GRADE SCHOOL OPERETTA A REAL SUCCESS FOR ALL

The Kendrick Grade school operetta, "Punch and Judy," directed by the Misses Hockaday and Roos of the local school, with Mrs. Harold Thomas as accompanist, and assisted in various other phases of the work by Mrs. S. Cook, Mr. Levi, Mr. Orr, Henry Emery and J. M. Lyle, was an enjoyable affair, and the cast of 90 children from the first to sixth grade, showed the results of hours of patient labor and training in their parts — and well they knew them.

Songs, dances and dialogues formed the main part of the entertainment. Music between the acts was given by the eighth grade trio — Betty Boyd, Annabel Deobald and Mary Havens, who sang three numbers.

The youngsters taking part were Lois Deobald, Evelyn Farrington, Theo Sheppard, Melba Patterson, Ladonna Galloway, Jeanette Galloway, Davida Craig, Betty Halseth, Margaret Cook, Gay Deobald, Dorothy Dammarell, Jean Flaig, Anna Pemberton, June Pemberton, Pauline Kahler, Lois Wolff, Junia Hill, Frances Davis, Velma Hecht, Noel Thomas, Norman Fry, Beverly Schupfer, Robert Lind, Alvea Mae Hill, Robert Fraser, Gladys Wegner, Pearl Brown, Donna Wallace, Charles Deobald, Leonard Lunders, Louis Lunders, Eugene Mattoon, Kenneth Hill, Oswald Kanikkeberg, Eugene Lind, Warren Wolff, Buddy Alken, Doyle Biddison, Arthur Fraser, Teddy Deobald.

Pauline Jones, Clarence Brown, Buford Fairfield, Donald Brown, Patricia McCreary, Leon Wolff, Jimmy Alken, Gerald Halseth, Harold Halseth, Chloe McKeever, Frank Dammarell, George Brocke, Maurice Long, Riley Davis, Mary Dawald, Jean Crocker, Paula McKeever, Winifred Havens, Norma Hill, Nellie Fry, Robert LaHatt, Jean Hudson, Ruth Biddison, Olivene Kahler, Erma Langdon, Barbara Steadman, Kathryn Brown, Kenneth Brown, Sammy Steadman, Raymond Mattoon, Billie Jenkins, Alice Gustafson, Ethel Jenkins, Gilbert Candler, Kenneth DePeel, Delos Miller, Lois Poindexter, June Brown, Buddy Langdon, Jordan Kanikkeberg, John Deobald, Tommy Long and James Candler.

Committees of children assisting in various phases were Clarence Brown, Wayne Lind, Jerry Ingle, Maycella Porter, Pauline Henderson, Clara Mattoon, Stanley Kuykendall, Gerald Candler and Donald Dammarell.

Entertain At Bridge

The Misses Hockaday and Roos entertained at three tables of desert-travel bridge at their apartment in the Raby building Tuesday evening, when three tables were in play.

Upon arrival guests underwent a "physical" examination and were then issued "passports" to play, and given the flag of some country as a means of seeking partners. The usual method of progression from table to table was done by "passport" instead of by score, and a great deal of hilarity resulted.

High scores for the evening were won by Mrs. J. M. Lyle, Jr., and W. L. McCreary, with low going to Miss Iome Reiman and Mr. Levi.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Havens, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Blewett, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lyle, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary, Mrs. J. H. Cairns, Miss Laura McGrath, Miss Iome Reiman and Emil Levi.

Alexanders Have Moved

Word from Mr. and Mrs. Sam Alexander, asking that their address be changed from Wallowa to Enterprise, Oregon, has been received by the Gazette. In the short letter, written by Mrs. Alexander, she stated that Mr. Alexander is moving their bees from California back to Oregon, some of them coming from as far as Oakland. She said they plan on having 1,000 colonies this summer.

Their address is now 1415 North Third street, Enterprise, Oregon.

Work At Phone Office

M. C. Halliday has been busy the past few days installing new ceilings and otherwise remodeling the interior of the phone building.

The ceiling was lowered some 18 inches and covered with Celotex. This will make the building cooler in summer and warmer in winter, besides the added good looks.

Weather Freakish

The weather the past few days has been somewhat freakish. First a lovely warm spring day, then a cold windy one. It seems the past two weeks the order has been turn and turn about. Farmers, however, are making the most of the weather and rapidly getting their fields and bean ground into shape. At the present time there is plenty of moisture, but more will be needed at a later date.

This class of thirteen is one of the smallest to graduate from Kendrick High school for some years. However, their scholastic standings are excellent, and numbers do not always mean anything. The graduates face the world with joy in their hearts and the best wishes of all their friends, and well as those of the entire community.

Deary Student Strike Ends

The Deary high school students, not to be outdone by any other sit-down strikers, last week started a strike of their own, which lasted something like a week, the students taking exception to the school board refusing to reemploy R. W. Kellom, the present superintendent. However, news dispatches from that thriving little city Monday, stated that the students had returned to their studies, but with a determination to insist that their choice of a superintendent be taken into consideration, regardless of what the board of trustees thought about it.

School will close May 28 as scheduled despite the week's delay. Strikers slept on the floor of the building and food, brought by the parents, was prepared by the home economics class. Demonstrations of spirit were displayed on a number of occasions when the pupils marched through the streets with the school band playing and fire hose was used to repulse non-strikers.

The WPA Project

N. E. Walker, superintendent of the Cedar creek WPA project, gives the information that another state crusher has been set up alongside the one that has been in use and will be used for crushing the surfacing rock. Mr. Walker also stated that about a mile and a half of road surfacing had been completed and that the big shovel is now working on the Pine creek hill. When the work on the hill is completed there will have been graded about five miles of road and it is hoped to go on and complete the job as rapidly as possible.

KENDRICK-ARROW ROAD TO BE MAINTAINED BY STATE

The following was taken from the Lewiston Tribune of last Friday morning and will be read with much interest by all who have occasion to travel this road:

Maintenance of the Kendrick-Arrow road, including the nine-mile stretch of county road between the two completed state projects, has been taken over by the state department of highways, according to announcement last night by E. A. Johnston, district engineer in charge of activities in the Lewiston region. "Maintenance of the completed and incomplete sections will be handled by the state under the present arrangement with the Kendrick-Arrow road between Arrow and the top of Bear Ridge hill being given special attention," said Engineer Johnston. "The entire area covers about 20 miles. Three miles on the Lewiston end of the route has been completed and graveled and six miles on the Moscow end of the stretch has likewise been completed. The county road between the completed portions has not been brought to standard requirements. This stretch from the Crick contract to the completed portion on the opposite end will be conditioned and maintained in the best manner possible until arrangements can be made for placing it in the state program. Under the present schedule no work of improvement will be done there this year."

Resolutions favoring maintenance of the Arrow-Kendrick road by the state during 1937 and improvements and construction work on the route next year will be drawn up by the Lewiston, Moscow and Kendrick Chambers of Commerce under the agreement reached by representatives of each group who met Wednesday evening with E. V. Lorenz, chairman of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce highways committee, following the inter-community meeting here.

The resolutions will be forwarded to Ira J. Taylor, commissioner of public works, Mr. Lorenz said. He explained that the resolutions will show the united front of the three communities since assurance has already been given the Kendrick group that the two proposals are included in the highway department program for 1937 and 1938.

On Wednesday night of last week a delegation from Kendrick, on invitation of Commissioners J. M. Woodward and Wayne Talbot of Nez Perce county, met with the Lewis ton Chamber of Commerce and they were very profuse in their praise of the treatment they received at the hands of the Lewiston chamber and are well satisfied with the outcome of the meeting.

Mormons To Fight Liquor

The Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) church, in its first anti-liquor campaign since repeal, announced a drive for "total abstinence" designed to "set an example for the world."

The campaign is to be led directly by a committee of the council of twelve, ruling body of the church, backed by the council itself.

"The church," one leader said, "proposes to set an example to the people of the world in total abstinence. This is a major objective." Abstinence from tobacco also will be urged.

A letter from the first presidency to the council of twelve said "Total abstinence is the best means of securing, maintaining and enforcing prohibition of intoxicating liquors; and abstinence and self control are fostered by education and true enlightenment regarding the evils of alcohol and tobacco."

Every available means of reaching every church member will be used in the "educational campaign"—including sound pictures, demonstrations and literature.

Painting At Garage

Standard Oil Co. sign painters were busy Tuesday repainting the signs and putting new striping and trim on the Kendrick Garage, as well as painting the pumps. This has helped materially to brighten and freshen the appearance of the building.

Refinishing Interior Of Cafe

The Perryman confectionery is this week receiving a complete coat of kalsomine and interior paint and the floors will be covered with new linoleum, which will give the place a very neat appearance.

STATE'S FINANCES IN GOOD SHAPE SAYS AUDITOR

Financially all's well with the state government, Auditor Harry C. Parsons reports to Governor Clark.

"For the first time since 1933 no county is indebted to the state, except for the current year's tax, and all except $23,750, or 26.53 per cent, of the 1936 ad valorem charge has been paid," Parsons said.

Blaine, Boise, Camas, Cassia, Idaho, Jefferson, Jerome, Lemhi, Lewis, Nez Perce, Payette and Power counties have settled in full, and all but two, Boundary and Teton, have paid more than 50 per cent of their 1936 charge. Since January 1 the bonded debt has been cut $283,000 to $1,637,500.

With 12½% of the 1937-1938 biennium elapsed, 8.48 per cent of the 1937-1938 legislation appropriations and institutional receipts have been expended out of the general fund. The appropriations for the general fund totaled $9,442,719. Institutional receipts for the first quarter amounted to $12,785.

The increase in appropriations was accounted for by legislative acts providing $3,375,000 for relief, $114,000 for a tuberculosis hospital, $222,000 for miscellaneous agricultural activities; $610,000 increase for educational institutions, $32,500 for cleaning and repairing the state house, $7,500 for examining insurance agents, $15,000 for collecting sales taxes, and $283,587 for public welfare and charitable institutions.

During the first quarter cash receipts totaled $7,048,204. For the same period two years ago receipts amounted to $4,558,891. On April 1, the auditor's cash balance of all funds was $5,079,669.

Typing Shows Good Work

Kendrick High school students set a very good record in a recent typing test.

Thirty-eight hundred class room students participated in this recent testing program, sponsored by the Idaho High School Commerce Association. There were 56 schools in Typing I and 45 schools in Typing II, that took part in the program.

It is gratifying to note, in comparing the following results, that the students from Kendrick High school reached a high average mark in both classes.

The percentage grade for each student in the Typing I contest for the state showed an average high of 89 and an average low of 60, with a total average of 78.

The Kendrick final average of all averages in this group was 86 per cent.

In Typing II with 45 schools competing, the high average was 103 and the low average 63, with an average of averages of 82.

The Kendrick school showed an average of averages in this group of 103 per cent.

This is indeed a record, for the entire Kendrick class' average was the equal of the high average of 900 students in the 45 schools.

Emil Levi is the typing instructor.

About Noxious Weeds

The following notice has been sent out to all those who had noxious weed patches treated last season and it might be well if all who are really anxious to rid their places of these pests, following the instructions closely:

Chemical weed control is not 100% effective on one application under all conditions. Seed which has matured on plants or which might be in the ground is not effected by the chemicals. In order to prevent patches from re-occurring from seed or a surviving plant, no treated area should be disturbed until plant growth has started. If an occasional plant survives, it can be cleaned up with little expense.

It is planned to check all patches treated in 1936 as soon as possible. Please do not disturb until crews have had a chance to check and advise on handling for the coming season.

Projects will be opened soon to continue throughout the season in again treating noxious weeds. If you have additional work to be done this year it would be well to file your request at the county weed office at an early date.

We greatly appreciate the cooperation received from landowners during 1936, says Joseph McCown, county field supervisor, and we hope we may again have your support in helping to control our weed losses.

School Superintendents To Meet

Superintendents of county schools from all parts of Idaho will gather at Moscow from June 22 to July 2, Superintendent David Ross announced recently, for a two weeks' conference to air problems of education. John W. Condie, state superintendent of instruction, will preside. Curricular construction will be one of the more important subjects to be discussed, Ross said.

LETS DON'T GET EXCITED ABOUT THIS

According to press dispatches from Washington, American officials, while interested, are "cold" to the suggestion by George Lansbury, British Labor Party leader, that President Roosevelt call a world conference to discuss limitations of armament and questions of world trade. The proposal of Mr. Lansbury was given world-wide publicity after he announced that he talked with Chancellor Adolf Hitler, of Germany, and the latter had stated that Germany would be willing to take part in such conference if called by Mr. Roosevelt or the leader of some other great world nation.

While Mr. Lansbury is reputedly a man desiring international peace and cooperation, there is much question as to the practicability of his proposals at this time. It is reported that President Roosevelt himself is cold to the idea just now. And little excitement over the prospects have been aroused in Great Britain and other countries.

The lack of enthusiasm, especially in the United States is not difficult to explain. Our people have been pretty well disillusioned on the question of international conferences during the past twenty years. They have seen one after another of these flouted and disregarded as it has suited the interests of some of the nations to flout them. They have noted the League of Nations ignored in a number of important instances; they have seen Locarno disregarded; they have seen how that the naval disarmament conference of 1922, in which Uncle Sam made many sacrifices, has not resulted in anything but greater armament, as witness the huge program recently announced by Great Britain after Germany and Italy had increased their armaments.

The trouble is, as all intelligent Americans have learned, that the European nations may be in favor of peace, disarmament and the promotion of international trade, but they want these at a price. They do not want to sacrifice to bring about these better things, they want to be bribed and paid for participating in agreements which ought to rebound to their own benefit.

Uncle Sam has the least to gain from any international conference, if one is called, he will be asked to make the greatest sacrifices. We have the biggest and most prosperous market in the world. If there are to be any moves for a revival of foreign trade we will be expected to turn that market over to the foreign producers at the expense of American workmen, and it is a market much greater than any other nation can furnish. Our reward, if we do this, may be that Germany, Italy, France, Russia and Britain will agree not to build so many more instruments with which to cut one another's throats.

Uncle Sam has never been backward in performing his duty to humanity. He has contributed freely every time there has been a great world calamity. He sacrificed thousands of lives and billions in money when he was induced to fight a "war to end war" and "to save the world for democracy." He gave up assured naval supremacy in 1922 for a promise of equality and naval limitation which has already put him in third place among the nations of the world. If he opens his market to foreign producers in the "interest of peace" he will be playing the sucker again. No wonder President Roosevelt and other responsible statesmen are unable to get excited over Mr. Lansbury's suggestions about another international conference to "save the world."

Seventh and Eighth Picnics

The seventh and eighth grade students, accompanied by Mrs. O. E. Havens and Mrs. E. A. Deobald, held a weiner roast and picnic party at the Byrns spring last Friday. The youngsters report a very good time.

GRAIN MARKETS CONTINUE UNSETTLED—PRICES DECLINE

Domestic grain markets continued unsettled during the week ended May 14, with variable crop conditions and lower foreign prices the principal disturbing factors, but declines in security markets and in grain futures were also disquieting elements according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Wheat shared the irregularity in other grains and in foreign markets while a slow inquiry for current cash offerings and the substantial increase indicated in the 1937 winter wheat crop over 1936 were reflected in lower price levels. Oats displayed some independent strength with receipts at markets below current trade requirements, but prices closed fractionally lower in sympathy with the downward trend in other grains. Barley markets were unsettled with slackening inquiry for both feeding and malting types but uncertainty as to new crop returns and light stocks were sustaining influences tending to hold in check price declines.

Prospects for new crops remain the dominant feature in the wheat market situation. Preliminary data now available indicate that the significance of the Northern Hemisphere wheat seedings in relation to the total harvest outturn may be materially modified by heavier than average abandonment and below average conditions for winter wheat which accounts for roughly three-fourths of the world's crop. In the important winter wheat areas of the United States and Western Europe, conditions are below average and abandonment relatively heavy. The United States acreage of winter wheat remaining for harvest was officially placed at 47,410,000 acres as against 37,608,000 acres in 1936. Abandonment was 17.1% against the average of 12.8% (1923-32). The condition as of May 1, indicated an outturn of 654,295,000 bushels against 519,013,000 bushels a year ago.

No official estimates of wheat seedings are yet available in the important spring wheat areas of the United States, Canada and Russia. Farmers intentions for seeding and seeding plans suggest a slight gain in the combined acreage, for these countries over a year ago, with indicated reductions in North America offset by a gain of 4,000,000 acres in the planned Russian acreage for harvest of 20,918,000 acres compared with a planted acreage of 23,912,000 acres in 1936. The intended Canadian spring wheat acreage for harvest was placed at 24,780,000 a year ago and the plantings of 26,646,000 acres for the 1937 crop. A late season has delayed early spring plantings but seedings in the United States, although later than average, are nearing completion with moisture conditions regarded as satisfactory in Minnesota and the eastern third of the Dakotas, but with dry conditions still prevalent in Montana and in the western third of the Dakotas.

Seeding is well advanced in Canada with trade advices indicating more than three-fourths of the average sown. The Manitoba Free Press reports 9,000,000 acres or 40% of the wheat acreage in western Canada definitely short of moisture. While recent rains offered some relief in local areas, less than normal April and May rainfalls has failed to relieve inadequate soil moisture supplies, in 1936 dry areas centering in southwestern Saskatchewan. Conditions in Manitoba, northern Saskatchewan and northern Alberta are more favorable with normal or about normal rainfall. Russian early seeding was backward or below those of corresponding dates last year but recent progress has been rapid and latest reports indicate spring seeding well above those of a year ago.

Domestic cash wheat markets reacted downward as premiums for cash grains were lowered in sympathy with declines in futures. Marketings of winter wheat were slightly larger than a week ago with receipts at nine Southwestern markets totaling 590 cars as compared with 571 cars a week ago and 608 cars for the corresponding week last year. Protein content of the 156 cars of winter wheat tested at the Missouri-Kansas state laboratories averaged 13.50% as compared with 11.81% a year ago.

Soft winter wheat markets were quiet with offerings hardly sufficient for current trade requirements,

About Headlights
A Garden City, Long Island, man, commenting on the lack of regulation of automobile lights, adds:
"I think the automobile engineers have fallen down terribly on the planning of car lights and there should be more concentration on lights than on so many useless gadgets."
It is a fact that little improvement is noticed in automobile headlights so far as they reduce the danger of throwing out a blinding glare. So far as we can ascertain, headlights on cars of recent models give the same glare as those 10 years ago. Every other part of an automobile's equipment has been improved.
You can have your car lights properly tested and adjusted at the Deobald Garage—and your brakes, too.

Colorful Highway
London.—A Local concern exhibiting a model highway on which colored concrete is used as a safety measure. Sidewalks are in buff concrete, and are separated from a red cycle track by green islands with yellow curbs. Slow motor traffic moves on gray concrete, while fast vehicles use a buff-colored lane. Pedestrians crossings are bright yellow, and traffic circles are flanked with alternate yellow and black curbs. Impatient motorists will continue to find traffic lights red.
How About It?
There seems to be a national campaign in favor of requiring periodic inspection of brakes on automobiles. That should help a lot, for instead of drivers running over a man, they will probably be able to stop right on top of him.—Tips and Topics.

Caught Young Porcupine
John Keeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Keeler pulled a Frank Buck "bring 'em back alive" stunt Wednesday afternoon, when he captured a young porcupine just across the creek from the Lewiston Grain Growers warehouse Wednesday.
As young as the animal was it was very handy with its tail. The quills, for all their small size, were sharp and withal as dangerous as a big one.

Gave Students Treat
Last Friday evening "Hank" Emery, genial custodian of the Kendrick school grounds, buildings—and most of the kids—gave the entire school a picnic in the park on Friday evening of last week, when ice cream and cookies were served to some 200. From the shouts of glee heard from the park it is evident that a very good time was had and the toothsome sweets much enjoyed. All the youngsters like "Hank" and "Hank" likes all of them.

Double Show Bill This Week

Hopalong Cassidy returns to a life of adventure as a two-gun peace-maker—forced to match his wits with a woman—in the story of "Hopalong Cassidy Returns," which will be one of the leading attractions at the Kendrick Theatre this coming Friday and Saturday nights. Cassidy is the marshal of a lawless western town and he finds that most of the community's crime comes from one source—Evelyn Brent, proprietress of the Crystal Slipper bar—and of course it's Cassidy's job to clean things up—which he does very nicely.

The other feature is "My American Wife." It's the story of a real western girl marrying a "count" of some sort, who, when he goes down on the cattle ranch of his wife's grandfather, insists on being a real cowboy and finally convinces them all that he can be just that. There's a lot of comedy—it's a good laugh show.

with No. 2 red winter quoted at $1.26 1/2-1.31 three-fourths at St Louis and at Kansas City at $1.29 1/4-1.33 1/2 per bushel. Offerings of soft winter at Gulf ports were light but a fairly good inquiry held prices steady with No. 2 soft red quoted at $1.40 1/2 per bushel, basis delivered Texas common points and or Galveston export rates.
Spring wheat markets reflected the downward trend in futures and the unsettled situation abroad but declines early in the week were partly recovered toward the close, reflecting improved demand. Upward revision of export requirements were a strengthening influence in the Canadian markets.
Durum markets were somewhat easier with only a moderate inquiry for cash offerings. No. 2 amber at Minneapolis was quoted at $1.30 to $1.35, with best milling lots quoted at $1.40 to $1.45 per bushel.
Intermountain and Pacific coast markets reflected the unsettled condition in the middlewest and prices tended downward. Denver mills were bidding $1.14 for No. 2 hard winter or No. 2 northern spring, FOB Colorado country points. Mills at Ogden were quoting No. 2 soft white and No. 2 hard white at 94c per bushel, with No. 2 dark northern spring and No. 2 dark hard winter at $1.02 and No. 2 northern spring and No. 2 hard winter at 99c per bushel FOB Utah-Idaho common points.
Pacific Northwestern markets declined around 2c, reflecting the decline in futures and a slow demand for cash offerings. Mills were moderate buyers of special lots for milling mixtures but these purchases were restricted by the slow demand for flour. Business with Atlantic coast ports was generally lacking with local values above an export basis for business with Europe. Sales of flour to the Philippines under the indemnity plan totaled 2,600 barrels for the week bringing the total since July 1 to 336,000 barrels. On May 14 hard white (bluestem or baart) was quoted at $1.16 1/2 and dark hard winter at $1.28 1/2. Soft white, western white, hard winter and western red were quoted at $1.15 1/2 per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade sacked, at Portland. At Seattle western white, western red, hard winter and hard white were quoted at $1.13.
California markets tended downward in adjustment to a new crop basis and also influenced by the unsettled situation in other areas. Offerings at San Francisco from central California growing districts were light but fully sufficient for current trade needs. Bay region mills reported a slow flour inquiry and premiums for best milling types were reduced. California prices were above a working basis for shipments to Texas or Atlantic points.
Pacific Northwestern barley markets were dull with offerings light and only a moderate inquiry. Dealers and mixed feed manufacturers provided the principal outlet for the current offerings with arrivals in Portland during the week totaling only four cars. Prices were unchanged with No. 2 bright western barley, testing 45 pounds per bushel, quoted at Portland May 13 at $2.00 per 100, sacked basis.
Oats markets fluctuated with the unsettled situation in other grains, and with variable local influences. Pacific Northwestern markets were steady, influenced by light offerings from small remaining supplies. At Portland No. 2 white oats testing 38 pounds were quoted May 13 at $1.87 1/2, and No. 2 gray oats at $1.62 1/2 per 100 pounds, sacked basis.

NEW FOOD WRINKLES FEATURE 4-H PROJECT
Girls enrolled in 4-H food projects may again compete for valuable prizes in the National Food Preparation Contest being conducted by club leaders with the aid of the State Extension Service. It opens a wide and fascinating field for girls who wish to excel in culinary arts.
Use of "new wrinkles" in commercial food products are an interesting phase of the contest, as are failure-proof methods, short cuts, and economical practices devised daily in test kitchens, all of which make food and its preparation a delight.
Credit is given to poultry, garden and orchard projects and serving of their products, also to the preparation of special dishes promoting greater consumption of neglected curing and canning of foods, picnic health items in the diet. Drying, and school lunches, meal planning and table decorations and settings for formal and informal occasions are significant in the program.
To encourage club girls in all these things, a refrigerator company offers $900 in cash scholarships and eight refrigerators to national and sectional winners, trips to the 16th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for state winning members, and gold medals to county champions.

Individuality
"No living person has ever seen George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, or Napoleon Bonaparte," reads an advertisement in the March issue of Fortune. "Only a diminishing few have looked upon the face of Lincoln. But the portrait painters and biographers have caught their personalities in deathless detail for the benefit of generations yet unborn.
"You feel that you know these men as well as any contemporary could have known them. Their faces—their manner of dress—their habits of mind—their philosophy—the thoughts they thought and the things they did while on earth—these are known to every schoolboy through the medium of picture and text.
"When all is said and done, the business of advertising is not only to sell the product, but to portray the personality of a business—to present a living, breathing likeness which will etch its most favorable facets on the memory—a picture that, through constant repetition, becomes familiar, intimate, the portrait of a friend.
"Every business has its own character and individuality—its own way of doing things—its own ideals. These intangibles are among its greatest assets. Known, they create dividends in terms both of public confidence and immediate sales. Unknown, they are as unproductive as a secret hoard of gold hidden beneath the earth."
Your advertising printing, business stationary, office forms, in fact all of the printed materials you use in your business—make the record the best possible by using printings that is truly typical of your business.

Well Folks—Spring seems to be here one day and the next it "ain't." Just like our rheumatism, "Here today—gone tomorrow." Have you tried our ice cream for that warm weather dessert or in-between-meals lunch? We'll bet you'll like it, and it's good for you, too. Wholesome, nutritious, and refreshing. Try some today. We make it ourselves—we know it is pure. Yes, you bet, we still make that delicious Bulgarian buttermilk. Buy it by the drink or gallon. Take some home—the whole family will like it.

Tuffy—"No, I ain't scared to fight you, Stuffy; what I am scared of is the licking I will get from my mother when she sees the doctor stopping at your place to patch you up."

"How's your new girl?"
"Not so good."
"You always were lucky."

"It says the man was shot by his wife at close range."
"Then there must have been powder marks on the body."
"Yes; that's why she shot him."

Blondes Better Beware

Blondes, beware! Dr. Park Lewis, vice president of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, said you simply are not so well equipped physically to face the approaching bright sunny days as dark complexioned persons.

"People, vary in their sensitivity to light when the eyes are closed largely because of the varying amount of pigment in the interior of the eyeball," said Dr. Lewis, who is also consulting surgeon at the Buffalo, N. Y. state hospital.

"In dark people this is found to be a higher degree," he said. "But in the case of light people or albinos the light ordinarily shines through the closed lids as it would through a curtain. It may be avoided by keeping the eyes properly shaded."
