NO. 36

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Astrid, Queen of the Belgians, 29-year-old mother of three children, was fatally injured when thrown from a car which her husband, King Leopold, was driving last Thursday morning. She died in his arms on the roadside, while a village priest gave extreme unction. Leopold was not seriously injured. The injury which caused Astrid's death, a fractured skull, was identical to that which killed her father-in-law, King Albert, 18 months ago. King Leopold told members of his family he had taken his eyes off the road to glance at a map the queen was holding. He said she was sitting in the front seat beside him with the chauffeur in the rear. "I leaned over to look at the map," the members of the party said the king told them. "It lasted only a second and when I looked again at the road the car was almost on top of a tree."

Howard Lyng, assistant manager of the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation corporation, in a signed interview in the Anchorage Times blamed the federal government's importation of transient labor for delay in construction work at the Matanuska colonization project. "At the present time construction is at about the half-way mark," Lyng said. "Thirty-five colonists' houses are occupied, 70 in various stages of construction and 70 yet to be started by September 15. Half of the unstarted ones would be under construction had the project been prosecuted from its inception by Alaskan labor, under the direction of qualified Alaskans, such as the Alaska road commission."

The first failure of a government bond offering in the treasury's history last Friday struck a sharp note in the capital, but drew quick assertions that the federal credit had not been impaired. Both the treasury and a majority of spokesmen for the commercial banking structure joined in maintaining the government's borrowing power remained undamaged. But on other points they diverged. Secretary Morgenthau conceded the situation "wasn't so good" but ascribed no reason for a response of only $85,000,000 to an offering of $100,000,000 of four-year fully guaranteed 1 1/2 per cent bonds. The treasury chief was emphatic, however, in declaring that the "auction system" of bidding was not responsible for the failure. Dealers and banks, on the other hand, were equally emphatic in asserting it was, declaring they could not gain enough profit to make it worth while to bid.

Francis M. Rickett, a British promoter, told a correspondent Saturday that Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, seeking to stop an expected Italian advance into Ethiopia, deeded more than half his empire to Anglo-American interests for exploration and development just before Friday midnight. "I, myself, saw the original charter, signed by the emperor with his official title 'Anointed King of Kings.' Duplicate versions, one in English, the other in Amharic, carried the great imperial seal of the 'Conquering Lion of Judah.'" By this remarkable document, the sovereign turned over an area of 150,000 square miles (more than the combined areas of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa) to the Standard Oil company and British industrial interests under a 75-year charter. The charter authorizes its holders to exploit the oil and mineral resources and develop the country. (The agreement has since been voided.)

Seeking to discern the dim and uncertain outlines of 1936, some republican leaders figured that there may be a memorable contest between Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and Senator Borah of Idaho, for the party presidential nomination. They agreed that it is too soon to make definite predictions; that much can happen before decisive events occur. Nevertheless, though leaders are loth to talk publicly, they are discussing a Borah-Knox struggle as among the many possibilities. Knox and Borah set out upon separate paths months ago, after a conference in Washington. Authoritative sources said they found it impossible to agree upon the party organization, the senator insisting it should be completely rebuilt to displace those close to former President Hoover. Knox dissented. Recently he visited at length with Hoover in California.

Mrs. Harold L. Ickes, distinguished 62-year-old wife of the secretary of the interior, was killed Saturday in an automobile accident north of Santa Fe, N. Mex., which Chief E. J. House of the state police said he had established was caused by a sudden swerve of Mrs. Ickes' hired motor car. After hours of investigation of a theory, that the accident was the result of the car bearing Mrs. Ickes being struck by another machine, House said he had abandoned that explanation. The tracks of the machine, said House, showed that the driver had attempted to regain the highway after going into a ditch about 38 miles from Santa Fe. The car was said to have been traveling 60 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

Delivers First Beans

Roy Craig on Tuesday delivered the first new beans to be brought to Kendrick to the Kendrick Rochdale company. They were of the Red Kidney variety and were said to be of good quality. The yield was three sacks per acre. In questioning warehousemen, it was found that some who have already threshed their beans but have not yet delivered them, estimate the yield at three sacks per acre.

Had Thunderstorm

Early last Saturday morning this section was visited by a very vivid display of lightning and sharp thunder-claps and nearly everyone was awakened by the noise and the hard down-pour of rain for a few minutes. Wade Keene said he saw the lightning strike on the rocky point just east of the tramway and that dust was thrown up like there had been a dynamite blast. To be sure that his friends would not think he was telling a "goat" story, he called Mrs. Keene to witness the great cloud of dust raised by the strike.

COUNTY AGENT EXPLAINS NEW AAA AMENDMENTS

Broadly speaking, says County Agent L. V. Benjamin, the action just completed by Congress to amend the Agricultural Adjustment Act, had two purposes: First—To insure the constitutionality of the act in the light of Supreme Court decisions. Second—To strengthen, clarify, and correct the legislation authorizing the farm program in the light of experience gained since its inception. To insure the constitutionality of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, Mr. Benjamin explains, three things were done:

1. The authority of the Secretary of Agriculture was defined and limited in great detail, so that it shall be unmistakable that Congress is not delegating to an administrative officer powers vested only in the legislative branch of the government. 2. The operation of the Act was rigidly limited to interstate commerce, and the interstate commerce clause was re-defined to bring it in line with language previously used by the Supreme Court in decisions on this question. At the same time, definite provision was made for cooperation of the Federal government and the State government where this is advisable to make a program effective.

3. All previous and existing taxes, benefit payments, contracts, instituted prior to the adoption of the amendments, were legalized and ratified by Congress. Mr. Benjamin outlines the action taken to strengthen and clarify the Act under nine headings:

1. The parity price or fair exchange value of farm products was modified by adding mortgage interest rates and tax rates as factors in computing this price. 2. In connection with basic commodities, payments are authorized for other purposes than rental or benefit payments, namely: (a) removal of surpluses, (b) expanding domestic or foreign markets, (c) production under a domestic allotment. 3. Tax rates and tax procedure were spelled out in detail to insure flexibility so that rates may be adjusted to fit market conditions, and to secure smoother operation, and to specify the procedure for refund and recovery of taxes.

4. The Ever-Normal Grainery plan for storage of certain crops on the farm, as insurance against shortages and violent price swings, was incorporated in the farm program. 5. Provision was made for control of competing imports when they jeopardize the success of a program. 6. The procedure for marketing agreements was outlined in great detail, to clarify and strengthen this method.

Changes were made in certain provisions for cotton, tobacco, barley, rye and sugarbeets and sugarcane. 8. In the provisions for protection of the Consumer's interests, it was specified that nothing in the Act shall be interpreted as authorizing maintenance of prices above parity levels. 9. Miscellaneous provisions in the amendments provided for (a) encouragement of producer cooperatives, (b) appropriation of funds for elimination of diseased cattle, (c) appropriation of 30 per cent of the annual receipts from customs duties, to stimulate agricultural exports and domestic consumption and to finance production adjustments.

Many Hunters—Few Birds

Last Sunday morning the grouse and native pheasant season opened in this section, and the bombardment sounded like the battle of the Marne, but no one, so far as learned, brought in the bag limit of four. Some hunters reported seeing plenty of birds but they said a shotgun was useless and that the only way one could get in connection with the birds was by long-distance telephone. It was evident, in some quarters—that the survivors had heard the bang of shotguns long before the opening day—and evidence of kills was reported that had been made before the rain of Saturday morning.

John Schultz, who has been very seriously ill, is much improved, and has been able to leave the hospital for his home.

Mrs. Schultz reports a delightful time. She said crops were fair, trains were reported crowded. She is living this winter in the Stanton home in the west of town.

MRS. JOHN CARGILL DIES SUDDENLY TUESDAY P. M.

Mrs. John Cargill, a resident of Kendrick since 1928, died very suddenly at her home in the west part of town Tuesday afternoon, after having suffered a fall on Thursday of last week, which at first was not considered serious, while very painful.

Mrs. Cargill had evidently gone to a pasture at the rear of the home for some reason or other and suffered a fall, which was evidently caused by a heart attack, according to the attending physician. Her left leg was fractured near the knee, an X-ray showed, and was placed in a plaster cast on Monday. Tuesday morning she apparently was feeling much better, but she died suddenly Tuesday afternoon about 3:45 o'clock.

Allie Sarah Cargill was born at Hartford, Conn., April 3, 1866. The family came west to Kansas in 1907, where they resided until 1928, when they moved to Juliaetta, where they remained until 1928, when they came to Kendrick, where they had since resided.

Deceased leaves to mourn their loss her widower, John Cargill, and four children: Willard and Bryan of Princeton, Idaho; Mrs. Beulah Strohm of Casimere, Wash., and Mrs. Doshia Vaughn of Coulee City, Wash. Funeral arrangements had not been completed at the time of going to press.

New Signers—May Enter Wheat Plan

"The new wheat contract is open to all wheat producers who can establish base production and acreage figures, whether they signed the first contract or not," announces L. V. Benjamin, County Agent.

Mr. Benjamin outlines the information which signers of the new contract should have ready before applying for a contract. The information is practically that which the signers of the original contract furnished, as the new wheat contract is based on the same period, the years 1928-32 for production and 1930-32 for acreage. Farmers should apply all the supporting evidence they have on production and acreage in these years, such as grain storage receipts, threshing records, etc.

Any farmer not now a contract signer, but who is considering signing the new contract, should get in touch with his community wheat committeemen, a member of the county allotment committee, or the county agent.

According to the terms of the new contract, the first 1936 payments will be payable in the summer of 1936 after compliance with the contract for that crop year has been checked.

Took Injured To Hospital

Mrs. L. Keene, who recently accompanied her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Havens, on a trip to south Idaho, reports that while motoring with her nephew and wife near Star, Idaho, they came upon a wrecked car and truck just a few minutes after the collision between the two, and took five of the injured to a hospital. Four of them were seriously hurt, the other only slightly. She says it was a terrible sight and almost takes all the joy out of motoring.

Wheat About All Delivered

Local warehouses report that the rush of wheat delivery is over and that those who have beans are turning their attention to their cutting and threshing.

Wheat is reported to have made an average yield in this section, with the quality far above average and very little smut. Now, the next thing, is for the farmer to be able to get a little more than the cost of production, at least.

On Fishing Trip

Wade Keene, Ben Callison, C. W. Jessup, John Thomas and Tommy and Maxine Keene made up a fishing party over the week-end, going in over the Lolo trail as far as their time would permit. They got within 30 miles of Cayuse lake, their destination, but lack of gasoline forced them to turn back. They reported a big time, anyway, with lots of beautiful mountain scenery.

W. W. P. Manager Electrocuted

Fred B. Schuman, 41, Genesee manager of the Washington Water Power company, met instant death at 6:15 p. m. Saturday by electrocution while his son, Don, age 13, stood within a few feet of the scene and was powerless to aid his father. His death was one of a series of accidents following the electric storm of Friday night and Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Silvie Cook and Margaret were entertained at dinner last Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Nora Callison at their home on American ridge.

Commercial Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club will be held in the dining room of the Raby Hotel next Monday evening, September 9. Much important business is requested to be present. Not only is this the first meeting since a number of important Commercial club activities were started, but is the first under our new president, G. P. Barnum. Let's all turn out and give the club the support it deserves. Dinner will be served at 6:30. Be on time.

DOCTORS WORRIED OVER SEPTIC SORE THROAT

The Lewiston Tribune has the following to say regarding the prevalence of septic sore throat in that city, and it might be well if a little precaution is exercised by visitors to that place: "Ravages of septic sore throat have caused Lewiston physicians to register indications of concern. The malady, apparently spreading through the community, has assumed symptoms of the influenza scourge, according to doctors, and in many cases has brought complications resulting in pneumonia. "Because of the malignant character of the disease physicians urge that immediate attention be given, an effective gargle used consistently and a laxative treatment be applied. Doctors assert that the malady is highly infectious and contagious and that those afflicted should avoid contact with associates until the disease is arrested. Several deaths have resulted as the result of complications."

Transient Billets Be Closed

With the proposed discontinuance of the federal transient camp program in the nation steps are being taken for the closing of all Idaho transient camps and, according to Supervisor E. H. Myrick of the Clearwater forest, with headquarters at Orofino, 80 transients from southern Idaho camps were on their way to his district to engage in blister rust control work. There are now 127 transients engaged in this work on the Clearwater and the incoming transients will be assigned to the North fork area, said Sunday's Tribune.

According to Adrian Nelson, superintendent of the Lewiston transient shelter at the old DeFrance hotel, no definite word has been received as to when this system will be dissolved. Instructions have been received, however, that no more transients are to be provided with sleeping accommodations at the Lewiston shelter.

The men are eligible for the service they may be served meals but, in keeping with the dissolution plan, none are to be provided beds.

There are now about 50 transients at the Lewiston shelter, according to Superintendent Nelson, with the same number quartered at the highway camp at Kamiah. Men stationed at Kamiah have been working on the incomplete link of highway between Kamiah and Greer. When completed this link will open the direct route from Lewiston to the Elk City mining district.

Return From Vacation

A family party made up of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Havens and daughter Marie, Mr. Havens' mother, Mrs. Emma Havens of Moscow, and Mrs. Havens' mother, Mrs. L. Keene, returned early Sunday morning from a ten-day visit with relatives at various points in the southern part of the state—Payette, Fairfield, Gooding, and other places. Mr. Havens said that a brother he visited at Fairfield was digging potatoes, for which he was receiving 25c a bag, delivered at the station.

The party brought with them one of the large crickets that infest that part of the state, known as Mormon crickets. They are just like our small crickets, only about three times as large. They sometimes get so thick that it is necessary to close roads and they clean everything green that they come in contact with.

We still claim that it is a pleasure, as well as a privilege, to live in the Polatch section.

To Fight Noxious Weeds

Approximately $400,000 will be expended in at least 15 Idaho counties on noxious weed control if present plans are carried out. J. L. Hood, works progress administration director for Idaho, said.

The work will be done with the cooperation of the various counties, and no attempt will be made to group them into districts, Mr. Hood said. The cost of man power will be furnished by the WPA, he said, but materials must be provided by the counties.

Latah county is one of the 15 counties listed where such work will be carried on. Noxious weeds are fast becoming a menace, not only to the growing crops, but have a great bearing on the value of the land for sale purposes.

Ohgeegoshi

A New York news dispatch says that footwear and costume colors are bordering on all shades of the rainbow—and bags and hosiery, too, are colorful. But when one stops to think that bakeries are stating that they are going to make bread in red, green, or even orchid, that is just too much. They say it will be the baker's answer to the current demand for color.

One Spokane baker said: "Watch for a peanut butter sandwich on blue bread at the lunch counters about the first of the year."

WHEAT MARKET WOBBLY—FEED GRAINS ARE LOWER

Domestic grain markets were rather unsettled during the week ended August 30, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Spring bread wheats were independently firm, reflecting the short supplies of contract grades this season, while soft and hard winter and Pacific Coast wheats were mostly lower except for best milling lots of heavy weight grain.

Smaller offerings of southern hemisphere wheat with prospects of increased takings of Canadian grain, were important features of the general wheat situation during the week. Supplies of wheat remaining for export in Argentina and Australia are considerably lower than a year ago and new crop prospects unfavorable as a result of drought. Canadian shippers on the other hand, appear more inclined to dispose of the relatively large stocks held over from previous years. The new Canadian Grain Board is reported to have proposed a minimum price of 80c, which would place Canadian wheat on an export basis to the United States and close to parity with Australian wheat. Considerable quantities of Canadian wheat were reported purchased by American mills and elevator interests and about 100,000 bushels of Canadian wheat arrived at United States markets during the week.

Domestic cash wheat markets were somewhat unsettled with spring bread wheats independently firm and other classes barely steady to sharply lower. Marketings of spring wheat increased with a total of 1,082 cars received at Minneapolis and 544 at Duluth.

Marketings of winter wheat dropped off further with a total of 3,609 cars received at the principal central and western markets. Milling inquiry remained good, particularly for the high protein lots. Discounts for light wheat was increased. An excellent milling demand prevailed for the better grades of hard winters at Chicago, where No. 1 hard winter was quoted at $1.02 per bushel. Lower grades and tough wheat sold at discounts as much as 3c per bushel under No. 2 wheat. The St. Louis market was weak with offerings only moderate and demand limited. No. 1 hard winter was quoted in that market at $1.02 per bushel at the close of the week. Soft winter wheat declined with only moderate inquiry for current offerings. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at St. Louis Aug. 30 at 91c at Chicago at 89c and at Kansas City at 95c per bushel.

Intermediate and Pacific Coast markets declined along with the Chicago futures and were generally 2c to 3c lower. At the close of the week Denver mills were bidding 97c for No. 2 hard winter and $1.02 for No. 2 northern spring FOB country points, except in northeastern Colorado and northwestern Nebraska where bid were 95c per bushel for No. 2 hard winter. Prices at Ogden declined 3c to 5c per bushel with local mills bidding 67c for No. 2 soft white, 74c for No. 2 northern spring and 79c for No. 2 dark hard winter.

Portland prices were quoted about 4c lower than a week ago with No. 1 hard white at 89c, dark hard winter at 96c, No. 1 soft white and northern spring at 72 1/2c, No. 1 hard winter at 75c, western white at 72c and western red at 71 1/2c per bushel on a sacked basis. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals showed a seasonal increase with a total of 1,247 cars. A feature of the situation in the Pacific Northwest was the heavy rail shipments direct from country points to Kansas City territory, with trade agencies placing sales of northwestern wheat to middle-western markets at around 5,000,000 bushels. Northwestern prices were about in line for shipments to Atlantic seaboard markets but the scarcity of boat space restricted sales. California demand was light.

Pacific Northwest barley markets were quiet, reflecting the dull demand for the relatively plentiful new crop supplies. Feeding barley moved readily at country points with considerable quantities of malting type barley in the Willamette valley being used for feed.

The San Francisco oats market was dull with most of the trading in the lower price ranges. Growers displayed a strong holdin tendency but the light offerings were sufficient for the slack demand.

Entertains Pioneer Women

On Thursday, August 29, Mrs. Manford Harland of Troy entertained a group of pioneer women and other guests at a sumptuous dinner at her home. Her guests were Mrs. Martin Thomas, Mrs. Al. Roberts, Mrs. Sam Bigham and Mrs. M. A. Deobald. All the above, including the hostess, were residents of American ridge from 42 to over 50 years. Other guests were Mrs. Wm. Chaney, Troy, Mrs. Henry Killde and daughter Dorothy and Mrs. Ed. Condel of Driscoll ridge; Mrs. Ott Gladden of Coeur d'Alene, Mrs. Ada Mushlitz and sons Dorsey and Maurice of Moscow, who have just returned from an auto tour of California. Following the delicious dinner the time was spent reminiscing of old times. This is the third time in three years that Mrs. Harland has entertained. Decorations were beautiful with a picture, "Tea Garden in Japan," serving as a place card for each guest and souvenir of the occasion.

Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Bigham and Mrs. Roberts accompanied Mrs. Deobald in her car.

USES OUTLINED FOR ADJUSTED WHEAT ACRES
Adjusted wheat acres under the new wheat contracts are to be used, in general, for soil improving and erosion preventing crop, states L. V.
Benjamin, county agent. "Adjusted acreage" is a new term which means the same as "contracted acres" under the 1933-35 wheat contract. Administrative ruling under the contract will contain definite recommendations for the use of the land, Mr. Benjamin says.

Representative wheat farmers who studied the new contract in Washington early in July recommended that adjusted acreage be kept out of cash crop production and be used for such purposes as pasture, hay, timber, soil-erosion preventing crops, summer fallow, etc. In this way the danger would be avoided of taking land out of one basic crop and using it to raise another crop and thus defeat the purpose of the program.

The new contract simplifies the question of just what adjusted acreage is and what is land usually not cropped on the farm. The new contract provides that the land used for soil improvement and erosion preventing crops shall be not only the usual amount used on the farm, but shall also include, in addition, the adjusted acres.

For example, if a farmer has usually had about 50 acres of pasture or hay and his adjusted acreage amounted to 25 acres, then his total acreage to be in pasture or hay under the terms of his wheat contract, would be 75 acres.

Kendrick School Opened Tuesday
The Kendrick school opened Tuesday morning with a good enrollment and all departments in operation. Several students from other districts have entered high school and more are expected as soon as farm work is over.
Next week we will have a complete report of school activities.

Twenty-four are enrolled in Vocational Agriculture and it is expected that a few more will come in. The boys are studying poultry culling—doing the actual job. Does anyone need their flock culled? If so get in touch with M. C. Grover, vocational agriculture teacher.

"Wings In The Dark"
All lovers of airplane pictures will have an opportunity to see one of the best in this line in "Wings In The Dark," with beautiful Myrna Loy and Carey Grant in the leading roles. A hell-cat in the air! A honey on the ground! She'd risk her beautiful neck at the drop of a hat—fly under a bridge for 25 bucks—bail out at 5,000 feet to give the rubber-necks a thrill —but she had a swell reason—she was in love. You're the sweetest sweetheart a man ever had, Gary told Myrna. A trans-Atlantic flight—a fog-locked field below—enough gas for 15 minutes—life and love waited below—could she make it?

And the last installment of "Rustlers of Red Dog." Also other entertaining features.

Another fine serial will be started next week, the name of which we do not know.

WE NEED MORE CONTENTED COWS
HAROLD THOMAS, Editor

EDITORIAL

MY GOSH—But didn't we have a hot August—and September is almost as bad—so far. Well, life is like that—first we're too hot, and then it's too cold—but old Mother Nature always has her way—so it costs us money to heat our homes and stable the live-stock—and there's where we come in. Just you bring your cream to us—and you'll more than likely realize all you need to pay the old fuel and light bill—and perhaps then some. Try it and see for yourself how it helps the old income. We steam sterilize the can, too. It's ready to use!

A true music lover, says Frank Rider, is a man who, upon hearing a soprano in the bathroom, puts his ear to the keyhole.

"So he's teaching you to swim? How much have you learned so far? "That he's twenty-one, single, and has a good job."

Mrs. Keene (sarcastically): "I suppose you've been to see a sick friend—holding his hand all evening."

Wale Keene (sadly): "If I'd been holding his hand, I'd have made some money!"

Read the Bullitin—keep posted.
