ATTY. GENERAL TAYLOR WRITES OF TAX PROBLEMS

For two weeks the State Board of Equalization has been wrestling with a lot of conflicting interests and claims with reference to tax levies. This group, which consists of the Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer and Attorney General, is entrusted with the task of equalizing assessments between the various counties of the state and of assessing the railroads, power companies, telephone companies and other of the utilities which are not assessed by the county assessors.

The procedure generally followed is for the Board to meet for one week and make tentative assessments of the utilities, at the same time inquiring into the relative fairness of assessments as made by the counties. The second week is occupied with open meetings at which interested persons make presentation of their claims to the Board. For the purpose of facilitating comparison, the counties are divided into eight groups upon the basis of similarity of conditions as to the quality of soil, crops, density of population, etc.

The Board is faced at the outset with the very human tendency on the part of many county assessors to reduce local valuations as much as possible for the reason that the lower such value is made, the smaller will be the amount of state taxes to be paid. I do not mean that there is anything dishonest in this attitude as it is a universal instinct to reduce as much as possible the burden of state government. Naturally the local county authorities desire the assessment of the utilities to be as high as can be arranged in order that these corporations shall pay a greater amount for state purposes and at the same time assist in raising their tax payments locally. The result is that there is an unending contest between the counties on the one hand and the utilities companies on the other hand, each endeavoring to cast a greater burden on the other and thereby lighten its own load. The effort of the Board of Equalization is to reach a fair adjustment of the conflicting claims so that the cost of government may be justly distributed.

This is a task for experts. However, as is the case with most state boards, the members generally come into their duties without any particular training or experience that would enable them to function skillfully and to the best advantage. Two members of the present board have had a number of years experience and their suggestions have been invaluable at the present meeting. I make this statement not for the purpose of placing upon these members the responsibility for all action that has been taken but rather as an acknowledgement of their invaluable assistance in meeting the numerous and intricate problems which have been presented for solution.

Urges Early Registration

Supt. James M. Lyle, Jr., of the Kendrick schools, urges all students to register the opening day if possible, as with the unusually large enrollment, much confusion can be saved, and perhaps much valuable time.

Mr. Lyle also urges those with credit problems to see him before the opening of school, in an effort to arrange courses to complete all required credits.

Kendrick schools this year are more promising than ever before, as both Agriculture and Home Economics are to be taught, as well as the regular courses. This gives a larger selection than ever before, as well as offering more complete training for after school life.

In athletics Kendrick is looking forward to a real basketball season, and the school should be complete with studies and fun.

Attend Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schupfer and family and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Deobald and family and Mrs. M. A. Deobald drove to Moscow Tuesday evening, where they attended a family reunion at the Elmer Bechtol home in that city.

Parents Of Son

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Wilson of Cedar Creek are the proud parents of a five-pound baby girl, who arrived at their home Saturday, Aug. 21. Mother and babe are doing nicely.

Parents —!

There are two weeks left of this summer's vacation. School begins on September 6th. Are your children physically ready for school? Are you sure their teeth have all their cavities filled? Do you know whether or not their eyes are ready for hours of study? Are you assured that their throats are in good condition, that they may be as free from throat infections as you, your physician and dentist can make them?

Those who have not done so should see their physician and dentist before school starts. Physical inspections will be made by the Public Health nurse after school begins.

GRIM REAPER STILL OPERATES ON IDAHO ROADS

Idaho's bloody record of automobile deaths continues to mount at an alarming figure. The Grim Reaper was still at the wheel during the month of July, when 28 traffic fatalities, the greatest number for any month in the history of the state, were added to the death roll. The same month last year had 15 deaths, an increase of 86 per cent for the month.

Reckless and drunken driving, speed, and on the wrong side of the road caused most of the deaths of 14 persons between the ages of 18 and 28 years; nine between 30 and 59 years; four from 10 to 15 years, and one child one year of age. It is estimated that 78 were injured during the month, while property damage was about $25,000.

The July totals bring the death toll for seven months in Idaho up to 102 as compared with 61 for the same period in 1936. August, September and October are always the heaviest months of the year. With this percentage of increase, the traffic fatalities for 1937 will probably reach the 300 mark. The 1936 total was 182.

Three of the fatalities occurred in or near Boise, while Caldwell, Bliss, Twin Falls, Sandpoint and Montpelier had two traffic deaths each. One death each in 15 other communities of the state made up the toll.

During the month of July, 28 persons were drowned. This is the greatest toll in the history of the state for one month. This makes the total for the seven months of this year greater than has heretofore been the yearly total. Last year 47 persons were drowned while the year before that 53 lost their lives in the water.

Sailing For China

Word has been received by Mrs. E. L. Pearson from her son Carl, who is aboard the U. S. Marblehead, that his ship will sail for China this Saturday, August 28, as a convoy ship to the transports Chaumont and Henderson, which are taking 1,200 marines to protect U. S. property in Shanghai.

It will take about five weeks to make the trip as the transport ships make only 12 to 14 knots per hour. They will stop enroute at Honolulu and perhaps at Manila to take on supplies and a full munition load.

Carl said they would be gone about six weeks and may see a little action with "the yellow devils." He also said that decks would be kept cleared for action in case of an emergency.

Cannery To Open Friday

The Thomas Cannery is expected to start its annual run of tomatoes on Friday morning. Work will start with 10 to 15 peelers, and a total crew employed of about 20.

Tomatoes this season are said to be of an excellent quality—far better than that of last year, but the crop promises to be short. It is expected, however, that it will be larger than the very short crop of last year. The price paid to growers is up, so all-in-all, it will undoubtedly balance well with the average season.

Juliaetta tomatoes are known all over the Northwest for their lusciousness, and this year's crop promises to increase that renown.

Return To Missouri

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Diehl and family of Springfield, Mo., who have been visiting in the Frank Wilken home on Texas ridge the past three weeks, left Friday for their home.

They went over the Lolo Trail to Missoula, Mont., thence to Salt Lake, Denver, and to their home.

Mrs. Diehl is a daughter of Mr. Wilken. Mr. Diehl is supervisor of Gardner National Forest, with headquarters at St. Louis.

THREE "EMERGENCY" HUNTS SCHEDULED FOR THIS FALL

Three "emergency" hunts—two for elk and one for deer—to be conducted in Idaho during September and October have been announced by W. R. McIntyre, State Game Warden. Details of the hunts are being worked out by the department and will be announced in detail soon. Fifteen hundred hunting permits are being issued to cover the hunts. The public drawing will be held in Boise, Aug. 30, from the special applications received.

In speaking of the hunts, McIntyre said: "Because of the prospective inadequate feed in three big game areas, we have decided to permit the killing of some elk and deer rather than allow their possible starvation next year.

"The first hunt for 1,000 elk will begin in the Selway game preserve about September 1. The second hunt for 100 elk will be held some time in October in the Cache national forest in Bannock, Oneida, Bear Lake and Franklin counties. The third hunt under consideration would permit killing of 1,000 deer in Minidoka national forest in Twin Falls and Cassia counties."

Regarding the big elk hunt, Mr. McIntyre said: "The Selway Game Preserve was established twenty years ago and through the protection given to elk by this preserve, and the enforcement of shorter hunting seasons and lower bag limits, a large population of elk has been built up in the Selway country. So large, in fact, that the winter range has become seriously depleted and elk are in danger of starvation during severe winters. There is ample summer feed on some two million acres of high mountain range, and during spring, summer and fall the elk grow fat in these mountain areas. The heavy snows crowd the elk down to the lower elevations and onto the wind-swept side hills of the Lochsa and Selway canyons.

"The total winter range in this area of two million acres is only about one hundred and fifty thousand acres and during the critical period of severe winters, there is only about sixty thousand acres that is actually usable, even by these hardy game animals. In order to maintain this range in a productive condition and prevent the ultimate starvation of game animals, regulated hunting in this area is desirable. Game studies by the Forest Service show a total elk population of approximately eleven thousand head in this area, a major portion of which is concentrated on about sixty thousand acres during the winter period."

Road Work Begins

Actual construction work on the 6.086 miles road contract on Big Bear ridge, awarded August 13, to Peter Carbon & Sons Co., of Spokane, was begun Tuesday morning of this week.

The actual operations were started on the Deary end, (approximately three miles) and running toward the Texas ridge gravel. This section will be completed first, the Kendrick end to follow, with a three mile unfinished link between.

It is six of one and half dozen of the other which end is built first, as both ends have school buses operating on them.

Oiling operations on the three-mile Arrow-Deary highway near Arrow, are proceeding rapidly and should be nearly completed this week.

Its completion will only make the rest of the so-called highway seem the rougher, but every mile helps just that much. Perhaps time and taxes will finally complete the road.

Worked On Bear Ridge

A state highway crew was busy the latter part of last week and the forepart of this week preparing the Bear Ridge grade for winter travel.

Two trucks and a shovel were in use cleaning out the slides, deepening the ditches, cleaning culvert ends and in general preparing for winter travel.

Sawmill Closes Run

The Thomas sawmill finished its season run Saturday evening, and has been shut down. Logs will continue to be shipped, however, until weather makes roads impassable.

No one has yet been able to figure out why it is that you can find men who will drink from the same bottle but who wouldn't eat with the same fork.

STATE EQUIPMENT CONTRACTS SUBJECT OF SUIT

Boise—Attorney General J. W. Taylor said the state "may be able to recover as much as $1,000,000 for illegal highway equipment contracts" as a result of the opinion handed down by District Judge Koelsch.

The judge's ruling came in an action started by Taylor to collect $13,402 on alleged illegal contracts entered into by Stemmer and former Public Works Commissioner G. E. McKelvey, and the Bunting Tractor Company of La Grande, Oregon. Stemmer, McKelvey, the Bunting Company and bondsmen for the two officials are defendants.

Judge Koelsch denied a petition for a rehearing of a court order on May 6 overruling the defendants demurrers and sustaining the state's general demurrer to the defendant's answers.

"With this case as a precedent we may recover as much as a million dollars on subsequent proceedings based on illegal contracts of the same character entered into since 1931," said Taylor.

Taylor said a series of actions will be started to recover on other allegedly illegal contracts.

His principal contention is that the contracts were let without being properly advertised for bids.

Boise—J. H. Stemmer, director of the highway bureau, said Monday he would appeal from the decision in which he, G. E. McKelvey and the Bunting Tractor company of La Grande, Ore., and the official's bondsmen were held responsible for illegal highway equipment purchases.

Judge Charles Koelsch returned a $13,000 judgment for the state in his ruling Saturday. He ruled that the machine was bought without proper advance advertising.

Attorney General J. W. Taylor said he would file 72 other suits in an attempt to collect "maybe as much as a million dollars on similar contracts."

A Prediction

Every political party includes, almost as a matter of formality, an "economy plank" in its platform. Practically all aspirants for office likewise pay lip service to the ideal of cheaper and more efficient government.

Economy pledges by Republicans and Democrats have been generally meaningless in recent years. Members of both parties have enthusiastically voted for spending measures.

Now, however, it is beginning to be believed that a large number of officeholders mean it when they talk about economy. Where the Federal government spent less than $4,000,000,000 in 1930, estimates place 1938 spending at $7,725,000,000—about double. State and local spendings have likewise risen. Total cost of government now is said to be around $17,000,000,000 a year. Taxes take one-quarter of our incomes.

These facts are worrying officials—were reflected this session in the mounting revolt against big appropriation bills. There will be more revolt next session.

If a man isn't naturally onery, why does he forget all the Bible passages and remember all the dirty stories he hears.

Bids To Be Called For

Bids will be opened at the Lewiston offices of the REA on Thursday, September 9, for the building of the first unit of rural electric lines, which includes Latah and a part of Whitman county, Wash. The entire unit will include, according to information given out, some 233 miles of line. A separate contract will be let for the construction of a diesel generating plant.

Word was persistently passed out some weeks ago that the generating plant would be located at Kendrick, but recent articles in the news regarding the location of the plant have made no mention of such location.

WHEAT MARKETS DROP TO LOWEST POINT OF SEASON

Wheat markets dropped sharply to the lowest point of the season during the week ending August 20, but feed grains held generally quite steady, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Increased marketings of spring grain, together with lower prices at Liverpool, where European buyers were turning to the cheaper offerings of Russian and Roumanian grain, were the principal weakening influences in the wheat market and domestic prices dropped 5c to 10c per bushel, with the greatest decline in spring bread wheats. Oats and barley held steady with a good demand for current offerings.

Since the United States has an appreciable quantity of hard winter wheat available for export this season, domestic markets are influenced more by world conditions than in recent years. This was apparent in the current week, when domestic markets dropped sharply, influenced by weakness in foreign grains. Marketings of spring wheat increased, both in the United States and Canada, but milling inquiry was fairly active and current offerings were readily taken. Liverpool, however, reported slow European inquiry and that buyers were supplying current needs principally from Russian and Roumanian wheats, which were being quoted well below North American grain. Some improvement in the southern hemisphere prospects were also a weakening factor.

Domestic cash wheat markets dropped 5c to 10c per bushel with the greatest decline in spring wheat. Receipts of all classes totaled 2,875 cars at Minneapolis and 1,263 cars at Duluth. Spring wheat continued to show a wider range in quality with test weights running from 44 to 59 pounds per bushel. The average weight of the week's receipts at Minneapolis was placed at 54.4. Cash premiums were unsettled but lower. Milling inquiry was rather slow but improved toward the close of the week following the decline in prices. Minneapolis September declined 1½c and closed August 20 at $1.13½.

The durum market was also weaker but prices declined only a little over 2c per bushel, with good milling inquiry for the new crop offerings, which were generally of good quality. Receipts were rather large but well taken, with No. 2 amber, ordinary quality, quoted at Duluth at 97½c to $1.01½.

The Winnipeg market dropped about 8½c, despite the poor new crop prospects. Receipts at Winnipeg increased to 1,010 cars. At the close of the week No. 1 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg at $1.28½ per bushel.

Premiums both on hard and red winter were lowered 1½c to 2c per bushel at Chicago, where No. 2 hard winter was quoted at $1.08 to $1.14 and No. 2 soft red winter at $1.06 to $1.11 per bushel. Trade reports indicated that some wheat was to be moved by water from Chicago to Montreal to provide additional space for storage at Chicago and to place the grain in a more favorable location for export. Mills were mostly out of the market at St. Louis but demand from other sources was sufficient to absorb current offerings which were gradually decreasing. At the close of the week, No. 2 soft winter was quoted at $1.08 and No. 4 at 99c to $1.03½ per bushel.

Pacific Coast markets declined along with eastern points but were influenced also by continued slow milling demand and lack of shipping outlets. Denver mills were bidding 91c for No. 2 hard winter and 94c per bushel for No. 2 northern spring FOB Colorado shipping points. Receipts were quite heavy at Ogden with a total of 380 cars. The new crop has moved more rapidly than usual as a result of ideal harvesting weather. At the close of the week local mills were offering 77c per bushel for No. 2 soft white, hard white, northern spring and hard winter, FOB Utah-Idaho common points.

Prices at Portland dropped about 8c per bushel, with hard white (Big Bend bluestem or baart) quoted at 94½c and dark hard winter at $1.04, soft white and western white at 93½c, hard winter and western red at 94½c and local northern spring at $1.14½ per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked. Receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals increased to 1,314 cars but a large proportion represented deliveries of crop wheat on consignment for storage. Growers were not offering wheat freely at prevailing prices and mills provided the principal outlet. Some export business was reported, however, with sales to Rotterdam and Ireland. Sales of flour from the Philippines under the indemnity plan, totaled 8,700 barrels with no indemnity payment made toward the close of the week. At Seattle, western white was quoted at 92½¢, western red and hard winter at 93¼¢ and hard white (baart) at 92¼¢.

California markets were down 3¢ to 4¢ per bushel, influenced by slow local demand and declines in outside markets. Millers were limiting purchases to current needs.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets displayed a somewhat weaker tone reflecting the slow demand from all classes of trade. Some early frost damage was reported. Prices at Portland declined 7½¢ per 100 for the week, with No. 2 bright western barley, testing 45 pounds per bushel quoted at $1.37½ per 100, sacked basis.

Oats markets were somewhat irregular reflecting local influences. The Portland market displayed a slightly weaker tone with more pronounced declines in oats than in barley, which reflected the good new oats outturn. Prices to growers in the Willamette valley were reported at around $1.00 per 100, while quotations at Portland on No. 2 white oats were around $1.15 per 100, sacked. Inquiry from midwestern and Atlantic ports was limited with prices on the Pacific Coast above a working basis for eastern business.

"Wings Of The Morning"

The flaming romance of a lovely fugitive fleeing from strife-torn Spain, "Wings of the Morning," will be shown at the Kendrick Theatre this Friday and Saturday nights and introduces an exciting screen personality in Annabella, starred with Henry Fonda and Leslie Banks and presents the world-famous tenor, John McCormack.

Brought to the screen in all the life-like beauty of natural color, "Wings of the Morning" provides a thrilling mixture of drama, spectacle and surprise, including the spectacular changing of the Guard at Buckingham palace, home of English kings, and the most sensational derby ever run.

If you thrill to love, here's reckless romance that asks and takes all that young hearts can give, and if you thrill to song, you'll listen enthralled as John McCormack sings treasured melodies.

There will be other usual features to fill out the evening.

EDITORIAL

Well, folks—Now that we can tell just how much the beans were hurt by the ten-day-ago frost—and plenty in some places—it behooves us all to think of other income. Why not depend on your cows for it? They will bring in the cash no matter what the weather—and you can get the cash right here. No waiting, no fuss, no bother. Bring in a can—take home the cash.

By the way—Why not enjoy your meals to the utmost these days? Here's how. Just see to it that the tables has our butter, and cottage cheese. For dessert—serve our ice cream!
