HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Washington — President Roosevelt has uncovered a proposal for an extraordinary inter-American conference, encompassing the 20 Central and South American governments and aimed "at permanent peace in this western hemisphere." In almost identical personal letters to the presidents of the various republics, the chief executive suggested that the parley be held at Buenos Aires, Argentina, at an early date. The cause of peace in the new world, he said, is a matter of "vital concern." "These steps, furthermore," he said, "would advance the cause of world peace, inasmuch as the agreements which might be reached would supplement and reinforce the efforts of the League of Nations and of all other existing or future peace agencies in seeking to prevent war."

Trenton, N. J.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, who saw two death dates pass, faced another Saturday as he awaited an interview with the lawyer who broke his social calm. Saved the first time by appeal and the second time a 30-day reprieve from Gov. Harold G. Hoffman. Hauptmann's only hope of escaping the third appeared to lie in any new information throwing additional light on the case. The reprieve expired at midnight. Leibowitz, who said Hauptmann "broke down and cried like a baby" in their "very satisfactory" interview Thursday, will be in a position to tell the prisoner that with his reprieve gone his only hope of escaping the chair is to tell "the truth." State attorneys plan to lose no time in seeking a new death date. Wilentz's aides will ask Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard early in the week to fix a new date of death, which will fall between March 23 and April 18.

Washington—Plowing under bipartisan opposition by an almost three-to-one margin, administrative forces won senate passage of the $500,000,000 soil conservation-subsidy brand of crop control. The bill now goes to the house. The senate vote, climaxing 11 days of debate during which the measure's constitutionality was challenged and defended, was 56 to 20. Forty-nine democrats, five republicans the farmer-laborite Benson and the progressive LaFollette, voted for the bill. Nine democrats and 11 republicans opposed it. Just before the last roll call, a motion by Senator McNary, the republican leader, to send the bill back to committee with instructions to report out a new proposal in three weeks, was rejected 54 to 21. McNary contended the bill was "unworkable and unconstitutional" and he predicted after the senate quit for the day that some state would challenge it in the courts. Supporters argued it was constitutional under the supreme court's interpretation of congress' appropriating authority in its decision killing the AAA which the soil bill is intended to replace.

Washington—After months of drifting, maneuvers in both major parties have at last entered channels that may influence the presidential campaign itself. The situation in Ohio, where some members of the republican organization have been wavering over how to thwart Senator Borah of Idaho, is the center of interest. Borah, himself implied that no question of a walkout on the party was in mind, as "I expect to be the nominee of the party myself." His statement was in connection with a letter from the Illinois republican state committee asking that he pledge his loyalty to the party.

Spokane, Wash.—The third annual Pacific northwest regional planning conference adjourned its comprehensive three-day session Saturday after recommending a "well defined nationwide land policy to bring about the greatest possible use of the land and water resources of the United States." Boise, Idaho, was selected for the 1937 conference. Five hundred attended the session. The conference adopted the resolution of the program and policies committee, stating "there can be no prosperity if we destroy or continually neglect the land. We need a national land policy recognizing each section of the country is entitled to a developed agriculture within which reclamation may take its proper place as part of a great nationwide development and conservation enterprise."

It Could Happen

"Waiter, I ordered an egg sandwich and you brought me a chicken sandwich."

"Sorry, sir. I was a little late with your order."

On The Job

L. J. Herres, better known as "Louie," is again on the job at the Red Cross Pharmacy, having returned from his home at Orofino Sunday, where he went about a week previous owing to a severe cold.

Louie's many friends in this section will be pleased to learn that he will in the future again be a "permanent fixture" at the Red Cross Pharmacy, where he served this community for so many years and where he will continue to dish out the necessary materials for the relief of sundry ailments.

FOUNDER OF "PSYCHIANA" INDICTED FOR FRAUD

Boise, Idaho—Frank Griffin, assistant United States district attorney, said Saturday a federal grand jury indictment charging Frank G. Robinson, Moscow publisher and founder of "Psychiana" will come up for disposition during the May term of federal district court in Moscow.

In a secret indictment voted by the grand jury, Robinson was charged with falsification of statements in obtaining a passport to England.

"He was born at Warwickshire, England and took an oath that he was born in New York," Griffin said. Falsification of statements was charged in three separate counts.

If convicted of all three the maximum penalty would be $5,000 fine and not more than 12 years in prison.

A bench warrant was issued by Judge C. C. Cavanah and was sent to Graham Haley, United States deputy commissioner at Coeur d'Alene, for service, Griffin said, but no return has been made on it yet.

The amount of bond was fixed by Judge Cavanah at $1,250, but has not yet been posted, Griffin said.

Two Moscow men, whose names were not divulged, signed a property bond before Edward Poulton, an attorney and notary public. Usually Poulton explained, the bond would be arranged through a United States commissioner, but there is no such officer here.

Please Feed The Birds

Marvin Long, as chairman of the Fish and Game committee of the Kendrick Commercial club, in behalf of the club, asks all sportsmen and farmers of this section, or of any section for that matter—to please feed the birds. Hundreds of game birds, especially quail, on which no open season is allowed in this county, are perishing from cold and hunger, more from hunger than cold, since a well-fed bird can nearly always keep warm, says Mr. Long, and asks that all help feed them.

Chinks, huns and natives are also reported as starving and freezing, and it is only the act of a good samaritan to feed them. They can't help it—nor can they help being what they are—game birds. So please feed them. The Kendrick Commercial club has put out many bundles of grain hay and sacks of cracked wheat and screenings—and more will be put out, but they can't do it alone—won't you help?

TVA Upheld By Supreme Court

Washington—The Roosevelt administration won the Tennessee valley dispute in the supreme court. An opinion by Chief Justice Hughes, from which Justice McReynolds alone dissented, held: The government may build dams for constitutional purposes. It may sell electricity generated by such dams. It may take steps to carry that electricity to market. Constitutionality of the vast TVA project as a whole was not involved. The court limited its ruling to the above-mentioned issues. New dealers hailed the decision. Citizens of Florence, Ala., danced in the streets. Power interests declined immediate comment. Stock market trades guessed wrong with utility prices dropping after an initial rise in a 4,900,000 share day.

Winter Still With Us

Winter, which swooped down on us so suddenly some two or more weeks ago, is still with us, but with a lessening of severe cold. The mercury raised to about 12 degrees above zero during Tuesday night, the warmest night since the severe cold started. The coldest point reached on school-house hill was 14 below zero, although thermometers along Main street registered as much as 20 below.

We still have plenty of snow, and a little more fell Tuesday and Tuesday night, but not enough to make any appreciable difference.

The Tigers' Lair

By Spool Pumpnickle

Representatives of the six schools of the Valley district met at Lewiston on Saturday and conceded the Kendrick Tigers first place in this conference. The other five schools will play a sub-district tournament at Lewiston on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 27-28 and 29 to determine who will get second place. That team, along with the Tigers, will represent this conference in the district tournament at Lewiston on March 4th to 7th.

The games with Juliaetta were postponed due to a misunderstanding with Genesee. The boys went to Genesee to play on Friday night. The game with Juliaetta will be played at a later date.

The game at Genesee was another in the series of wins for Kendrick. The Tigers led at the half 16-17, then turned on the heat to gain a 10-point lead, which was cut down in the closing minutes by Genesee to six points. The game ended 31-25 in favor of Kendrick. Ramey was high point man for the Tigers with 17; Armstrong for Genesee with 15.

Wednesday night the Tigers played the Lewiston Bengals at Lewiston.

Hawkshaw On Duty

Each morning, when we step inside the door, we issue a sigh of relief—"At least, the building is warm." Or if the building don't seem to be quite up to standard warmth, "Why the heck don't they get some heat?" But we never once take into consideration the fellow who opens those furnace doors dozens of times each day and stokes the fire box. Nor do we consider the fellow who stays all night in order that the rooms be warm by 8:10 a. m.—Hawkshaw, his snooper, and the entire student body salute J. H. Emery—better known as Hank—who takes the blame, gets all the knocks and receives little praise.

Ho, hum, but it's sleepy around here. Why don't "youse guys do something?" Well, the Senior play is coming soon, and the super-snooper will be there.—Hawkshaw?

Grade Notes

The first and second grade have been dramatizing the story of the "Three Billy Goat Gruffs." They have also made a frieze of it.

The seventh and eighth grades surprised Mr. Dawald with a peanut shower last Thursday afternoon.

Each room had a Valentine Box last Friday afternoon. Mr. Emery presented the children of each room with a large bag of candy as his valentine.

Entertain At Bridge

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald was the scene of a delightful bridge party Tuesday night, when five tables were in play. High scores were awarded to Mrs. F. B. Higley and Dr. D. A. Christensen. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess after play.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Blewett, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mrs. Ullie Hardman, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rider, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Higley, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Watts and Mr. and Mrs. Wade T. Keene.

Lambs Freezing To Death

Fred Magee of Cedar Creek, states that he is losing many new-born lambs—the bitter cold proving too much for them. Several pigs have also been reported lost by the freezing weather.

TWO DEATHS RESULT OF COLD AND ICY HIGHWAY

Mead Maynard, 17, son of R. O. Maynard, ranching 20 miles southeast of Orofino in a sparsely settled part of Clearwater county, was found frozen to death Friday morning by Orland Lewis, carrying mail between Greer and Headquarters. The body was found lying in a ditch alongside the highway in more than three feet of snow, with sub-zero temperatures prevailing. Coroner Wayne Herres said the youth succumbed Thursday night.

Maynard's home was near the top of the Greer hill. He was working at a mine on Lolo creek about six miles away and had gone there Thursday morning. His father believed he would remain at the mine for the night and on this account felt no concern.

Men at the mine said that Maynard set out to walk home in the afternoon. The route he traversed was deep with snow and the weather biting cold. The youth negotiated about five miles of the trip and then apparently was overcome when within about a mile of his home. His tracks could be seen in the snow where he stumbled in his steps until overcome by exhaustion. He was within a comparatively few feet of the main traveled road when overcome. Lewis notified the victim's father and the body was taken to Orofino.

Orofino Girl Killed In Crash

Bernice Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thomas of Orofino, sustained two broken legs and internal injuries when a sled being drawn by a team of horses was struck by a car driven by Kenneth Kouni about 9:30 Sunday evening near the Orofino golf course and airport. Eight other occupants of the sled were shaken and bruised, but none was severely injured.

Miss Thomas, a telephone operator, was taken to the Orofino hospital where her condition was described as serious.

The sled was demolished by the impact and the occupants thrown into the snow at the side of the road. Kouni stated that he had seen the horses only when he came within a short distance of them and had attempted a quick turn which caused the car to skid. It turned around in the road and struck the back end of the sled on which Miss Thomas was riding. The team ran away after the accident.

Miss Thomas died Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock as a result of her injuries.

Both Drivers Held

Members of the coroner's jury summoned to investigate the death of Miss Beatrice Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thomas, Tuesday afternoon rendered a verdict that death was caused "through criminal negligence on the part of Kenneth Kouni, driver of the car that struck the sled and contributory negligence of Francis Blake, driver of the team pulling the sled, due to his not having his vehicle equipped with the necessary lights while operating on a state highway."

Coroner Wayne Herres presided at the inquest.

Kouni, driver of the car, was painfully injured in the smash, several gashes being cut in his head. He ran three-quarters of a mile to town to summon aid for the injured, and is now confined to bed at his home. He is an automobile salesman and is married.

Ziemann Store Be Rebuilt

According to word received from Dan Ziemann, the Ziemann store, which was recently destroyed by fire, will be rebuilt as soon as weather conditions will permit. In the meantime temporary quarters have been established in the Community Ladies Aid hall, where sufficient stock will be carried to meet immediate needs.

Entertained Bridge Club

The Double-Eight Bridge club met Friday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Christensen, with four tables in play. High honors were awarded Mrs. F. B. Higley, and H. B. Thompson, while low went to Mrs. Helen Boyd and Lester Crocker. Mrs. W. A. Watts was an invited guest.

WPA Dynamite Received

Those in charge of the WPA project on Cedar creek on Tuesday received 6750 pounds of dynamite for use on the project, which is another indication that the actual starting of work is not far ahead. Arrival of a shovel is what seems to be holding up the work at this time.

Gave Valentine Party

Mrs. Rose Farrington entertained a number of young people Friday afternoon at a Valentine party in honor of her son, Lloyd's, 14th birthday anniversary. Games were played and refreshments served.

Those present were Paula McKeever, Lois Deobald, Marybelle and Clara Mattoon, Arlene and Annabel Deobald, Lida Jane Carroll, Betty Kuykendall, Evelyn Farrington, Jimmy Boyd, Bobby Waits, Kenneth Wolff, Wallace Fraser, John Thompson, Billy Deobald, and the honoree, Lloyd Farrington.

IDAHO REPUBLICANS ENDORSE W. E. BORAH

Six hundred republicans at a Lincoln day banquet held at Boise last week shouted approval of a resolution pledging unanimous approval of Senator William E. Borah in his campaign for the presidential nomination.

"We offer," the resolution read, "Senator Borah to the nation: "As the foremost statesman of the time.

"As an opponent of monopoly. "As the great defender of the traditional American policy of freedom from foreign entanglements.

"As the foremost exponent of constitutional government and integrity of our courts, the last bulwark against the invasion of the rights of the common man by autocratic and bureaucratic government.

"As a defender of the American market for the American farmer, as the national policy is opposed to importation of competitive products through the medium of trade agreements effected by executive action.

"As the outstanding proponent of the doctrine of greater purchasing power for the American people through increased production, as against an increased cost of living through a program of scarcity.

"As a proponent of sound government-controlled currency with metallic base as opposed to a managed currency."

One hundred Idaho republican women meeting at the same time adopted a resolution endorsing Senator Borah's campaign for the presidential nomination.

Schwarz-Dennler Nuptials

With simple services, in the presence of members of their immediate families, the marriage of Miss Marie Schwarz and Walter Dennler was solemnized at the home of the bride, Friday, February 14, the Rev. Otto G. Ehlen of Douglas, Wash., brother-in-law of the groom, officiating. Miss Emma Dennler, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and Herbert Schwarz, brother of the bride, was best man.

Mrs. Dennler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schwarz of Cameron. She was graduated from the Kendrick High school with the class of '31 and later attended Kinman Business university, Spokane. She recently resigned her position as telephone operator on the Kendrick exchange, where her efficiency was much appreciated by the patrons of the company.

Mr. Dennler is the son of Mrs. Kuni Dennler, Juliaetta. He is a graduate of Juliaetta High school and is engaged in farming on Fix ridge, where the young couple will make their home after returning from a short honeymoon trip.

Both young people are well and favorably known and the best wishes of their many friends will go with them.

Gave Pinochle Party

Name Omitted

Last week in giving an account of the entertainment of the Double-Eight Bridge club at the home of Mrs. Ethel Emery, the name of Mrs. Silvie Cook as one of the hostesses was omitted. We are glad to make the correction.

WHEAT MARKETS STEADY — FEED GRAINS ADVANCE

Domestic grain markets were steady to somewhat firmer during the week ended February 14, despite further weakness in the foreign situation, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Continued severe wintry weather in the main belt reduced marketings but tended to stimulate demand for feed grains. Fear of damage to winter wheat from the extreme cold with lack of snow covering in some sections, was a strengthening influence in wheat, and together with light offerings, resulted in slight gains in both futures and cash prices. Oats strengthened with corn and barley continued firm with a good demand for the better grades.

The general wheat situation remained weak with a continued slow demand from European deficit areas and the Orient and prices at Liverpool declined 2c to 3c per bushel. The weakening influence of the reduced world trade, however, was partially offset by concern over prospects for the new winter wheat crop, both in the United States and Europe. Winter wheat has been well protected in the main producing areas from northern Kansas northward, but in the south half of Kansas, the ground was bare during much of the cold period with some soil blowing reported in the southwestern part. The wheat is dormant and no serious damage has yet been reported except in the western third of the state.

World trade in wheat remains unusually light, reflecting the limited outlet in Europe and the Orient.

Domestic cash wheat markets were firm, influenced by light offerings and a fairly active milling inquiry. Receipts of spring wheat dropped off sharply with only 252 cars reported at Minneapolis and 28 cars at Duluth. Of the Minneapolis inspections, 28 cars were winter wheat and 38 cars durum. High protein lots continued to sell at firm premiums but lower grades sold slowly. At the close of the week 58 pound No. 1 dark northern was quoted at $1.26 to $1.36.

Durum prices advanced about 7/8c with current offerings of domestic wheat below mill requirements and further purchases of Canadian durum were reported for immediate all-rail shipment. No. 2 hard amber durum was quoted at Minneapolis at 6c to 7c over the Duluth May durum price of $1.02 1/2.

Marketings of winter wheat also decreased sharply with a total of only 561 cars received at the principal terminal markets. Cash demand was fairly active and premiums were well maintained. No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Kansas City at $1.06 to $1.08. No. 1 hard winter was quoted at Fort Worth at $1.22 1/2 and No. 2 hard winter at Chicago at $1.08 to $1.13 and at St. Louis at $1.09 to $1.10 per bushel. Soft red winter advanced slightly with No. 2 quoted at St. Louis at $1.08, at Chicago at $1.03 and at Kansas City at $1.03 to $1.07 per bushel.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were rather dull, with local inquiry slow and quotations at Pacific Northwestern markets mostly above a shipping basis to central western and eastern points. At the close of the week, Denver mills were bidding 98c for No. 2 northern spring and No. 2 hard winter, 15 per cent protein, FOB Colorado common points. Mills at Ogden were bidding 75c for No. 2 soft white, 94c for No. 2 hard white and No. 2 northern spring and 90c per bushel for No. 2 hard winter FOB Utah and Idaho common points.

The trading basis at Portland was shifted to a selling basis rather than a buying price and quotations now represent prices at which dealers will sell wheat at Portland. On the basis 13 per cent protein hard white was quoted at $1.25, with ordinary protein hard white at $1.22, with 12 per cent protein dark hard winter at $1.12 1/2, nominal, with soft white, western white, western red, hard winter and northern spring all quoted at 87c per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals dropped to only 339 cars, the smallest weekly arrivals in several months. Demand from outside markets was lacking and inquiry from local mills was only moderate and almost entirely for special protein lots. Occasional cars of high protein wheat were taken by California buyers. At Seattle, western white, western red and hard winter were quoted at 87c and hard white (baart) at $1.21 per bushel, basis No. 1 sacked.

Worlds Biggest Steam Shovel
Thirty-two cubic yards (level full) at one bit is the record of the world's largest power shovel dipper.

One load from this shovel can fill a kitchen of average size, measuring nine feet wide, 12 feet long and nine feet high. It would take 32 wagon loads of dirt to fill this shovel, which can comfortably accommodate 32 men, standing up. Two complete dippers full from this monster would fill the average railroad coal-car.

The demand for greater capacity in the coal stripping industry during the past few years, augmented by a substantially increased demand for coal, made necessary the building of much larger shovels. It was felt the climax had been reached two years ago when a dipper having 20 cubic yards capacity was developed and placed in service in the coal fields. This, however, merely proved to be the forerunner of the present masterpiece of construction, the 32-cubic-yard dipper.

The major problem in developing this larger dipper was to increase its capacity without making it necessary to resort to a larger shovel. This was accomplished by building the dipper of a light-weight metal alloy, which gave the required additional capacity without affecting the wearing qualities.

Egg Or Colt?

During his campaign for reelection Senator Gore of Oklahoma was approached by an interested young woman who inquired:

"How are you feeling, senator?"

"Oh," replied Senator Gore, "I feel like a 2-year-old."

"Egg or colt, senator?" queried the young woman.

State To Pay Pensions

Gov. C. Ben Ross said state and county organizations would be set up immediately to administer the federal social security act as it relates to the state's blind, aged, and dependent children.

Applications for financial assistance must be filed with county committees, the names of which will be made public soon, the governor said.

"We are expecting a check for $173,933 from the federal government for its February and March share of the relief burden," the governor said. "Of that amount $157,500 will be used for pensions for the aged; $6,300 for the blind, and $10,133 for dependent children."

The set-up requires the states and counties to match the federal contribution.

The county boards will consist of the probate judge, a county commissioner, the head of the Idaho cooperative relief agency and two lay members. They will be responsible directly to the governor as commissioner of relief and employment.

To qualify for a monthly pension, the aged must have resided in the state for the past nine years, must be 65 years old or older, they must be in need and unable to provide for themselves.

The maximum each person can receive is $30 a month.

Dependent children may receive $18 if there is only one in a family and if there are more, each additional child may receive $12. To qualify for this allowance, it must be shown that their parents or guardians are unable to support them.

Idaho Has 13,912 WPA Workers

Idaho WPA workers on 485 projects hovered near the fourteen thousand mark the first week of February when 13,912 men and women were active on jobs, according to O. K. Hine, director of finance and statistics. Project allocations divide 79.3 per cent for physical improvements and 20.7 per cent for women's work and white collar jobs, it was revealed. Highways and farm-market roads take 39.4 per cent; public buildings, including school houses or government buildings, 9.1; playgrounds 6.6 per cent; flood control and other conservation measures, 17.6 per cent; water supply and sewer systems, 6.6 per cent.

Ada county lead the state in number of workers with 1,444 men and women at work, while in Valley county, scant hundred miles away, the employables totaled four men.

NEW WILD LIFE MANAGEMENT IMPORTANT OFFICE

In recognition of the growing importance of the preservation, development and management of the wild life resources of the National Forests of the United States, and the increased public interest in those resources, the Secretary of Agriculture has created in the Forest service a division of Wild Life Management. The Secretary acted upon the recommendation of Chief Forester Silcox, and the new division will be coordinate with the forest management, range management and other major divisions of the forest service.

The first chief of the new division is Dr. Homer Leroy Shantz, for eight years president of the University of Arizona, whose appointment is just announced. His headquarters are at Washington D. C. Dr. Shantz has had long experience in the scientific aspects of wild life management, and his selection brings to the forest service an outstanding exponent of that phase of conservation of replaceable resources.

"Creation of the division of Wild Life management is of great importance to Region One of the national forests," Regional Forester Evan W. Kelley said in announcing the secretary's action.

"He stressed the point that wild life springs from the land. It is a crop of the national forests in the same sense as trees and grass are products of the land. Since the forest service is engaged in land management on the national forests, it is logical that the service should manage all the crops and uses of that land, and that all use of land and resources should be coordinated and integrated into a well-knit plan for the whole.

"This region, together with other sections of the northern and central Rocky mountains, harbors the principal remaining big game and fur-bearing animal resources of the United States. For many years, regional officers have striven for scientific management of this resource to prevent its decimation, to effect its control in proper relation to its environment. To this end, the forest service is carrying on an extensive big game study by force of 240 men to determine the number of game animals in the region, their distribution, feeding habits, available winter forage and the herd depletion factors, such as disease, kill by predators, accidents, exterior parasites, and man. The information thus obtained will furnish the basis for a scientific approach to the management of big game, whereby the resource may be used on a sustained yield basis in cooperation with all state fish and game interests and officers to the ultimate benefit of both sportsmen and the big game herds. A study of the region's fur-bearing animal resources is the next big job in wild life management to be undertaken.

"Within the national forests of Region One, there are 11,800 miles of fishing streams and hundreds of lakes. The proper stocking of these waters represents a big undertaking, the surface of which has barely been scratched. As the funds become available, it is planned to continue water surveys to determine available fish food supplies, improve the streams for a more hospitable environment for fish life and to extend operations in stocking the streams as the supply of young fish becomes available.

"Wild life work has been under the direction of Assistant Regional Forester Glen A. Smith of the division of range and game management. His leadership has long been felt in Montana and Idaho. He has consistently pushed scientific investigation, and has cooperated with state fish and game authorities in Region One, always with scientific and stabilized wild life management as his major objective.

"The creation of the new division," Major Kelley continued, "is significant nationally because it represents the crystallized public sentiment that wild life management has developed to the extent that its true social, economic and spiritual importance clearly points to the necessity of establishing it as an enterprise independent of the division of range management, to be manned and handled as a scientific and administrative division in its own right. Cooperation with state fish and game authorities and associations, of course will continue as a major activity of the new division."

In line with the above, Major Kelley concluded, the division of wild life management for Region One will be set up in the regional office at Missoula, Montana, as early as reorganization can be worked out.

"Bar 20 Rides Again"
It's Hopalong Cassidy time at the Kendrick Theatre, where Paramount's new six-gun drama, "Bar 20 Rides Again," will be featured this Friday and Saturday nights, with William Boyd and Jimmy Ellison riding and shooting it out with the most sinister villain imaginable.

This time "Hopalong" leads the boys of the "Bar 20" against a shrewd and unprincipled guerilla, who answers to the name of "Nevada" and whose main diversions are rustling cattle and cheating at cards.

The picture is packed with swift action. The boys of the "Bar 20" ride as they have never ridden before. And the climax, which comes when they trail the rustlers to their lair in the hills, furnishes one of the most blazing gun battles in the history of western films.

Also the 12th episode of Buck Jones in "The Roaring West," as well as other regular features.

In Memoriam
A welcome caller, after many kind receptions, plucked up her courage and asked her hostess why a beautiful urn in the living room was always covered over.
"Oh, it contains my husband's ashes," was the response.
"So sorry," replied the guest, "but I had no idea you were a widow."
"I'm not. My husband is just too stingy to buy an ash tray."

The Absentee
Landlady—"I'm sorry you don't like the chicken soup. I told the cook how to make it, but perhaps she didn't catch the idea."
Boarder—"I think it was the chicken she missed."

HALF-MILLION LINEAR FEET CEDAR POLES SOLD
More than a half a million linear feet of western red cedar for poles and piling were sold in the Inland Empire during 1934, it is revealed in a compilation made by I. V. Anderson, chief of the Forest Products Division of the Northern Rocky Mountain Forest and Range experiment station, of the prices paid for stumpage, or standing timber, in Montana, northern Idaho and eastern Washington.
The average price per linear foot for the cedar was 2.25 cents, the equivalent of $6.56 per thousand feet board measure. The price in each sale depends on accessibility of the timber, which affects logging costs, and peculiar local conditions affecting values. The highest price paid for cedar poles and piling in 1934 was 5.44 cents a linear foot, which converted into board measure was $17.95 per thousand board feet.
The State of Idaho was the largest seller, disposing of 241,750 linear feet of cedar poles. Region One of the National Forests sold 91,000 linear feet of cedar poles and piling and 170,265 linear feet of such material. Cedar poles from Region One go to many parts of the United States, some being sold in the Atlantic coast states. Best information as to distribution is that the upper Mississippi river valley receives the largest share, the poles being shipped to concentration yards for later sale. Although it has met severe competition from southern pine poles, western red cedar was reported in 1934 by a northwestern trade analyst to be on the ascendancy again in the Middle-west.

Twenty thousand five hundred lodgepole pine ties brought six cents each, Region One selling 16,000 and Idaho mills purchasing 4,500 from private owners. In two other divisions of miscellaneous timber sales, Region One was the only seller among those agencies covered by stumpage sales reports, disposing of 160,000 linear feet of lodgepole pine for mining props, lagging, etc., and 42,159 Christmas trees.

It Takes Eggs For Omelets
Taxes, direct and indirect, will be a little less than $23,000,000 on the business of a large midwest retail organization for 1935, according to its president.
These taxes are equivalent to seven times the dividends paid in 1934, five times the 1934 profits, 50 per cent of total operating cost for 1935, twice the amount of taxes in 1934, and three times the total paid in 1931. He said that industry cannot continue to bear such taxes indefinitely. That is true. Those taxes must be passed on to the consuming public or the industry will go broke.
The time is coming when the tax-gatherers are going to have to worry about keeping business alive, if for no other reason than to collect enough to pay their own salaries.
The short-sightedness of political tax-boosters who continue to attack the industrial goose that lays all the golden eggs which they scramble in trying out their new economic recipes, would be laughable if it were not so serious to the solvency of the nation.—Exchange.

Says War Is Racket
Gen. Smedley D. Butler told the opening general congress of the American League Against War and Fascism at Cleveland, O., recently the Italian-Ethiopian conflict is a trial of strength to determine the lineup of nations in a gathering second war.
"The present Ethiopian situation probably will not be the direct cause," he said, but "a second world war is gathering in Europe and the far east."
"Congress should prescribe that not one American soldier be sent outside the limits of the United States and its possessions to fight for anybody or anything, and that our navy be restricted to defense of our coast lines."
"War is a racket. Only the 'inside' group knows what it is all about. Out of a war a few people make huge fortunes."
"We cannot permit our flag to be used as a blanket to cover gun running or to protect interests of manufacturers or bankers. If necessary, we may have to close our doors to all foreign trade until the storm blows over."

So Says Sister Aimee
Aimee Semple McPherson spoke her mind the other day on sex and brains.
"Sex has nothing to do with the pulpit and pants do not make preachers," Aimee said in telling her Four-square gospel convention there would be no discrimination between men and women in appointments.
"It is brains, not sex, that makes a preacher."

WHEAT MARKETS STEADY — FEED GRAINS ADVANCE
California wheat markets were dull and somewhat lower, influenced by continued slow demand and moderate offerings. Improved now crop prospects induced growers to offer more freely but actual sales were not heavy, since sellers were dissatisfied with current bids.
Pacific Northwestern barley markets continued quiet but prices held practically steady. Trading was restricted with little interest apparent in malting types and mixed feed manufacturers provided the principal outlet for the current offerings of feed grade barley. In accordance with the new policy of the local merchants exchange, grain quotations are now selling prices instead of buying prices. No. 2 bright western was quoted at Portland at $1.18½, with heavy weight barley from eastern Washington being quoted at Seattle at $1.15 per 100, sacked basis.
Oats markets were irregular with light trading reflecting the moderate inquiry. Pacific Northwestern markets held steady despite the relative small volume of business. Growers continued to display a firm holding tendency and feeding in important areas was negative. Dealers were offering No. 2 white oats for sale at Portland at $1.17½ with No. 2 gray oats at $1.20 per 100, sacked. Heavy white oats from eastern Washington were quoted at Seattle at $1.15 per 100, sacked.

Seattle Be Joy City?
Seattle will not put on any more diapers or put out any more cats if former Mayor John F. Dore is elected again to the job he was voted out two years ago.
"More business and less monkey business," Dore said in lashing at incumbent Charles L. Smith's "domestic science" contests.
Dore said if elected he intended to strive toward making Seattle a "joy city" similar to San Francisco, New York or New Orleans.
"And you cannot do it by such silly things as holding diaper or 'cat-putter-out' contests."

The rotund, ruddy-faced former executive asserted "you cannot regulate people's morals with police sticks" in stating his credo that he believes in "letting every man go to hell in his own way."

Crops For Industrial Use
"Inside of ten years agriculture will have as many acres growing crops for industrial use as it has for food for man and beast," declared L. F. Livingston, president of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, in an address to the University of Idaho engineering students. "The industrial stomach will be as big or bigger than the human. Nothing can stop this development."
The development of organic chemistry, the most spectacular and successful of any American industry since the World War, constitutes the foundation of this new trend affecting agriculture, the speaker said. The raw materials used by the organic chemist come from soil. Through chemical processing he develops entirely new products. Scientists now are working on products which would use the crops from approximately 50 million acres of farming land, he declared.

LITTLE BEAR RIDGE

When returning to Kendrick from a professional visit on the ridge last week, Dr. Christensen killed a large coyote with a .22 rifle. Scattered feathers on the snow give evidence of the destruction of game birds by the coyotes, and it would be well for the doctor to always carry some sort of artillery with him when making his professional calls in the country.

Miss Orene Hardman spent the week-end at the Wade Keene home in Kendrick.

The quarantine for scarlet fever has been lifted from the Galloway home, and the children entered school again Monday. They have been under quarantine since Christmas day.

Besides the Valentine box and exchange of Valentines, Miss Hardman surprised the pupils with a lovely treat of candy that day.

Mrs. John Thomas, who has been suffering from a badly infected hand, spent last week in Kendrick at the home of Mrs. Wade Keene, where she could have daily medical care. Although her hand is greatly improved, it is still draining badly, and must be soaked and dressed each day.

Albert Westendahl has been confined to his bed for several days with a very bad cold. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Westendahl have been suffering from colds also.

Two large flocks of Chinese and Hungarian pheasants are becoming almost as tame as domestic fowls, as they come up regularly for their feed at the Galloway home. The children take great pleasure in watching the birds at close range. These and other birds must be fed at this time or they will surely perish.

Idaho To Receive More Cash

J. L. Hood, Idaho WPA director, has been informed by Rep. D. Worth Clark that an additional $1,125,000 has been allocated to Idaho for WPA projects.

"All of the $3,925,000 allotted to the state will be used for payrolls and expenses and will not be used for administration expenses in the state or three district headquarters."
