year the personal property roll exemption was $700.

The assessed value of real property in 1935 was $11,040,191, and in 1934, $11,331,219. The personal property roll in 1935 was fixed at $575,575, compared to $532,696 in 1934.

The public utility valuations in 1934 amounted to $3,527,478. These will be fixed next month for 1935 at a meeting of the state board of equalization at Boise, and whatever the valuation for Nez Perce county is determined the amount will be added to $11,615,776 for the total valuation.

The county commissioners sitting as a board of equalization made few minor changes in the valuations placed by Assessor A. T. Livengood.

FOOD FOR Thought

DOES THE RISING PRICES OF GROCERIES AND MEATS FURNISH YOU WITH "FOOD FOR THOUGHT?" IT CERTAINLY HAS US— WE'VE DONE A LOT OF THINKING ALONG THAT LINE AND RESOLVED TO SELL AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICE COMPATABLE WITH QUALITY!

For we long ago decided that price itself was a snare and delusion. Price and Quality must meet in an article to furnish a true value—and we believe true values abound in our store. Come in and see for yourself!

AND MEATS— YES—YOU BET—

WE HAVE THE BEST AND PRICED RIGHT! Cold Meats—Prepared Meats—Fresh And Smoked Meats—Our stock is Very Complete.
