HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Washington. — The $3,000,000,000 Frazier-Lemke farm debt refinancing bill, on which was based the biggest "new money" drive of the session, was crushed last week under a landslide vote in the house. The 235 to 142 record ballot that killed the bill and sent lusty yells ringing through the packed house chamber climaxed one of the most hotly contested battles of the 74th congress and represented a victory for the house leadership. Sponsors of the legislation, sent down to defeat after five years of hard work to bring the measure to a vote, tried vainly to swing the tide in its favor by offering amendment after amendment designed to lure more votes. Some were accepted but did not change the final result.

Beaten in a presidential primary tussle with the Ohio republican party organization, Senator Borah (R., Ida.) charged that the party leadership had demonstrated that "they care nothing" for the constitution or state rights. For the purpose of securing the votes of colored people" he said, they had advocated passage of the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill, a measure, which, he added, "strikes at the very heart of state sovereignty, and if adopted would utterly destroy the fundamental principle of our dual sovereignty of government." Borah emerged from Tuesday's voting in Ohio with five delegates of the 52 which the state will send to the republican convention next month. The 47 others went to Robert A. Taft, running as a "favorite son" with the backing of the regular party organization. Borah supporters did not contest for 17 of the delegates. Taft adherents entered a full slate.

Columbus, O., two and possibly three Ohio incumbent democratic congressmen were defeated for renomination in the Ohio primary by an avalanche of votes ostensibly directed to their opponents by Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit's radio priest. Not only did the National Union for Social Justice, directed by Father Coughlin, score a triumph over incumbent lawmakers, but apparently 15 of its 32 nominees in both parties were nominated, with the possibility of a 16th being added by late returns. The strength of the National Union for Social Justice was one of the biggest surprises of the state-wide primary of which there were many. Democratic and republican leaders thought that the organization's influence would be felt in the primary, but never suspected its actual strength.

Washington.—The senate finance committee, in a series of swift, significant decisions, evolved a compromise tax plan that would increase corporation levies and boost by one-fourth the individual income tax rate. Committeemen said they were approaching an agreement on a revision of the house tax program, although details might be altered when the treasury submits a revenue estimate. Some members went so far as to predict that the plan would be accepted as it now is. It would: Place a flat 18 per cent tax on corporation income, a flat 7 per cent on undistributed corporation earnings, make corporate dividends subject to the normal individual income tax and raise the latter from 4 to 5 per cent.

Paris.—Leon Blum, expected to become France's first socialist premier, indicated in a speech that he was anxious to seek "legal death" for France's debts to America. The leader of the people's front, addressing the American club, deplored the existence of what he termed a "misunderstanding" between the United States and France, and declared: "In France we believe the question of debts is eliminated." Socialist sources said the premier had no intention of reopening debt talks, but would be "glad to consider" American or British proposals for a legal end to the question. In contrast to his speech at the American club, where he had lunch beside United States Ambassador Strauss, Blum, in his shirt sleeves, addressed 50,000 of his followers jammed into a Paris hall for a demonstration celebrating the socialist victory in the recent chamber of deputies elections.

Boise.—Gov. C. Ben Ross, confronted by some opposition within his own democratic party in Idaho, said he isn't worried and predicted that if he meets Sen. William E. Borah in the United States senatorial contest, Borah will be the loser. "Borah," the governor said in an interview, "is a political Goliath—but 1936 is a democratic year." Ross has not announced for the democratic senatorial nomi-

School Closed Friday

The final wind-up of the school term was completed last Friday afternoon with the passing out of report cards and attendance certificates. All of the local eighth grade pupils passed the state examinations and will take their places in high school next year. It is expected that all of the teachers, with the exception of John King, who resigned to enter store work, will return next year. Just who will fill Mr. King's place has not yet been decided.

ROAD WORK GOING FORWARD VERY NICELY

According to N. E. Walker, superintendent of construction on the Cedar creek WPA project, work is going forward in good shape, they now having 51 men on the job. He said that about a mile of roughed-out road had been built and that the next mile would be much faster work.

While no definite word has been received at Kendrick, it is stated that there is a pretty good chance for the building of a new grade up Waucher gulch, which has been one of the dreams of the people of the Kendrick section and they are willing to do all possible to help put the idea across with the state officials. This, of course lays within Nez Perce county and all Kendrick can do is lend their support by voice, which has been done unstintingly.

There is no information as to just when the nearly three miles of road will be started at Arrow. When this work is begun, reports say, it will be necessary to use the Hubbard gulch road from Juliaetta, or go via Genesee.

If the Waucher gulch road is built this year it will mean many more votes in this section for Gov. C. Ben Ross, and if he runs against Bill Borah—he will need them!

Juliaetta Graduation Exercises

Sunday evening the Baccalaureate sermon for the graduating class of the Juliaetta High school was delivered by the Rev. George Calvert, assisted by Rev. A. E. Jones and F. O. Sapp. Music was provided by the girls' glee club, the sextet and Mrs. Winifred Grantham.

Monday evening the Class Day exercises were held in the school auditorium with the following program:

Professional ... Miss Bonita Sorenson
Salutatory ... Lois Sherman
Class History ... Joy Flesham
Song ... Girls Sextet
Class Poem ... Erma Heimgartner
Class Will ... Nellie Israel
School Activities ... George Calvert, Jr.
Song ... Vera Fix and Thelma Davis
Class Prophecy ... Waide Bowen
Juliaetta History ... Tom Whalen

Valedictory Address ... Lola Grove
Song ... Girls' Glee Club

The Rev. Orval Peterson, pastor of the Christian church of Lewiston, will deliver the graduation address to the class Wednesday evening, in the auditorium.

The members of the class are: Lola Groves, Lois Sherman, Joy Flesham, Erma Heimgartner, Nellie Israel, Waide Bowen, Tom Whalen, Willard Bowen, George Calvert, Jr., and Walter Millard.

The school will close Friday with an all day picnic in the Juliaetta

Shower And Bridge Party

Tuesday afternoon the home of Mrs. E. A. Deobald was the scene of a delightful stork shower and bridge party. The shower was given in honor of Mrs. D. A. Christensen and the bridge following in honor of Mrs. C. Snowling of Salt Lake City, mother of Mrs. Christensen.

The guests were Mrs. Tom Long, Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mrs. Helen Boyd, Mrs. Ethel Emery, Mrs. W. B. Deobald, Mrs. W. L. McCreary, Mrs. F. H. Rider, Mrs. Wade T. Keene, Mrs. Geo. Leith, Mrs. R. H. Ramey, Mrs. L. D. Crocker, Mrs. Edgar Long, Mrs. F. B. Higley, Mrs. H. B. Thompson and the guests of honor, Mrs. Christensen and Mrs. Snowling, with Mrs. W. A. Watts as joint hostess with Mrs. Deobald.

High score award went to Mrs. F. B. Higley and a guest prize to Mrs. Snowling.

Mrs. Christensen received many beautiful and useful gifts from the assembled guests.

An Oklahoma painter is said to have painted more than a hundred portraits and landscapes with a spray gun. Oh, that's how they do it!

THE NEW AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Conspicuous features of the adaptation to Idaho of the new agricultural conservation program as just approved by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace are the recognition of noxious weed control as a soil conserving practice and the classification of summer-fallow as a soil-depleting practice, according to Dean E. J. Iddings, director of the state extension service. Credit for adoption of both of these regulations and especially the recognition of weed control as a soil-conserving practice is due to information presented and recommendations made to the Washington administrative officials by the Idaho technical committee. The decision with regard to weeds is expected to contribute to the success in Idaho of organized efforts to control weeds and to stimulate general interest in the problem of conserving soil resources.

The rates of payment which Idaho farmers may earn for specific soil-building practices under the 1936 agricultural conservation program have been received by Dean Iddings from Secretary of Agriculture Wallace. The practices follow, in general, the recommendations made by the state technical committee for Idaho and are especially adapted to conditions in the state.

The payments are to be made for new seedings of legumes and grasses, for seeding and plowing under of green-manure crops, for planting forest trees, and for control of noxious perennial weeds, all on crop land. The rates of payment represent a substantial proportion of the out-of-pocket cost of putting the practices into operation, but are not intended to cover all the costs. The payments will be made later in the year after compliance has been checked in the county.

Farmers of the state may substitute perennial noxious weed control, and, in certain areas of the state, the seeding of legumes and grass crops on land which has been "trashy" followed, for soil-conserving crops and thus qualify for soil-conserving payments on that acreage. Summerfallow has been classified as a soil-depleting use of land in Idaho, and other additions have been made to the soil-depleting and soil-conserving classifications.

If grasses and legumes are planted with a nurse or companion crop that is harvested for grain or hay, the acreage so used is eligible to be classified as used for a soil-building practice, but is not to be regarded as devoted to a soil-conserving crop. Certain practices apply only in southern Idaho, including most of the far southern counties.

Director Iddings points out that the limit of the soil-building payments which farmers may earn is the soil-building allowance for the farm. This is determined by multiplying the number of acres in soil-conserving crops or uses on the farm by $1. Unless otherwise specified, the payments for seedings of legumes and grasses are to be made if the crops were seeded between the fall of 1935 and October 31, 1936.

For seedings of perennial grasses or pasture mixtures of grasses and legumes the rate is $3.50 an acre for irrigated land and $2 an acre for non-irrigated land.

Green-manure crops, if seeded on crop land between the fall of 1935 and July 1, 1936, grown in 1936 and plowed under as green manure by October 1, 1936, after attaining at least two months' growth, will qualify for a payment of $2 an acre.

For chemical control of perennial noxious weeds the rate is $10 an acre, and for continuous clean-cultivation control of perennial noxious weeds the rate is $5 an acre. The weed control must be according to approved methods and standards recommended by the University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment station. Perennial noxious weeds include morning glory or bindweed, white top or hoary cress, Russian knapweed, leafy spurge, perennial sow thistle, Canada thistle, perennial ground cherry, blue flowering lettuce, poverty weed, and wild snapdragon.

For alfalfa and red clover the rate is $3 an acre on irrigated land and $2 an acre on non-irrigated land.

The rate for planting forest trees, on crop land, between September 1, 1935 and October 31, 1936, is $5 an acre.

MAN-CAUSED FIRES PROVE VERY EXPENSIVE

Although lightning started more than two-thirds of the forest fires in Region One of the Forest Service in 1935, those caused by man were responsible for nearly half the total cost of fire suppression for the year. These man-caused fires occasioned two-thirds of the total damage done by flames in the forests. The dollar value per acre burned was a little higher in the case of lightning fires than for the man-caused blazes.

The average cost of suppression per lightning fire was $123, compared with an average of $203 per man-caused blaze. Damage toll per lightning fire averaged $30, whereas the average per man-caused fire was $73. The difference in damage is accounted for by the fact that the average area of man-caused fires was 28 acres, while the lightning fire average was seven acres.

The records from which these figures are taken are the cost sheets of the 1,398 forest fires in the region which required Forest Service action in 1935, including those on National Forest lands, on privately owned land within the Forest boundaries and on lands outside of the forest boundaries when flames menaced federal lands. Lightning started 958 of the fires.

Smokers started most of the man-caused fires, the average expense of suppression being $154, and the average damage being $57. The average size was 10 acres. Campers were responsible for the second largest number of fires, with an average suppression cost of $123 and damage of $17. The average size was 23 acres.

In numbers of man-caused fires, the classifications are: Smokers, 232; campers, 91; debris burning, 31; railroad operations, 26; lumbering, 8; incendiary, 7; miscellaneous, 45.

"The significance of these comparisons cannot be overlooked," is Regional Forester Evan W. Kelley's comment. "The actual amount of money expended to put out the forest fires caused by man was enough to finance construction of 18 homes at an average cost of $5,000. The damage that was caused was enough for six more such homes. All that is required to prevent such destruction is the exercise of ordinary care in the small things on the part of users of the forests. The exercise of such care, too, does not cause any inconvenience to an individual."

Grade School Picnic

The grade school pupils and their parents held a picnic and athletic program at the Kendrick park last Thursday afternoon, and everyone reported a very enjoyable time.

In the first and second grade race Unna Pemberton was first and James Candler second. Third and fourth grade race: Aloe May Hill first, Clyde Daugherty, Jr., second. Fifth and sixth grade race: Evelyn Farrington, first; Robert LaHatt, second. Seventh and eighth grade race: Eunice Henderson was first and Frank Candler, second.

In the sack race Billy Deobald was first. In the three-legged race Lloyd Farrington and John Brewster Thompson were the winners. In the tire race Frank Candler and Noel Thomas were the winners. In the pre-school race Junior Brocke was the winner.

In the ladies' race Mrs. Edgar Dammarell was the winner and Mrs. W. B. Deobald a close second.

Clyde Daugherty Appointed

After months of delay, Acting Postmaster Clyde Daugherty received a wire Thursday afternoon from Senator Pope notifying him of his appointment as postmaster at Kendrick for a term of four years.

Mr. Daugherty has been acting as postmaster for some two years or more, he following E. H. Dammarell in the local office.

Light Frost Sunday Morning

A light frost was noticeable last Sunday morning to those who arose a little early. However, there was a considerable amount on the ridges and up at Genesee it was said that many of the tender vegetables were badly "nipped." There was no damage done here so far as known.

Bean Planting

Most of the beans in this section of the Potlatch are now in the ground, however, many others are holding off for more rain, saying there is no particular hurry. According to farmers that know, it all depends on the condition of the ground and the location.

Entertained At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Galloway on Sunday entertained the following guests at a 1:30 dinner: Mr. and Mrs. Wade T. Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Watts, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Christensen, Mrs. C. Snowling of Salt Lake City, Mrs. Hardman from Peck, Rilla Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Norla Callison, Miss Wilma D. Havens, John Thomas and Miss Orene Hardman.

FARMERS AND BUSINESS MEN MUST LOOK FORWARD

Few persons who stop to admire the spring and early summer window displays realize that back of every progressive development the enterprise has made many hours of careful planning. Results prove that successful business concerns didn't "just grow" like Topsy—haphazard methods have no place in a wise businessman's program.

A merchant's income is measured by total sales less all expenses; a farmer's income, likewise, is measured in the same manner. The businessman plans both for the present and the future; the progressive farmer will do likewise.

The merchant estimates labor, merchandise, depreciation, and other costs. He does not know to what his net sales will amount. The farmer has similar expenses and problems. He does not know what prices his products will command nor does he know how much his land will produce.

Too often the farmer fails to look to the future. His land depreciates just as surely as does a business building. Valuable topsoil, which determines what a piece of land will produce, is washed down stream or blown away. The wise farmer will do all in his power to preserve his land. The progressive farmer who plans will, just as surely as the progressive merchant, be successful not only now but also in years to come.

Entertained At Dinner

The home of Mrs. M. A. Deobald on American ridge was on Sunday the scene of a very happy gathering those present being Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Deobald and family of Kendrick; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bechtol and family of Moscow; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and family of Juliaetta and Mrs. Eva Thompson from Orofino—this being the first time in three years that Mrs. Thompson had been at the home of her mother.

There were 24 in all present at the gathering and the day was surely a joyful one. There were many beautiful flowers in evidence and the bountiful chicken dinner was no small part of the festivities. And to top it all off—there was freezers of home-made ice cream, that everyone so thoroughly enjoys.

Locust Trees In Bloom

The locust trees along Main street and throughout the town are now in full bloom, and the air is heavy with the sweet scent they give. A visitor to town cannot help but remark about their beauty as well as the odor.

Some visitors, however, fail to see their beauty, for they have been unwary enough to park their car under one of the big trees and the honey dripping from the bloom will put on a sticky spot that requires a lot of washing to remove.

Takes Public Accountant Test

A Boise dispatch, under date of May 16, says: "Two University of Idaho star athletes and one woman were among the 10 applicants who completed examinations for state certified public accountant licenses Saturday."

"Only 44 such licenses have been issued since the examinations first were required in 1917," said D. B. Cruikshank, director of the bureau of licenses.

Cecil W. Geraghty and James W. Kalbus, Idaho athletic stars took the exams. The women is Miss Doris Emery, of Boise.

Bridge Party

Frida evening Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary entertained a number of friends at a dessert-bridge party.

High scores for the evening were won by Mrs. R. H. Ramey and R. L. Plewett, while low award went to Mrs. F. H. Rider and Tom Long.

Handkerchief Shower

A number of the Rebeccas surprised Selma Hartung with a handkerchief shower Friday afternoon, in honor of her birthday anniversary.

MARKET WEAKER WITH BETTER CROP PROSPECTS

No outstanding changes occurred in the grain situation during the week ended May 15, but wheat weakened slightly with further improvement in new crop prospects and feed grains were barely steady despite smaller market receipts, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Wheat values moved more definitely toward a new crop basis with the spread between old and new crop prices in the futures markets narrowed to less than 5c per bushel compared with nearly 10c two weeks ago. Milling demand was only moderate but most mills were buying only for current needs. Barley was barely steady, reflecting better growing weather and plentiful supplies of old grain.

While little additional moisture was received in the domestic winter wheat belt, the crop showed general improvement as a result of good growing weather following light rains. The condition of the crop May 1 was estimated at 67 per cent of normal and indicated a crop of 463,708,000 bushels or about 30,000,000 bushels above the 1935 harvest.

Domestic cash wheat markets weakened slightly along with futures, with mills purchasing mostly for current needs and not inclined to accumulate stocks at current values. Marketings of winter wheat fell off materially with a total of 608 cars at the principal markets against 818 cars a week ago. Mill takings at Kansas City were limited principally to grains needed for blending and shippers purchases were rather irregular. A feature of the local market was the sale of approximately 1,000,000 bushels of wheat out of public local elevators for shipment to Chicago. These sales were made possible by a sharp decline in the Kansas City May delivery which placed this option at a shipping differential under Chicago. At the close of the week, No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Kansas City at 92½c to 95c. At Chicago No. 2 hard winter was quoted at 95c to $1.00 per bushel.

Offerings of soft winter wheat were relatively light and readily taken. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted at St. Louis at $1.01 and at Chicago at 95c to 97½c and at Kansas City at 91½c to 94c per bushel.

Marketings of spring wheat were moderate and receipts totaled 584 cars at Minneapolis and 243 cars at Duluth. Mills continued to purchase only as needed and demand was principally for high protein lots but low test wheat also moved readily. The protein of the cars tested averaged high.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were rather unsettled. Denver mills lowered bids to 83c per bushel for No. 2 northern spring and 15 per cent protein No. 2 hard winter, basis Colorado common points. Mills at Ogden paid about the same prices as a week ago, with No. 2 hard white at 90c, No. 2 northern spring at 89c and No. 2 hard winter at 84c per bushel, FOB Utah and Idaho common points.

The Portland market, on the other hand, advanced slightly, with prices on all varieties up about ¼c from a week ago. Light offerings, with a fair local mill inquiry were principally responsible for the firmness. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled only 233 cars. Flour sales to the Philippines under the indemnity plan increased with around 12,000 barrels sold during the week, bringing the total to around 80,000 barrels. Moderate quantities of high protein wheat were sold to California but local prices were above a shipping basis to middlewestern and gulf markets. At the close of the week 13 per cent protein hard white (blue-stem) was quoted at Portland at $1.15, with 12 per cent at $1.09, and 12 per cent protein dark hard winter at $1.00, soft white and western white at 81½c, hard winter, northern spring and western red at 80½c per bushel, all basis No. 1, sacked. At Seattle, western white was quoted at 82c, western red and hard winter at 81c and hard white (baart) at $1.11 per bushel, basis No. 1, sacked.

California wheat markets continued to weaken with favorable prospects for the new crop and increased movement of new wheat from the Imperial valley. The May 1 condition indicated the largest crop since 1928.

Pacific Northwestern oats markets strengthened moderately with a fairly good inquiry for current offerings and country marketings hardly equal to the occasional cars need for market requirements. Gray oats were not quoted at Portland as supplies of this type were very light. No. 2 white oats were quoted May 14 at $1.13 to $1.15 per 100, sacked basis. Pacific Northwestern barley markets developed a slightly firmer tone with a stronger holding tendency on the part of growers and a slightly more active local demand the principal strengthening influence. Firmness in the California barley situation and strength in millfeed prices were also sustaining influences. On May 14 No. 2 bright western barley was quoted at Portland at $1.17½ per 100.

Our Bill On Rampage

Over at Newark, N. J., one night last week Senator Borah declared that: "No party alignment would control me for a minute" if the republican national convention ignored the issue of monopolies and followed up with the assertion that "entering the democratic ranks wouldn't stop me."

The Idaho republican, carrying his campaign for the party's presidential nomination into New Jersey, emphasized that he had no plans to enter the democratic ranks and said he had "given no thought to a third party movement at this time."

"I only know that I'll stick to the issues," he said.

Washington On Map, Too

Quite a few people have remarked that about all Bill Borah did was to keep Idaho "on the map." Well, the state of Washington also has a would-be law-maker that certainly is keeping that state "on the map" too.

Congressman Zioncheck from Seattle is keeping that things "moving" during the past few weeks, his escapades running all the way from Washington, D. C., to the Virgin Islands, via Porto Rico, which latter place he left because he thought it might be "best" to do so. However, during his whirlwind trips around the country he got himself a wife, who has thus far managed to keep up with him in his travels.

Had Tonsils Removed

Carl Hodgins of the Thomas Creamery force had his tonsils removed at the office of Dr. Christensen Monday morning. Carl isn't saying much about it in a loud voice for a few days, anyway.

Parents Of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dageforerde are the proud parents of a baby daughter, who arrived at their home Tuesday morning for an extended stay. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to the many friends for the kindness and sympathy given during the illness and passing of our dear husband and father.

Mrs. Mattie Hayward,
Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hayward and Family,
Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hayward and Family,
Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Perry and Family,
Mr. Rupert Hayward.

Leland School Notes

The Eighth grade Commencement exercises and closing day program of the Leland school was held at 8:00 Wednesday evening, May 20th, in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Most of the program consisted of songs, recitations and drills, with Rev. Roy Metcalf addressing the graduating class.

Betty Hoffman has earned the honor of being valedictorian and Ervin Draper, salutatorian.

Grades four to eight inclusive have been taking achievement tests this week, as well as final tests.

An all-school community picnic will be held Friday, May 22.

tion but he has left little doubt that he intends to run. If Borah should win the republican presidential nomination or if he should decide not to seek reelection to a sixth term as senator from Idaho, at least two republicans—State Senator Ralph E. Whitten and Ray McKaig, deputy national grange master—have announced they will seek the nomination in the August primary. Others have been mentioned.

"This Is The Life"

A performance that traces a course from heart-rending pathos to the gayest comedy, punctuated with liltng songs and dancing feet, is given by nine-year-old Jane Withers, featured in "This Is The Life," which comes to the Kendrick Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights.

Following the little actress' triumph in "Ginger," this new and scintillating personality has been cast in a roll in which she emerges as a full-fledged singing and dancing star as well as a dramatic actress of the first rank.

In "This Is The Life," which is set in the glamour of the theatre, little Jane Withers plays her most dramatic role as a child performer who yearns to be just a "regular kid" and travels the road from riches to rags to achieve that desire.

In addition there will be another of the serial "Tailspin Tommy," as well as other interesting features.

 the week-end at the Geo. Christensen home.

WPA Funds Last To June 15
 If additional funds are not made available by June 15, all strictly federal WPA projects in Idaho—involving 9,000 men and women and their dependents—will be temporarily suspended, declared J. L. Hood, state director, at Boise, last Saturday.
 On that date, he said, the Idaho WPA will have exhausted allocations of $4,788,807 made since the relief organization got under way Sept. 10, 1935. The 1937 allocation of funds is expected July 1.

The closing order will not apply to the northern Idaho blister rust control project, which is expected to employ 5,000 relief and non-relief men in Idaho until Oct. 1, nor to the soil conservation project or any others which have direct allocations, he explained.
 Hood said also the state will be forced to carry the greater burden of the relief load because of the social security program. In meeting the June 15 quota of 9,000 set by WPA officials in Washington, D. C., the state has been forced to eliminate 1,250 aged men and women with dependents under 16 years old from the rolls. The social security set-up provides for these.

 Mrs. Paul Dagefoerde.
 June Parks is staying this week at the home of her uncle, Harold Parks.
 The Fred Glenn family were Lewiston visitors Tuesday.

Seek To Break Speed Record
 Harlan Fengler, automotive engineer of Los Angeles, said work will start within the next six weeks on a $100,000 automobile which he hoped can break the 301 miles an hour record of Sir Malcolm Campbell.
 Fengler said the car will be powered with two 12-cylinder, 2,000 horse power engines, mounted horizontally, one attached to the front wheels and the other to the back.
 It will be driven at the Daytona beach, Fla., speedway by Lou Moore, well known racing driver, said Fengler.
 A model of the car has already been constructed, said Fengler, and backing secured from various manufacturing concerns and a private syndicate.

Follows Idea Through
 One of those youthful hoochblacks with portable plants approached a man hurrying across City Hall Park.
 "You need a shine Mister," he said,
 "and I can give you a swell one for fi' cents."
 "Haven't time," the prospect said without slowing his pace. "Come up to see me some time."
 "O. K., mister," the youngster said, fairly running to keep alongside.
 "Where do you hang out?"
 The prospect halted, grinned and gave the little hoochblack his office address. The boy was waiting for him when he arrived at his office the next morning and the contract was performed.—New York Sun.

He Identified It
 First Inebriate: "I found (hic) a half dollar."
 Second Inebriate: "It's mine, it's got my name on it."
 "What's your name?"
 "E Pluribus Unum."
 "Yeah, it's yours."
 Don't say science isn't resourceful.
 It couldn't pry open the day coach window, so it air-conditioned the whole train.

His One Oversight
 This is the story of a prudent man,
 as told by a Kansas newspaper:
 He brushed his teeth twice a day, wore rubbers in wet weather, did his daily dozen, slept with windows open, was careful with his diet, had a medical examination twice a year, never smoked, drank or indulged in any kind of excesses. He was all set to live to be 100 years old.
 The funeral was held last Wednesday. He is survived by 18 specialists, four health institutes, six gymnasiums and numerous manufacturers of health food and antiseptics.
 He had forgotten to look out for a train at a grade crossing.
 Visitor—"What line do you expect your boy to go into?"
 Father—"Well, I've decided to make a lawyer of him. He just likes to get into a quarrel and mix into other people's business, and I figger he may as well get paid for it."
 The strong silent man may be a real genius and then again perhaps he is just another oyster.

My goodness, folks—but isn't the political pot boiling—and how the mud is flying. Almost reminds one of the rainy season—with the exception that nothing is dirtier than political mud.

By the way—We are now packing our ice cream in individual quart sealed containers—the most sanitary way known. Take home a quart or more. You'll love its true vanilla or fruit flavors.

Have you tried our butter? It is make right to taste and smell right. We invite you to watch us make it. Once you use it you'll never use another creamery brand.

Mechanics Prof: "Describe the mechanism of a steam shovel."
Frosh: "Don't kid me. You can't carry steam on a shovel!"

"Is'n funny I don't remember limpin when I lef' home," said the drunk, as he wobbled down the street, with one foot on the curb and the other in the gutter.

Bride: "Dear, what is the true definition of a groom?"
Hubby: "Why, a groom is a man who takes care of dumb animals."

CRESCENT CLIPPINGS

(Delayed)

Herman Loeser, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Loeser, received quite a severe cut on the top of his head Sunday evening. He and Frankie were making posts and they scarcely knew just how the accident occurred. He was taken to Kendrick and Dr. Christensen sewed up the wound.

School closed Friday, May 1, for this year, and Miss Frances Farrish returned to her home at Asotin that same evening. She will teach here again next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kent went to Lewiston Saturday, where Mrs. Kent received chiropractic treatment.
