HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Washington—A dozen democratic senators were informed at a private conference with Harry L. Hopkins that almost as many persons are on the dole or work relief as a year ago. The relief population reached an all-time peak of more than 20,000,000 last January, and Hopkins was reported to have said that while there had been a "slight" improvement, the relief load was about the same now. About 1,000,000 "unemployable" heads of families, however, now are being supported by state and local governments rather than through federal relief. Secretary Morgenthau recently told the senate finance committee that possibly $2,000,000,000 would be asked by the administration for the next fiscal year's relief program.

Trenton, N. J.—Governor Harold G. Hoffman ordered the New Jersey state police to reopen their investigation of the kidnaping and slaying of the Lindbergh baby. The chief executive, who defied threats of impeachment two weeks ago after granting Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted murderer of the child, a 30-day reprieve which saved him from execution the night of January 17, told Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the state police, by letter that Hauptmann's fate is "almost the least important feature of this case. We cannot accept any solution that even by inference, is less than complete," he wrote, adding there is "abundant evidence that other persons participated in the crime." In support of his belief the governor attached to the letter a long statement setting forth what he called "incontrovertible proof" that others were involved.

Washington—Proposals for inquiry into the Townsend plan and those promoting it gained impetus in the house with the statement of a leader that "there is considerable sentiment in congress for an investigation." The spokesman was Chairman O'Connor (D., N. Y.) of the powerful rules committee, who added that the committee had agreed to an early hearing next week on the resolution by Representative Bell (D., Mo.) for congressional investigation of the $200 a month Townsend and other old age pension plans along such lines. Representative McGroarty, (D., Cal.) sponsor of the Townsend legislation in the house previously has said the movement is faced with a "hostile" congress and "antagonistic" house leadership.

A drive to enact at this session a new tax program aimed at increasing federal revenues by around $730,000,000 to offset farm relief and bonus costs, was declared in high administration quarters to be under consideration. Even as this word spread, however, an inflation movement apparently gained momentum in the house, emphasizing the possible difficulties of pressing new levies through congress in a campaign year. Details of the projected new revenue plan were lacking. President Roosevelt, nevertheless, put congress definitely, if indirectly, on notice that at least $500,000,000 in new taxes would be needed for the new farm program. His notice coincided with the projection of plans by senate leaders for action next week on the two-year soil-conservation subsidy bill to replace the AAA, and on huge appropriations to finance that program and the $2,249,000,000 soldier bonus.

Baton Rouge, La.—The widow of Sen. Huey P. Long was appointed to fill out his unexpired term in the United States senate, placing two women in the upper branch of congress for the first time in history. In a surprise move, Gov. James A. Noe announced the selection following upon a trip to New Orleans, where he conferred with state administration leaders. With the action, Mrs. Rose McConnell Long, 42, and mother of three children, will take her place in the senate along with Mrs. Hattie Caraway, whom the late Senator Long helped elect. Mrs. Long, quiet and amiable, who has lived a life apart from her late husband's political battles, commented briefly, "That's fine, that's very fine," when told of the appointment. As Senator Long's successor, Mrs. Long will carry with her to Washington legal possession of her husband's "share the wealth" program, title to which recently was vested in her with its details.

Given Surprise Supper

A group of Eastern Star members surprised the Masons, following lodge Thursday night, with a sumptuous supper, after which a general get-together was enjoyed.

Commercial Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club will be held in the Raby Hotel dining room Monday evening, February 13, at 6:30 o'clock. Plan to be three—as many items of interest will be brought before the club. Now is the time to have your say about them and to do your bit toward putting them over. Plan to come—be there at 6:30.

BORAH FORMALLY ENTERS RACE IN OHIO PRIMARIES

W. E. Borah, Idaho's senior U. S. senator, has finally announced his candidacy for the presidency of the United States and will enter the Ohio primaries. Some republicans are pleased, as are some of the democrats, while the old guard republicans are very much disappointed, fearing it will cause a split in the party—which, of course, is just what the democrats want—since they, too have a very large figure within their own ranks. It complicates matters a bit, to say the least.

The following declaration by Borah appeared in Wednesday morning's news dispatches:

Senator Borah of Idaho formally flung down the gauntlet to the republican organization late today by announcing he would campaign in Ohio for delegates pledged to his presidential nomination.

In formally declaring himself a candidate, the Idaho senator served notice he would seek to carry forward his announced intention of freeing the party from what he terms the domination of the old guard.

"After a thorough survey," he said in a statement, after conferring for hours with Ohio independent leaders, "I am convinced the people of the state should be given an opportunity to express their choice in the primary of May 12.

"Under the so-called 'favorite son' plan, this privilege is denied them. To obtain an expression of popular will, it is my intention to place at least eight candidates for delegates at large in this field."

"I shall make a number of speeches in Ohio and present the issues as I see them."

Later Borah said he would "enter delegates in the districts" as well as a state running "at large."

It was the first formal declaration of candidacy by an outstanding possibility for the republican nomination. It came after some doubts had been expressed that Borah would "follow through." It means he will directly oppose the plans of the regular party organization in Ohio.

His disinclination to seek a pledged delegation in Massachusetts had become known shortly before, raising questions whether his field was being narrowed rather than expanded. Explaining himself there, he wrote to Robert M. Washburn—president of the (T. R.) Roosevelt club of Boston—"I had not thought at any time that it would be a practical thing to do."

Although he also has indicated he would seek no delegates in Pennsylvania, it developed that this may not be final. He may do so in New York, but his friends believe that, in the main, his campaign will center in the west and midwest.

Notice To Radio Users

If you really love your radio—and most people do—you had better have a care or it may be forever ruined. What we mean is that if someone doesn't invent a sieve that will protect your radio from "political mud" there's going to be literally millions of fine machines ready for the discard by the time the campaign that is "brewing" is over. Already the flow of political "mud" has started and the coming campaign bids fair to out-do the one that was held when Grover Cleveland was first nominated and elected—which was so slimy that it was almost a blot on this nation of intelligent peoples. But the one in the offing, taking as an example what has already been said, bids fair to be a political quagmire and will undoubtedly make democrats of Jackson and Jefferson and the republicans of Lincoln and "T. R." feel ashamed of it all.

Rebekah's Entertain

The Rebekah Lodge entertained their children Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Silvie Cook was hostess. Games and contests were enjoyed until 6:30 when a dinner was served in the Banquet room. The children are already looking forward to another similar occasion.

TRAFFIC OFFICER'S DUTIES NOT ALL ON HIGHWAY

When your state traffic officer with his neatly pressed uniform, resplendent and ominous in its glistening buttons and displayed revolver, strides into a beauty parlor to tell little Mamie Jones that he has reason to believe she may not be qualified to work as a registered beauty operator, he probably feels just as out of place as he looks. D. W. Bliss of the Idaho traffic department confessed to editors of Idaho at their convention in Pocatello a few days ago. Highway traffic officers, of which there are just 21 in the state, have many, many duties besides arresting reckless drivers, and various other items of duty are as far removed from the title of their position as collection of beauty parlor operator licenses.

Mr. Bliss spoke at the invitation of the Idaho State Editorial association, which for the past few months has been carrying on a campaign to reduce highway accidents and plans to continue such efforts.

The problem of producing greater highway safety is divided into three subproblems—engineering, education and safety—Mr. Bliss explained. The difficulty thus far is that automotive engineering has far outstripped highway engineering. Highways must be improved to make the modern automobile safe for us. Wider rights-of-way that will afford parking for repairs and eliminate accidental plunges into barrow pits are a prime requirement, and Mr. Bliss expressed the opinion that these can be had readily through state construction if the counties and highway districts will but furnish the necessary land.

Education is needed to break down the public conceit that is one of the chief contributors to accidents, the traffic man said. The most courteous and refined gentleman in ordinary contacts is often the most discourteous and unyielding person you can imagine when he gets behind a steering wheel, Bliss pointed out. Drivers are rude to the point of murder. Much resultful education can be accomplished in the schools, the speaker pointed out, as he cited carefully worked-out patrol and trail system originated by one of the schools in Pocatello. Commercial considerations must be sidetracked in the interest of public safety sometimes, he stated. "Safety to children is worth more than arterial highways" to any town.

Getting into the problem of enforcing, it was emphasized that officers are overloaded with duties, and that there is too much politics mixed up in enforcement of laws generally. Immunity is too much sought. Mr. Bliss urged civil service and a merit system for the selection and retention of traffic law enforcers, adding they would then have greater respect from the public. He urged that prosecuting attorneys be employed by districts, as in the case of judges, rather than by counties, that their terms be four years and their selection be made on a non-partisan basis.

The days of the picturesque but rough-and-ready and sometimes inefficient policeman is over if the public will but demand it, Bliss asserted.

Machinery Arriving Now

It is now pretty certain that work will soon start on the Cedar creek highway as a large compressor belonging to the state arrived in Kendrick the latter part of last week. The big rock crusher has been repaired and will soon be put in place. A large gas shovel should be coming along most any day now, the trouble seeming to have been a mixup in shipping instructions by the state.

It has been announced that bids for the construction of some two and a half miles of the Arrow road would be called the 15th day of this month—and we're still listening for the "call." The original promise was for a road from Arrow to the county line—but due to "this and that" it has been scaled down to some two and a half miles.

Miller Denies Report

Attorney General Bert H. Miller denied reports that he will be a candidate for justice of the Idaho supreme court in the 1936 elections. He dropped a hint, however, that he may seek the democratic gubernatorial nomination in the August 11 primary by saying: "I haven't so stated—yet"

George A. Meffan, United States marshal, recently announced he would seek the democratic nomination for governor. W. P. Whitaker of Pocatello is also in the race for that office on the same ticket.

INTERESTING NEWS NOTES FROM OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A scholarship prize has been offered the Senior making the highest average during the second semester of this term by Wyckoff R. Smith. This will serve as a stimulus for the students to improve their scholarship. We are indeed grateful to Mr. Smith for his interest in creating this prize.

The attendance during the past week has been rather poor, due to a great deal of illness.

Radio station KWSC has invited the student body of this school to sponsor a program over that station. It is possible that the weekly programs will develop talent for this program.

On an average the students this semester seem to be doing much better work than at a corresponding time in the first semester.

The Tigers Lair

By Spool Pumpnickle
The Tigers' Lair was fairly quiet this week—there being only one occasion for a change from the routine. Boy and what a change! It was on Friday evening, the weather was cool, the game had started, Juliaetta vs. Kendrick. The whistle shrieked—so did the crowd—for Juliaetta had been called on a foul. And thus was the story—far, far into the night.

To be brief—the Tigerettes lost by a 24-13 score. The first half was even, but Juliaetta took charge of the second half and won easily. The Tigers evened the score by winning 24-10. It was a game marked by one big foul from beginning to end. The small gym making it practically impossible to do otherwise. Ramey led the locals with 15 points while Grayson was high for the opposition with 4 counts.

Hawkshaw On Duty

There's plenty of common interest in this week's human interest news. I tip my time-worn derby, to:

Woody's whistle-tooting—it was an excellent job under the circumstances * * * Grantham's hat—it sure can take it * * *. There have been many reports concerning a certain green Chevrolet's activities during the past week. What could said Chevy be doing down by the water tank at 12:30 a. m. (Sunday morning)?? and what's more—it was near 1 a. m. Monday before it returned home. Associate this with the time Hund came to school Monday!!! Too bad Schoefler is ineligible—Hawkshaw suggests you add another lady or two to your list. Might as well keep four (instead of three) guessing who is "IT."

You may be plenty cold, but Hawkshaw's always hot—on your trail. When the super-snooper gets his man—they stay "got."—Hawkshaw?

Grade Notes

The first and second grades are going to have a Valentine party on February 14.

The fifth and sixth grades are constructing a castle in history. The room has been divided into four classes and each one is writing a health play. They will be given on Friday. Also they are making health scrap books. The child with the best scrapbook will get the map "Land O' Health."

Engagement Announced

Miss Nona McAllister announced her engagement to Raleigh Smith, at a pretty tea at her home Sunday afternoon. The wedding date is set for March 14.

Mr. Smith, who is the son of Mrs. R. M. Smith of Leland, is employed as an electrician by the Morning mine in Mullan.

4-H Girls Entertained

Mrs. Wm. Mattoon, assisted by Mrs. Perry Mattoon, entertained the 4-H club girls Tuesday afternoon. The afternoon was spent playing games and singing songs. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon.

Ladies Entertain Husbands

The ladies of the Afternoon bridge club entertained their husbands at a dinner Monday evening at the R. L. Blewett home, with Mrs. R. L. Blewett, Mrs. Wm. Watts, Mrs. E. A. Deobald and Mrs. Edgar Long as hostesses.

Following a delicious 6:30 dinner, bridge was played at six tables, with Mrs. Ethel Emery high for the women and Harold Thomas high for the men.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas were invited guests.

CLAUDE STANTON BADLY HURT IN CAR CRASH

Word was received Monday from Naval authorities that Claude Stanton, a member of the U. S. marines, stationed at San Diego, was injured in an auto accident Sunday evening, near Los Angeles, while on his way to Seattle, when he received a fractured skull and other injuries.

His sister, Mrs. Harley Eichner, was in telephone communication Tuesday evening with Naval authorities at San Diego. They reported that Mr. Stanton is in a very critical condition. His wife left Wednesday morning by stage for San Diego. Mr. Stanton's mother, Mrs. Dottie Stanton is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harley Eichner, where she will await further news of her son's condition.

According to a Seattle paper, Mr. Eichner, who had been on duty at Honolulu, and was on his way to Seattle to join his wife, who is an office assistant at the Seattle Repertory playhouse, and who resides at the Mayfair Apartment hotel. Mrs. Stanton's brother, Glenn M. Woodward, is department manager for the J. G. Kennedy Lumber company at Seattle. Mr. Stanton would soon have been discharged from service in the marine corps.

Many Dogs Poisoned

Kendrick is again being visited by one of the worst epidemics of dog poisoning taking place here in many years—and woe to him who put out the poison should the wrathful owners prove their suspicions—and of course they have them.

The dogs of Jack Moran, Stanley Kuykendall, Harold Thomas, H. B. Thompson and Arthur Dawald are the fatalities reported—and now the promiscuous dispenser of poison has begun on the family cats—three fatalities having been reported to date.

The poisoning of the pets of another has, and always will be, in the eyes of the world at large—one of the lowest things of which a human is capable—and the law even considers it so—far, can it be proven on anyone—a heavy fine and a penitentiary sentence are provided. Appended below is a short sample of the work of a dog killer at Roseburg, Oregon: Feb. 1—Coroner H. C. Sterns said tonight an autopsy was unsuccessful in determining the cause of death of Donna Lou Masters, 4, who died in convulsions at a hospital here late yesterday. The attending physician declined to sign a death certificate for the child and turned the case over to the coroner after an examination led him to believe the fatality might have resulted from poison. Reports that a person has been throwing poisoned sandwiches in the streets in an attempt to kill dogs have been received frequently by officers here lately.

Pinole Resident Passes

Chris Wartenburg, 84-year-old Pinole resident, died Friday morning at his home here after a short illness. He was a native of Germany.

The deceased had been a carpenter during the past 20 years he had lived in Pinole.

Funeral services were held in the Wilson and Kratzer chapel Monday, February 3 at 3:30. Entombment was at Sunset Mausoleum, Richmond, Calif.

Mr. Wartenburg will be remembered by many residents of this section—he having come to Leland in 1897, homesteading what is now the Herman Meyer place. He left there in 1910, later returning for a time, but again going to California.

Returned To Work

Frank H. Rider returned to his work at the Long store Monday morning after having spent a few days at home suffering with rheumatism.

Mrs. Rider has been for almost a week, confined to her home with lumbago and a severe cold.

No wonder a hen gets discouraged at times. She never can find things just where she laid them.

MARKETS BARELY STEADY WITH TRADING LIGHT

Domestic grain markets were barely steady during the last week in January, despite smaller offerings as a result of severe wintry weather throughout the main grain belt, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Demand at terminal markets was dull although low temperatures with snow in some areas tended to increase feeding. Spring wheat markets maintained a firm tone for good milling grades, but winter wheat was barely steady with a rather indifferent milling inquiry. Oats and barley were steady with little change in prices. Malting barley continued in good request at firm premiums.

Little change occurred in the general wheat situation during the week. Southern hemisphere shipments remained small with only 651,000 bushels from Argentina and 2,348,000 from Australia. Takings of Canadian wheat were also below trade expectations, reflecting a continued slow demand from European buyers. Prices at Winnipeg declined around 1/8c per bushel, with No. 1 Manitoba northern quoted at the close of January at 84 1/4c.

The exceptionally small supplies remaining in the southern hemisphere are bringing prospects for the 1936 northern hemisphere harvest more prominently into the wheat situation. Preliminary data indicates about the same acreage as in 1935, but conditions on the other hand, appear less favorable than last season, although slightly above the average. The increase of 3,000,000 acres in the U. S. A. has been about offset by reductions in Europe and India. Estimates for important European countries, indicate a 1,200,000 acre increase in seedings.

Domestic cash wheat markets remained rather dull, with trading light. Spring wheat held steady with slightly increased premiums for higher type of wheat. Receipts decreased with only 427 cars at Minneapolis and 27 cars at Duluth. Offerings of bright colored amber durum were limited and demand was active. The advancing prices brought values in line with Canadian quotations and considerable quantities of Canadian durum were purchased for all-rail shipment to Minneapolis and interior country mills. At the close of the week ordinary protein amber durum was quoted at Minneapolis at 2c to 6c over the Duluth May price of 1.02 1/2c.

Winter wheat markets were barely steady despite reduced offerings. Receipts at the principal terminals totaled only 821 cars, compared with 1,132 the previous week. Milling inquiry was only moderate and premiums on cash grain were lowered at some points. At Chicago No. 2 hard winter was quoted at $1.11 to $1.18 with premiums on No. 1 about 2c higher and those on No. 3, 1c to 4c lower than a week ago. Local and interior mills were the principal buyers. Trading was light at St. Louis with severe temperatures holding down receipts.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were slightly weaker, reflecting a slackening demand from millers and other buyers. Millers at Denver lowered bids on No. 2 northern spring and No. 2 hard winter, to $1.04 per bushel. Mills at Ogden were bidding 78c for No. 2 soft white, 96c for No. 2 hard white and 92c for No. 2 hard winter, FOB Utah-Idaho common points.

The Portland market was quiet with prices down slightly from a week ago. Local mills were in the market for only occasional cars of special lots and business with eastern and central western points was lacking. California mills took occasional cars of high protein Montana wheat for rail shipments because of labor difficulties affecting water shipments. Marketings decreased with only 427 cars mostly representing deliveries on earlier sales, received at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals. At the close of the week 13 per cent protein, No. 1 hard white was quoted at Portland at $1.25, ordinary protein hard white at $1.22, with 12 per cent protein dark hard winter at $1.13, soft white, western white, western red and hard winter at 86 1/2c and northern spring at 87 1/2c per bushel, all basis No. 1 sacked. At Seattle western white, western red and hard winter were 86 1/2c.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets showed little change during the week. The light trading and movement reflected the slow demand for all classes of trade. Only three cars of barley were received at Portland

"TAD" LINCOLN ISSUED FIRST SCHOOL PAPER

Sixty-nine years ago last Christmas week thirteen-year-old Tad, son of President Lincoln, pulled from off a decrepit press Vol. 1, No. 1 of the Brown School Budget, the first school newspaper ever printed in Chicago.

This amusing document was on exhibit in the Lincoln hall of the Chicago Historical society during the Christmas vacation.

Edited with all the enthusiasm of youth under most happy conditions, journalism projects of grammar-grade children today often show remarkable ability, but in 1866 the editing of a school paper was a feat as yet unattempted.

But the young son of Abraham Lincoln and a fellow classmate published a holiday issue of their school news sheet which compares favorably with those of today. "Published occasionally" and "edited by S. P. and Tad," was written in the headlines. Evidently little Tad, with his slight impediment of speech, could write much better than he could talk.

The ambitious young editors started out by asking the indulgence of their readers, as "We make our bow, kind teachers and pleasant playmates, and present to you our 'Holiday Budget,' wishing you one and all a Merry Christmas and lots of them."

Quaint cartoons of the "editorial corps" are on the last page of the four-page paper. Their cylinder press was a second-hand one, formerly used at army headquarters. The editors—S. P. Rounds, Jr., and Thomas Lincoln—wrote of those presses: "Oh, if they could only talk, what stories could they tell!"

At the time of the printing of this paper Tad was living with his widowed mother and brother, Robert T. Lincoln, in a small cottage on West Washington street. The Brown school which he attended was about three-quarters of a mile west of them.

"Orchids To You"

"Orchids To You," which will be the feature film at the Kendrick Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights, is built around a florist's shop, in which the lady proprietor becomes entangled in financial and domestic difficulties. She engages an attorney who soon becomes infatuated with her (and of course he happens to be a married man)—and then things begin to happen. The story has much to do with human interest and is a repetition of many every-day happenings. John Boles, well known in the screen world, carries the leading male role.

There will be the usual features and the regular installment of the serial.

New Shoe Repair Shop

Kendrick again has a shoe repair shop, of which J. L. Hylton, formerly of Moscow, is the proprietor.

Mr. Hylton is a shoe repair man of many years experience and people of this community will be glad to learn that they can again have their shoes repaired in Kendrick. He will also do harness repair work. He is located in N. E. Walker's former place of business.

Mr. Hylton brought his family with him and they are now residents of Kendrick.

Presidential Inauguration Changed

Inauguration day for the president of the United States has been set forward from March 4 to January 20—so the next president of the United States, whoever he may be, will take the oath of office on Wednesday, January 20, 1937, at noon, to begin the 38th presidential term.

George Washington, first president, was sworn in on April 30, 1789. The first term lacked 59 days of the constitutional four years.

President Roosevelt's term, which will end Jan. 20 next year, will lack 43 days of the full four years. This is because the 20th amendment to the constitution, which went into effect Oct. 15, 1933, changes the inaugural date from March 4, in effect from Washington's second term, to Jan. 20.

Because of the earlier, mid-winter date, elaborate parades on inauguration day may become a thing of the past.

We ask for new business because we are capable of rendering the best banking service and accommodations, and because we offer that high measure of security that appeals to the prudent and conservative people of this community.

"This Bank is a Member of The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation."

That's Why

Did you ever hear the one about the little dog on Noah's ark who found a small leak in the hull of the boat, and the faithful little fellow stuck his nose in the hole to keep the intruding water from making it any bigger, and stuck on the job until Mrs. Noah happened along and relieved him by placing her foot over the hole. This probably accounts for the fact that a dog's nose is always cold. Mrs. Noah kept her foot over the hole until the faithful dog summoned Old Noah, who promptly relieved Mrs. Noah while she located the ships carpenter, and that probably accounts for the fact that a woman's feet are always cold. Old Noah sat down on the hole and kept the water from rushing in until the necessary repairs were finished—and that is probably the reason a man always stands with his back to the stove or fireplace.—Contributed.

Marriage Licenses On Up And Up

Dan Cupid did some record-breaking shooting in Idaho in 1935—there were 5,082 marriages to show for it.

Pearl Dillingham, state vital statistics bureau director said the number set an all-time mark.

The previous high was in 1934 when 4,964 marriages were recorded. This was three times the number reported in 1932 when the state "gin marriage" law was effective. The law, which required an elapse of three days between application and granting of marriage licenses, was enacted in 1931 and repealed two years later.

Another "Tall One"

The soviet academy of scientists have announced that insects and a small variety of lobsters born thousands of years ago have been revived and are pursuing a normal existence.

They were found buried 15 to 20 feet under the surface of a region of eternal frost in the Siberian peat fields, the statement said.

The statement was read to the all-union conference of scientists for the study of perpetual frosts.

Happy Graft

Rhubarb according to an oculist, is good for the eyes. They might try crossing it with grapefruit.

What Ails The Whistle
You have perhaps noticed at various times (since the Thomas Creamery has had a whistle atop the building) that it was sometimes hard to get the "blow" started. Some suggested that the thing might need a little grease to help it along—and several other suggestions have been made to try and get it to make a clean get-away at blowing.
We had no theory as to what might cause the squeek, but one morning, no tlong since, we saw Mr. Thomas atop the building chopping away with an axe, and later when we had an opportunity to talk with him, we asked what he might have been doing on top of the creamery so early in the morning. "Well, sir," he said, "I'll tell you. It was this way:
"You know, since the quite cold weather has been upon us, every time we tried to blow that whistle, it kept getting harder and harder to get a "blow" out of the thing, so I ups and goes on top to see what might be the trouble," and he says, says he: "the trouble was the boys had not pulled the whistle string hard enough and the steam began freezing before the "blow" could come out. And the steam kept piling up on top of the whistle until it was almost as tall as the flag pole down in the park and the only way we could get it down was to chop it off with an axe. And would you believe it! I got enough ice off the top of that whistle to run my entire cooling plant during the next summer and will have plenty to sell."
Of course we believed it, for we actually saw Mr. Thomas up there with his axe and ice saw getting ready to fell that ice tree on the roof. He said he would rather we would not mention it for fear some of the fellows that have been in the habit of telling tall tales might think he was trying to break into the Amnias club. "But I'm not," says he, "for it was the actual truth."—Believe it or not.

25 PER CENT PWA FUNDS GO FOR "WHITE COLLARS"
Approximately 75 per cent of the money for WPA projects in Idaho will be spent for physical improvements, the rest for "white collar" projects, a survey of the state's projects ready for operation Dec. 1 disclosed. Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, said 21 per cent of the $4,257,196 worth of projects selected Dec. 1 was allotted to provide work for women, white collar and other professional and technical unemployed. Idaho projects were classified as follows:
Highways, farm-to-market roads and streets, $1,676,797, or 39.4 per cent.
Public buildings, including school houses and governmental buildings, $385,373, or 9.1 per cent.
Flood control and other conservation measures, $747,262, or 17.6 per cent.
Parks and playgrounds, $281,913, or 6.6 per cent.
Water supply and sewage systems, $281,777, or 6.6 per cent.

Odd Things In Print
Another set of odd items which have actually gotten into print are going the rounds. Here are a few of them:
"His first venture into the antique field was in Asheville, N. C. There he met his wife."
"He is described as having brown hair, turning gray, and all his supper teeth are missing."
"Doctor Jones, formerly of Memphis, has completed a revival of the First Church here, during which tight members were received."
"A young woman wants washing and cleaning daily."
"Green colored girl wants work until after Christmas."
"While trimming a cottonwood tree Monday, Bill Smith suffered a severe blow on the head, when a large branch turned and struck him."
"Harry Taylor, school principal here, has a stone applejar that has been in the family for 109 years. Next year it will be 110 years old."
"Young lady—eighteen years old as beginner in respectable office or otherwise."

Fan Dancer Has Hard Luck
Down at Petersburg, Fla., the other night an unclothed—she appeared that way, anyway—fan dancer tripped across the stage behind a six foot practically transparent balloon.
Little Alfred, aged 10; (who bet a pal 25c he would do it), pulled back with a rubber band and let fly with a ball of tinfoil.
Bang went the balloon. Away went the dancer, fleeing to the wings.
Oh! Oh! and also, ah! breathed the audience.
An usher grabbed Alfred and took him to the manager's office. Later the dancer obtained a spare balloon and continued but the manager said the effect of the dance had been ruined utterly.
Meanwhile Alfred's parent was summoned and told the balloon cost $28. Thereupon he marched Alfred home to get what good parents give all naughty little boys.

Invents Dunkable "Sinkers"
That the doughnut is basically a dunking food and should therefore be built accordingly, is the contention of Jack Cook, the Edison of Byron, Calif.
The conventional doughnut is only about 8 per cent dunkable, with an average of 17 dunks needed for anything like proper permeation, says Cook. Research shows that the last dunk finds the dunker with an uncontrollable gob that drips coffee on the vest.
So Cook has devised an ultra modern streamlined doughnut that requires only four dunks. "The final dunk can be accomplished without wearing a bib," says Cook.
The doughnut is shaped like a four-blade propeller.

Swallows Lighted Cigar
"Burned lips or what happened to the cigar" might have been the title to the scene in the anteroom of a medical clinic at Yakima recently, as dozen or more persons injured in a bus accident waited to be treated by the doctor.
"Where are you hurt?" a woman asked A. L. Sallsberg of Prosser.
"I was bruised a little and burned," he replied.
"Burned," the woman said unbelievably, "how were you burned, there wasn't any fire?"
"I was smoking a cigar when the crash came, and I swallowed it," Sallsberg said.
"My goodness," exclaimed the woman, "are you sure?"
"Well, not exactly," said Sallsberg, "but I must have, I haven't been able to find it since."

Rude Question
First Doctor—Why so sad?
Second Doctor—I have lost a patient with typhoid.
First Doctor—And what were you treating him for?

MARKETS BARELY STEADY WITH TRADING LIGHT
during the week and occasional cars moving to mixed feed manufacturers provided about the only market outlet. No. 2 bright western barley was quoted at Portland on January 30, at $1.15 per 100, sacked basis.
Oats markets were independently firmer as moderate offerings moved readily at prevailing price levels. Pacific Northwestern markets were quiet but prices held steady. Mixed feed manufacturers provided the principal outlet for white oats with No. 2 white oats quoted at Portland on January 30, at $1.12 per 100, while cereal mill interests absorbed the light offerings of gray oats, with No. 2 gray oats quoted at $1.15 per 100, sacked basis.
Stocks of wheat in Idaho mills, elevators and warehouses on January 1, 1936, were estimated to be 7,800,000 bushels. This amount is equivalent to about 39 per cent of the 1935 production of 20,158,000 bushels. Farm stocks on January 1 this year (excluding wheat owned by farmers, but being held in warehouses and elevators) were estimated at 4,233,000 bushels, compared with 3,522,000 bushels on January 1, 1935 and 8,401,000 bushels, the average for the five years 1928 through 1932. Thus, combined farm and warehouse stocks are indicated to be 12,033,000 bushels, or nearly 9 per cent larger than a year ago when combined stocks of 11,052,000 bushels were indicated.
Farm stocks of both corn and oats are indicated to be much greater than at this time in either average or last year. Farm holdings of oats are estimated at 3,204,000 bushels, compared with 1,975,000 bushels at this time a year ago and with 2,737,000 bushels the average for 1928-1932.

Spending

History does repeat itself. In one year the Emperor Caligula wasted and squandered the whole of that magnificent treasure chest, amounting to some 2,700 millions of sesterces that Tiberius had laboriously acquired. That was a great year in Rome. Old houses were demolished and new ones built. The accent was on public works, which happened to be new palaces for the government. Mountains were leveled and marshes were drained. Doles in coin were tossed to the mob in the streets. The pleasure interest—theater and games—was subsidized. Wheat poured in from abroad. It was a "new era" and older men who said "these things can not be," were stopped on the highways and derided. On with the dance!

Then the funds ran out. "Look to the tax authority," said Caligula, and he proceeded, under the guise of law, to confiscate the property of poor and rich alike. He instituted sales taxes. He put a toll on prostitution. He coerced men into making him their heir and then denounced their selfishness if they did not commit suicide to make good the commitment. Rome began to understand what it meant to pay.

Grangeville Fighting Cut-Off?

The Grangeville Commercial club has sent out a protest against the proposed Cottonwood-Whitebird cut-off of the North and South highway, thereby eliminating Grangeville from the through state highway.

Recently the WPA allocated some $1,242,000 for the building of the proposed cut-off. This would throw in the discard the entire Whitebird hill, so far as the highway is concerned and Grangeville is up in arms over it. And can you blame them? As we have said before: That amount of money would build many miles of good farm-to-market roads—something that is really needed.

Seven Inches Snow

The Potlatch canyon on Wednesday had seven inches of snow and in other sections it measured as much as four and five feet in depth. However, the weather moderated and Thursday morning it was in a fair way to give us some warm weather—and we are watching the old Potlatch with a weather eye.
