HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Washington.—Joseph Wellington Byrns, speaker of the house, died early last Thursday morning of a cerebral hemorrhage that struck him at the height of the drive for an early adjournment of congress. The unexpected passing of the man who had ruled the house with a strong hand during the difficult times of the 74th congress threw deep uncertainty around the hopes of his colleagues to end the current session within the next four days. Byrns was stricken by a heart attack about 5:30 p. m. W. B. Bankhead of Alabama has been elected speaker of the house to succeed his friend, Wellington Byrns.

Shanghai.—Ancient China is preparing for war with Japan—and she has a modern army to back her if war comes. Japan's continued military penetration in north China, coupled with the wholesale smuggling in that area, will—Chinese themselves assert—force the central government at last to defend itself. China, they say, can expect no help from other powers or from the league of nations. But Nanking, foreign observers believe, will not force a showdown unless Japan tries to extend active authority beyond the limits of Hopei and Chahar provinces. If Japan attempts, however, to go south of the Yellow river, China is expected to oppose Japan to the fullest. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, semi-dictator, of the national government, now has half a million loyal, well-trained, well-equipped troops. In case of an emergency he can also count upon another quarter million from the provinces, provided the regional war lords support him. These men are equipped with light trench mortars, rifles, hand grenades, heavy and light machine guns—all made in Chinese arsenals after European and Japanese models.

Chicago.—The highest prices for potatoes in nine years were paid by merchants and housewives Saturday. A crop shortage, largely as a result of frosts and drought in many important producing regions, has caused potatoes to soar sharply here and in other large market centers. Top prices are equivalent to approximately 75 cents a peck wholesale. A shortage of potatoes second only to that of 1927 was reported by the department of agriculture. Prices on new potatoes here were quoted up to $5 a hundred pounds on carload lots as against $1.80 a year ago. In 1927 the prices soared to $7.50. Old potatoes, Idaho russets, sold for $4.75 as against $1.65 a year ago and $6.25 in 1927. Wholesale prices reported the advance in prices has resulted in diminishing consumer demand although many merchants said supplies were short.

Radio Stolen And Recovered

The Farmers National Warehouse office at Kendrick was entered Tuesday night of last week, and a radio belonging to Manager Wade Keene (a Christmas gift) stolen, as were also a box of tools and other small items.

The sheriff's office located the stolen items the next evening in a car stolen from Potlatch, and hidden in the brush near Troy.

The car was watched that night by the sheriffs for the culprits return, but evidently scenting trouble, they did not come back, and the car was driven to Moscow Thursday morning, and it and contents returned to the owners. Some excellent fingerprints were taken and trouble is in the offing for the offender (or offenders) when the corresponding print is found. At any rate, Wade was mighty glad to get back his goods, but promises that if he ever catches anyone burglarizing the warehouse, he will not hesitate to use his automatic shotgun on the offender—and they are mighty bad medicine.

Beans Moving Slowly

The Kendrick Rochdale reports the shipment of two cars of beans during the past week, but states the "fruit" seems to be riding a dull market.

The Kendrick Bean Growers association report several small shipments, mostly by truck, during the past week.

Idaho To Get $2,261,162 For Roads

Representative Cartwright (D.-Okla.) and co-author of the $461,000,000 Hayden-Cartwright bill providing federal funds for road construction, announced the approximate amount each state would receive for regular federal aid highways, farm-to-market roads and grade crossing elimination.

The state must match the funds for the first two types of work. The grade-crossing allotments will be direct grants.

Congressional action on the measure was completed when the house adopted a conference report on it and sent it to the White House.

The figures prepared by Cartwright included:

For Idaho—Federal aid, $1,531,162; farm to market, $310,000; grade crossings, $420,000.

For Oregon — $2,044, 633, $410,000 and $580,000.

SOIL-CONSERVING RATE LATAH COUNTY IS $15.10

The average county soil-conserving (Class 1) payment rate for Latah County in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation Program, will average $15.10 an acre, Dean E. J. Iddings, in charge of the program in Idaho, announced this week.

County Agent McAlexander says that the rate for individual farms may vary considerably from this average for the county, for the reason that the rate per acre for individual farms will depend upon the productivity of the farm as compared with the average productivity of all farms in the county.

This rate is an average for the county. It has been determined on the assumption that no summer fallow, including clean cultivated orchards, will be included in the total of the soil-depleting base acreages for the county. The inclusion of summer fallow, including clean cultivated orchards, will result in a reduction in the rate, depending upon the proportion which summer fallow and orchard land is of the total of the soil-depleting bases. For instance, if 25 per cent of the total soil-depleting base acreages is made up of summer fallow and clean cultivated orchard, then the actual county rate will be 25 per cent less than the rate indicated above.

This rate should not be confused with the rates for soil-building (Class II) payments previously announced.

The county rates were worked out by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration on the basis of the yields of the principal soil-depleting crops raised in the county in the 10-year period 1923 to 1932, inclusive.

WPA Executives Visit

J. H. O'Rourke, district director for WPA projects for this district, and Glen Farthing of the department of Finance and Statistics, both of Coeur d'Alene, were in Kendrick on Thursday, June 4, looking over the Cedar creek WPA project and the city waterworks WPA project, both of which these gentlemen heartily approved.

They, with N. E. Walker, superintendent of the WPA project in the Cedar creek section, made a tour of both projects and the gentlemen returned to Coeur d'Alene much pleased with what has been and is being, accomplished.

Car Over Grade

Saturday evening a Chevrolet sedan belonging to Ben Plocker of near Spokane, went over the grade near the second sharp turn on Sperry grade. The car was being driven by his brother, Chas. Plocker of Leland with Ben Plocker as passenger. It was quite badly smashed up, and both men were very lucky to escape with only scratches and bruises.

The rain had caused the road to become quite slick, and the car was traveling without chains. The Kendrick Garage hauled it up onto the road and brought it into town Monday morning.

Entertained At Dinner

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Benjamin, on Little Bear ridge, was on Sunday the scene of a very fine dinner party that will be remembered for some time by the participants.

Those present to do justice to the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Long and Barbara Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Silvie Cook and Margaret, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Christensen and sons, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leith, all from Kendrick; Mr. and Mrs. Gunder Reiersen and children and Mrs. Arlos Crocker, a house guest, also from Kendrick.

KENDRICK COMMERCIAL CLUB IN MONTHLY MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club was held in the dining room of the Raby Hotel, dinner being served at 6:30 by Mrs. Paul Lind and it was thoroughly enjoyed by the small attendance—one of the smallest in numbers for many a month. However, what was lacking in numerical numbers was made up for by the earnestness with which those present took hold of affairs in hand.

After the reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting, election of officers for the ensuing year was in order. This did not take long because only one office was balloted for, the rest being by acclamation. President George Barnum, who has served the club faithfully and well during the past year as its president, was elected by acclamation, as was H. B. Thompson, who had served as secretary during the past year, his work in the interest of the club being more than satisfactory to the members. Silvie Cook was elected treasurer by acclamation and N. E. Walker vice-president, by ballot.

At the conclusion of the election of officers, President Barnum announced that chairmen of the standing committees would hold over until their successors, if any, were appointed.

N. E. Walker, chairman of the Highway committee, reported that work is progressing in a satisfactory manner on the WPA project on the Cedar creek road. Rain interfered somewhat with the work this week but the time can easily be made up. Mr. Walker also reported that bids would be opened today (Friday) for letting the contract for construction of more than two miles of the Wauncher gulch farm-to-market road. It is sincerely hoped that none of the bids are too high, as that would cause their rejection by the state road department.

Marvin Long, chairman of the Fish and Game committee, reported that he had made application to the state game department for several thousand trout and bass to be planted in the Big Potlatch and some tributaries, and the bass in Atwater Lake, and there is every reason to believe that the request will be granted.

W. J. Carroll announced that he had just returned from a trip to the county (accounting for the reason he was late) and that part of the distance was made on foot because there were no road signs to point himself and Marvin Long in the right direction. Anyway the matter was discussed at length and it was finally decided to put up the board signs that are still on hand, George Barnum and Everett Crocker offering to furnish cars to attend to this very important function.

Whether in your own section of the country, or somewhere else, especially at night, there is nothing half so nice to meet as a friendly road sign that will point the way to your destination.

There were several minor things discussed during the evening, after which adjournment was taken until Monday, July 13.

Death Of Young Man

Arthur Joseph Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Davidson, residing in the Pullman section, died at St. Ignace Hospital, Colfax, Wn., June 5, 1936, aged 16 years, eight months and 21 days, he having been born September 15, 1919. The cause of death was typhoid-pneumonia.

He leaves, besides his parents, to mourn their loss, three brothers, one sister and a host of other relatives and friends.

Funeral services were held from the Pullman Presbyterian church on Sunday, with interment in the Pullman cemetery.

The Davidson family are well and favorably known in the Kendrick section, although Arthur Joseph was but a babe when his parents moved to the Pullman section, where they reside on a farm.

Two brothers and the sister of the deceased are in the Colfax hospital suffering with typhoid.

FEROCIOUS ATTACK RELAYED BY PATROLMAN

The spectacle of a wildlife attack from the air, as ferocious and relentless as any maneuvered by humans, and vastly more cleverly executed, was enacted during the winter before the eyes of game patrolmen in the Nezperce National forest. The story has just reached the "outside," and is one of many interesting situations described among the daily records of the game patrolmen during last winter.

This stark drama of the wilderness pitted a huge eagle—mature's aerial dreadnaught—against the fleetness and elusiveness of a frantic yearling deer. The deer escaped temporarily, but even as the patrolman moved away the stage was set for a renewal of the attack.

Only a person who has experienced the terrors of an airplane bombing attack, or has weathered a storm of machine-gun bullets from above, can realize the abject sense of helplessness that gripped the deer as it raced in a mad attempt to escape its tormentor.

A band of mule deer were feeding about a mile from some cliffs along the upper Salmon river. With no other warning than the faint swish caused by the eagle's bomb-like dive through the air a feathered fury plunged among them. With lightning swift thrusts the eagle separated a yearling from the band.

The eagle had seen the cliffs as an instrument of destruction for its benefit. Flogging the deer unmercifully with its thrusts, the eagle attempted to drive it to the cliffs to plunge downward to death.

There is only one hope under such an attack—to scurry for cover. Madly the deer plunged down the steep mountain slopes, braving the eagle's driving blows. It reached the haven of the river, and the eagle gave up. But only for the nonce—the huge bird returned to its vigil over the band, awaiting another opportunity, while a badly frightened deer took a circuitous route back to its fellows.

Loot Now Higher

The total embezzlement charged against Mrs. Edna Eckersley, for almost 12 years treasurer of Lewis county, was announced at $25,218.36 by Accountant E. S. Rawls Saturday night after he completed an audit of the books and records of her office, which began May 18. This is $1,563.36 in excess of the $23,655 purported short, according to Rawls findings on May 18 when Mrs. Eckersley was placed under arrest and held under $10,000 bail after arraignment in probate court at Nezperce. She was elected treasurer of Lewis county in 1924 after teaching school in that town and at Winchester.

As soon as the audit of the office was finished Rawls turned his report over to the board of commissioners sitting in special session yesterday. It was accepted. The board immediately ordered a claim filed against the American Surety company, bonding Mrs. Eckersley for $25,000, or $218.36 less than she is charged with stealing.

Originally Mrs. Eckersley's bond was fixed at $50,000 but several years ago the board reduced it half. Mrs. Eckersley was sentenced Tuesday to a term of three to ten years in the state penitentiary, at hard labor.

Adjusted Service Bonds

Postmaster C. H. Daugherty has received instructions regarding the receipt and payment of the veterans' adjustment service bonds and it might be well for all who expect to receive such bonds to consult Mr. Daugherty regarding the handling of them.

According to the Postal Bulletin, the bonds in question will be dispatched on June 15, 1936, from 12 postoffices, the date of receipt at the local postoffice depending upon the transit time between the mailing office and Kendrick. These letters will be registered and will be marked for delivery to addressee only. Regardless of the fact that the registered letters may be addressed in care of a person or institution, delivery will be made only to the person to whom it is addressed.

The owner must sign the request for payment exactly as his name appears on the face of the bond and must write his address on each bond in the space provided.

Postmaster Daugherty asks that all who receive such bonds consult him regarding their handling as it will save much inconvenience and delay in getting them cashed, if they wish to do so.

That Million Dollar Rain

The much needed and long awaited "million dollar rain" struck the Potlatch section Saturday evening. Rain began falling about 7:30 p. m. and continued in an almost steady down-pour, with a brief stop Sunday morning, until about 10 o'clock Sunday night.

Wheat, oats, beans and barley, not to mention gardens and pastures, were "made", and a satisfactory crop is practically assured now.

The rain played havoc, however, with down hay and much alfalfa just starting to bloom and ready for the mower, putting large amounts on the ground. However, the good done will far outweigh the harm in dollars and cents, and since we can't control the time, we must take it as it comes.

CYCLONE CAUSES DEATH AND DESTRUCTION SUNDAY

Reubens, June 8.—(Special to Tribune)—Rolling black clouds wept gentle showers of rain today upon a sodden vale of destruction where a furious cyclone roared Sunday across rolling farmlands and pine-clad hills north of Reubens, leaving crushed buildings, uprooted trees and death.

In the little valley gathered groups of neighbors and curiosity-seekers surveying the strewn ruins of what yesterday had been the homestead farm of W. D. (Dave) Lough, instantly killed in the corkscrew blast which tore his sturdy residence into pieces and flung its debris over a radius of more than three miles.

Friends patiently searched surrounding fields and forest, retrieving valuable personal possessions swept away by the wind. Others, talking in hushed tones, reconstructed the tragedy bit by bit, while waiting for word from the Lewiston hospital as to the fate of Mrs. Lough, critically injured when the cyclone struck and hurled her amid flying timbers and machinery 200 feet or more through the air. Chickens cackled in the poultryhouse which, only a few feet from the Lough home, was untouched by the gale.

Old-time settlers said there had never before been a storm such as the Sunday cyclone, which spent its fury somewhere down in the Peck canyon. Early visitors found a scene of incredible destruction. Where the sturdy Lough home had stood a few minutes before was only the bare concrete foundation. The big barn had disappeared, torn to shreds. The roof and sides of the garage were gone, the automobile turned completely around and lying on its side. The walls of the granary were swept away but the roof rested on the ground, undamaged.

Two hundred feet from the house covered by debris in a manure pile, were the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Lough. Dave Lough had been killed instantly, apparently by a crushing blow on the head. Mrs. Lough, her feet firmly imbedded in the pile of debris, boards and a cream separator covering her body, was half conscious, groaning and complaining of a terrible pain in her chest. She said they were standing at the kitchen window watching the storm approach from the west. She remembered the howling blast blowing the window pane in against their faces—and that was all.

Evidence abounded on every hand of the gigantic wrath of the storm. Heavy timbers, shingles, bed clothing and household furniture and articles were scattered for three miles along the path of the cyclone, marked by broken treetops where it veered into the Clearwater across Indian timber reserve. A concrete pillar three feet long and a foot in width was picked out of the barn foundation and dropped down on the hillside beyond. The heavy kitchen range in the home was carried nearly half a block by the wind and dropped near the bodies of its owners.

The debris from the house was scattered over the site of the barn, while the wreckage of the barn was carried in an opposite direction. Pieces of timber were lodged in the treetops of the pine woods across the ridge. A postal card picked up by the wind in the Lough home was found this morning on the Peck grade, more than 12 miles away.

Spokane Business Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald and daughter Arlene and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer were Spokane business visitors Tuesday, making the round-trip that day.

WHEAT MARKET FIRM OWNING TO DETERIORATION

Wheat markets continued to strengthen during the week ending June 5, influenced principally by deterioration of the spring crop, both in the United States and Canada and less favorable prospects in Europe, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The arrival at southwestern markets of the first new grain of the season tended to lower cash premiums for winter wheat. Oats and barley were unsettled, influenced by uncertain new crop prospects and fluctuating demand.

Inadequate moisture in important spring wheat areas of the United States and Canada and less favorable prospects in Europe were strengthening influences in the wheat situation during the first week in June. Important areas in Montana received beneficial rains during the week and the general situation held fairly satisfactory in western Minnesota and eastern North and South Dakota. In central and western North and South Dakota, however, the crop deteriorated because of inadequate moisture. Generous rains during June will be necessary for recovery and to bring the crop through the critical period. Private estimates at the first of June forecast the domestic spring wheat crop at about 65,000,000 bushels over the 1935 output.

The outlook for spring wheat in Canada was uncertain at the first of June, unusually high temperatures and lack of rain during the last ten days of May gave grain prospects a very definite reverse in southern and central sections of the prairie provinces and conditions were only slightly improved by scattered showers and lower temperatures early in June.

In northwestern Europe and in countries of the lower Danube, excessive rains with unseasonal cool weather has lower crop conditions. Prospects in Spain and France remain unfavorable and the Italian harvest is still uncertain with some rust damage reported.

Prospects for winter wheat in the United States improved toward the latter part of May and trade estimates at the first of June forecast an output about 35,000,000 bushels over the official May forecast. Harvesting has begun in southern Kansas and new wheat was marketed in fair volume during the week at Fort Worth and other points in north Texas and Oklahoma. The quality of the receipts at Fort Worth was excellent with most of the arrivals grading No. 1 dark hard winter. The new wheat sold readily at around $1.00 per bushel delivered Texas common points, but old grain was in slow demand.

Wheat receipts at St. Louis were not sufficient to establish values and no quotations were available on hard winter wheat. No. 2 soft winter, however, was quoted in that market at $1.00 per bushel. At Chicago 90c to 94c and at Kansas City at 90c per bushel. Demand for soft winter wheat was rather slow although premiums were steady to 1c higher at Chicago.

Spring wheat markets were independently firm with receipts light, totaling 472 cars at Minneapolis and 202 cars at Duluth. Milling demand was only fair. Durum wheat advanced 4c to 5c per bushel. As a result further purchases of Canadian wheat were reported, mainly of No. 4 grade testing around 54 pounds per bushel.

Canadian markets advanced about 2½c per bushel, influenced by the unfavorable new crop prospects in the Prairie provinces. No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg at the close of the week at 80c.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were steady but gains were less than in the central west. At Denver mills were bidding 82c per bushel for No. 2 northern spring and 15 per cent protein No. 2 hard winter, FOB Colorado common points. Mills at Ogden continued to offer 71c for No. 2 soft white, 88c for No. 2 hard white and 80c per bushel for No. 2 northern spring and No. 2 hard winter.

The Portland market was dull with a slow milling inquiry, little outside demand and small country marketings. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled only 208 cars. Small quantities of high protein wheat were sold to California mills, but local mills took mostly special lots to complete mixtures. Flour business was only moderate with sales to the Philippines to date totaling 100,100 barrels. The time for shipment of the Philippine flour has been extended to September 30, but the period for making sales closes

Old-Timers Visit

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hamley and daughter, Miss Gladys, from Pendleton, Oregon, were visitors in Kendrick for a few hours Wednesday afternoon, renewing acquaintance with the old-timers here.

Mr. Hamley for many years was in business in Kendrick, before the big fire, but has been located at Pendleton almost since that time. He has one of the finest and most complete saddlery stores in the Northwest.

Removed Tumor

A bloody tumor was removed from the left leg of Jeannie Flaig Saturday at the office of Dr. D. A. Christensen and the little girl is getting along nicely.

King Of Burlesque

"King Of Burlesque," one of the screen's best musical comedies, with Warner Baxter, Alice Faye, Jack Oakie and Arlene Judge as head-lines, will be shown at the Kendrick Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights. The picture tells an absorbing love story of the people who make the nation's entertainment.

With his trusted aides, Baxter has climbed from side-street honkey-tonks to Broadway's glittering palaces. Then when he falls in love with a lovely society woman who represents everything he had hoped to attain, he deserts his erstwhile friends—then the fun starts and things keep lively throughout the picture.

There will also be another installment of "Tailspin Tommy" and other interesting features.

Scenes Of Carnage

A writer in a recent issue of the American Mercury, presented a new and interesting view of the automobile accident problem. He observed that, in the light of present-day conditions, it is not remarkable that 36,000 persons are being killed in traffic accidents annually—but that it is remarkable that the number is not several times as great.
In the average state, almost anyone not completely crippled can obtain a license to drive a car, irrespective of his ability, responsibility, intelligence or judgement. If he chooses, he can operate a car that belongs by rights in the junk heap—a car with an inaudible horn, feeble or glaring lights, uncertain brakes, and a steering gear affected with St. Vitus dance.
If he drives that car in a dangerous manner, cutting curves, weaving in and out of traffic, and "giving her the gun" whenever possible, the chances are that he will escape arrest —and that if he is arrested, he will be assessed a relatively small fine and permitted to go right on driving.
When the inevitable finally occurs, and someone is killed or injured because of his recklessness or incompetence, he may have a harder time getting out of the mess—but that won't bring a dead person to life.
If any progress is to be made in reducing the horrible toll of automobile deaths and injuries, stringent methods must be adopted. Traffic codes must be modernized and enforced with the utmost strictness and impartiality. Much higher qualifications for the issuance of "driver's licenses must be established. And the unsafe automobile, as well as the unsafe driver, must be banished from the road.

Drunk (bumping into lamp post):
"Excuse me sir." (Bumping into fire hydrant). "Excuse me little boy." (Bumping into light post and sitting down). "Well, I'll jus' sit here until the crowd passes."

WHEAT MARKET FIRM OW-ING TO DETERIORATION

June 30. At the close of the week
13 per cent protein No. 1 hard white (bluestem) was quoted at Portland at $1.13, with 12 per cent at $1.06, soft white and western white at 79c, hard winter, northern spring and western red at 78c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked.
Pacific Northwestern barley markets were extremely dull with both demand and offerings light. Only one car of barley was received at Tacoma.
Prices held unchanged from a week ago with No. 2 bright western testing 46 pounds per bushels quoted at Portland at $1.15 per 100, sacked basis. Heavy white barley from eastern Washington was quoted at Seattle at $1.12 per 100 pounds, sacked.
Pacific Northwestern oats markets were very quiet with only two car-lots received at Portland during the week. Relatively high prices of wheat millfeeds were stimulating inquiry for both oats and barley from feeders at country points. The better local demand for feed grains was reflected in the light marketings at country points but arrivals at terminals were easily sufficient for current needs.
On June 4, No. 2 white oats, sacked, were quoted at Portland at $1.08 to $1.10 per 100, with white oats from eastern Washington quoted at Seattle at $1.10 and Puget Sound oats at 95c per 100, both sacked basis.

Well, Folks—This certainly has been some rain. It's been great for the pastures, and the way the politicians are throwing "it" there certainly should be a real hay crop too. But, that's beside the point. We're interested in your cream—and you should be too. We've got the cash—you've got the cream—how about a deal?

Don't forget our butter. It's really delicious. It's sweet to the taste, delightful to smell, pretty to look at. You're sure to like it.

Wife: "Isn't that splendid! What can we buy with it this time?"

"I say, Jane, isn't it time the baby said 'Daddy'?"
"No, John; I've decided not to tell him who you are until he gets stronger."

Young Man: "May I have the next dance?"
Young Matron: "No thank you, I am too danced out."
Young Man (slightly deaf, but polite): "No, you're not, madam. You are just nice and plump."
