HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Washington—The republican high command has formed what approximated a "brain-trust" of its own, hiring seven anti-new deal college professors to analyze Roosevelt's administration measures and make their findings public. Chairman Henry P. Fletcher announced that the seven, headed by Olin Glenn Saxon, a member of the Yale law school faculty, and aided by 40 helpers—mostly clerks and stenographers—would work in the national committee's research division. He was completely confident, he said, that their findings would help the party cause. At a press conference, Saxon joined Fletcher in emphasizing that the reorganized research division would not be a "brain trust" as some have come to accept the phrase. "This is a research staff," Fletcher said, "not a group of politically ambitious college professors with preconceived ideas, who look forward to getting on the federal payroll in the hope they can reform the universe."

New York—Dr. Frances E. Townsend said that the voting strength of his pension plan followers would not be swung behind any movement which he expects to capture congress. The presidential campaign will be "six on one side, half a dozen on the other," so far as either democratic or republican candidacies aiding his plan was concerned, he said. "We're going to launch a third party and we're going to elect the congress. We will put some men in the senate. I'm quite sure we shall elect a majority in the house," he said. The California advocate of prosperity by payment of $200 monthly pensions to all persons over 60 had criticism for the manner in which a special house committee was probing his pension drive as he emerged from a broadcast (WMA) studio after an 11-minute air talk.

Boise—Governor Ross clearly indicated in a letter to a Pocatello friend that he expects to represent Idaho in the United States senate, and he forecast a long fight over the Townsend old-age pension plan. He did not confirm or deny reports of intimates that he will seek the democratic nomination in August for William E. Borah's seat, but he told W. W. Goodman, the friend: "When I get to the United States senate, I want to assure you that my first official act will be to introduce some kind of legislation which has a chance of passing immediately, to increase the amount of money we are now receiving under the social security act, so that these old folks may have at least a portion of the necessities of life while they are still alive." The average old age pension in Idaho now is $25 a month, of which the federal government provides $15. The letter was written, Ross explained, in reply to an inquiry from Goodman as to the governor's view on old-age pensions. "I think," Ross continued, "that you will agree with me that it will be some time before the Townsend plan is put into operation, because there are thousands of people in this country who are bitterly opposed to the plan and will fight to the end."

Spokane—Paul Blackmon, Seattle, state manager of Townsend clubs, declared here "the real danger to the Townsend movement is not from the outside, but from efforts within the organization to split it." He told an estimated 1,000 persons that the movement is at a crucial point where it must either continue to gather force or must fall. Blackmon said the congressional investigation has not brought out anything which Townsend officers did not previously know. Answering the accusation that he was being "an Otto Case stooge," Blackmon said the Townsends will not support anybody for governor or any office below that of congressman.

Baltimore—Pledging new consideration to some of the aims of the now dead NRA, President Roosevelt put forward a tentative suggestion Monday night for limiting "active working ages at both ends" and giving jobs only to those between 18 and 65 years of age. Standing in the spacious fifth regiment armory here and addressing his nationally broadcast words directly to one of a series of Jefferson birthday dinner rallies sponsored by the young democratic club of Maryland, the president asserted: "The period of social engineering is only at its beginning." Declaring that "flaming youth has become a flaming question," the president's address, which was arranged to fol-

City Water Soon In

Marshal Edgar Long reports that the new pipeline will soon be in and it is expected to have water flowing through it into the reservoir within the next two weeks. When completed they will have laid 11,000 feet of pipe. So far there has been laid 8,800 feet of 2-inch pipe and 1,700 feet of 3-inch pipe.

While they expect to have this part of the work completed in the allotted time set by the PWA, it is doubted if much can be done toward laying the six-inch pipe in the west part of town unless an extension of time can be had.

INTERESTING NEWS NOTES FROM OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The P-T. A. meeting, previously scheduled for Monday, April 20, has been postponed until Monday, May 4. This was due to the fact that two regular meetings could not be held before school ends. The annual exhibit, as well as other interesting subjects, will be seen and discussed at this meeting.

Jean Bigelow, Margaret Halseth, Lorraine Woody, Mary Davidson, Eleanor Hill and Enid Hill have been chosen to represent Kendrick High school at the Lewiston Play Day, April 18. These six players had the best attendance and were the best players in several different types of sport.

Material for the Senior announcements has been ordered and will be printed in a short time.

The Seniors have been making plans for the various activities before the close of school.

Equipment for the soft ball league has been ordered for the school.

Grade Notes

The grade school is busily engaged in preparing for the annual school exhibit.

All grades sent Penmanship drills to A. N. Palmer to get pins and certificates.

Open Season On Editors?

From the amount of advertising, under the guise of news, that reaches the average country print shop during campaign year, especially, it would seem that the paid "news-gatherers" for the various lines of business for which they make every effort to get free space, consider it an open season on country newspaper men, especially.

We have a large round "filling" case that we have to empty about every ten days to two weeks that ordinarily contains enough "news" matter to fill the average country paper, without his making any effort whatsoever to get material to fill his paper. Politicians and the various housing, loan, and other governmental alphabetical soup recipes, head the list, with others following thick and fast.

We are always willing to help a worthy cause, when it is for the general public, but when it comes to donating space to "Tom, Dick and Harry"—well, we just don't do it, that's all.

If it is free to the general public, and not for the purpose of making money, then it's news. If it is a money-making scheme of any kind, or for personal benefit—then it's advertising and must be paid for.

Frank Whitcomb Passes

Frank Whitcomb, aged 69, passed away Sunday evening at his home on Big Bear ridge, near Kendrick. He had been ill for nearly a year. He was born at Troy, New Hampshire; is survived by one son, Jesse W., living in Spokane; and two daughters, Mrs. R. H. Clemenhagen and Mrs. Fred Gladden, both living on Big Bear ridge.

His wife passed away April 29, 1935.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Wild Rose chapel on Big Bear ridge, the Rev. J. E. Purdy of the Moscow Methodist church officiating. Interment was in Wild Rose cemetery.

AAA Community Meeting

A community meeting for the purpose of outlining the provisions and explaining the new Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment program will be held in the City Hall, Saturday, April 18, at 1:15 o'clock.

All farmers and land owners are urged to attend.

REUNION OF PIONEERS AND ALUMI, GENESEE

Geneese, Idaho, April 15.—A reunion of pioneers is an added feature of the 1936 community day and alumni reunion scheduled for Friday, May 1, on the Geneese public school grounds. An attempt will be made to bring together for that day all the old-timers and early-day settlers of this area—those who live outside the community, as well as those who still reside here.

With the addition of the new plans to this year's event, committees in charge predict a greater crowd, and an even more successful fete than was that of last year, when the alumni reunion was first instituted. In keeping with the pioneer spirit to be manifested, derbies for the men and sunbonnets for the women have been decreed the official headgear for the celebration, and are already available.

This will be the fourth year for the community day celebration. There will be a program by local and rural schools and a general get-together of the people of the area. Last year the grads of Geneese High school were especially invited to attend the reunion, and the results were so gratifying that the 1936 executive committee decided to expand the affair by bringing together the early-day settlers of this section.

The program as outlined now will include representations of the schools, the pioneers and the alumni. A big "family" dinner at noon has always been one of the highlights of the day, as well as a parade, an impromptu track meet for the younger set, a dance in the evening, and other features.

Committees were appointed the latter part of March for this community affair and are working with the enthusiasm of the town and area behind them for a successful day. A general invitation is issued through the columns of newspapers throughout this country for all Geneese pioneers, high school alumni, friends and relatives to attend the celebration, Friday, May 1.

The executive committee in charge consists of E. S. Sunkel, general chairman, and as superintendent, represents the schools; Mahlon Follett, president of the Civic Improvement club; Miss Maggie Bottjer, the alumni; Mrs. Sarah Elliott, the pioneers, and their "queen," T. H. Herman represents the "mavericks," or those who attended but did not graduate from the local high school; Marion Holben, the student body, and George Bertrand, the rural schools.

Redecorating Theatre

The Kendrick Theatre is being completely redecorated on the interior. The walls are being covered with Celotex, in panel effects of gray and brown, with matching columns of the same material, as is the wall between the lobby and theatre proper.

The "sounding board" behind the screen is being covered with Nu-Wood, and the whole presents a very pleasing appearance, and a theatre of which towns much larger in size might well be proud.

In addition the old type ceiling lights have been removed, the ceiling newly kalsomined, and new lights installed in wall brackets on the side. The improvements, besides adding materially to the appearance, are said to increase sound "absorption" and to do away with any tendency to echo or roll the sound.

In the past three years great strides have been made in theatre progress and the local owners have taken advantage of this fact to likewise progress, adding new equipment and betterments as fast as they are proven practical.

Business Changes

There has been a change in the location of two businesses on Main street this week. The Hylton shoe repair shop has been moved from the old location (The Walker Harness and Shoe Shop) to the room at the rear of the Moderne Beauty Shop, while Mrs. Minnie McCoy will move her business from the Raby Hotel dining room to the room formerly occupied by the shoe shop. Mrs. Grace Lind will have charge of the Raby dining room.

Paula McKeever In Hospital

Paula, young daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. McKeever, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital Monday morning, suffering with a very bad case of pneumonia. The report Wednesday evening was to the effect that she had passed the crisis and her recovery is now assured.

LOCAL COMMERCIAL CLUB ENTERTAINS VISITORS

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club was held in the dining room of the Raby Hotel Monday evening, when the club entertained a delegation from Troy and also a delegation of farmers from the American ridge section at a 6:30 dinner.

After reading of the minutes of the last meeting, business of the evening was taken up, the first being committee reports. N. E. Walker of the Highway committee reported that work is going forward in a satisfactory manner on the Cedar creek WPA project and that there has been some half mile of grade whipped into shape, which will later be leveled and the roadbed graveled. He also reported that word had been passed along that bids would be called for the building of some two or three miles of Arrow-Kendrick road, which has been on the list so long that it is getting "thumb-worn."

J. M. Lyle, Jr., of the educational committee reported that school is on the final swing and that everything is running smoothly. There will be 18 in the graduating class. Baccalaureate services will be held in the Community church on May 10 and graduation exercises will follow on May 14. He also stated that Miss Flo Kent had been chosen by the students as princess to attend the Spalding centennial at Lewiston, May 7-10.

The Fourth of July committee appointed by President Barnum at the last meeting was unable to make a complete report and the matter was left to the discretion of the executive committee of the club, a report to be made at the next regular meeting.

At this time the Troy delegation was called on for remarks. Frank Brocke acted as spokesman and introduced the members of the delegation, which numbered seven. He then called on County Commissioner Walter Driscoll to state what was "on their minds." Mr. Driscoll stated that while they came partially for a friendly call, their main reason was to ask the Kendrick Commercial club to endorse with them a state-sponsored highway between Kendrick and Troy, using the present road as much as possible. Mr. Driscoll stated they were not so particular just what head the road might come under, but they wanted one "with a top and a bottom," something that does not exist at the present time. The natural course of the road would be over American ridge, and while the Kendrick club did not take any direct action at that time, they were very favorable to an endorsement of such a road, stating of course, that they did not want to do anything that would jeopardize the building of the Kendrick road as at the present surveyed and approved by the government. Decision will be made at an executive committee meeting as to just what course of procedure will be taken.

Raymond Harlan, who resides on the upper end of American ridge, also stated that they would like to have the endorsement of the Kendrick club. He stated that down in south Idaho they had good paved and giled roads running for miles and miles through the sagebrush, while here a state-sponsored road between Kendrick and Troy would have farms on both sides all the way, thereby giving an outlet to markets for these farms.

Harry Benscoter, Geo. Davidson and Norla Callison, all residents of the ridge, spoke in like vein regarding the building of a road that could be used at all times of the year.

Olé Bohman, banker, and a member of the Troy delegation, stated that the only way anything could be accomplished along that line was by co-operation and that the Troy delegation was asking Kendrick only for that co-operation that makes things move.

M. O. Raby of Kendrick suggested that the best way to handle the matter with satisfaction to all, was to hold a meeting of selected delegates or committeemen from Kendrick and Troy and piece the matter together in a way that all would understand.

(This meeting was scheduled to be held, together with State Engineer Johnson from Lewiston, on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock).

Needs Patience Of Job

While Joe Cardinal is not suffering with boils, as did Job of old, he has something infinitely worse—a very large carbuncle on the back of his neck—which gives him something to think about, day and night.

Idaho Bean Forecast

1,795,000 acres of dry, edible beans are indicated for harvest in 1936. This is 3 per cent below the large acreage harvested last year but 7 per cent greater than the 10-year average for the years 1926-1935.

A reduction of 15 per cent in the total acreage planted in 1936 from that of 1935, with average yields and average abandonment, would result in a new-crop supply more closely in line with normal requirements.

The Great Northern bean growing areas indicated a decrease of about 10 per cent from last year's acreage. In Idaho the indicated decrease was 15 per cent.

GENESEE CAMP SCS-1-3 IN VARIED ACTIVITIES

The third anniversary of the Civilian Conservation Corps on March 31 also marked the completion of five months of constructive work for Company 554 CCC at the Soil Conservation Service camp at Geneese.

Instituting a program for the prevention and control of soil erosion on range lands of the Hatwai creek area, camp SCS-1-3 has, since its establishment on November 1, 1935, carried out many beneficial measures and made numerous improvements in the condition of land in this region.

Included in the project are range lands from the Idaho-Washington state line eastward along the Clearwater river. Thirty-four owners and users of these grazing lands are members of the Nez Perce Range and Soil Conservation association, and during the past five months the CCC has completed work upon the holdings of thirteen of these cooperators.

Under the direction of Supt. W. C. Pettibone and the SCS staff, the CCC men in company 554 have engaged in a wide variety of activities for the improvement of conditions on range and farm lands in this area.

Many miles of contour furrows along the Lewiston grade highway have been constructed for the purpose of catching run-off and preventing resultant soil-washing, and also to aid the establishment and growth of a valuable protective cover for the cheat-covered slopes.

In order to regulate grazing and afford protection for overgrazed areas, more than 4,000 rods of fence have been built in the project and six miles of stock driveways have been built to utilize areas lightly grazed because of their inaccessibility.

Development of numerous springs and water holes is another phase of the work accomplished. These have been protected with rock cribbing and concrete, covered, and safe-guarded against trampling. In addition to this, more than two miles of pipeline has been laid to convey water to watering troughs, and one permanent and two temporary check dams have been constructed to catch run-off water for use in watering livestock. Those factors and the judicious location of salting grounds have done much to spread grazing over a wide territory and eliminate its concentration within restricted boundaries.

Along Hatwai creek, stream banks have been protected to control caving and washing.

On the ranches themselves, camp workers have aided farmers in the planning and construction of irrigation ditches to carry water to alfalfa fields. The additional forage and hay made available by such measures will eliminate overgrazing of range land by providing ample supplemental food.

Other important projects carried out have been the sloping and seeding of gullies and the construction of water spreaders, especially below road culverts where run-off water has worn channels down the hillside pastures.

Work of the CCC includes not only these activities and other routine operations, but emergency duties as well. During recent heavy snows, when rural mail routes were blocked, CCC boys opened up these roads so that farmers were able to get mail deliveries and have access to the main highways.

Big Eggs Coming In

While the farm ladies are just as busy as they can be, they are sending in a large "hen fruit" for our contest every-now-and-then. Since last report we have received contributions from Mrs. Frank Roberts, Route 1; Mrs. D. A. Bishop, Juliaetta, and Mrs. Ernest Schmidt, Leland.

Remember, the contest lasts until May 30, so there is plenty of time to bring in the biggest one, for which you will receive a six-months subscription to the Gazette—75 cents for one egg is not so bad—when they are selling at 13 cents per dozen.

MARKET UNSETTLED — FEED GRAIN STEADY

Uncertain new crop prospects were the dominant influence in domestic grain markets during the week ended April 10, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Wheat was unsettled as prices fluctuated with changes in weather over the principal winter wheat and spring wheat belts. Below average prospects for domestic wheat and a firmness in foreign markets were the strengthening influences which were about offset by only moderate inquiry for prospective domestic needs and with only fair demand for current market receipts. Corn average slightly lower, with oats unchanged to 2c lower compared with a week ago. Barley was slightly weaker with the exception of the best malting types, which remained firm.

New crop prospects were exerting the usual seasonal influence in the general wheat situation. Prospects for winter wheat in the United States are less favorable than a year ago, but the condition April 1, placed at only 68.5 per cent of normal compared with 69.8 a year ago and the ten-year average April 1 condition of 78.9 per cent. The April 1 condition indicated a winter wheat crop this season of 493,166,000 bushels, or only about 60,000,000 bushels over last season's short crop despite the larger acreage sown last fall. Heavy abandonment was again in prospect in southwestern areas, including Oklahoma and Texas panhandle and adjacent territory. Abandonment is expected to be above average in the western half of the country and below average in the eastern half, with an abandonment of 21 per cent of the acreage seeded last fall indicated for the area as a whole. Stocks of wheat on farms at the first of April totaled 97,053,000 bushels, which, with the exception of last year, were the smallest since the spring of 1928 when they amounted to 86,477,000 bushels. Farm disappearance of wheat from the first of January through March this year totaled 62,337,000 bushels compared with a little over 44,000,000 bushels for the same period last year and the five-year average of about 121,000,000 bushels.

Hard white wheats declined 2c to 3c at Portland but prices of other classes held unchanged. Country offerings were light and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals totaled 242 cars. Local inquiry was quiet, reflecting the limited outlet for flour and California buyers took only small quantities of high protein hard white and hard winter wheats. Sales of flour to the Philippines on the indemnity plan totaled only a few hundred barrels with total sales to date only slightly more than 60,000 bushels. At the close of the week soft white, western white, hard winter, northern spring and western red all were quoted at 83½c, all basis No. 1, sacked. At Seattle western white, western red, hard winter were all quoted at 83c and hard white (baart) at $1.10, basis No. 1, sacked.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were unchanged to somewhat lower. Denver mills were bidding the same price as a week ago, with No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring bringing 90c per bushel. Prices at Ogden were down about 1c per bushel, with No. 2 soft white quoted at 71c, No. 2 hard white at 90c and No. 2 hard winter at 84c per bushel. FOB Utah-Idaho common points.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets continued extremely quiet with trading limited to occasional cars to the local feed trade. Only six carlots of barley arrived at Portland during the week. Despite the slow demand quotations were nominally steady. No. 2 bright western was quoted at Portland April 9 at $1.10 per 100, sacked basis, with little interest apparent in malting types. California feeding barley was generally quoted around 5c per 100 under local offerings.

Oats markets were irregular. Offerings at the markets were moderate but demand was slow. The slow growth of pastures during the recent cool weather with firmer millfeed prices was a sustaining influence in the market for oats towards the close of the week. Pacific Northwestern markets were quiet with trading extremely light and only one carload was received at Portland during the week. Both local and outside inquiry was negligible. Offerings from interior points were somewhat heavier

Be Careful With Kites
Parents should forbid children to fly kites with wires or near power lines because of the serious accident hazard, according to John B. Finken, safety engineer for The Washington Water Power Company.

"The use of wire in flying kites is extremely dangerous because even the smallest wire, if it comes in contact with high voltage, may result in electrocution," states Mr. Finken. "For safety's sake, parents should see that their children do not fly kites near any power wires because once the kite is in the air the wind might carry it into the line, and atmospheric conditions might be such that even a string will transmit a charge of electricity bringing injury or death to the child."

Borah Tells 'Em
While making a speech at Decatur, Illinois, last week, Senator Wm. E. Borah declared: "We are building a bureaucracy which is sucking the very life-blood of the nation in taxes."

"If we keep on the way we are going," the Idaho senator told a Borah-for-president rally, "every farmer will be carrying another on his shoulders as he plows his corn."

"We have been increasing federal jobs 100,000 a year."

"Part of it we can't help, for we must feed the hungry."

"But when the departments let out in Washington, it reminds me of the Bible story about the locusts pouring into Egypt."

"Annapolis Farewell"
In the past many people have wondered regarding the inner workings of the naval academy at Annapolis and perhaps the military academy at West Point. These facts are explained in "Annapolis Farewell," especially that pertaining to the naval academy, which will be shown at the Kendrick Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights.

Annapolis, where the picture is laid, is a dreamy city rich with tradition of heroes and bright with the glory of the pick of America's youth, eagerly awaiting the day when they will go down to the sea in ships.

The story is regarding two new entrants to the academy, both of whom have been star football players—one likes to brag considerably, while the other has little to say regarding his attainments on the football field—one rich and the other poor. It's a real story of real men and how they reached the heights they desired.

"Tailspin Tommy" serial, entitled "The Great Air Mystery," with the first episode "The Wreck of the Dirigible." The "Tailspin Tommy" characters are widely known, both through the comic strips and through previous picture serials, and this one should prove equally, if not more interesting.
