KENDRICK, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1936

NO. 33

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK'S NEWS DISPATCHES

Washington.—Almost at the end of the big financial operation of paying the bonus, treasury officials estimated that the final figures would show a total of $1,923,000,000 going to the veterans in either bonds or cash. Of that amount all but $119,000,000 has gone out, officials reported, adding that of 3,518,191 veterans originally eligible for the bonus, only 216,201 remained to be paid. All in all, it was stated, $1,726,423,950 has been issued to the former soldiers, supplemented by about $78,000,000 in checks for odd amounts. The figures were as of July 25. A heavy lag was reported, however, between the receipt of the bonds and their conversion into cash by the veterans. Bonds to a total of $1,018,000,000 had been redeemed, leaving the veterans still holding approximately $700,000,000 worth.

Detroit.—An abortive plot to put typhoid germs in milk delivered to Jews was charged to the black legion while a defendant told—in another case—how a blacksnake whip cracked "perhaps a dozen times" on the back of a rebellious member. Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea made public the formal statement of William Guthrie, a black legion printer, who accused a high-ranking legion officer and another man—a "chemist"—of approaching him nine months ago with plans for breeding germs in Guthrie's house. Guthrie, who said the plot never got beyond the scheming stage, reported the men talked of sending infected milk and cottage cheese into districts "most thickly populated with their enemies."

Castel Gandolfo, Italy.—Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, may continue his political activity without vatican interference. Pope Pius, receiving Bishop Michael Gallagher of Detroit at his summer home here, sent his blessing to the clergy of Detroit—which includes Father Coughlin. The radio priest was not discussed by name during the audience, and prelates said this meant the pope would take no action. The pontiff would, the prelates asserted, leave the question to Bishop Gallagher. There was no doubt, they added, but that the bishop would permit Father Coughlin to continue his work. The pope expressed his hope "that amidst universal troubles, America may stand as a nation of peace and, respecting human rights, may decide controversial questions by ballots, not bullets."

Seattle.—U. S. Representative Marion A. Zioncheck (D., Wash.), Seattle's playboy congressman, announced at a public meeting he would not be a candidate for reelection. Zioncheck, whose exploits in Washington, D. C., and the Virgin Islands attracted national attention, disclaimed his intention to seek the office again when he addressed the Washington Commonwealth federation. He explained his decision was prompted by the illness of his mother. The federation, whose investigation committee previously reported the congressman had withdrawn from the campaign, endorsed Howard G. Costigan, Seattle, its executive secretary to seek the democratic nomination from the first district.

Port Said, Egypt.—Ethiopian armies are encircling Addis Ababa, reports reaching here said, and harrasing the Italian army of occupation with numerous raids along the railroad to Dessye. The reports also told of an attack on Addis Ababa last week. The Ethiopians were said to have retreated after a 36-hour battle. A bishop Petros, presumably of the Ethiopian Coptic church, was said to have been executed in the streets of Addis Ababa on conviction of aiding the attackers. Addis Ababa stores were ordered closed and the native population directed to remain indoors. Tri-motored bombing planes from Dire-dawa were believed enroute to aid aviation units at the capital. One of the planes, according to information here, was shot down by Ethiopians.

Lewiston's Police Court Busy

The exchequer of the city of Lewiston is something like 600 "smackers" to the good during the past month, with the arrest and assessment of fines to the above amount, Justice Erb dealing out the "misery" to the unwise.

More than 70 per cent of the misdemeanor cases before the court were charged with disorderly conduct, says the Tribune. Drunks were fined from $2 to $20. Fifty-five traffic violators paid the city in fines $337, while one $100 fine was levied for drunken driving.

Commercial Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club will be held in the basement of the Community church next Monday evening. Dinner will be served at 6:30 by Mrs. Grace Lind.

There should be a good attendance at this meeting.

Don't forget the place—the Community church. The time—6:30 Monday evening.

IDAHO NATIONAL GUARD SENT TO TIMBER REGION

The following news dispatches were clipped from Tuesday morning's papers. As the article states, Gov. Ross called out the National Guard to quell disturbances in the logging camps of the Clearwater Timber company. Franklin Girard, secretary of state, and a candidate for the office of governor, takes issue with Gov. Ross, as noted below:

Lewiston.—Marshal law is declared in Clearwater county, effective at 4 p. m. Monday by order of Governor Ross, in compliance with requests from Clearwater county officials.

Idaho national guard troops from Moscow and Lewiston were mobilized for service and taken to Orofino by army trucks from Coeur d'Alene. Troops were encamped at the county fair grounds at Orofino awaiting orders of distribution.

Twenty guardsmen were sent to the Fromelt camp, 23 miles from Orofino, scene of the shooting affray Sunday night, as a precautionary measure.

Mike Setz and E. L. Gentry, wounded strikers, reported in grave condition from gunshot wounds are in an Orofino hospital.

Governor Ross declares: "Troops are under strict orders to enforce martial law irrespective of parties involved."

Six strikers and three woods workers are at Orofino hospital for medical attention, five strikers and a worker suffering from gunshot wounds.

Lewiston.—"The use of martial law to settle the Clearwater woods strike was entirely unnecessary," Franklin Girard, Boise, secretary of state and democratic candidate for governor, said on his arrival at Lewiston from Boise.

"All that would have been needed to settle the strike peaceably would have been a little judicious negotiation," Mr. Girard said.

Quest For Ideal 4-H Club Girls

The annual quest for "ideal" 4-H club girls is turning up longer and better records, states the national committee on Boys' and Girls' club work which is conducting the project jointly with 75,000 local, county and state club leaders.

While girls with three to five-year records predominate among county winners, states and national contestants will show five to 10 years participation in a wide variety of projects—the ideal in 4-H training which embraces over 20 major subjects, and as many minor ones.

"The marked improvement in length of girls' records and number of subjects studied since this contest was inaugurated 13 years ago shows the strong appeal which 4-H training is making to rural youth and their parents and the public," it is stated.

Two extra college scholarships of $300 and $200 are provided in the awards this year for national winners in addition to the top prize of a $400 scholarship. State champions, as heretofore, receive all-expense educational trips to the National Club congress to be held in Chicago, November 27 to December 5.

State winners will be announced during November and the national victors during the Chicago Club congress. No fee or obligation of any kind is required of contestants or winners.

Road Construction Complete

The construction work on the Arrow-Harvard road is now complete—the big shovel and trucks having left Tuesday. Graveling is to start immediately under the Triangle Construction Company of Spokane.

The road has been in terrible shape for the past three months—and completion cannot come too soon for the residents of this section.

Be Fair Crop Of Beans

While it is admitted that the excessively warm weather we have experienced during the past few weeks has been hard on the bean crop, yet those in a position to know say there will be a fair crop, with the quality good—as is usual.

GREEN GROWTH'S EFFECT ON FIRE MEASURED

Missoula, Montana.—Bushes, grass and weeds can be a forest firefighter's friend or his deadly enemy. That has been known in a general way for a long time.

It has only recently been determined, however, that under conditions such as existed late in July, a fire dispatcher should send twice as many men to a forest fire in an old burn which has no green vegetation than to an otherwise similar area where there is such growth that is green. This is because the difference in the rate of spread under the two conditions is such that twice the fire line would be required in one case than in the other to corral the fire properly.

Conclusive information on the extent of this influence of vegetative matter on fire's spread was recently obtained from an experiment made at Priest River, Idaho, branch of the Northern Rocky Mountain Forest and Range experiment station. This test was made under the supervision of George M. Jemison, one of the men working on fire research for the experiment station.

Six plots, each 25 by 50 feet, were marked off in an old burn where the ground was covered with windfalls and dead branchwood. All green vegetation was removed from three of these plots, but not touched on the other three. With this exception the plots were identical. A fire was set on each plot, and at two-minute intervals until flames reached previously prepared fire lines, the perimeters of the blazes were charted.

Within the first two minutes, fires on the green plots had covered an average of 12 square feet, compared with 85 square feet on the plots devoid of vegetation. In eight minutes, the area burned on the green plots averaged 183 square feet, compared with 689 square feet on the others.

While this experiment dealt with only one locality, one fuel type and one vegetative type, the results are considered important in pointing to probabilities in other similar tests. The conclusion also is obvious that as vegetative matter reaches a cured state, and becomes a fire accelerator rather than a retardant, it will have a profound influence on fire behavior, and greater numbers of men will be required to control a blaze in its early stages.

This is the first attempt at the measurement of vegetative condition and its relation to fire danger. It is hoped that before long this factor can be used as one of the criteria in fire-danger rating. At present vegetation cover is considered in danger ratings on the basis of its normal condition at various times of the year.

Revised Estimate On Beans

The price outlook on dry edible beans has improved. For the country as a whole, farmers did not succeed in planting their full intended acreage and the condition of the crop on July 1 was substantially below the average. As a result, the production forecast on July 1 was 11,685,000 bags, 1½ per cent below the 1928-1932 overage production of 11,858,000 bags, and 10 per cent below last year's production of 13,799,000 bags.

Idaho farmers succeeded in planting more than their intended acreage of beans, and the July 1 condition of their crop was estimated to be only 1 per cent below the 1923-32 average condition for that date. The estimated production for Idaho is 1,391,000 bags, compared with 1,306,000 bags produced last year and the 1928-1932 average production of 1,566,000 bags.

Such information as is available on stocks of beans indicates that supplies of most white varieties, including Great Northerns, are more nearly cleaned up than they have been at this time for several years.

Are You Registered

Is your name properly inscribed on the registration book for the coming primary election? If not, you should see to it at once if you wish to cast a primary ballot on next Tuesday (August 11). You can register up until 9 o'clock Saturday night, Mrs. Letha Kuykendall being the registrar.

If you voted at the general election either in 1932 or the state election in 1934 and have not removed from your precinct, you do not have to re-register, but in case you have moved from your former precinct since 1934, it will be necessary for you to register again in order to vote next Tuesday—no matter what your political faith may be.

EDGAR POE WILCOXON PASSES IN SPOKANE

Edgar Poe Wilcoxon was born in Ulrich, Mo., May 26, 1887. He became associated with the N. P. railway at the age of 16, and has been an agent most of the time since. He came to Juliaetta about eight years ago and has been a resident there until his death. He was a past master of the A. F. & A. M. No. 127 of Almira, Wn. He leaves to mourn his loss, his widow, Jessie, three daughters, Miss Marie Wilcoxon of Spokane, Mrs. Harold Dobgus of Pendleton, Oregon and Mrs. Adolph Erickson of California; a stepson, Bernard Damon of Spokane; three sisters, Mrs. Ples Crutchfield of Pocatello, Mrs. Georgia Sexton of Boise, Mrs. Cora Davis of Baxter Springs, Kan.; two brothers, Clay Wilcoxon of Ulrich, Mo., Hardin Wilcoxon of American Falls, Ida.

He had been ill most of the summer with a nerve disorder in an arm. He was confined in the Tacoma hospital for about two weeks, but has been in poor health since his return. He was visiting at the home of his wife's sister, Mrs. Ralph Ayler, in Spokane, at the time of his death.

Funeral services were held in the Alwin Chapel in the Hazen & Jaeger Funeral home, Spokane, with the Rev. Orville Mick, officiating. Interment was made in the Riverside Park cemetery, Spokane, with the Masonic lodge conducting the services at the grave.

Myrtle Beach Popular

Since the building of the new link of highway this side of Arrow has stopped travel over that road for pleasure, many swimming and picnic parties have been going from Kendrick to Myrtle to spend the evenings. Those going generally use Sperry grade out of Kendrick and then down Hubbard gulch. While the road is not to be bragged on, but is said to be better than the old Arrow road at that.

Tuesday evening the James Lyle and Roy Bacharach families were at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cummings and daughters and Jeanne and Rowena Ramey were picnickers at Myrtle beach Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Johnson and daughter were also visitors at the beach.

Council Busy Tuesday Evening

The Kendrick Board of Trustees held a very busy meeting Tuesday evening, for following routine business and the allowing of bills, they repealed one ordinance and passed two new ones, dealing with new beer licenses and the use of slot machines. In these new ordinance the old rate of $1.00 per year for a city beer license was raised to $25.00 per year, and the use of slot machines prohibited, unless they are merchandise vending machines. A complete copy of the new ordinance, published as required by law, will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Wheat Rolling In

Both the Kendrick Rochdale warehouse and elevator and the Lewiston Grain Growers warehouse are about the busiest places in Kendrick these days. Most of the day—and far, far into the night—sometimes—trucks are lined up at both places. It sure looks good and will mean a nice piece of change for the farmers of this section for most of the wheat coming in is of No. 1 quality and practically free from smut.

While the market varies somewhat from day to day, the general trend seems to be upward, which sounds good, indeed.

Has Moved Family To Kendrick

The O. E. Havens family, consisting of Mrs. Havens and three daughters, arrived Thursday of this week and will make their home in the brick residence formerly the A. K. Carlson home, but more recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Higley. Mr. Havens is cashier of the Farmers Bank.

The good people of Kendrick will give the Havens family a warm welcome and will wish for their contentment in their new home.

Lemke Omitted On Ballot

The name of Representative William Lemke, Union Party candidate for President, will not appear on Maryland ballots this fall. Charles T. LeViness, assistant attorney general, ruled. The name was not filed in legal time.

On Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Herres and daughter Miss Eleanor, left Tuesday morning for a trip to the Coulee dam project. They will bring Mr. Herres back to Kendrick and then Mrs. Herres and Miss Eleanor will leave for a few days' trip to the coast, going first to Portland and then to Seattle, returning in about ten days.

DORIS EMERY ONLY WOMAN PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT

Miss Doris Emery, daughter of the late E. H. Emery, and her host of friends, have every reason to be proud of her and her achievements both in a scholastic way and in the business world.

Only recently Miss Emery took the state examination for public accountants and last week received word that she had passed the severe test with an "A" grade and she now holds the first certified public accountant's certificate ever granted to a woman in the state.

Miss Emery is a former Kendrick girl, having lived here for some 12 or 15 years and was graduated from the Kendrick High school with the class of 1930. After finishing high school Miss Emery entered the University of Idaho and was graduated with highest honors with the class of '34. She was a member of Phi Chi Theta, national business woman's honorary, and was president during her senior year. She also received the Phi Chi Theta key for attaining the highest scholarship among the women in the business school during her junior year.

In addition to passing the test for public accountant, Miss Emery had previously taken the examination for auditing and law and had passed with a "B" grade.

Miss Emery was the only person taking the examination for accountant to successfully pass. She is indeed to be congratulated.

Since going to Boise some two years ago she was at first employed in the PWA office, but during the past year has been teaching in the Boise Business university.

Rattler On Ice Cake Defies Sol

Even Snake river rattlesnakes pine for cooler weather.

And one did something about it, declares W. E. (Billie) Smith, well known sheep man from the Billie creek area.

Smith purchased a 100-pound cake of ice in Lewiston Wednesday and took it 25 miles up the river to his ranch only to have a big rattler take possession of it.

Rowing across the river, he deposited the ice cake, enveloped in a burlap sack, on the riverbank while he went for a truck to haul the ice to the farmhouse.

With the truck he returned for the "water diamond" to discover a five-foot rattler coiled about the sack in defiance of old Sol's torrid rays.

That was the end of the snake and the story, too.

Want To Build A House?

In case you should want to build a house and have FDR help you do so, all you have to do is to apply to one of the following alphabetical soup kitchens for the necessary ingredients, to-wit: Money — FCA, FHLBB, FHLBS, S&L, FSLIC, HOLC, FHA, HD of PWA, RA, and, last, but not least, the RFC Mortgage company.

In case you do not readily understand the meaning of any of the above, just come to the Gazette office. We have a "key" that will open the whole situation to you at a glance.

At The Boiling Point

In addition to the national campaign, the state campaign is now almost at the boiling point, which may account, partially, for the scorching hot weather we are again experiencing in the Potlatch section.

Byron Defenbach, endorsed Townsend candidate for the U. S. senate, is hot on Bill Borah's trail, but Bill, as usual, does not seem to be much excited.

Gov. (Farmer) Ben Ross not only has the republicans to look out for, but several of his own party seem to be hot on his trail. All in all, the Idaho election should be a very lively affair.

Visitor From Montana

Mrs. Georgie Rowe of Great Falls, Mont., arrived Tuesday of last week for a few days' visit here with friends and to look after property interests. She left Friday for Lewiston.

GRAIN MARKETS MAKE FURTHER SHARP GAINS

Grain markets made further sharp gains during the week ended July 31, influenced principally by continued and rapid deterioration of the corn crop and progressively less favorable prospects for wheat, both in North America and Europe, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. With present prospects but little better than at the close of July in 1935, and with further damage threatened by continued dryness, corn advanced 12c to 15c per bushel to the highest price since 1929. Current marketings were moderate and were in urgent demand. Wheat gained 8c to 10c per bushel, influenced by poor prospects for spring and sharp advances in foreign markets. Oats and barley were higher with corn and current receipts were readily taken.

The general wheat situation was strengthened materially with the Canadian crop further damaged from drought and European countries suffering from wet harvests. Foreign markets advanced sharply by buyers more inclined to anticipate requirements. While official estimates are lacking, trade agencies forecast a spring wheat crop in the Canadian prairie provinces around 200,000,000 to 225,000,000 bushels which would be the smallest harvest since 1919. Trade estimates place the European crop, including Russia, at about 1,480,000,000 bushels, or approximately 75,000,000 bushels below the 1935 harvest.

Domestic cash wheat markets advanced with futures despite fairly heavy marketings of new crop grains. Receipts of winter wheat, however, showed further falling off with inspections at Kansas City averaging 13.77 per cent. Demand was active both from mills and elevator interests and market stocks increased rapidly.

Marketings of spring wheat were moderate with arrivals at Minneapolis totalling 1,498 cars and at Duluth 114 cars. Well over half of the Minneapolis receipts were winter wheat, but quite a number of cars of new spring wheat were also received. The new crop grain showed wide variance in quality and test weight and the cash premium range was unsettled. Test weight is an important factor again this season while premiums for protein have become relatively small. While 60-lb. No. 1 dark northern spring was quoted at 14c to 17c over the Minneapolis September price, which July 31 closed at $1.27½, 58-lb. wheat sold at 10c to 15c over. The protein of the cars tested averaged 14.19 per cent with a high of 19.2 per cent.

Intermountain and Pacific coast markets strengthened along with Eastern points but gains were less. At the close of the week, Denver mills were bidding $1.07 for No. 2 northern spring at $1.05 per bushel for No. 2 hard winter, 10 per cent protein FOB Colorado points.

The Portland market advanced 5c to 6c per bushel, with hard white, (Big Bend baart) quoted at $1.16, 12 per cent protein, dark hard winter at $1.11, soft white, western white and western red at 97c, and hard winter at 99½c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked. Marketings increased with a total of 730 cars received at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals. Moderate quantities of hard winters were sold to midwestern markets but local values were out of line for Gulf and Atlantic coast markets.

Local mills were active buyers as a result of important flour business. Sales to the Philippines under the indemnity plan have totaled approximately 45,000 barrels during July, with the indemnity price July 30, reported at $1.05 per barrel. Western white and western red were quoted at Seattle July 31 at 96c, hard winter $1.00, and hard white (baart) at $1.15 per bushel.

California markets were only slightly higher, influenced by the strength in outside points and prices held practically unchanged at San Francisco and advanced only 5c to 6c per bushel at Los Angeles. Slow demand from Bay Region mills and local industries in central California, together with moderate offerings of new crop wheat held the San Francisco market about steady. Growers, however, were not pressing supplies and were asking prices well above terminal prices. Inquiry for feed wheat was slow because of plentiful supplies of feed barley. Demand was more active at Los Angeles, where mills and feed manufacturers were apparently laying in supplies for later requirements.

Foreign markets gained sharply with

Boy Tree Climber Won't Quit
Charles Brenner, 5, was afraid of high places. To break him of the fear, his parents taught him to climb a 40-foot tree beside their home in suburban Chicago. He went up and was so proud of it he wouldn't come down. His mother called the Oak Park fire company. The firemen brought

Charles back to earth. That was Friday. Charles was up again Sunday. He crawled along a branch and dropped to a porch roof. The firemen rescued him, and cut off the branch. Monday, Charles was up again. The firemen came with their axes, and found him in the topmost limb. Exasperated, they cut the tree down.

Southern Jackrabbit Recipe

"Jackrabbit!.....Ve'y fine vittles, suh. Trouble is, most people don't know how to cook 'em. Folks who rave about theah fried chicken an' roast tu'ky ain't neveh sunk theah teeth in a bit o' jackrabbit whin the crittuh is propuly cooked. Evah time I see one o' 'em long-eared, spindly-legged jacks high-tailin it across the plains, mah mouth watahs. A funny thing, about them jacks, whin they jumps, they flops theah ea's and whin they flops theah ea's, they jumps. Dog-on if I c'n tell whetheh it's the floppin' that makes 'em jump or th' jumpin' that makes 'em flop.
"Oh, yeah! Well, as I was sayin' theah's only on'y one way eo cook jackrabbit. Fust, yo' all trim 'im down to the lean meat, then yo' all puts 'im in a tub of rain watah to soak. Let 'im soak fo' tyew days, then place th' crittuh in a kettle o' bylin watah. At the same time, drap a piece o' sand-stone in the watah with the jack. Keep yo' watah bylin' fo' twenty-fo' owah's, 'thin yo' all stick the jack with yo' fawk—if yo' can't stick the jack, stick th' sand-stone. Now yo' jack is mighty in' done. Take 'im out; cahve with a 'hammuh an' a chissul; stack th' chips neat like in a pan an' place in a red hot oven. Bake 'til the meat is three shades dakuh 'n a Bammy cotton-pickuh; gahnush with sage-brush, an' suv with a side-dish o' beans an' sow belly—jest in case some-un maht be hongry."

Honolulu.—Asimilation of the Hawaiian race by the other races making up the population of Hawaii today is illustrated in the 50th annual report at Kamehameha schools. These schools were founded and endowed for the education of Hawaiian boys and girls. But today, of 344 students enrolled, only 11 are full-blooded Hawaiians. Of the 11, nine are boys and two girls. Fifty-four pupils, 23 girls and 31 boys, are three quarters Hawaiian; 169, including 68 girls and 101 boys, are half Hawaiian; 89 of whom 41 are girls and 48 boys, are one quarter Hawaiian; 20 have less than one quarter Hawaiian blood.

Peculiar Sentence

J. E. Caldwell today began a life sentence, to be spent in the custody of his wife. The sentence was imposed by District Judge P. C. Evans after Caldwell's conviction on a charge of manslaughter in the killing of Louis Werner, alleged to have been struck by Caldwell's automobile on a highway last July. The judgment and sentence of this court is that you, J. E. Caldwell, spend the remainder of your days in your usual occupation and that you be remanded to the custody of your wife," Judge Evans ordered.

And Now Will Rogers Again

Everyone loves the late Will Rogers' pictures, with their homely philosophy and good-humor. By popular demand of the millions who love the memory of that beloved man, there has been a re-issue of "A Connecticut Yankee" in King Arthur's Court—for the millions who acclaimed it Rogers' greatest picture, we again show this droll, delightful picture to Kendrick audiences this Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The picture is of a modern Connecticut Yankee whose tricks baffled King Arthur's sturdy knights. See him amuse King Arthur and make the heads of the Round Table Knights "go round and around" with his modern Yankee magic, rescue a fair damsell in distress—and do other things that make them all sit up and take notice. Then there's the other regular features that will be interesting, as usual.

A man died the other day in a metropolitan city from starvation while he had hundreds of dollars in his pockets; figure that out if you can.

GRAIN MARKETS MAKE FURTHER SHARP GAINS
strength in the statistical position stimulating current demand. The Winnipeg market advanced 9c to 10c per bushel, influenced by steady foreign purchases and rapidly diminishing supplies. No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg at the close of the week at $1.03 1/4 per bushel and No. 2 Manitoba northern at 86 1/2c.
Oats markets followed the upward trend of other grains, reflecting the light outturn and a fairly good demand for local offerings. Pacific Northwestern markets displayed a steady tone with prices at Portland quoted slightly lower than a week ago. Offerings of old crop grain at Portland were negligible and new crop oats are not yet in volume. Some Atlantic seaboard inquiry for oats from the Pacific Northwestern areas was a strengthening factor in the local market. On July 30, No. 2 white oats testing 38 pounds were quoted at Portland at $1.30 per 100, sacked basis. Eastern Washington oats were quoted at Seattle at $1.47 1/2 per 100, sacked basis.
Pacific Northwestern barley markets were slightly lower as prices tended downward toward a new crop basis. Inquiries for good quality malting barley from middlewestern areas was a sustaining market influence. On July 30, eastern Washington barley grading No. 2 bright western was quoted at Seattle at $1.50 per 100, sacked basis. No. 2 bright western at Portland was quoted at $1.42 1/2 per 100, with local and nearby mixed feed manufacturers providing the principal outlet for current offerings.

BEAR'S NIGHT VISIT UPSETS TRAIL CREW

This is a real bear story! The moral, if any there be, is that one should not be too anxious to get away from bruin when he is in an inquisitive mood.

It all happened one night recently when Frank T. Bailey, a worker on the Flathead National forest, bedded down out-of-doors after a hard day's work with three other forest service employees on the Danaher trail in the Big Prairie district.

Bailey's sound slumber was disturbed by a prowling bear sniffing at his face. Bailey jumped first, probably intending to think afterwards. The bear, perhaps playfully, seized Bailey's left shoulder in its mouth and shook the man mildly. Bailey yelled, and soon the camp was in a hubbub.

The bear had released Bailey, but remained at camp attracted by the commotion. The men's flashlight failed, and in the darkness John Stanley, a member of the trail crew, bumped into the bear's back. Action was fast. The bear whirled, growled; Stanley jumped, grabbed a stick of wood and hurled it. Undeterred, the bear advanced; Stanley retreated hurriedly, stumbled over Bailey's bed and knocked Bailey down as he fell. Then the bear vamoosed.

Bailey did not come out unscathed. His shoulder bore two welts where bruin's teeth had left their marks, and it was evident that only the heavy bed tarp Bailey had over his shoulders prevented serious injury.

This bear, a medium-sized brown had raided the trail camp the previous day, stealing a couple of pounds of bacon, a can of butter and a half-dozen eggs.

Civil Service And Postmasters
Postal officials reported that the appointment of between 1,000 and 1,200 postmasters, yet to be made, will be affected by the president's executive order extending civil service control over the filling of postoffice vacancies.

Another 300 postmasterships, where the appointment process has already started, will be filled under the old system. Regard will be given to the preferences of political leaders, responsible officials said. In these cases, it was added, examinations already have been held or announced. A number of acting postmasters appointed by Postmaster General Farley pending a regular presidential appointment also will be subject to appointment under the old rules. These are acting postmasters who were appointed after examination. Acting postmasters appointed without an examination will be subject to the new rules laid down by President Roosevelt, department spokesmen said.

While officials of the postoffice department and the civil service commission prepared today to carry into effect the new order. Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, prior to his notification tonight, told reporters in Topeka he was "glad to see the president do it," and that the order "shows" the advantage of competition.

"I hope now that he's made such a good start he will extend the order to WPA—the relief administration," the governor added.

Well, folks—Our "harvest" time is advancing—both political and grain. On Tuesday, August 11 we thresh our crop of political candidates—in the meantime go on with your grain harvest—but don't forget to milk old bossy and bring the cream to us. That check may come right handy to buy needed harvest items.

Are you serving our cottage cheese on your table? If not, do so. You will not only find it good to eat, but economical and very nourishing.

Eat ice cream these days. It is good and good for you.

ENTERTAINING VISITORS FROM SOUTH AMERICA

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Woody are this week entertaining in their home Mr. and Mrs. Zenas Humphrey of Chanarel, Chile, South America, and Mr. and Mrs. William Humphrey and family of Spokane, who arrived Tuesday. Both are nephews of Mrs. Woody.

Zenas Humphrey is employed by the Andes Copper Mining Co., who operate large properties at that place. They arrived in the United States on June 16, purchased a car at New York and have been touring the states, arriving at the Woody home Tuesday. They plan on starting their return trip soon by way of New York, where they will ship the car to their home at Chanarel, Chile.

Mr. Humphrey says that their home is at an altitude of 10,000 feet, and that, contrary to general expectations, the climate is wonderful, the temperature varying but little the year round. New York newspapers reach them 16 days after publication, and by that time have largely lost their interest. They keep in touch with local events in the states, however, by short wave radio, reception of which is good. They listen mainly to Schnectady and Pittsburg, other stations having the wrong time, as their time is one hour ahead of that in New York.

William Humphrey is employed by the Washington Water Power Co., at Spokane, and will return there with his family at their visit's end.

Bimerick Creek Closed

Fishing in Bimerick creek in the Lochsa area northeast of Lowell has been prohibited by order of State Game Warden A. O. Eckert, according to announcement.

Mr. Eckert declared an emergency because of "threatened extinction of brood stock through excessive angling."

Ben Schnozzle moved to a new boarding house this week after two years in his present abode. He just found out they didn't have a bathtub. There's a bright side to everything.

The Best Way to Buy Shoes

There are two ways to buy work shoes. One is the "take-a-chance" way — buy a "cheap" shoe and trust to luck that you will get value received.

The other way and the best way, is to buy shoes made by a well-known manufacturer with a reputation for high quality.

That's why we sell and recommend WOLVERINE work shoes. Most of our customers know that the Wolverine is a sure guide to real comfort and exceptionally long wear.
