ATTY. GENERAL TAYLOR WRITES OF STATE PROBLEMS

Last week I mentioned the mis-handling of the public school funds and the donation of public money without authority of law. The same laxity has been permitted in several other departments with resulting inefficiency and loss to the taxpayers of the state. It might not be amiss at this point to mention briefly the matter of law enforcement in a democracy.

The state can act only through its authorized officers and agents. The source of all power is the people. Through the adoption of a constitution and statutes the people have very definitely directed the manner in which the powers and functions of the state shall be exercised. It is well established by almost unvarying court decisions that the state's agents have no powers other than those specifically given to them; and that the granted powers must be exercised in the manner prescribed by law. It would seem, therefore, very simple for a state officer to determine what he should and should not attempt and the manner in which he should act. Reference to the constitution and statutes would make his course of conduct clear and certain.

There has grown up a school of politicians, however, who do not seem to realize the basic theory of free government. They incline to consider themselves masters instead of servants; and immediately upon their election to office conceive the notion that the state and its affairs have been turned over to them to do with pretty much as they please. Such persons are likely to regard the law as a troublesome non-essential; they incline to the view of the French monarch, "I am the state." If a situation presents itself which in their opinion affords an opportunity to do a good stroke of business by an unlawful means, such persons will let the end justify the means and proceed accordingly. And they are very prone to make boasts of the fact that they have not let the law stand in the way of progress. Recently when a transaction of this kind was called into question as to its legality, a man who had participated made the statement: "It may not have been done according to law, but no court in the land would condemn anybody for violating the law under the circumstances."

The trouble is that when these so-called statesmen make a poor deal, and perhaps sacrifice the state's money or the rights of the citizens, they are not inclined to boast about it, but rather use every effort to conceal what has been done; and the only way of discovering the true facts is through the efforts of accountants and investigators. I have never heard anybody boast that he or his fellows have illegally donated public funds or that, for instance, the public school fund, by reason of mismanagement and poor policy, is in the red $1,500,000. In other words, the said school of statesmanship is willing to set aside the law and deal with the state as if it were their own property, claiming credit for anything that happens to turn out well, and disclaiming on concealing their unfortunate ventures.

There have been public officers who broadcasted the fact that they would not enforce certain laws or that they would not favor certain other laws. This is simply a violation of the oath of office by which they swore to uphold the constitution and laws of the state. The path is made clear by the people. Their orders are positive, direct and unequivocal. It is the duty of all public officers to obey this will. A governor, for instance, by violating a few laws may pretty well subvert free government. A dictator need nullify only a few more laws in order to destroy our liberty. The only safe rule, as heretofore said, is to require that all public officers adhere closely to the law and thereby carry out the will of the people who elected them. We do not need the so-called man of destiny and we should not tolerate any plan of government which releases its officers from their responsibility to the people.

Then and Now

In the days of Theodore Roosevelt they used to charge the packers with about everything but they never accused them of packing the Supreme Court.

Pinochle Club

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Lunders entertained the pinochle club Tuesday evening at their home.

The game was played at four tables, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. High score for the ladies was awarded Mrs. Kanikkeberg and low to Mrs. Hiram Galloway, while high for the men went to Mr. Kanikkeberg and low to Emil Levi.

Invited guests for the evening were Henry Emery, Helen Farrington and Percy Marker.

KENDRICK COMMERCIAL CLUB HOLDS SHORT SESSION

The regular monthly meet of the Kendrick Commercial club was held Monday evening in Fraternal Temple, dinner being served at 6:30 by Mrs. Paul Lind and Mrs. Edgar Long, after which the regular business of the meeting was taken up—22 persons being present to take part in the deliberations, which took on more the nature of a round-table discussion than has occurred in some time, the principal subjects of discussion being about roads and Sales Day.

N. E. Walker, chairman of the Highway committee reported that work on the Bear Ridge grade is progressing nicely; that a rock crusher had been set up at the Oscar Slind place and small rocks made out of big ones at a rapid rate. The highway district, with the able assistance of several of the farmers, have made arrangements to gravel several of the side-roads for a distance, thus assuring at least fair roads for the coming winter. Mr. Walker stated that the state is going to furnish a truck and that later another one would be loaned the district to push along with all the rapidity possible the surfacing of the roads. He also said that the state had agreed to furnish a snow-plow for this section, which will be used from Arrow to the top of the Bear Ridge grade and also would look after the Southwick road via Waucher Gulch. This will be good news to those who have occasion to travel these roads.

Marvin Long, of the Fish and Game committee, reported that he was of the opinion that many of the game birds, as well as song birds, had been killed with the indiscriminate placing of poison in fence rows and other places for the killing of squirrels. There were others of the opinion that little damage had been done the birds by the eating of poisoned wheat. Opinions varied considerably, but the fact remains that game birds are none too plentiful, and everyone knows that song birds seem to be getting scarce, whether the poison be at fault or not.

Supt. J. M. Lyle stated that this is "Education Week" and is being observed generally as such by the schools throughout the state. A lecture was given in the school house Wednesday afternoon by Floyd West, manager of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce, whose subject dealt with both Educational Week and the observance of Armistice Day. And tomorrow (Friday) will be open house at the Kendrick school and all parents and others interested in school work are cordially invited to come and see how the school work is handled. There will be no special program—just every-day work. He also stated that the Junior Class play will be given on Tuesday, November 16.

Don Lyle, F. F. A. instructor in the Kendrick school, stated that the boys will give a public dance in the near future.

The question of Kendrick putting on a Sales Day was brought up by Marvin Long, and within a few minutes the date was set for Friday, Nov. 19, and the Merchant's and Publicity committees instructed to get busy.

Teaches At Payette

Miss Irene Davis, who has taught three years near Burns, Oregon, has been employed to teach the third grade in the West Side school at Payette. Miss Davis has resided near Kendrick for many years and is a graduate of the local high school and Lewiston Normal.

Return From Hunt

Dr. Geo. W. McKeever and Ed. Long returned home Sunday night from a hunt in the Lolo country, with a fine, fat elk each.

INTERESTING NEWS BITS FROM OUR PUBLIC SCHOOL

The Girls' League sent eight delegates to the Tri-State convention at Asotin on Nov. 6. The delegates were Jean Fry, Eleanor Hill, Arlene Deobald, Erma Jones, Marie Havens, Myra Kanikkeberg, Annabel Deobald and Maxine Bartlett. The day was spent in listening to various discussions and talks on subjects of interest to the modern girl. Different schools presented short entertainments. Luncheon was served by the 250 girls present at the meeting. Some schools represented were Grangeville, Lewiston, Moscow, Pullman, Prescott, Colfax, Pomeroy, Clarkston, Potlatch, Kendrick and Asotin.

The Kendrick High school is observing "Hello" week at this time. Every member of the high school is trying to get on speaking terms with the other fellow by saying "hello", instead of going by with his nose in the air.

At a student body meeting held Tuesday afternoon Dale Hughes and Jean Fry were re-elected yell leaders.

On November 10 a potato judging contest was held with Lapwai at Kendrick. The winners will go to Spokane on November 20.

National Education Week
National Education Week is being observed in the schools at this time. On Wednesday afternoon Floyd West, manager of the Lewiston Chamber of Commerce addressed the high school student body on a phase of education and its relation to world peace.

Friday is being designated as the visiting day for school patrons. All patrons of the school are cordially invited to spend some time at school Friday and visit any classes or departments they may wish. This invitation includes any parent who has children in school or any other person interested in attending or visiting school. This year in April marked the first centennial of the founding of the American Public School with Horace Mann, an able lawyer of that time fathering the idea. He later gave up his law practice to devote his entire time to education. In 1839 $10,000 was appropriated by the senate of Massachusetts to establish the first Normal school in the United States for the training of teachers. There were but three students in attendance at the first class which the school held and about 25 attended the first year. Today there are about 60,000 young men and women who are graduating each year from colleges over the country, preparing themselves for the teaching profession. Today, disregarding the fact that it has been only 100 years since the first American public school was established, there are over 30,000,000 young people attending various schools and over 1,000,000 teachers in the United States.

KENDRICK TO HOLD ANNUAL SALES DAY NOVEMBER 19

Kendrick's Annual Sales Day will be held this year on Friday, November 19, with all the Kendrick stores and business houses putting on specials of all kinds during that day.

In addition there will be the usual exhibits, and the big free auction, wherein any extra goods that may be at hand and of which you wish to dispose, may be brought to town, listed with Edgar Long, and will on Friday, November 19, be auctioned off free of charge.

There will also be a matinee picture show—a double bill, with Joe E. Brown and George O'Brien pictures.

If you haven't anything to sell—something may be specially priced in one of the stores that you want, or perhaps it's going to be put up at the auction—so plan to come—meet your friends, and have a general good time. It will be worth your while.

In another part of the paper will be found a large ad. by the Commercial club, giving complete details of the day. Don't miss it. Be sure to come.

Mrs. Aloisia Schupfer Passes

Aloisia Knaus was born in Schlading, Austria, July 2, 1856. In 1888 she was married to Mathias Schupfer and came to Juliaetta, where Mr. Schupfer had a home-stand, and at this place three children were born to their union.

She lived in Juliaetta until 1921, at which time she moved to Kendrick, where she lived until her death, excepting a year and a half that she spent in California.

She passed away at midnight, Nov. 8, at the age of 81 years, four months and six days.

She leaves to mourn their loss, three children: Otto Schupfer, Juliaetta; Herman Schupfer, Kendrick; and Ida Schupfer, Kendrick, besides four granddaughters, other relatives and a host of friends. She also leaves two brothers, living in Austria.

She was baptised and confirmed in the Lutheran faith in childhood, and was a faithful member until her death.

Funeral services were held in the Juliaetta Lutheran church, with the Rev. E. E. Krebs, pastor, in charge of the services. The Cameron church choir furnished the music. Burial was made in the Juliaetta cemetery.

Wins 4-H Club Award

Latah county honors and a gold medal in the third National 4-H Food Preparation contest has been awarded to Mary Harland of Troy, Idaho, by the National committee on 4-H club work in Chicago on approval of her county agent and state club leader. The medal is one-half by three-quarters inches with clasp and has embossed on its face a feminine figure of victory bearing a tray loaded with foods. A small 4-H clover completes the design.

The medal is one of nearly a 1,000 provided for county champions. It is estimated 75,000 4-H girls in the nation took part in the contest.

Eight-Eight Bridge Club

The Eight-Eight Bridge club met last Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Silvie Cook.

After a delicious dessert bridge was played at four tables. High score went to Mrs. W. B. Deobald and low to Mrs. F. B. Higley, while high score for the men was awarded Lester Crocker and low to Donald Lyle. Donald Lyle was an invited guest.

P.-T. A. Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the P.-T. A. will be held next Monday evening at the school house. All patrons and anyone else interested is urged to attend. You will find the program worth your while.

If you trade in Kendrick your dollar has a good chance getting back to you again. Out of town—no!

with him all the time, will be one laugh after another. What with a widow, matrimony bent for the second time, a dumb cop who swings a mean club, a Southern Colonel overflowing with southern chivalry—and a gun, the mysterious kleptomaniac who swipes everything in sight, and her worried mother, makes this fast-moving riotous farce with action that never lets you down—will provide a royal evening of fun and enchantment.

Weyen-May Tuesday morning's Lewiston Tribune carried the following terse but understandable notice:

"Alfreda Weyen, Lewiston, became the bride of A. A. May, Leland, at a ceremony solemnized last night at their new home, 725 Prospect, by the Rev. Dr. L. C. McEwan."

Both of the contracting parties are well and favorably known throughout this entire section of the country, and will have the best wishes of their host of friends.

THIRD OF AUTO ACCIDENTS HAPPEN IN WINTER MONTHS

More than a third of Idaho traffic fatalities last year occurred during the last three months of the year. The same ratio was found in the nation when more than 12,000 of the 37,800 motor vehicle deaths, the total of 1936, were crowded into the final quarter. These figures show that the closing months of the year invariably top all others in street and highway fatalities. The 1936 Idaho toll was 182 deaths of which 65 occurred between October 1 and December 31, according to E. T. Spencer, director of the safety education bureau of the department of law enforcement.

Drivers must adjust themselves to the weather conditions. They must remember that in driving over the roads from now on they will encounter conditions such as they have not seen for several months. Ice, snow and sleet regularly add their dangers to the hills and curving highways. Fallen leaves upon the roads, covered with moisture at night, are coated with ice in the early morning which increases the danger of accidents.

Driving rains freeze on tires and windshields as well as on the road surface. Snow piles in treacherous drifts that must be removed by the snow plow. Frozen brakes too often leave the driver terrified and helpless as he rushes into certain disaster. But accidents produced by these conditions are not excusable. Such accidents are entirely preventable.

Number one factor in safe street and highway traffic. It has often been said that a good driver can drive safely on a poor highway with poor equipment, but an ignorant or reckless driver will have accidents on the best of roads and with the finest equipment.

In these approaching winter months, many accidents are going to result because drivers, through the long summer days, have become accustomed to speeds that the new seasonal conditions make doubly hazardous. Brakes cannot function with swift efficiency when the wheels strike slippery spots on the pavement. Steering gears react with fantastic side-swings in powdery snow, ice or mud. Light beams seem to disappear into fog and rain as though they were chopped off only a few feet from the radiator cap. It is under these conditions at dusk that many pedestrians have been struck down and other cars crashed. It is this time of the year when drivers should drive more carefully.

Gov. Clark Aids Red Cross

"With the annual Red Cross Roll Call taking place between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day of this year, I wish to call upon the people of the State of Idaho, to join this great humanitarian organization."

"The quota for this twenty-first annual roll call is 26,325 members for Idaho. This is in contrast with 18,458 members last year."

"Although the Gem State has been exceedingly fortunate in the absence of disasters it is felt that our people will be anxious to respond to the Red Cross roll call this fall and subscribe the full quota asked by the national organization. "During their flood relief campaign of January, 1937, when the citizens of this state, along with those of other commonwealths, were called upon to finance relief in the Ohio river disaster, $48,253.00 was raised through the state's quota was only $29,600. This demonstrates fully the zeal with which Idahoans rally in time of need.

"Since Red Cross membership is, in effect, insurance covering disaster and pestilence, it is particularly desirable that the full membership quota for Idaho be reached, and I therefore consider it a duty, as well as a privilege, to urge the people as a whole to support the Red Cross roll call this year."

WHEAT SHARPLY LOWER WITH DEMAND VERY SLOW

Wheat markets declined to new lows for the season during the week ending November 5 and most feed grains also showed further losses, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Slow milling inquiry, small export sales and a weaker foreign market as a result of the more favorable prospects and increased offerings of Southern Hemisphere wheat, were the principal causes of weakness in the wheat market. Oats were independently firm with the lighter offerings in good request. Barley was weak and slightly lower and flax declined.

At Portland hard white (Big Bend bluestem or baart) was quoted at 83½¢, dark hard winter at 93½¢, soft white and western white at 81½¢, hard winter at 84½¢ and western red at 82½¢ per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked. Receipts of wheat at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled 766 cars but consisted principally of deliveries on previous purchases. Growers sold more freely despite lower prices but demand was not urgent with local mills taking only occasional lots and California buyers confining their purchases to high protein types. Local prices were out of line for rail shipment to the central west but export business was fairly active and sales of around 250,000 bushels, mostly in parcel lots, were reported. About half the sales were made to South America and the remainder to the United Kingdom and the continent. At Seattle, western white was quoted at 82¢, western red and hard winter at 83¢, hard white at 83¢.

California markets were dull and prices tended downward but declines were less than at eastern markets because of the strong holding tendency on the part of California growers. The light offerings moved slowly, however.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets continued dull but prices held practically unchanged from a week ago, reflecting the firm holding tendency among growers. Arrivals at Portland during the week totaled 23 cars comprising mostly feeding grades which moved to local channels. No. 2 bright western was quoted at Portland at $137½ per 100, sacked basis.

Pacific Northwestern oats markets were about steady with the holding tendency among growers the strengthening market factor. Inquiry continued moderate with offerings about sufficient for current market needs. Nine cars were received at Portland during the week. Canadian wheat markets declined somewhat less than domestic market but were down 7c to 8c per bushel influenced principally by the limited export business and weakness in the foreign markets. No. 3 Manitoba northern was quoted at Winnipeg at the close of the week at $1.08.

Afternoon Bridge Club

The ladies of the Afternoon Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. F. H. Rider Wednesday afternoon, when bridge was played at three tables, after which a dainty dessert was served by the hostess.

High score for the afternoon was awarded Mrs. Rider. Mrs. O. E. Havens was an invited guest.

Broken Collar Bone

Ed. Estes, Kendrick, suffered a broken right collar bone Wednesday morning while at work in the hay loft of the Dave Gentry barn.

He lost his footing and fell into a hay shoot, dropping to the floor below. Dr. Christensen reduced the fracture and at last reports he was getting along nicely.

Tonsils Removed

Manning Onstott, Kendrick, underwent an operation Saturday morning for the removal of his tonsils. Roy Long, Kendrick, underwent a like operation Tuesday morning.

Both operations were performed at the office of Dr. D. A. Christensen and both a getting along nicely.

Double Bill At Theatre
This week's offering at the Kendrick Theatre is another of those real westerns that give so much enjoyment to many, "Forlorn River," with a brand new cast of characters. The title gives one the theory of dejection, but such is not the case. It is a real action picture, laid and filmed in real mountain country. Beautiful scenery enhances the play and makes it all the more enjoyable. All western fans will want to see it. The second feature, "Straight from the Shoulder," brings a new slant on big-city gangsters and father and son love. This picture is also replete with thrills, and the scene shifts from country to city action. And of course, it has a real love story, too. To round out the evening's entertainment there will also be the other usual features.

CATHOLIC MISSION TO START SUNDAY MORNING

The Rev. John J. Stanley, C. S. P., of the Paulist Fathers of Portland, Oregon, will conduct a week's mission at the local Catholic church. Father Stanley, who formerly was stationed in New York City, has given missions in the east, and more recently in the west. Two weeks ago he gave a very successful mission in Lewiston.

The services will begin with Mass on Sunday at 9:30 a. m., and the first mission sermon will be given Sunday evening at 7:30. During the rest of the week Mass will be said at 8 a. m., after which a short instruction will be given. The special lectures will be given every evening beginning at 7:30 p. m. The schedule is as follows:
Monday—Christ and Myself.
Tuesday—What Difference Does It Make?
Wednesday—Not Built With Hands.
Thursday—A Christian Home.
Friday—Why I Am a Catholic.

All the services are open to everybody, and a special invitation is extended to non-Catholics. Questions concerning doctrine and morals will be answered at the evening devotion. A question box will be found in the rear of the Church, and you may put your question in it, and then Father will answer it the next night. This is a very special opportunity to learn the truth about the Catholic church.

Receives Letter From Son

A letter received on October 30 by Mrs. E. L. Pearson from her son, Carl Hund, who is a bluejacket aboard the U. S. S. Marblehead, 2nd Division, now stationed at Tsingtoo, China, states:

"Left Honolulu the 5th of September, as convoy to the transport Chaumont, and arrived outside Woosung September 19th. We were delayed a few hours by a leaking condenser on the Chaumont.

"We were met by several Japanese warships at the mouth of the Yangtze river, where they have formed a blockade, which extends the full length of the river. An escort of one Jap and one U. S. destroyer took us to Woosung, which lies at the mouth of the Whangpoo river. Here we transferred 100 marines from our ship to a navy minesweeper, which took them on to Shanghai. The Chaumont proceeded to Shanghai with Japanese ships as escort. While in Woosung the roar of the big guns could be heard and by using field glasses we could see the spurts of flame at the gun muzzles.

"Dozens of Chinese coolies came out to our ship in their little sampans, chattering like a flock of jay-birds, begging for anything we might throw overboard to them, and fishing it out with long-handled nets. The little sampans are their 'castles' for the whole family, no matter how large, live on them. Tsingtoo is several hundred miles north of Shanghai, so we are safe, for a while at least. Refugees are pouring in here daily. There are several hundred Americans here now.

"I have only been ashore twice, as they give very short periods of liberty. Went on a sightseeing tour in a rickshaw drawn by a Chinese coolie, and it is very hard to get them to take you where you wish to go, as very few understand the English language.

"This city (Tsingtoo) is populated mostly by Russians and Chinese. Nearly all of the business houses were owned by the Japs, so when the war broke out, they closed up and left the city.

"We went up the coast to Chefoo to get 48 refugees, and are now on our way back with them. The air-mail service has been discontinued.
