NO. 1

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Washington state's new parole act has driven many criminals to other localities and has materially reduced crime in Washington, State Parole Officer Garfield Davis said. Fear of certain punishment under provisions giving the state parole board power to fix minimum terms on the basis of the severity of the offense and the conduct and attitude of prison inmates has curtailed crime in some counties to the point where criminal court sessions will not be necessary this winter, Davis said. Persons arrested in other states for offenses committed in Washington fight against return, and in some cases prefer to take conviction for another offense outside the state rather than run the risk of punishment under Washington law. Davis also explained that more criminals are pleading guilty, realizing the parole board in fixing minimum terms, considers whether they stood trial, committed perjury or showed a desire to take their medicine.

William Henry Knight, ex-convict sought for four slayings was captured last Friday night by Butte officers who shot and fatally wounded him as he attempted to escape from his Butte hide-out. Officers, seeking Knight throughout southwestern Montana for two days, surprised the fugitive in a Butte residence where he had kept Mrs. James T. Gilligan and her two small children prisoners throughout the day. Tear gas forced him from the refuge and officers fired upon him as he attempted to escape through a window. Jack Dugan, assistant chief of police, shot Knight in the head just back of the ear. The former convict of Washington, California and Idaho was rushed to a hospital. He died about three hours later.

Legislators gathering for the session of congress opening Friday, Jan. 3, were notified by an organized business spokesman in emphatic terms that it would continue to oppose all measures having an NRA flavor. This word came as a formal statement from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. It served notice also that business leaders would fight any cash bonus bill and warned against heavy federal expenditures and any permanent neutrality measure "which might operate to take us toward war rather than away from it." The chamber hit at three "carry-over" bills introduced after the death of NRA. Listing the Walsh bill, which required that all business enterprises having government contracts abide by specified hours and wages; the O'Mahoney measure providing federal licenses for all interstate industries, and the Black 30-hour week proposal, it added: "The chamber is opposed to all these proposals as it is to all efforts to reenact mandatory provisions of the defunct NRA. It favors trade practice agreements voluntarily entered into and contends that the procedure will permit a program of labor relations fair alike to worker and employer."

Slot machine operation was on the decline Sunday throughout King county, as a result of the Post-Intelligencer's (Seattle) expose of the racket which is held directly responsible for the murder last month of Patrolmen Theodore E. Stevens and Trent A. Suckles, shot down by slot machine "hijackers." But the racket was still thriving almost everywhere else in the state. And it was pointed out, the statewide racket, with an annual "take" running into millions, cannot be stamped out without concentrated action by the state police as well as local law enforcement officers in every city and county. Syndicate operators who had called in their machines in King County were reported to be considering an increase in their activities in other sections of the country if there are continued prosecutions in Seattle.

Parents Of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Dresser are the proud parents of a 9-pound baby girl, born at their home on the school house hill Friday morning, Dec. 27. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Mr. Dresser is an employee of the Thomas Creamery.

Starts New Year Right

"The Leland division of the Potlatch Road District began the new year by working on the road—spreading the gravel recently put on and leveling the high places. Mr. Parks does not wait for the roads to become impassable—but works them at the right time.

Borah's Hat In Ring
W. E. Borah, Idaho's "lone wolf," has definitely decided to allow his name to be placed on the preferential primary election ticket in Ohio. Friends of the senator, state that he is gaining strength in midwestern and eastern states and that he is the one man who could be elected to the presidency. However, Big Jim Farley says he wouldn't get to first base, or words to that effect, which goes to show the difference of opinion, caused by political lines.

BEAN GROWERS MUST CUT 1936 ACREAGE

Bean producers over the country as a whole will need to cut acreage about 15 per cent under the 1935 acreage order to assure reasonably good prices, it is indicated in the 1936 outlook report. The 1935 acreage was 16 per cent above the five-year average and produced the largest bean crop on record. As a result of this large crop, the surplus to be carried over into competition with the 1936 crop may exceed 20 per cent of a normal year's supply.

Most of the increase in the 1935 crop occurred in Michigan, Colorado, and New Mexico, say university agricultural economists in analyzing the outlook. The Idaho crop of 1,344,000 bags was almost identical with last year's crop, and nearly 14 per cent below the average of recent years. Total production of Great Northern beans was somewhat above the 1934 production but substantially below the average crop. Carryover of this crop from last year shows an encouraging decrease from the carryover of the two previous years.

About Slash Burning

To acquaint Idaho farmers, particularly newcomers to the state, with proper slash burning practices, a program of educational work is contemplated for 1936, according to S. C. Clarke, University of Idaho, college of agriculture extension forester. Cooperating in this work will be the extension division, the state forestry department and the U. S. forest service. There are many newcomers to Idaho who may need to learn about the state's forestry laws and about slash burning to minimize the fire hazard, he explains.

State fire wardens who are anxious to assist farmers who have slash and stumps to burn, believe that more effective burning could be accomplished and that more burning could be allowed during the closed season if farmers would be careful in following correct burning practices so there would be little danger of fires running into neighboring private or public ground. With over 2800 man-caused fires in the nation in 1935, man still ranks as "forest enemy No. 1." Guilty parties were campers, recreationists, tourists and those who clear land.

Entertains Friends

Maxine Keene entertained a number of young folks in honor of her house guest, Miss Orene Hardman of Peck, Monday evening.

The evening was spent playing "bug", after which delicious refreshments were served. High score for the evening was awarded Ethel Cummings and low to Rowena Ramey. Miss Hardman was presented with a guest prize.

Those present were the Misses Orene Hardman, Allene Rider, Rowena Ramey, Jeanne Ramey, Margaret Daugherty, Kathryn Emery, Elma Jones, Ethel and Burneda Cummings and the hostess, Maxine Keene.

L. V. Benjamin Resigns

L. V. Benjamin, county agricultural agent, has resigned his position, the resignation to take effect January 15. It is with much regret that those who really know Mr. Benjamin will learn of his decision. He has made many friends throughout the county during his tenure of office by his willingness and desire to aid all who came under his scope. He was fair and accommodating to all.

He has received an appointment to the soil conservation service at Pullman, a recognition of his ability as an agricultural authority. He states that he will probably retain his residence in Moscow.

Let's Call Them Colonizers

Another reason why the League of Nations hesitates to strafe a predatory member is that, at one time or another, all of its principal members have been predatory.

School was dismissed for the day on New Year's Day.

The Sophomore class gave a very snappy entertainment for the benefit of the student body on Dec. 20. Afterwards the annual Christmas tree was held, candy and nuts distributed and the students dismissed for vacation.

Thomas Blevins visited school on Monday.

The girls' basketball team has no game scheduled as yet, but hope to have one soon. Their locker room has had a mirror, towel line, hangers, hooks for clothes and chairs installed. They have been promised more locker space.

The Tiger's Lair

(By Spool Pumpernickle)
The Kendrick High school Tigers continued their winning streak last week at the expense of Craigmont. The locals must have eaten a good mess of wild turkey over the holidays, for they turned on the heat and showed the boys from the hill they could play basketball as well as football. The game was very rough which no doubt hampered the caliber of ball each team is capable of playing.

Both teams scored evenly until the last few minutes of play. The half ended with 10-12 score in favor of Kendrick. The third quarter was very evenly matched, as was the first half of the final quarter. But when the going was toughest, that wild turkey took hold and the Tigers kicked over the dope bucket for 10 points, which put the game in the bag. Ramey scored 13 points for Kendrick while Thomason was high for the losers with six points.

Kendrick 30
Johnston 4.....F 5 Stone
Schoeffler 6.....F 2 Webb
Ramey 13.....F 3 Megeeny
Wallace 5.....G 5 Oylear
Hartung.....G 6 Thomason
Subs were: Hund (2) and Emery for Kendrick; Talklist and Houfman for Craigmont.

On Friday, January 3, Kendrick takes on Lapwai in the first conference game of the season. The game will be played at Lapwai.

HawkShaw On Duty

Well, here we are—back from a rest with some mighty powerful stuff. Looks like it will be hard to sleep for a few weeks with the glee clubs "hooping it up" for their big show in February.

The "noted" Tom Keene was so sleepy the night of the cantata that he couldn't hold up his head!!! Some people sure get riled up easily??? Flash—HawkShaw resolves to never throw mud during 1936. He hasn't yet, he never will. From now on it's pure stuff, so help me???

In closing, I wish to say that we have a "little Audrey" in our school. She went to Ethiopia to fight against the Italians. During the thick of the battle, a big bomb lit on her hand. She looked at it and just laughed and laughed, for she knew Italian balm was good for the hands. Well, see you in the funnies. Always your super-snooper—HawkShaw?

The Ladies Aid will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ben Cummings.

14,740 IDAHO UNEMPLOYABLES NOW ON RELIEF

Peter Cohn, assistant administrator of the Idaho cooperative agency for public relief, announced recently that approximately 14,740 persons are on the relief rolls of the organization.

The agency on Dec. 2 took up the unfinished work of the Idaho emergency relief administration.

Among the 14,740 persons are 200 Indians, Cohn said.

"These unemployables will be given financial assistance in so far as possible from a fund which will include $300,000 left over from the IERA administration, $100,000 monthly from the cities and counties," Cohn said.

The federal surplus commodity corporation, under the direction of W. W. Godfrey, will provide food.

The agency is responsible only for IERA "unemployables." The works progress administration is providing work at "sustenance" wages for "employables," who formerly were on IERA rolls.

Cohn warned today that claims against the IERA not yet presented to him for payment, must be turned in "within the next week."

"We have cut the administrative personnel to approximately 140 persons, and as soon as work in connection with their claims is taken care of, about Jan. 1, we hope to cut the staff to less than 100," Cohn said.

A report made by Frank P. Baird, director of the works progress administration emergency program, today showed that 5,000 persons are taking various correspondence courses available through the WPA setup.

The program offers courses in auto mechanics, elementary english, aeronautics, business law, journalism, practical photography, psychology, diesel engineering and other subjects. Each course includes 15 lessons. Only two courses may be taken at one time.

Five hundred youths today were working on national youth administration projects that will last until March 15, 1936.

The projects include recreational, community and farm activities as well as research in governmental and historical fields.

W. W. Godfrey, state director of the NYA, said the boys and girls received their work assignments yesterday.

SAFeway CHIEF LAUDS VALUE OF NEWSPAPER ADS

Newspaper advertising and its increasing value to the continued business and industrial development of the nation was emphasized at Oakland, Calif., Monday, in a statement made public by L. A. Warren, president of Safeway Stores, Inc.

Citing his own company as a barometer to indicate the attitude of business toward advertising, Warren declared that he considered the growth of Safeway stores and other chain systems but a reflection of the power of newspapers to build and retain public interest and public patronage.

"As far as Safeway is concerned," he continued, "our advertising has been predominantly newspaper advertising and I consider it an important factor in the growth of this company."

"It is through advertising that people come to know and understand the scope of any business concern's public service, and the commodities it offers for public consumption. In this new age of commerce and distribution, consistent advertising helps materially to create respect and confidence for those who use newspaper space."

"It seems only natural that those concerns using newspaper advertising uninterrupted year after year do retain the highest confidence of the public they serve. Their customers have found out that they can truthfully rely upon the advertised product, service and economy which so often feature the display copy."

Idaho Wheat Outlook

Idaho winter wheat growers report that seedings of this crop are about five per cent larger than last year, or about 583,000 acres, according to Richard C. Ross, Federal agricultural statistician. These increased plantings are indicated in spite of unfavorable dry conditions which existed over the winter wheat areas, particularly in northern Idaho prior to seeding time. In many of the northern Idaho sections growers were unable to plant all their intended acreage and in eastern counties where seeding was more nearly completed germination was delayed and the condition of the crop is below average.

For the state as a whole, condition of the crop on December 1 was reported at 75 per cent, which compares with 89 per cent at the same time a year ago, 72 per cent two years ago and the ten-year average of 87 per cent.

Regional Capitals?

President Roosevelt's closest advisors recommended splitting the country into ten or twelve administrative districts to make federal activities responsive to regional needs.

For each district they suggested a "little capital," with the future development of the nation's natural resources planned and conducted on a basis of the sections thus delineated.

Their proposals were contained in a report of regional planning prepared by the national resources committee, the membership which includes Secretaries Ickes, Wallace, Roper, Perkins and Dern, and Harry Hopkins, head the Works Progress Administration.

For "little capitals" they suggested Boston, New York City, Knoxville, Tenn., Atlanta, New Orleans, Chicago, Portland, Ore., San Francisco and Denver.

Sound-Proof Isolation

One of the reasons President Roosevelt crossed the continent was to find out what the people think about his administration. It would be interesting to know just how much the President, traveling in his private air conditioned car containing five bedrooms, dining room and observation platform, equipped with radio and finished in mahogany, learned from the people. That is rather sound-proof isolation as far as getting "the feel of the country."—Sioux Falls Argus-Leader.

GRAIN MARKETS SHOW BUT LITTLE CHANGE

Grain markets were seasonally dull during the week ended December 27, with a quiet holiday demand and relatively light offerings, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Aside from rather sharp fluctuations in December futures, incident to settlement of December contracts, prices of most grains were not materially changed. Cash wheat was slightly weaker, with slow milling inquiry reflecting a dull pre-inventory demand for flour and unwillingness of buyers to accumulate stocks pending final decision on the processing tax.

Corn was barely steady despite a material reduction in market receipts and some broadening in feeders demand as a result of colder weather. Oats were firm with relatively light offerings in slightly better request. Barley strengthened, particularly for the better malting types, with a more active inquiry from malsters and distributors.

Little change occurred in the general wheat market situation during the week. Southern hemisphere shipments dropped to 1,482,000 bushels and Black Sea shipments to 80,000 bushels, all of which were from Russia. Very little Argentine wheat has been offered in European markets since the establishment of the new minimum price which placed Argentine wheat above an export basis. The official estimate placed the Argentine crop at about 144,000,000 bushels, indicating an exportable surplus of only about 50,000,000 bushels to 60,000,000 bushels, compared with around 150,000,000 bushels shipped out during 1935. European buyers were turning more to Canadian wheat, which is in good supply and freely offered. The Canadian wheat board estimated that slightly over 290,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were still available for export at the middle of December. Weekly shipments from Canada have recently totaled around 3,000,000 bushels. Despite a good foreign inquiry for Canadian wheat, prices at Winnipeg declined slightly.

A feature of some importance in the domestic wheat situation was the announcement of the trade agreement between the United States and the Kingdom of the Netherlands, whereby The Netherlands government agreed to purchase annually from Richard C. Ross, Federal agricultural statistician. These increased plantings are indicated in spite of unfavorable dry conditions which existed over the winter wheat areas, particularly in northern Idaho prior to seeding time. In many of the northern Idaho sections growers were unable to plant all their intended acreage and in eastern counties where seeding was more nearly completed germination was delayed and the condition of the crop is below average.

For the state as a whole, condition of the crop on December 1 was reported at 75 per cent, which compares with 89 per cent at the same time a year ago, 72 per cent two years ago and the ten-year average of 87 per cent.

Domestic cash wheat markets were generally dull. Marketings were seasonally light, with only about 729 cars received at the winter wheat markets and 519 cars at Minneapolis and Duluth. Milling inquiry was only moderate as a result of the slow holiday demand for flour. Spring wheat offerings were supplemented by the withdrawal from bond, with payment of duty, of rather large quantities of Canadian wheat. Well over one-half of the inspections of spring wheat at Minneapolis graded sample due to light weight, with the weeks inspections averaging about 50.75 lbs. per bushel.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were slightly firmer than Eastern markets, but prices were not materially changed. Mills at Denver were bidding $1.05 per bushel for No. 2 hard winter, 15 per cent protein, and No. 2 northern spring FOB Colorado common points. Mills at Ogden were offering 76c for No. 2 soft white, 95c for No. 2 northern spring and No. 2 hard white, and 91c for No. 2 hard winter, FOB Utah and Idaho common points.

In the Portland market soft white and northern spring were quoted at 89c, western white and western red at 88c and hard winter at 90c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. Trading was only moderate, with receipts totaling only 454 cars at Puget sound and Columbia river terminals.

Tugwell "Surges Forward"
 Under-Commissar Tugwell is about to start his own private five-year plan, modeled on the most approved pattern of Czar Stalin.
 He is planning a "rural collectivist community."
 The guinea pig for this un-American experiment is a town in Nebraska with the 100 per cent American name of Ak-Sarben.
 He will "colonize" (a pure Russian term) farmsteads on the relief rolls on an 800-acre tract from which the Kulaks have no doubt been shooed away as backward Americans.
 The pastures will be declared as "communal." The community will be taught collectivist dairying. The herds will be "owned in common." The produce will be marketed by a community corporation.
 Will he import Russian overseers and other Communist Legrees to see that there is no backsliding into the old "horse-and-buggy competitive system?"
 It becomes more and more evident that, under this administration, what was once a constitutional democracy is being used as a laboratory for Communistic crackpots.—Seattle P.-I.

It used to mean a man was up-to-date if you said he was "city broke." Now it means that he is on government relief.

Spring-Like Weather
One doesn't have to go down to the "banana belt" to find spring-like weather—we have it right here in the canyon. One might close their eyes and imagine they were over on the coast, so near like it has the weather been here for the past several weeks. However, it would not be a good idea to get too optimistic for one can never tell just when the weather man is going to take a vacation and let the boys run things—and then look out!

HAROLD THOMAS, Editor

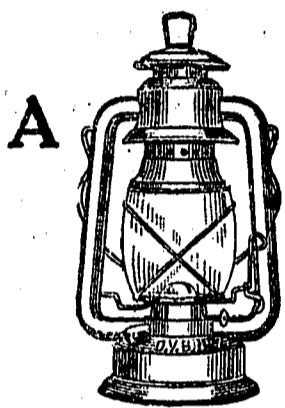

Hic—Hic—Wow what a headache! Owl Ouch! Where's that headache medicine? Where's the ice bag? Recognize the familiar situation following New Year's eve? Of course you do! But now that that's over, let's consider seriously your income for 1936. Ever think about it? Well, here's a suggestion for 1936—cash in on the cows. Get more money by feeding them better, caring for them better. The income to be derived from cream will more than pay you for the effort and give you a handsome profit besides. Just bring the cream to us and take home the cash.
