NO. 44

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Stonily defiant, Leo Hall, 37, former pugilist and dry dock worker was questioned by authorities in connection with the Easter season sextuple slaying at Erland's Point in 1934. Sheriff William B. Severny made public a signed statement by Mrs. Larry Poulos, 27, beer parlor waitress, admitting participation in a hold-up which she said preceded the killings at a fashionable beach colony near Bremerton. Mrs. Poulos named Hall, Severny said, as the mass slayer of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fleider, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Chenevert, Magnus Jordan and Ezra M. (Fred) Bolcom.

Demands for a "newer deal"—the Townsend plan—were raised at the Chicago convention Saturday by a battery of speakers before the first national convention of the Townsend clubs. Spurred by the hair-trigger applause of delegates estimated by their leaders to number 7,000, the orators asserted there would be no permanent recovery until checks for $200 a month were sent from Washington to all persons of 60 and over as the Townsend plan proposes. The audience also cheered denunciations of the national security act pension provisions. Four of the seven men who addressed the afternoon session were 29 to 30 years under the eligibility age set by the program but they appealed to the nation's youth to support the movement. "We don't need a new deal, but a new deck," declared Ralph H. Higgins of Seattle. "That new deck is the Townsend plan." "The old political formulas will no longer work," said Charles T. Murdoch of Pittsburgh. "The Townsend plan is honestly offered as a permanent cure of depressions."

An official government decree at Rome authorized 441,000,000 extra lire (about $35,721,000) for "new construction and transformation of naval craft." Another decree established a "high naval command" in Italy's Dodecanese islands in the Aegean sea. Disappointed that Great Britain has not withdrawn her huge fleet from the Mediterranean, the fascist government apparently decided not to be caught napping in the future. Great Britain has fumbled a chance to reinforce European peace, it was asserted in authoritative Italian quarters. This pessimism displaced the optimism of a few days ago as a consequence of Britain's failure to respond to Italy's withdrawal of a Libyan division with a reciprocal reduction of the British Mediterranean fleet.

Wisconsin's progressive party governor, Phillip La Follette, predicted Sunday the emergence of a "strong third party" in the 1936 presidential election, "unless the two major parties purge themselves, of reactors." The young-looking son of "Fighting Bob" LaFollette said that a "great sentiment" for a new party alignment among Americans will compel progressivism, either within the old party lines of from a new party. The country is not going on indefinitely," he said, "with two parties that have so little unity that they can embrace, as a democratic example, Carter Glass and John W. Davis or Burton K. Wheeler and Edward P. Costigan, or with republicans, Herbert Hoover and George Norris."

A victory for the AAA, far exceeding expressed hopes of its most ardent supporters, was indicated in pyramiding returns from Saturday's corn-hog referendum. A continuance of early trends would automatically assure the continuance of a corn-hog control plan in 1936. As the tallies mounted from the national referendum, the score stood 230,678 to 32,570 for an extension of the program.

Evening Bridge Party

The ladies of the Afternoon Bridge club entertained their husbands at a 6:30 o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Keene, Monday evening.

The tables were decorated with hallowe'en table cloths and lovely fall flowers added charm to the big rooms. Bridge was played at six tables following dinner. High family score for the evening was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary and low score to Mrs. Ethel Emery. Mrs. E. H. Field of Clarkston was an invited guest.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. W. T. Keene, Mrs. R. H. Ramey, Mrs. D. A. Christensen and Mrs. Geo. Leith.

Mrs. Dawald Convalescing

Mrs. Arthur Dawald, who has been confined to her bed with inflammatory rheumatism the past month, is reported as slowly improving.

Winter Has Arrived

The Potlatch section of the country received Monday night what might well be termed the tail-end of a winter storm that started far up in Alaska last Friday when at Fairbanks the mercury descended to 24 degrees below zero, breaking all October records in the 34 years weather records have been kept there.

The Kendrick section received its first blanket of snow for the fall season—and we figure it is plenty early. It is several weeks ahead of the first blanket of 1934. About an inch fell.

Thursday morning at 6:30 the mercury stood at 8 degrees above zero.

JOINT WHEAT ALLOTMENT CHECKS BE GIVEN OUT SAT.

The second 1934 and the first 1935 wheat allotment checks have been received by the county agent on about 700 contracts and the following place has been designated to make payment in this section:

Kendrick city hall, on Saturday, November 2 from 1:30 to 5 p. m. Notices to this effect have been sent to those having checks, says L. V. Benjamin, county agent. The total of this payment will amount to $183,372.54.

There will be an educational meeting at 3 o'clock, following the payment of checks at which time farmers will be told regarding the next wheat contracts.

All farmers are asked to be present, whether they have wheat checks due them or not, says County Agent L. V. Benjamin.

Frytag-Helton

Miss Mae Frytag and Ward Helton were united in marriage last Saturday afternoon in Lewiston, the ceremony being performed by Dr. McKinnon. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Garlinghouse of Lewiston.

Mrs. Helton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Frytag, old time residents of Kendrick. She graduated from the Kendrick high school with the class of 1930.

Mrs. Helton is going to continue her position in Clarkston until Mr. Helton's work in the forest reserve is through, after which they plan on making their home at Southwick.

Birthday Dinners

Mrs. N. B. Long gave a dinner party Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Jennie Plummer, who is leaving soon for Seattle to visit relatives. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. James Emmett, Mrs. L. Keene, Mrs. J. B. Helpman of the honoree, Mrs. Jennie Plummer. Last Friday the Birthday Club met at the home of Mrs. Jennie Plummer in honor of her 79th birthday anniversary. Those present were Mrs. Wm. Freytag, Mrs. James Emmett, Mrs. Thos. McDowell and Grandma Schultz.

Hunting Party Returns

A big game hunting party, consisting of K. D. Ingle, Jerry Ingle, R. B. Parks, Harry Thompson of Lewiston, Hugh Thompson, Clarence Morey and W. A. Watts returned Sunday evening from Jerry Johnson Hot Springs, where they went via Montana. They report good luck, the party bringing back five elk. At the time they left four inches of snow was reported in that section.

Former Teacher Married

An announcement of the marriage of Miss Edna Leadbetter, now of Alice, Oregon, to Frank Paris, at LeGrand, Oregon, on October 28, has been received by Mrs. Silvie Cook. Miss Leadbetter was formerly a teacher in the Kendrick High school, and will be remembered by many in this community.

Hootch Stores Net $175,000

Idaho's 28 state liquor stores and 70 dispensaries have earned a net profit of approximately $175,000 since the first store was opened five months ago, M. B. Yeaman, member of the state liquor control commission announced this week.

Beans Are Moving

The Farmers National Warehouse Co. reports the shipping of a car of beans on Tuesday of this week and the Bean Growers association reports the moving of some 1200 sacks during the past week.

Thomas Family Moves

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas and family have moved to their newly acquired home in the west part of town from their apartment in the creamery building.

WESTERN TRADITION PASSING INTO DISCARD

What has happened to the West, which once valued its unlocked doors as its greatest possession?

There was a time, not so far in the past, when one seeking shelter needed only open the door of the first house or cabin he found. He needed not to feel abashed because no one was at home—the visitor merely prepared necessary food, and, if he left before his unknown host returned, cleaned up the place and replenished the fuel. In other words, the premises were left in the same condition in which they were found.

Prospectors, trappers and National Forest officers cannot help but wonder—although they have definite ideas as to why the latchstring no longer can beckon to all who may pass by. They have had first-hand experience with those who have dissipated one of the finest traditions the world has ever known.

By far the greater number of forest visitors are careful, but there is a recalcitrant minority to whom nothing apparently is sacred—they hide behind the screen of anonymity and care naught about the effects of their depredations on the future. Region One of the National Forests has suffered severely at the hands of such persons during the winter months in past years.

It is not unusual for a forest ranger, in the course of travel in his district, to come upon an isolated guard or lookout station which has been broken into. Such places are not manned in winter. Investigation has revealed numerous instances where the unlawful occupants have used furniture for firewood and have even chopped up the floors. Dishes are usually left dirty and sometimes they are destroyed.

Such wanton destruction and violation of western tradition are laid at the doors of those persons, particularly among the hunters, who do their roughing in automobiles. Before the widespread use of motor vehicles, persons making extended trips were equipped to care for themselves, but they realized the value of the shelter of a cabin in an emergency. They respected property and doors were always unlocked.

As the individual has been forced in recent years to barricade his shelters when he is away, so has the Forest Service been compelled to deny access to its outlying stations to the passers-by, all because of a few who are not cognizant of the worth of the old frontier tradition whereby the latchstring was always out to one needing shelter so long as he washed his dishes, replenished the woodpile and left things as he found them.

Forest officers encourage recreational use of the National Forests, but warn that government property must be respected.

No Road Information

As yet there has been no additional information given out from the officials at Boise regarding the $84,000 asked for by the Governor for the rebuilding of the Cedar creek road, starting at the junction of that road with the Bear Ridge highway, but it is hoped favorable word will be received soon so that work can be undertaken during the winter months.

The detour from Juliaetta the Arrow Junction has been about completed and it is expected that bids will be called for within a short time for the building of the highway from Arrow to within some two miles below Juliaetta, this being a link in the highway between Arrow and Kendrick.

Entertained At Family Dinner

Mrs. M. A. Deobald entertained at a family dinner at her home on American ridge on Sunday, October 27, when the main part of the menu was elk steak and fried chicken—with all the trimmings, of course. The dinner was served cafeteria style and those invited to the repast were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Deobald and family of Kendrick; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and family of Juliaetta and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bechtol and family from Moscow, there being 21 in all, and all enjoyed the occasion immensely.

Birthday Party

A number of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Thos. McDowell Tuesday afternoon to celebrate her birthday anniversary. The afternoon was spent in visiting, and at a late hour refreshments were served.

Those present were Mrs. Jennie Plummer, Mrs. Jas. Emmett, Mrs. Wm. Freytag and Mrs. Schultz.

The house was decorated with witches, pumpkins, skeletons and other items to give a spooky effect. Much to the delight of the little folks. The afternoon was spent playing games, after which colorful and delicious refreshments were served.

Those present were Norma Hill, Dorothy Dammarell, Connie Skina, Patty McCreary, Gay Deobald, Jimmy Aiken, Donald Brown, DeLois Miller, Margaret Cook, Jeanne Flaig, Maurice Long and Noel Thomas.

INTERESTING NEWS NOTES FROM OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

High School News Notes

The screeching shriek of the siren—the roar of a motorcycle escort—the rattle, bang, bang, crash of a model T Ford—and you have met "Yours Truly Willie." Sides will ache, teeth will shake and the city will quake on November 6, when the Junior class presents a most rollicking success of the stage, "Yours Truly Willie." This truly modern drama of mirth and laughter interspersed with tense moments will surpass any comedy of modern times. Don't miss it!

The girls of the high school received an invitation to attend the "Roundup" given by the Pomeroy High school girls league on Saturday, November 2. However, due to lack of transportation facilities, Kendrick will not be represented.

The Sophomores entertained the Freshmen at a party given in the gym on Tuesday night of this week.

Several of the students are attending the "Passion Play" being given in Lewiston this week.

Margaret Daugherty visited school on Friday of last week.

The girls' basketball team, coached by Miss Hockaday, will have its first practice the first or second week in November. It is expected that quite a group of girls will turn out.

The Freshmen and sophomores agree that Miss Lennox is a good chaperon.

The general science class has been performing many interesting experiments. In a demonstration before the student body, Lawrence Kuykendall shot an ordinary tallow candle through an inch board.

Individual pictures of all students, both high school and grade, were taken on Wednesday of last week.

HawkShaw On Duty?

Signals—7, 11, 13—they're off. It's a smash through center. HawkShaw scores again.

"Believe it or not," Kendrick is honored to have in its school none other than Popovitch—the halfback from Calgary. * * * Who in the Jr. play's "Willie?" Flash—King and Grover promoted!!! Several of the Senior boys seem to have become very poetic of late. * * * It has been suggested that we have night school for Jean Fry, who always has trouble in getting to school before noon. * * * Even Billy Weyen seem to have been bitten by the love bug. Careful Billy! ! !

Students don't appreciate my column but ye old super-snooper is always on duty, HawkShaw?

Grade News

The first grade won the "dirty hand" contest and are going to be entertained by the second grade at a Hallowe'en party.

The sixth grade won the health contest and are going to give the fifth grade a party.

The seventh and eighth grade are studying elections, ballots, and various articles included in election in Civics.

Celebrates Birthday Anniversary

The home of Mrs. Frank May, a resident on American Ridge for the past 54 years, was the scene Sunday of a very pleasant birthday party when she invited in, a number of her old-time friends and relatives to help her celebrate her seventy-fourth birthday anniversary.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Archie May and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Warnie May and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter May and family, Leonard Wolff, Mrs. Sam Bigham, Mrs. Frank Roberts, Mrs. Merepeza Keene and Wade Keene.

There was a regular banquet served the visitors and the day was spent mostly in social conversation and talking over old times and it was indeed a very joyous occasion.

WHEAT LOWER; FEED GRAINS ABOUT STEADY

Domestic grain markets were unsettled during the week ended Oct. 25, with wheat weak and lower and most feed grains steady to firm, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Beneficial rains in the domestic winter wheat belt, improved prospects in the Argentina, continued dull world trade and liberal offerings of Russian grain were weakening influences in wheat and both futures and cash prices suffered further declines.

Rye was weaker with wheat, but losses were less with light receipts and an official announcement of the imposition of countervailing duties on Polish rye, strengthening influences. Corn was independently firm, influenced by light spot stocks and delayed marketings. Oats were barely steady with a steady inquiry for the moderate market receipts. Barley was about unchanged with a steady inquiry for malting types.

Domestic cash wheat markets were lower with futures. Marketings continued, to decrease but milling inquiry was not urgent because of the slow demand for flour. Stocks of wheat in the United States, outside of merchant mills, were about 25,000,000 bushels smaller at the first of October than a year ago, according to official estimates. Farm stocks October 1, this year, totaled approximately 10,000,000 bushels and market stocks about 80,000,000 bushels, giving a total in these positions of 440,000,000 bushels. A year ago, farm stocks were placed at 229,000,000 bushels, country mill and elevator stocks at 116,000,000 bushels and market stocks at 120,000,000 bushels, giving a total of 465,000,000 bushels. Later reports confirm the generally poor quality of the 1935 wheat crop.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets held steady to firm with moderate to light offerings from growers about sufficient to supply needs of local and nearby mixed feed manufacturers. The firm holding tendency of growers was the principal steadying influence in the market situation. No. 3 Bright Western barley was quoted at Portland October 24, at $1.17½ per 100, sacked basis. California feeding barley at Seattle was quoted at $1.20 per 100, and No. 2 bright Western at $1.22½ per 100 sacked basis.

Oats markets fluctuated with other grains with prices tending downward with the slack demand for current offerings. The firm holding tendency of growers in the Pacific Northwest was a strengthening market factor, and prices were firm to slightly higher. No. 2 white oats at Portland were quoted at $1.20—1.21½, per 100, and No. 2 gray oats at $1.25—1.27½, sacked basis. Cereal millers provided the principal outlet for the light offerings of gray oats suitable for milling. Heavy white oats from eastern Washington were quoted at Seattle at $1.27½ per 100.

FAIRVIEW ITEMS

Mr. Assmann was recently here looking after ranch interests. His home is in Portland, Oregon.

"It's a Small World"
While the title might not indicate it, the picture, "It's a Small World," is one of the funniest comedies it has ever been your pleasure to witness—and it will be shown at the Kendrick Theatre this coming Friday and Saturday nights.

Locale is the southern back country. Two autos crash. Naturally there is the expected flare-up of tempers and accusations of everything from just plain carelessness to murderous intent. The fiery socialite, Jane Dale, and the equally fiery young lawyer, Bill Shelvin, are towed into the one-horse town by Julius B. Clummerhorn. It turns out that Mr. Clummerhorn is the whole works—sheriff, judge, taxi driver, barber, game warden, hotel and garage owner and everything else that might produce a stray nickle.

In addition there will be a cartoon, serial and comedy—and you'll like all of them.

FIX RIDGE

EDITORIAL

WELL, FOLKS—Winter seems to be on us at last—and we may pay this year for the mild ones of the past three years—so better be thinking about that winter income—and an income is possible in the winter—from old bossy. Cream is on a steadily rising market and we are prepared to pay the cash—what could be fairer—you bring in the cream and take home the cash! Try it and be convinced for yourself that a winter income is possible—and a good one, too.

Mrs. Newlywed—"Have you any nice slumps this morning?"
Marvin Long—"Slumps? What's that?"
Mrs. Newlywed—"I don't know, but my husband is always talking about a slump in the market, so I thought I'd try one."

Lady (at nut counter) "Who attends to the nuts?"
F. B. Higley: "Be patient, I'll wait on you in a minute."

Jim Lyle—"When water becomes ice, what is the greatest change that takes place?"
Smart Student—"The greatest change is in the price!"
