BABSON'S AUTHENTIC STATEMENT ON BUSINESS

Labor At The Cross-Roads
Babson points out that responsibility must go along with power. The phenomenal growth of the CIO has amazed business and labor leaders alike. Even John L. Lewis, were he perfectly candid, would concede that he had no idea his Committee for Industrial Organization would extend so widely within less than a year's active campaign work. The fact is, today CIO unions include over two million members and are trading fast on the heels of the A.F.O.L. Mr. Lewis won his first major victories when he established labor "peace" with 80 percent of the steel industry and the principal automobile companies with the exception of the Ford Company.

Labor Struggles Inevitable
The Wagner Act decision has proved a tremendously valuable ally to Mr. Lewis. Under its outspread and protective wings, collective bargaining is being fostered in a manner that is enough to build a strong industrial labor party in this country. I was not surprised at the swift growth of the CIO during the past year. My Studies of the labor situation convinced me in 1932 that, as we emerged from the depression, we would see an increasingly vital labor movement. Because I have been a friend of organized labor for years, I, however, feel particularly concerned over certain distressing implications of the present labor picture.

In 1932 I thought it might be possible for the labor movement to take place within the ranks of the A.F.O.L. A short time ago I had lunch with the son of that great labor leader, the late Samuel Gompers. Sam Gompers founded the A.F.O.L. and until his death held a firm hand on its leadership. I asked his son his opinion of the divided house of labor which has grown out of the quarrel between Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green. He replied: "Babson if father had been alive, this would never have happened." What he meant was that his father would have been sufficiently far-seeing to keep American labor from taking two separate paths.

Strong Leaders Essential
Mr. Green came into the presidency of the Federation of Labor at a time when the kind of secretarial leadership, which he represented, was needed. For nearly a decade this proved sufficient. Now, however, labor is facing the predicament which business, politics, and all other aspects of our social life eventually come to—labor needs a stronger hand at the helm. John Lewis has the needed courage and persistence, but whether he can be trusted to work for the good of the nation as a whole is another question.

If he fails to do this, organized labor can become a menace and a danger to the nation's welfare. I am speaking thus frankly because I feel the issue is one of the most timely and important ones before us today. It involves the standard of living of every reader of this newspaper. The subject of organized labor always stirs partisans for and against. Already violent prejudices have flamed up in behalf of and in opposition to Mr. Lewis. I am trying in this appraisal to stand apart from the conflict and to view with a statistician's mind the basic social facts involved.

Labor Must Assume Responsibility
Under wise labor leadership the United States can now enter a period of labor peace such as it has seldom known before. The danger lies, however, in the possibility that the labor unions will overreach themselves in their struggle for more power. I am stating only a truism when I say that as labor assumes greater power it must assume greater responsibility. If labor is to be allowed—as I believe it should—to bargain collectively, then it must be held to collective responsibility for its acts. It may be that the legal incorporation of labor unions is the only means of facing this responsibility.

We are at present in an era when labor is not only in the saddle but is riding faster and faster as the new period of prosperity deepens. Now is the time for a warning note to be sounded. We have only to look to Europe to see what has happened where a people have been indifferent to their national dangers. We are living at a time when constitutional government has been discarded for

Return From Visit

N. E. Ware, Mrs. Stewart Compton and children and Marvin Long returned Sunday evening from a week's visit at Salmon City with Mr. and Mrs. O. E. MacPhearson and family—and of course they fished a little, too. They brought home some real nice trout, weighing from one to two pounds each. They report having visited with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Knepper and family and that they and the MacPhearsons sent their best regards and greetings to their old friends here.

SPORTSMEN'S MEETING, GENESEE, JUNE 29TH

Initial steps in shaping a program to build a better game bird population in Latah county will be taken at a meeting of the Latah County Wild Life Federation in Genesee, Tuesday evening, June 29th, at 8 p. m. in the Legion hall, according to Howard Short of Moscow, federation president.

This will be the third gathering under the new plan of holding federation sessions in various communities in the county. Previously meetings were held at Potlatch and Troy. Election of officers for the coming year took place at the recent Troy meeting.

In charge of local arrangements for the Genesee meeting are Dr. N. M. Leavitt and Dale Lamphear of that place. President Short reports that Superintendent Gene Crawford of the Lapwai State game farm will be the principal speaker. Supplementing his discussion will be additional reports by Dr. A. B. Hatch of the University school of forestry staff, whose students in game management have made interesting studies on the game bird situation in this section.

Directors of the federation will report on results of the membership drive. In a recent announcement distributed to holders of fishing and hunting licenses the federation indicated that about 2000 licenses are sold in the county every year. With this many fishermen and hunters a membership of a thousand or more is the goal.

Directors of the federation, who are responsible for membership activities in their various communities, include: N. M. Leavitt, Genesee; Dr. Weigant, Potlatch; Hubert Hall, Bovill; Ed Solberg, Troy; Marvin Long, Kendrick; Clarence Jenks, Moscow; Vic Morris, Potlatch; A. C. Perciful, Moscow; W. F. Eichner, Troy.

More About Roads

It takes a fellow with more than a passing knowledge of what is going on to keep track of the changes of road conditions and situations. It is now said that only about three and a half miles of road will be built in the Deary section—toward the Texas ridge gravel, and that about a mile and a half of gravel will be spread from the end of the Big Bear ridge grade, on the old road, to catch up with the Deary road, which seems to be receding, instead of getting longer (probably some of Moscow's work). However, if they can get the roads connected up so that the school bus can get through, it would help for a little, while.

Car Accidents In This Section

George Smith, 35, of Frazier, lost control of his car on the Grear grade early Sunday morning and went over the grade, the car rolling some 600 feet to the railroad tracks below. He was so badly injured that he died in the Orofino hospital a few hours later.

Mr. Smith makes the fifth or sixth person who has lost his life on this grade during the past few months. It is indeed a dangerous grade.

John Veien of Troy, while traveling the Little Bear ridge grade early Saturday morning, lost control of the car and went over the grade, the car rolling down the embankment some 30 feet, coming to rest on its side. Officers who investigated the accident said Mr. Veien's neck was broken and that death was instant. The machine was not badly damaged. The victim was unmarried and leaves no known relatives around Troy. He had just recently returned from a trip to Norway.

SHALL LATAH COUNTY BE TAXED TO BUILD HOSPITAL?

At a meeting of the Latah county commissioners, held in the court house last Tuesday, to check over petitions signed by Latah county taxpayers asking that a special election be held for the purpose of voting bonds to the extent of some $175,000 or more for the erection in Moscow of a "county" hospital of some 50-bed capacity, there were seemingly only two objectors—the Potlatch Forests, Inc., and the Washington, Idaho and Montana railway, a subsidiary, which two organizations paid one-tenth of all the taxes paid in Latah county last year.

W. J. Gamble, representing the W. I. & M. railroad, which paid $8,510 of the county's $468,000 taxes spread on the 1936 rolls, said he was opposed to having the taxpayers of Latah county build a hospital for the people of Moscow. Gamble's sentiments were echoed by A. A. Segersten, land agent for Potlatch Forests, Inc., which paid $38,052 in taxes during 1936.

The two gentlemen asked that the commissioners delay calling an election and stated that if they would give the companies two weeks they would secure just as many names to petitions asking that the hospital be not built by Latah county taxpayers for the city of Moscow.

We have wondered many times during the past two weeks why the taxpayers would be willing to have a levy of from three to three and a half mills made to build a 50-room hospital for the city of Moscow—if it would be nothing short of that. The taxpayers would have to bear the expense and then it would be leased to some fraternal or other organization—and not run as a county hospital, for the benefit of those who were unable to pay full hospital fees.

We are not blaming the "Hospital Association"—made up exclusively of Moscow men, as we are informed—but why should Moscow ask the taxpayers to build it for them. If the town of Moscow wants this hospital bad enough—let the town build it—not call on outsiders to whom the hospital would be of no benefit? Any doctor familiar with hospitals will tell you that no hospital is self-supporting! Then, where in the name of common sense is the money coming from to keep the institution going after the county has built it for the city of Moscow? The taxpayers of course!—if we have not been misinformed. Then, after the taxpayers have added a beautiful building to others in Moscow and they want hospital care—they will have to pay the same price as they would in Lewiston, Spokane, or any other city.

The crying need of Latah county, if they must build a building of some sort, is one on the county farm for the housing the poor unfortunate who are living in what was a long time ago pronounced a fire-trap by the then county commissioners themselves, and by all others who have visited the old shack that is filled many times past capacity by "unfortunates" who should have better care.

The Kendrick Gazette is not backward in stating that it is unalterably opposed to the erection of the proposed hospital at Moscow—at least until something has been done for those who are unable to help themselves.

Again, we can see no reason why Latah county taxpayers should build such a building simply because a Moscow "Hospital Association" is asking for it.

There is no question but what the election for the issuance of the bonds will be held, but were the taxpayers told that this same election would cost them in the neighborhood of from $1,700 to $1,800? No, this item was not mentioned when the cute little cards asking for your signature to hold the election were sent out from Moscow. To top it all off, is there anyone in Latah county who feels that he isn't paying enough taxes in Latah county? If you think you aren't, then vote "Yes." If you think you are, and are not in favor of paying more—and for the apparent benefit of Moscow—then by all means vote "No." To be safe—vote "No."

Parents Of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith of the Park section are the parents of a fine seven-pound daughter, who came to their home on Thursday, June 17. Mother and daughter are doing nicely.

SCHOOL BETTERMENTS FOR COMING YEAR

With the exception of the Smith-Hughes teacher, who is to be selected at an early date, all teachers for the coming year in Kendrick Schools have been selected. The school board met Monday evening and hired a teacher for Home Economics and Typing. Home Economics is a new course to be offered this coming year in the Kendrick schools. The teaching lineup is as follows: J. M. Lyle, Jr., superintendent; Miss Kathryn Lane, Boise, English and Commercial; Miss Jean Graham, Peck, Idaho, Home Economics and Typing; Emil Levi, Science. This with the teacher to be selected for Ag. work will complete the high school roster.

In grades the following teachers have been elected: A. L. Dawald, principal; 7-8 grades and high school coach for boys and girls; Mrs. W. B. Deobald, 5-6, Mrs. S. Cook 3-4, and Miss Elma Jones 1-2. The arrangement in the grades calls for special art and music work for the grade pupils. The band work will also be carried on and indications are that the band will be considerably larger than last year. The Smith-Hughes Ag. work will be carried on full time. The instructor teaching high school classes half the day and will devote the remainder of his time to part time and evening classes in agricultural work. This change was made due to the increased demand for the Smith-Hughes work. The school building is being renovated and improved under the direction of the school custodian, Mr. Emery. The floors are being refinished with a special sealing preparation which makes them more sanitary and easier to take care of. Desks are being refinished where this was not done last year. All rooms not calsonimed last summer are being done over this summer. Five new drinking fountains of the type recommended for schools are to be installed in the near future. Also new toilets for the boys and girls lavatories are to be installed at the same time as the new fountains. The library enclosure has been changed somewhat from last year the top part of the "cage" having been replaced by a lower enclosure with a shelf around the entire library. This will make the books more accessible and will give more light in the library portion of the assembly. It is hoped to have student librarians in charge of the library each period of the day. All renovating and changes will be completed by the opening of school in September. Indications are that the Kendrick Schools will have the largest enrollment in the history of the school.

4-H Club Meeting

The regular weekly meeting of the Kendrick 4-H club was held in the basement of the M. E. church on Friday afternoon of last week. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Myra Kanikkeberg, owing to the absence of the president, Barbara Long.

It was agreed at the meeting to take five points off of all absentees' records, from this date, if absences are inexcusable.

After adjournment of the meeting the girls started work on their first "problem," the tea towel.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, June 25, at 2 p. m., in the basement of the M. E. church.

It is not too late for girls of 10 years or over to join, if they so desire.

The 4-H club girls have arranged to sell home-made candy, candy bars and gum at the Theatre each show night to help raise money for the club's activities.

Fred VanWert Passes

Word was brought to Kendrick Wednesday morning by Ole Lien of the passing of Fred VanWert, son of Dr. W. B. VanWert, former residents here, at Grangeville, Tuesday morning.

Mr. Lien said that Dr. VanWert was on his way to California for a visit with friends; when word reached him at Pomeroy of the passing of his son, and he was returning to Grangeville when he passed the word on to Mr. Lien. Death was reported in a Lewiston paper to have been caused by taking an over-dose of a sleeping potion. Mr. Van Wert had not been in good health for some time, however.

Who remembers when wearing silk stockings made one an aristocrat?

About Drivers' Licenses

As is generally known, Idaho state driver's licenses expire on July 1 of this year. Licenses may be obtained on certain days in either Moscow or Lewiston, but have been unobtainable in the smaller towns.

However, State Traffic Officer Orville W. Crooks, has sent word to the Gazette that he will be in Kendrick on Saturday, June 26, to issue licenses. He will operate from the city hall on that day.

The exact hours of his work here are not known, but it is presumed they will be from 8:30 or 9 a. m. to probably 5 p. m.

WHAT MARKET UNSETTLED—NEW WHEAT IMPROVED

Domestic wheat markets continued unsettled during the week ended June 18; states the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Winter wheat declined sharply with increased marketings of new grain while spring wheat advanced moderately influenced by an active inquiry for the limited offerings and strength in Canadian markets resulting from unfavorable crop conditions in parts of the Prairie Provinces.

Winter wheat harvesting extended rapidly northward during the week with many fields cut in southern Kansas. Marketings increased sharply and receipts at the principal winter wheat markets totaled 3,800 cars, over 75 percent of which consisted of new wheat from Texas and Oklahoma with a few cars from southern Kansas. The quality of the new wheat improved materially with a reduction in moisture. The protein of the wheat inspected at Kansas City averaged 12.81 per cent with some of the new grain testing as high as 19.10 percent protein. Test weight was generally good, giving promise of high milling quality for the 1937 crop. Unusually heavy offerings resulted in a sharp drop in premiums for cash grain. At the close of the week, No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Kansas City at $1.11 to $1.25%, about 8c per bushel lower than a week ago.

Receipts at Fort Worth were much drier and most all fell within regular numerical grades. The bulk of the arrivals was still on contract and cash sales were small. No. 1 hard winter was quoted at $1.14%, delivered Texas common points. Practically no new wheat was received at St. Louis and offerings were too light to establish reliable quotations. At Chicago, No. 2 soft and hard red winter were quoted at $1.21 to $1.24% or about the same as a week ago.

Spring wheat markets turned firmer despite the decline in winter wheat. The July delivery at Minneapolis advanced 4 1/2c and closed June 18, at $1.27%. Cash premiums were also materially higher as a result of active inquiry from mills. Unfavorable prospects in a portion of the Canadian spring wheat belt, together with a broader inquiry for the rapidly diminishing stocks of old wheat were the principal strengthening influence in the domestic situation. At the close of the week, No. 1 dark northern was quoted at 15c to 20c over the July future, while occasional cars of high protein brought additional premiums of 10c to 12c per bushel. The protein of the cars tested averaged 15.75 percent.

Durum wheat did not share in the advance in bread grains but declined about 1 1/2c per bushel with the July future at Duluth closing June 18, at $1.03. No. 2 Canadian durum was available at about $1.62 per bushel; delivered Duluth.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets fluctuated with variable local conditions. Prices at Denver were down about 3c per bushel with local mills bidding $1.10 per bushel for No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring FOB Colorado shipping points. Prices held about unchanged at Ogden, where mills were offering $1.00 per bushel for No. 2 soft and hard white and $1.02 for No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring. Trading was light with marketings of old wheat small and new crop movement not expected for about 30 days.

The Portland market advanced about 2c per bushel principally as a result of light offerings. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled only 156 cars. Local buyers were offering around $1.00 per bushel for new crop wheat but farmers were not free sellers of either new or old wheat at current prices. Demand was slow with local mills furnishing the principal outlet. Local values were out of line for shipment to the central west and only occasional cars of high protein wheat were taken by California mills.

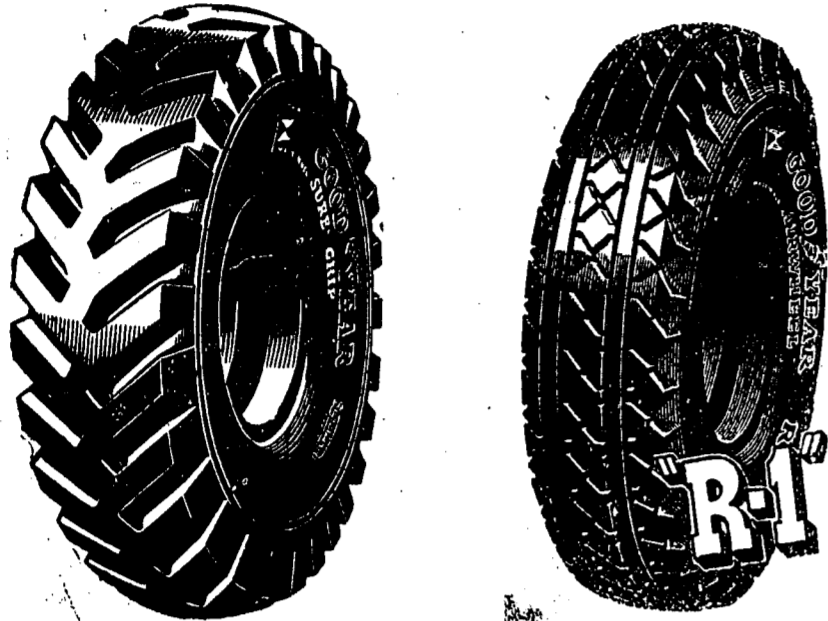

Export business was small although prices were reported in line for European trade. At the close of the week, 12 percent protein hard white (Big Bend bluestem or baart) was quoted at Portland at $1.14, with 12 percent dark hard winter at $1.21, soft white and western white at $1.15, hard winter at $1.13 and western red at $1.14 per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were practically unchanged from a week ago with trading limited by

"Can This Be Dixie"

Uncle Tom's Cabin is a cabaret now and Old Man River's truckin' along in Jane Withers' new jubilee of julep time—"Can This Be Dixie?" which will be shown in the Kendrick Theatre this Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. Fun really shines all the time in this new Twentieth Century-Fox song hit as "Ginger" Jane starts dancing. The cast includes the irrepressible "Slim" Summerville.

The opening of the picture finds Slim and his niece, Jane, driving along a cotton field on a southern plantation, in a dilapidated car to which is attached a trailer serving both as sleeping accommodations by night and the stage for a medicine show by day. They have enticed the darkies from the field to watch their show when Claude Gillingwater, owner of the plantation, arrives on the scene just in time to prevent the sheriff from arresting Slim and Jane for peddling without a license.

Here the fun starts and continues throughout the picture—and everything turns out all right.

Another "Quake" At Boise

Maintenance engineers in the five Idaho districts of the state highway department have received notices from Ira H. Taylor, commissioner of public works, that their services will be no longer required after July 1, the Lewiston Morning Tribune said Sunday.

Instructions were transmitted through J. H. Stemmer, director of highways, it being asserted the move is an economy and efficiency measure intended to place the responsibility for highway maintenance in the future in the hands of resident engineers in the various counties, under immediate direction of the district engineers.

The shakeup signals the removal of Henry M. Jones, Lewiston, as district maintenance supervisor in north-central Idaho after six years of service, and the district supervisors at Pocatello, Shoshone, Boise, and Cour d'Alene.

Death To Morning Glories

A crew of government men are working on a fine patch of morning glories on the American Ridge ranch of Wade Keene. The ground thereabout has had more holes punched in it than ever before and they are planting a very deadly kind of gas among the pernicious weeds, which, it is claimed, will put an end to their existence.

In addition to the small patches of "glories," Wade has some as fine wheat as can be found anywhere in this section, and those on the ridge raising beans have to weight them down to keep them in the ground. Frank Bencotter is farming the place.

More Students To Kendrick

According to a report from the County Superintendent's office, the Fern Hill school has also decided to send their pupils to the Kendrick school during the coming year. They will come in the same bus as those of the Taney and Steele schools.

NOTICE TO READERS

On page 3 of this issue you will find "Business". We have arranged to give this weekly column—written by Roger W. Babson—a few weeks' trial. The discussions will center around business, financial, and economic developments.

Before completing arrangements with Mr. Babson for the regular use of his article, we want to get our readers' reaction. Therefore, if you would like to read what Mr. Babson has to say each week in our paper, just drop us a line or call us by phone—644.

We would like to have you continue the articles by Roger W. Babson on "Babson on Business".

PERSONAL MENTION

Ross Thompson and daughter of Spokane, a brother of Mr. Thompson, and Mrs. Bradov, of Colton, a sister of Mr. Thompson's.

Mrs. J. E. White of Marysville, Wn., came last Thursday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Blevins. Her husband plans to join her July 4, and they will return home together. Mrs. Blevins plans to go home with them for a visit.

Mrs. Harold Thomas and daughter Phyllis and son Noel, Mrs. Lucy Thomas and Anton Lien left Saturday of last week for Los Angeles where they plan to visit for about six weeks with friends and relatives.

J. H. Cairns left Wednesday afternoon for Colfax, Wash., where he will join relatives for a motor trip down the coast, ending at San Francisco. Enroute they will visit at Bend, Oregon, and other coast points. He expects to be gone about 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Thompson and family and B. Thompson drove to Peck Sunday, on their way home they encountered a slide some six feet deep which covered the entire road. They were obliged to turn about and come home via Winchester.

Mrs. Joe Ayre of Pocatello arrived June 14 for a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lohman. Mrs. Ayre is employed in the fountain service of the Walgreen Drug store, while her husband is completing his course in pharmacy at the Southern Branch of the U. of I.

POPULAR ASTRONOMY
(By Wickliffe R. Smith)

A clear summer sky is always beautiful at night—especially when the planets are grouped in such a position as to be easily studied. This summer the sky is unusually attractive. Mars is high up in the southeast at dark. That interesting old world is still close to the earth, but is gradually going away from us. Students with small telescopes should try to learn all they can about this big red star before it gets too far away. Astronomers believe a very severe storm has been raging on Mars for the past several weeks, as the planet is redder than usual. It seems to be much severer than any we have on the earth. Perhaps it is a dust storm. Or it may be that a mighty volcano is throwing dust and cinders into the upper regions of the atmosphere to be carried for hundreds of miles.

Jupiter, the Giant, is not far behind Mars in its journey through the sky. It is fourteen hundred times as large as the earth. It is much brighter than Mars, being next to Venus in brilliance. While Mars is a much older world than the earth, Jupiter is younger. It has not cooled sufficiently yet to be inhabited, the some of its many moons probably contain people as highly civilized as our own.

Next along the way comes Saturn, the beautiful, with its wonderful rings. It is very bright, and easily distinguished from the fixed stars nearby. It shines with a pale yellow light. Through a large telescope Saturn is seen as one of the most beautiful objects in the heavens. Though not as large as Jupiter, Saturn is many times larger than the earth.

Venus, because of its beauty and brilliance, is often called the Queen of the sky. It is the brightest of them all. Being almost the same size as the earth Venus is often called the earth's twin sister. Venus rises soon after midnight and may be seen until almost sunup.

Besides the planets there are many pretty groups of fixed stars to attract the attention of the interested observer. In the east, far down toward the horizon, we can see the Dolphin, often called Job's Coffin. Above the Dolphin is Cygnus, while still higher up we find Lyra, or the Harp. The brightest star in its Vega, a big bright blue star of the first magnitude. You will find it almost exactly overhead in September. Some day Vega will be our north star. Along the ecliptic we find Capricornus just rising. Next is Sagittarius, Libra, the Scales, is up near the meridian; while Leo, the Lion, is far down toward the western horizon. North of the ecliptic is one of the brightest of the fixed stars. It is called Arcturus, and is mentioned in the Bible. This giant sun is coming toward the earth at the rate of five miles a second. It would take 160 years for a telephone message to reach us from Arcturus.

WHAT MARKET UNSETTLED — NEW WHEAT IMPROVED

Light remaining supplies of local barley. Rains in the Willamette Valley with the large acreage seeded in this area were weakening influences tending to hold prices in check. On June 17, No. 2 bright western barley, testing 45 pounds, was quoted at Portland at $2.00 per 100, sacked.

Oats markets displayed some independent firmness reflecting delay in harvest and movement of new oats and light remaining supplies of old grain. Pacific Northwestern markets held steady with the bulk of the business in this area comprising the movement from surplus to deficit areas. Timely rains in the Willamette Valley were a weakening influence which tended to counter-balance the light remaining stocks of old grain. On June 17, No. 2 white oats were quoted at Portland at $1.67½ with No. 2 gray oats at $1.62½ per 100, sacked basis. Gray oats were selling at country points in the Willamette Valley area at $1.70 per 100 with white oats at $1.60 per 100.

A Peculiar Bug

Wayland Davis, who is employed at the Hogley store, brought to the Gazette office the other day a very peculiar-looking bug, that he had salvaged from a bunch of bananas. The thing didn't look very dangerous, although it carried what might be termed a coat of armor, as did the gladiators of old, with a large sheet over its "shoulders" and another over its head. By looking underneath it could be seen that the bug had a head similar to a grasshopper, only much smaller, while the body was wide and bulky. It may be all right to have those things as pets, but we are through with bug and spider menageries.

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks—Rain, rain and a bit more rain. Looks like the cherry and berry crop would be a flat failure, the rain spoiling them. Just shows that it doesn't pay to have a one-crop farm.

We suggest as a second crop—CREAM—the old income producer, summer and winter. We are always in the market for cream and pay with cash—cash talks!

By the way—why not take a quart of our ice cream home with you. You'll like it and it's good for you. Remember—we use no ice cream powder in our product. It is really ice cream.

"Let me show you something new in a snappy sedan," suggested the salesman.

"It won't do you any good," she replied, "and besides I don't think you could!"

You are born in a hospital; you marry in a church and die in a car. What do you want a home for?

Judge: "Witness says you neither slowed down nor tried to avoid the pedestrian."

Motorist: "I took all precautions your honor. I blew my horn and cursed him."

TEAKEAN GOSSIP

We've been getting more than our share of rain during this month. It has helped crops, but we are hoping it will stop long enough to enable us to harvest the hay and strawberries.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lind and Mr. and Mrs. L. Cianin are in Nampa attending the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren. They are expected home this week.

Mrs. Alice Sewell and daughters Laura and Dolly and Clarence Cianin gathered at the Wm. Groseclose home Monday evening to hear a sermon broadcast from Nampa, by one of the ministers at the Conference being held there.

BABSON'S AUTHENTIC STATEMENT ON BUSINESS

dictatorships in many lands. Strong men have seized the reins of power when the people themselves failed to face their responsibilities of government. We must not let this happen in the United States or Canada.

It's All Up To Labor

Under the leadership of President Roosevelt we are endeavoring to retain the fundamentals of democracy while adjusting them to the unprecedented problems of our present machine age. Our success or failure may well depend on whether labor in the United States becomes swollen with power and arrogant in its new-found strength as did certain employing groups during the 20's. Mr. Lewis' real battle does not lie, as he may think, against the corporations. His big fight is to come within his own camp. If he can wield a disciplined, orderly federation of industrial unions along American lines, he need not fear either for his own position or for the status of American labor.

If, however, Lewis allows his labor unions to make unreasonable demands; if strikes are called when peaceful methods would be successful; if demands are insisted upon which destroy communities and drive companies out of business;—then he will fail. Labor like everything else is governed by the Law of Action and Reaction. Under wise leadership labor will meet management half way, will consolidate its gains, and remain a conservative bulwark in support of American principles. But if labor takes the other course and pushes on into noman's land of radicalism and excesses, the reaction will be extreme. Today, such men as John L. Lewis are standing in the positions occupied a generation ago by J. P. Morgan and his group.

If labor does not want to face its "1929 Waterloo", let the rank and file and their leaders alike observe the storm signals. They are already flying!
