HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

A statement by Senator Borah of Idaho, considered by some to be tantamount to an announcement that he would seek the republican presidential nomination, was given to newspapermen Friday in response to inquiries. Two Wisconsin republicans, after a series of conferences with the Idahoan, first announced that he had endorsed a proposal to elect a Borah-for-president delegation from that state to the 1936 republican convention. Asked about this, Borah replied: "I told them that whatever they did along that line I would stand in with them."

Amid predictions of speedy passage, the controversial problem of the soldiers' bonus has surged to the front among congressional leaders returning to the capital. Speaker Byrnes said the issue ought to be disposed of by February 1, but declined to forecast definitely it would be enacted over a veto. Almost before he finished speaking, however, Senator Byrnes (D., S. C.) left President Roosevelt's office with an unqualified assertion that the compromise bonus measure he and Senator Steiwer (R. Ore.) have introduced would override a veto. That bill, providing for financing through a federal bond issue, would give veterans 97 per cent of the face value of their adjusted service certificates and the full value if they held them two years.

Enraged possemen of this northern Montana city (Shelby), scanned the broken lands near the Canadian border Saturday for one of two gunmen who killed two peace officers in a street duel. From the air, from horseback and from speeding automobiles the search progressed after one of the gunmen was slain in his flight. Police chief Edward Tenbrook and Undersheriff J. Alton Alsup fell in the fatal exchange of shots with a man police identified as A. Hanson, of Custer county, an ex-convict. Hanson's dash into the ravined range ended when officers came upon his hiding place in the rough country south of Shelby. Deputy Sheriff Bert Turner, shot in the arm as Hanson opened fire, killed the fugitive with a bullet through the eye. Search for the second gunman, Sheriff John Maddock said, also would include a quest for friends of the slayers who "may have been involved in the robberies but not in the shootings."

Believed ready to "bolt" the Roosevelt administration, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York will be the chief speaker at Washington on January 25 at a dinner of the American Liberty League, it was announced. His speech has been timed to follow a political speech which President Roosevelt will deliver January 8 at the Jackson Day dinner of the Democrats. The outcome, it is believed, is almost certain to be a political debate between Roosevelt and Smith which may play a dominant part in the 1936 election. While the Liberty League is a nonpartisan organization, it has been waging unceasing warfare against what it describes as the "Socialistic and unconstitutional doctrines of the new deal." The result will be watched with interest.

In a daylight robbery two armed thugs Monday obtained approximately $9,000 in money and checks from Montgomery Ward & Co., (Spokane) employees who were going to a bank. The two robbers, who left a third robber at the wheel of a Pontiac sedan, crowded A. D. S. Myers, assistant manager and Special Officer L. H. Mell as they left the Trent avenue entrance to the store. Automatic pistols were held against the pair as they were forced to release their grip on the money satchels. Mell was reported to have been unarmed but Myers had a small gun, but had no chance to use it. Police believe some innocent bystanders might have been killed if there had been gunplay, they said. A license number was given police after the gunman's car raced south on Lincoln, but the plate proved to be of very small value as a clue as it is one stolen here last February. The department store reported the two money bags contained $1915 in currency, $360 in silver, $95 Canadian currency, $1517 in money orders, and $4834 in checks.

An unpretentious freighter was taking Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his family to a self-imposed exile abroad Monday night, because, friends said, of business and a growing apprehension over the safety of their three-year-old son, Jon. Close friends of Colonel Lindbergh at Englewood, N. J., where he lived with his family,

Christmas Tree Success

The annual community Christmas tree, sponsored by the Kendrick Commercial club, held Saturday night, Dec. 21, was a huge success.

A prayer and short talk by Rev. Poindexter, and the signing of two Christmas carols preceded the arrival of Santa Claus, who, because of the absence of snow, arrived via car. He and his assistants distributed 200 treats to the youngsters present.

The annual Christmas tree has come to be one of the institutions of the Potlatch section and is eagerly looked forward to by the youngsters and by the Commercial club as well, for it provides a way of saying "Thank You" to the people of this trade area.

INCOME TAX BLANKS BE MAILED OUT NEXT MONTH

Nearly 15,000 Idahoans will soon receive blanks on which to file federal income tax returns for the year ending December 31, 1935. The addressed envelopes containing the blanks are piled in huge stacks in the collector's office at Boise, ready to be released after January 1.

The chief departure from the 1934 requirements is that the 1935 returns must be in duplicate, the regular form being accompanied by a green sheet which must be an exact duplicate of the original in every detail except the affidavit, which is not required on the green sheet.

Income tax forms are being mailed only to those who filed 1934 returns, and all individuals and companies required to file for the first time this year must secure blanks from the Collector of Internal Revenue or his deputies. Failure to receive forms does not excuse a taxpayer who does not file a return.

Every unmarried individual who received a net income of $1,000 or more is required to file a federal return. And every married person, living with husband or wife, who received a net income of $2,500 or more must file.

Every individual who had a gross income of $5,000 or more must file a return regardless of the amount of net income. And every corporation or partnership must also file, whether or not it had any income.

Holiday Decorations

While Christmas, 1935, is a thing of the past, it is fitting that mention be made of some two or three of the more pronounced reminders of that joyous occasion.

Among the holiday decorations most noticeable is a beautiful star atop the Kendrick Rochdale elevator, made of vari-colored lights, which is very pretty indeed.

Another decoration worthy of mention is the large natural tree in front of the home of Dr. and Mrs. McKeever which is decorated with colored lights and makes a very pleasing sight.

Several of the stores have prettily decorated trees in their windows as well as other trimmings in keeping with the holiday season, and a very nice showing was made of the goods they carry.

White Favors Townsend Plan

Compton I. White, Idaho democratic representative in Congress, is on record in favor of the Townsend old age pension plan.

"I believe the principles of the Townsend plan are sound," Rep. White said at a Townsend club meeting in a rural community near Caldwell Dec. 19. "I am for the Townsend plan, win or lose."

"The plan not only provides a liberal allowance to the old people for their support," he said, "but goes farther and will compel a speeding up of business and money velocity which will be of great benefit to the people as a whole."

Christmas Day Quiet

Christmas Day was indeed quite orderly in Kendrick. Of course there were a few who naturally looked upon the flowing bowl and expressed their exuberance, but on the whole the day was what might be termed as "very quiet."

There were a few dinners, but on the most part only family gatherings, as at this time most people like to be left to their own thoughts and meditations.

Parents Of Son

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Magee of Cedar creek are the proud parents of a bouncing 9 pound baby boy, born Saturday, Dec. 21. Mother and babe are getting along nicely.

C. A. BETTS, SOUTHWICK PIONEER PASSES SUDDENLY

Cleo Alonson Betts, pioneer farmer of the Southwick section, passed away suddenly at his home at 2:20 p. m., Friday, December 20, 1935, after a lingering illness of three years.

Mr. Betts was born at Hillsdale, Michigan, February 11, 1887, and resided there until he came west in 1904. Two years later he returned to Michigan, and in the spring of 1907 the entire family moved to a timber ranch, 2½ miles east of Southwick.

At the age of 23, April 27, 1910, he was united in marriage to Miss Ola Lincoln, and to this happy union six children were born, all of whom survive him.

In 1925 he purchased a wheat ranch three miles west of Southwick, and was there engaged in farming when the Master called him home.

He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife and six children: Russell, Archie, Daniel, Odetta, Ray and the baby, Donna Jean; his mother, Mrs. Emma Betts; three brothers, Glen, Russell and Homer, and their families.

The funeral was held in the Southwick M. E. church Sunday at 11:00 a. m., Rev. Geo. F. Calvert of Juliaetta bringing the message to more than a crowded house of friends, who had come to pay their respect for the last time to the departed—one whom they had learned to love and respect. Song service was by a community choir.

Interment was made in the Southwick cemetery.

Friends from Peck, Nezperce, Spokene and Kendrick were present.

AAA PROGRAM INCREASES PORK, SAYS BENJAMIN

One of the major objectives of the adjustment administration's new corn-hog program is to balance the production of hogs with the market outlets for pork and pork products, says L. V. Benjamin, county agent.

The 1936-37 contract makes it necessary for a signer to raise at least 50 per cent of and not more than 100 per cent of his market hog base in 1936 if he is to receive the maximum hog adjustment payment of $1.25 per head for each hog in his base.

This provision will have an important four-fold effect, explains C. R. Wickard, chief of the Administration's corn-hog section: (1) It will give producers a greater total hog income than they would receive if hog numbers were held down to the present low level; (2) It will protect consumers from inadequate pork supplies; (3) It will tend to prevent further regional dislocation in hog production that would otherwise take place as an aftermath of the drought, and (4) It will help prevent over-expansion of hog numbers in 1937 and a subsequent return to distressingly low hog prices.

Though the new program is designed to provide for a 30 per cent increase in hog production in 1936 over that of 1935, the total U. S. production will still be about 20 per cent under the average number produced in 1932 and 1933. This increase in hog numbers will result in an increase in Federally inspected hog slaughter of from 7 to 9 million head in the 1936-1937 marketing year over the slaughter expected in the present year which began October 1, 1935.

"Hog production should be considerably larger than that of 1935 if the best interests of both producers and consumers are to be served," Mr. Wickard states. "In view of the present export possibilities, however, both groups would be harmed if production were permitted to return to the excessive levels of 1932 and 1933."

The amount of adjustment that contract signers will be asked to make in hog production in 1937 will be announced by the secretary before December 1, 1936, and will be determined by the outlook at that time. Cooperating producers are assured under the contract, however, that they will not be required to produce more than 60 per cent nor asked to make a downward adjustment of more than 25 per cent of the base hog numbers in 1937.

Shoe Machinery Sold

The Kendrick community got something of a jolt when a large truck appeared at the N. E. Walker Harness and Shoe Shop Friday morning and started loading the machinery of the shop. It was announced that G. F. Walker of Colton had purchased all the machinery and part of the stock, and was moving it to Colton.

N. E. Walker, however, has announced that while his plans at this time are rather indefinite, he will be at the old stand with a stock of harness and shoes.

N. E. Walker has been here for many years, and the harness and shoe repair shop taken as an institution of the section. It is with real regret that the community hears his decision to discontinue this repair work.

U. S. Next?

Possible death or imprisonment was threatened to farmers failing to observe nazi milk marketing regulations, says a Berlin news dispatch.

One peasant has been taken into protective custody already as a warning.

Producers withholding milk from the market, or selling milk whose butterfat is too low, were admonished through the official news bureau that this constitutes "treason against the peoples' nourishment and therefore, against the people of the fatherland." Punishment for treason may be decapitation or varying prison sentences.

Birthday Surprise Party

On Friday afternoon, Dec. 20, a few friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Gust Lukens in honor of Mrs. Ahl's seventy-third birthday anniversary. The party was a surprise for Mrs. Ahl, and small gifts were given her. After a time spent in visiting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Lukens and the guests left, wishing Mrs. Ahl many other happy birthdays.

Those present were Mrs. Anna Murphy, Mrs. Joe Davis, Mrs. Bigelow, Mrs. Elmer Fraser, Mrs. Nellie Slead, Mrs. Everett Fraser, Nina Slead, Ethel Fraser, Mrs. Ahl and Mrs. Lukens.

Wins Sporting Prize

Archie May was about town Friday showing a check for $35.00 he received from Jensen-Byrd Hardware Co., as a prize or the biggest black-tail buck deer killed in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Mr. May's big kill weighed 392 pounds. It was killed in the Sherman Saddle country on October 8, with Western ammunition. It was a five-pointer.

The hindquarters, when dressed, cut out at the third rib, weighed 100 pounds each.

Mr. May had the hard luck to ruin the head as a mount, having shot off one horn and half the lower jaw. A neck shot finally put the big buck down for the count.

UNCLE SAM RUNNING SHORT OF VAULT STORAGE SPACE

With government vaults rapidly filling with gold and silver, treasury officials were counting upon the completion of a huge buried strongbox in Kentucky to prevent any actual shortage of storage space.

A tremendous store of $10,103,000,000 worth of gold and $1,900,000,000 of silver is owned by the government.

For the present, officials said, there is enough, but not too much, room at the New York assay office and the Philadelphia mint, principal receiving point for the continuing hoard of imported gold and the treasury's purchase of silver.

There is a definite limit, however, they added, and if the present rate of accumulation continues, it might be reached within a few months. They are keeping close watch upon receipts and available storage room.

A consignment of silver received at Philadelphia last Friday was piled up and left in a courtyard under armed guard. Officials contended this was due to work that was in progress on the vaults and not to a complete exhaustion of space.

Some 50 million silver dollars were moved from Philadelphia to Washington a month ago to relieve the congestion at the mint. Their removal opened considerable space for new receipts.

Reconstruction Progressing

The installation of the new cold storage boxes at the Thomas Creamery is progressing in fine shape, although it will be quite a length of time before the boxes are ready for rent, Mr. Thomas even declining to set an approximate date. The new big boiler and steam system is in place, and coupled to it is a whistle of considerable volume, which is blown at 7:30 a. m., 12:00 noon, 1:00 p. m. and 5:00 p. m. each day. It rather puts Kendrick on the map, for it is really our first factory whistle. The machinery for the new cooling system is being set in place, the interior of the cold storage unit is under process of having the lock boxes installed and the installation of pipes will soon start, but it is impossible to predict an opening "for rent" date.

The remodeling of the Perryman Confectionery is progressing rapidly, the final plastering being completed, and kalsomining and painting are now under way, it being done in a cream and ivory color scheme, which should add greatly to the light, as well as enhancing the appearance. Tom Sturdevant and O. Lundstrom are in charge of the work.

The remodeling of the E. A. Deobald home under Carl Hartung is also making good progress, and it is indeed a very nice piece of construction work. Only a few finishing touches remain to be added.

Idaho Now Share Pensions

Aged Idahoans' pension prospects brightened and current predictions that the legislature would be called into session soon to enact social security measures were blasted Saturday by Attorney General Bert H. Miller in an opinion which upheld Governor Ross' "old age relief plan."

In substance, Mr. Miller ruled a plan designed to permit Idaho to share in the benefits of the federal social security plan, if and when it becomes operative, will not immediately require any new state laws.

Under the plan, Idaho residents over 65 years of age, whose incomes are inadequate, would be paid $30 monthly from state, county and federal funds. Benefits to the blind and for dependent children have not been determined in detail.

The federal law was passed by congress a year ago, shortly before an appropriation to make it operative failed because of a filibuster by the late Senator Huey P. Long.

GRAIN MARKETS WEAKER AFTER RECENT ADVANCE

Domestic grain markets reacted during the week ended December 20, from the previous week's sharp advance, influenced by slightly larger offerings and some slackening in demand, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Wheat declined sharply at most markets despite the firmness in European and southern hemisphere situations, with some increase in market receipts and dullness in flour trade a weakening influence.

While European and southern hemisphere wheat markets remained firm, influenced by prospects of sharply reduced supplies and the higher fixed minimum price in Argentina, north American markets lost a part of the previous week's sharp gain. Inquiry for Canadian wheat slackened and prices at Winnipeg declined about 1½¢ per bushel, with No. 2 Manitoba northern quoted Dec. 20 at 85½¢ and No. 3 Manitoba northern at 78¢ per bushel.

Domestic wheat markets were relatively weaker than Canadian markets, with fairly favorable prospects for winter wheat and larger pre-holiday marketings, weakening factors. Fall seedings of winter wheat in the U. S. were officially estimated Dec. 1 at 47,529,000 acres, an increase of 7 per cent over the 1934 fall seedings. The condition of the crop at the first of December was reported at 78.2 per cent of normal, compared with a ten-year average of 82.4 per cent and suggests a crop of about 530,000,000 bushels for harvest in 1936, compared with 433,447,000 bushels in 1935.

Prospects at the first of December were better than average in most of the soft winter wheat belt, but somewhat below average in the hard winter wheat areas, except in Kansas, where conditions were above average and materially better than during the past two seasons. Conditions are again considerably below average in southeastern sections of the hard winter wheat belt, and particularly poor in the Pacific Northwest, with prospects in Washington only about 55 per cent of normal. Revised figures place the 1935 wheat crop at 603,199,000 bushels, which with the carryover of July 1, of 151,954,000 bushels, gives a total supply of 755,153,000 bushels this season, compared with 783,130,000 bushels last year. Of the total production in 1935, approximately 198,000,000 bushels were hard red winter, 185,000,000 bushels soft red winter, 110,000,000 bushels hard red spring, 28,000,000 bushels durum, and 83,000,000 bushels white wheat.

Domestic cash wheat markets were relatively weaker than futures. Market receipts were somewhat larger as a result of pre-holiday sales by growers, while milling inquiry was slow, reflecting the dull flour demand prior to the inventory period and pending final court decision relative to the wheat processing tax. Receipts at the principal winter wheat markets were considerably larger than in recent weeks and totaled 946 cars. Mills and storage interests were the principal buyers at most markets. A feature of the Kansas City market was the increased proportion of low protein western wheat in the current arrivals, which reduced the average protein content of the week's intensions to only 11.95 per cent. Premiums for protein held steady. No. 2 hard winter, ordinary protein, was quoted at Kansas City Dec. 20, at $1.11. At Chicago No. 2 hard winter was quoted at $1.07 to $1.20 a decline of 2¢ to 5¢ per bushel from a week earlier. At Fort Worth No. 1 hard winter was quoted at $1.25 per bushel.

Soft winter wheat prices declined with hard winter, but current offerings were readily taken. No. 2 red winter was quoted at the close of the week at St. Louis at $1.07, at Chicago at $1.04 to $1.08 and at Kansas City at $1.06 per bushel.

Trading was slow in spring wheat areas, although current offerings were readily taken at steady premiums. Receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth amounted to 722 cars, with the arrivals at Minneapolis including 49 cars of winter wheat and 104 cars of durum.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets held independently firm, reflecting the less favorable new crop prospects in that area and lighter current offerings. Denver mills were offering $1.05 for No. 2 hard winter and the same price for No. 2 northern spring, FOB Colorado shipping points. Utah mills were offering 76¢

Shirley Temple At Theatre

All picture fans who have seen little Shirley Temple in her different roles will be more than pleased to learn that she will again be at the Kendrick Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights in "Now and Forever," one of her latest pictures.

The story, warm in its human qualities and appeal, deals with a reckless scapegrace, who brings his little daughter into his adventurous and erratic life. The climax is brought on by the theft of a jeweled necklace at the home of a wealthy woman in Paris, while Gary Cooper, Carole Lombard and Shirley Temple are guests. The child discovers that her daddy is the thief and is broken-hearted and inconsolable over her loss of faith in him.

There will also be the usual features and serial to complete the evening's entertainment.

Household Hints

A pinch of powdered sugar and another of cornstarch beaten in with the yolks of eggs will keep an omelet from collapsing.

Always make the knot in the end of the thread that leaves the spool first. This prevents kinking.

Because dough shrinks when baking never stretch pie crust dough to fit a pan.

A little baking soda in water in which hair brushes are washed will help cut out the dirt and grease.

A teaspoonful of ammonia added to a quart of water will remove all the grease and dirt from combs and brushes.

Cooking vegetables in their skins saves their flavor and food value.

STORY OF THE "LOST CANNON" OF LOLO PASS

The tale of a gun that was seen several times on the Lolo Pass Trail where Joseph made his famous retreat—and its mysterious disappearance—By Mrs. J. B. Helpman, Kendrick.

Sunken into the obscurity of a mountain fastness, bantered about again and again by the tongues of men, made a mystery by its origin and its disappearance, once more the tale of the lost cannon of the Lolo pass is revived.

Some say the cannon, which many swear to have seen, was left by Chief Joseph of the Nez Perces when he fled from the advancing troops of General Howard. Others believe it was Howard's.

And still others say it never existed. But harken to the story...

On July 5, 1907, Martin Thomas with his family, his wife and three children, Walter, Elsie and Harold, all of Kendrick, packed up their belongings and started out for a camping trip on the Lolo. With them they took two other men, seven saddle horses and 35 pack horses. They were gone four months, returning to Kendrick November 1 of the same year. One of the men who accompanied them has returned to his home in North Carolina and the other, from Genesee, is dead. Two wagons were taken 11 miles beyond Kooskia, where the road became so rough they left them and used the saddle and pack train exclusively.

When they reached Sherman Mountain, they discovered a cannon in a big rock slide by the side of the trail. This is the earliest report of the lost cannon.

It appeared as though a portion of the mountain had been broken loose. Sliding down the rough terrain, carrying with it the cannon and huge boulders. The cannon is described as having a broken wheel. It was estimated as being a six-inch bore.

From the description given this gun, it fits the appearance of one taken over the trail by Howard, and which is not at Fort Gibbon in Montana—its last resting place after the 1800 mile pursuit of Joseph.

The party saw the cannon both going and coming on their trip, it is said, and it was Harold, the youngest, who on the way back climbed from his horse and went to investigate the huge war instrument.

Walter Thomas, now band master of the Lewis and Clark high school in Spokane, and his sister Elsie, both say they remember seeing the cannon.

On a later trip over the Lolo trail, Harold Thomas says the cannon was hidden by two large trees, which had fallen across the slide. The remains of these trees are still seen, but the cannon is gone.

Martin Thomas, who died in 1930, made many trips over the trail with Harold, the story goes, but nothing is known of when the cannon vanished. In 1922, however, Thomas was accompanied by Charles Jessup of Julietta, and upon reaching the spot described above, said "Why Charlie, the cannon is gone!"

In this locality, cannon balls have been found. Also in the district near and on Bald Mountain. The camping site believed to have been selected by Howard is the top of this mountain, as the regular camp was too small to accommodate his many soldiers. The top is large and almost level. It would have been an ideal spot to withhold against an Indian attack.

Later Charlie Jessup camped with a large group of hunters in the vicinity. Here a cannon ball was found and brought into camp.

Al Roberts of American Ridge, now dead, and Dr. J. F. Moser of Lewiston declared they saw six cannon balls in one trip through the area.

Other oldtimers have advanced the theory that the cannon was one captured by Joseph during the Nez Perce uprising, that he attempted to take it along in the trip over the trail, but grew weary and discarded the heavy gun along the way.

Among those who have taken a great interest in searching for the elusive gun is Wade Keene, Kendrick, who was on its trail as early as 1919. At that time he did not know the exact place where the cannon had been seen, and was hampered by a dense fog that hung over the Bitterroot range.

In 1933, Keene made another trip. Along with him were Dr. and Mrs. Moser of Lewiston. Mrs. Moser made the trip in the interests of the D. A. R., with an eye to selecting sites for historical monuments. The cannon remained hidden.

Keene is determined to keep on with the search until the cannon is found. He now claims he knows a man who professes to know the whereabouts of the gun—or two guns, as he claims there is two and not one.

Een Uncle Sam has taken an interest in the search, and once addressed a letter to Keene telling him that the gun would be claimed by the government if found.

Many have resented this. They have feared the cannon would be removed from the west—where it belongs.

Two years ago Lieutenant Hughes and Mr. Erb of Lewiston were interviewing Mrs. Martin Thomas and Wade Keene in the quest.

In October, the president of the Idaho historical society, Mrs. Breasted of Boise, was here in search of information regarding the gun, and said she intends to have a search made also. And so in the wilderness of the Bitterroots the secret of the "lost cannon" is securely held for the present. What became of it may never be known.

But at least it has provided a subject for men to talk about.—Moscow News-Review

GRAIN MARKETS WEAKER
 AFTER RECENT ADVANCE

for No. 2 soft white, 95c for No. 2 northern spring and No. 2 hard winter, FOB Idaho-Utah common points.
 At Portland soft white and northern spring was quoted at 88½c;
 western white and western red at 87½c and hard winter at 89½c per bushel, basis No. 1, sacked. Market receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals dropped to 393 cars
 and were barely sufficient for current trading. Shipments of wheat and flour from Puget Sound and Columbia river ports July through November totaled approximately 14,000,000 bushels this season, compared with about 20,000,000 bushels during the same period last year. Rail shipments east during the same period amounted to about 12,000,000 bushels this season,
 with no figures available for the comparable period last year.

California markets strengthened slightly, influenced by unfavorable new crop prospects. Dry soil has delayed late plantings and reseeding of earlier plantings will be necessary in some sections. Milling inquiry was more active at San Francisco. Interest in feed wheat remained only moderate as a result of continued sharp competition from barley and grain sorghums.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were without new developments
 during the week and prices held unchanged, with the market tone steady.
 Trading and movement continued of limited volume, reflecting the slow demand from all classes of trade. Lack of selling pressure from growers was the principal strengthening factor and current offerings were only about sufficient for trade needs. Occasional cars of strictly choice malting barley
 moved to middlewestern markets,
 while local and nearby mixed feed manufacturers provided an outlet for occasional cars of barley suitable for feeding. Trade advices indicated a substantial movement of barley from surplus to deficit areas and a relatively heavy substitution of barley for other grains in livestock rations. On Dec.
 19, No. 2 bright western barley was quoted at Portland at $1.7½ per 100,
 sacked basis.

Oats markets displayed a firmer tone during the week, reflecting the upward trend in other grains and the moderate offerings. Pacific Northwestern growers displayed a firm holding tendency and prices advanced about 2½c for the week. Some inquiry from Atlantic coast markets
 was reported, but bids were around 5c per 100 under a working basis and no sales were reported. No. 2 white oats were quoted at Portland Dec.
 19, at $1.15 per 100, with mixed manufacturers taking occasional cars and
 No. 2 gray oats quoted at $1.20 per 100, sacked basis.

"Dunking"

"Dunking" is an American slang term used to describe the act of dipping food into coffee or other liquids.
 The habit is frowned on in polite society, yet everybody "dunks" to a certain degree—if not their food their conscience, especially in propositions pertaining to the public.

In congress, a senator or representative "dunks" his proposed law
 into partisanship and it soon tastes of politics more than anything else.

In business, big undertakings are for public benefit until the tariffs create profits to stockholders greater than benefits to the public.

In society, ambitious men and women dig themselves in the social swim and belong to this clique or that.

"Dunking" food, therefore, is not half so serious as "dunking" conscience.

Home A Place Of Danger

Much is said about the security of the home these days, but if the statistics on safety are taken into account, home is the most dangerous place. These statistics show that in 1934 one was just about as safe on the street, either afoot or in an automobile as he was in the home. Motor accidents accounted for 36,000 deaths
 last year while home injuries accounted for nearly as many, 34,500.

The cost of these accidents was in about the same proportion, except that the home injuries took a dollar toll greater than in industry or other walks of life where people are gainfully employed. Motor accidents cost the American public $640,000,000.
 Industrial accidents cost $600,000,000.

While motor accidents are slightly more productive of death than home injuries, the fact is cited that in many communities the reverse is the case.
 Figures of the Newark Safety Council, which showed 97 people killed as a result of home injuries in the city of Newark during 1934, while automobile accidents caused only 88 deaths.

Home accidents are shown to be the result of carelessness of one kind or another. Falls and burns account for the majority of home injuries.

Sleeping, about the only home activity that does not require light as an aid to seeing, also seems to be dangerous. A four-year record kept by the State Board of Health of Kansas showed that 39 per cent of injuries
 in the home were in the bedroom.
 Living rooms came second with 21 per cent.

Left Or Right, It's Still The Same

The comparative delights of munching a ham sandwich made from the left hind leg of a hog rather than from the right hind leg is before the AAA.

And with it the question, "should the farm administration teach hogs to shimmy with the right as well as the left side?"

To Claude Wickard, corn-hog section chief, came this poser, presented in mock solemnity by one of his aides,
 D. A. Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald attached an advertisement of a Baltimore establishment that "our special left ham sandwiches
 are better."

It "explained" that when a hog scratches his left side "he does a Charleston with his right foot," developing tough muscle, while when he "scratches his left flank he does a gentle shimmy against a tree or post."

"Dad," said the young son, "What is meant by the expression, 'The average man?'"

Dad: "An average man, my son,
 is one who isn't as good as his wife thought he was before marriage, and not so bad as she thinks he is afterward."

The duty on Canadian whiskey has been cut 50 per cent. And no doubt the Canadians will reciprocate by cutting the quality in the same degree

DENTAL SURGERY MAY BE MADE PAINLESS IN FACT

A literal meaning may soon be given that ominous dental admonition to "open wider, please; this isn't going to hurt—much."

Columbia university has announced
 discovery of a revolutionary and harmless pain-deadener by Dr. Leroy L.
 Hartman, professor of dentistry in the school of dental and oral surgery.

Medical claims attached to the new desensitizer state that it is expected to revolutionize the practice of dentistry by eliminating pain and that "drilly" feeling in the preparation and filling of tooth cavities.

The new desensitizer, perfected by Dr. Hartman after 20 years of research, is described as a solution applied to the surface of the tooth, not only preventing pain but also offering possibilities of saving teeth now doomed to be lost through extraction.

Although full details were withheld,
 Dr. Hartman said the desensitizing solution is based on a new theory of pain and the recognition of a previously unknown substance in the dentin
 of the tooth.

It becomes effective in about one and a half minutes after application.
 It remains effective from 20 minutes
 to an hour.

It is to be patented and patent rights assigned to Columbia university, which will control price and quality
 so as to make it available for public use and to prevent commercial exploitation.

Dr. Hartman said, deadening solutions
 cause no after-effects, as do certain other drugs, and that it is so simple to use the patient is not aware of its application.

According to old dental theories,
 Dr. Hartman said, deadening solutions
 were forced into tooth nerves, or attempts were made to block the nerve supply to the tooth.

Under his new theory, Dr. Hartman has succeeded in desensitizing the outer portion of the tooth, establishing a localized zone which reduces the sensations communicated to the nerves.

MOST MATCH MATERIAL FROM IDAHO FORESTS

Approximately 85 percent of the material used by the wooden match industry of the United States is produced in the Region One territory of the national forests, I. V. Anderson, Chief of Forest Products Division of the Northern Rocky Mountain Forest and Range Experiment station, announces after compilation of a lumber industry census.

Of the 356 million board feet of western (Idaho) white pine lumber produced in the Inland Empire for 1934, mainly from privately owned lands, 101 million feet or 28 percent was match plank, Mr. Anderson said. Only one-fifth of that white pine lumber output came from public, state or federal lands, generally the only timberlands at present assured of being kept in continuous timber production. The figure for the match industry was slightly higher than in 1933, when 98 million feet of match plank were produced. Production in 1935 is going up.

"Accepting the production for 1933 and 1934 as indicative of the normal requirements, the importance of perpetuating this source of raw material is apparent," Mr. Anderson said.

"Foresters are, however, concerned for the future of the white pine supply because 80 percent of the 1934 cut came from privately owned timberlands where, with few exceptions, continuous and satisfactory
 forest productivity of the cutover land is not assured.

"Labor, business and industry need continuity of this supply, else the American drama of migrating industry and ghost towns may be re-enacted. Perpetuity of supply is vital, also, to states, counties and other political units needing tax income with which to carry on.

"Employment conditions and their stability, after loggers and millmen
 have turned out the match plank, which is duly converted into matches by special processing establishments, are also a factor. After the timber is cut into lumber—termed match plank—it is taken to four Spokane match-block factories,
 maintained by the Diamond Match
 company, the Ohio Match company,
 the Federal Match company and W.
 W. Powell & Company, and to the White Pine Lumber company plant at Orofino. Many persons are employed in the processing of match blocks, most of which are then shipped to eastern cities for the final steps of conversion into matches.
 The Pacific Match company at Tacoma, Washington, takes a portion."

A New Brand Of "Liberty"

Two minstrels who drew from their guitars, music about "the downfall of the Soviet Union" and "the end of the world" as they wandered among collective farms in the Kiev district were sentenced to death in the Kiev Regional Court as counter-revolutionaries.
 Twenty-two others received prison
 terms of three to ten years.

And this is what liberty and freedom amount to in Russia!

God save this country from agitation and propoganda that would destroy our own constitution, limit freedom of speech and press and establish a brand of "liberty" where life, death
 and property are subject to the whims
 of a political dictatorship.

It was an arduous task for the teacher to drum into her youthful pupils the principles of arithmetic.

"Now listen," she said, "In order

 mean; Now, you couldn't take three

 so on. Do you understand?"

The majority seemed to grasp the idea. One perky little youngster in

 "Please, ma'am," he inquired, "couldn't you take three quarts of milk from

Church Presents Entertainments

A "Christmas cantata, 'The Star of the East,'" was presented Thursday evening at the Community church by the choir. It was a delightful and well prepared entertainment and it is only to be regretted that more people did not avail themselves of the opportunity to hear this splendid program.

On Sunday evening the Sunday school department presented their annual Christmas program to a well filled church, and the splendid presentation showed the hours of work put in by the teachers and youngsters.

Last week-end witnessed one of the heaviest losses of human life that has occurred over a week-end in a long time, there being 142 accidental deaths. P.-T. A. Meeting Held

The regular monthly P.-T. A. meeting was held Monday night, Dec. 16, at the school house with a fair attendance. Following reports by the various teachers on the work in progress throughout the school the matter of the rhythm band was taken up. This band consists of the first and second graders and a few of pre-school age. The P.-T. A. paid half the cost of instruments needed, the school the balance. Good progress is being made in this department it was stated.

Following the business session two songs were given by Supt. Lyle, M. C. Grover and J. R. King.

Following the songs the "Harmony Busters", consisting of Don Miller, H. B. Higley, Frank Homer Rider, Glenn Stevenson and Earl Hund gave several selection. All then adjourned to the Domestic Science room where Ed. Deobald and Wm. Watts served refreshments.

Mothers Observations

If mothers listened to all pleadings of the children, most of the cake batter would be left in the mixing bowl. The poet says, "He who laughs last, laughs best." but Bud says, "He who eats last, eats less."

Things discovered in the boy's pockets on wash days are something as interesting and puzzling as the objects found in King Tut's tomb.

A tragedy in mother's day meant losing a petticoat. In daughters day it means losing a vanity case.

Johnny goes over his face with the wash cloth like dad does over a rough road—just hitting the high spots.

Anyone can be a snob, but it takes a real character to mix successfully with folks.

We need neither friend nor umbrella when all is fair, but it gives such a comfortable feeling to know we have them in stormy weather.

The cat and the dog, sleeping in the same basket, are much more agreeable than two little brothers in a big bed.

The noise that comes from a baby with only two lungs is very low-toned compared to the noise from a nine tube radio.

Johnny wonders why sister's beau calls him "his little man," but calls sister "his baby."

Do your trading in Kendrick. It sells just as cheap.
