ATTY. GENERAL TAYLOR WRITES OF STATE PROBLEMS

The question of taxation is always one of genuine interest to every citizen. As election time approaches, the candidates and their supporters in the respective parties begin to put forth their programs for lowering taxation. Indeed, about twenty years ago, we had one candidate for governor who announced that he was going to make Idaho a taxless state. Nevertheless, after the people had taken him at his word and placed him in office, the taxes increased by leaps and bounds. And, indeed, that has been pretty much their tendency ever since. Generally the candidates endeavor to come forward with some new and striking plan for "making you a million," although the million never seems to materialize. Had they materialized according to the program and schedule announced by the advocates of the various plans, Idaho would now not only be a "taxless state," but the people would probably not find it necessary to work again, as such piled up wealth, if put out at interest, would probably pay all governmental expenses and support the population in comparative luxury.

Observation and study of legislative history leads me to believe that there is one program which, even if it would not make Idaho a "taxless state" or even "save you a million," would nevertheless bring about a material saving in the cost of state government. The program is simple: Follow the law. Our constitution and statutes cover six or seven volumes, including the Session Laws enacted since the 1932 codification. In these volumes we find a complete system of regulations for the conduct of public business, with careful specifications of the particular method in which each branch of our government shall be conducted. Contracts for public work in excess of a definite sum of money are required to be let on bids. The purchase of machinery, equipment and supplies is also required to be made in the same way. Provisions are made for certain officers to check up on the expenditures made by the various departments. All of these laws have a definite purpose in view. Our legislators did not get together and determine to enact some laws regardless of what they might or might not mean or accomplish.

It has, unfortunately, for a long time, been the practice in our state government to disregard many of the laws enacted for the government of the state, and the result has been the loss of large sums of money which have to be made up by increased taxation. It is a matter of common knowledge that property bought upon competitive bids can be obtained for less money than when it is bought at the whim of some officer or department. The purchasing of all goods, equipment and supplies required by the state is of such importance that the law requires the governor to appoint a purchasing agent, who shall be an expert buyer, and turns over to him practically all matters pertaining to state purchasing. Yet for a number of years, purchases of materials totaling millions of dollars have been made through the Purchasing Agent's office without advertising for bids and in direct defiance of the law. Officers, agents and clerks have bought, on their own judgment, disregarding the Purchasing Agent, and in a manner that has cost the taxpayers plenty. Institutions and departments have been run on the same basis and the office of the State Purchasing Agent has, until very recently, been something of a snare, if not a joke. Even the methods of accounting have in some instances been useless, and in fact a waste of money. I have in mind one state institution for which it was undertaken to provide an "adequate and efficient" system of accounting. A certain individual was instructed to install this system. The state officers, charged with the operation and the supervision of state accounts protested to the Board in charge of the matter that the plan would not work out. Yet the State paid $800 to install this system and employed the "accountant" who proposed it for a period of two months to establish it and see that it was put into operation. At the end of this period he confessed that it wouldn't "go." In fact it was so pitifully in-

Glorious Weather

The Potlatch section is still enjoying the most glorious November weather that anyone could wish. Considerable rain has fallen, but the weather has remained warm, and almost like spring. Roses are still blooming in many gardens, and many shrubs still have their green leaves.

Reports are coming in to the effect that pussy willows are starting to green along the creek.

Well, such is Potlatch weather these days.

American Ridge Evening School

On Thursday, November 18, a number of farmers of American ridge met at the lower school house for an evening school session. In an informal discussion problems of concern to the farmers of the community were considered. Since rural electrification is becoming a reality instead of a dream, the problem of greatest interest to the majority was the wiring of farm buildings. This is a topic of vital interest to every farmer on the ridge, with or without electricity. Come out to our next meeting and let's make American ridge a 100 per cent booster for rural electricity.

Another topic which should interest the people of the community is the destruction of rats. Rats are a serious menace to the community and destroy many things each year. At our next meeting on Thursday, December 2, we will have recommendations for rat control. Let's start a war on these rodents and check them.

I'll be seeing you folks on the date above. Plan to be there.

Tonsils Removed

Boyd Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thornton, Leland, had his tonsils removed at the office of Dr. Christensen on Wednesday of last week.

INTERESTING NEWS BITS FROM OUR PUBLIC SCHOOL

The Kendrick High School and faculty were entertained at a party held in the Fraternal Temple by the Junior class, Tuesday evening after the Junior play. The evening was spent in dancing, music being furnished by Mrs. Harold Thomas, Phyllis Thomas, Nolan Weeks and Frank Rider.

On Wednesday, November 17, the student body very pleasantly surprised Mr. Lyle with a peanut shower in honor of his birthday. He was presented with a gift and a good pelting with the peanuts.

On Saturday, November 20, five boys went to Spokane to compete in a potato judging contest with 23 other schools of eastern Washington and northern Idaho. The boys making the trip were Kenneth Wolfe, James Kuykendall, Wallace Fraser, Deryl Ingle, Ted Weyen and their instructor, Don Lyle. Although the boys did not make as good a showing as they would have liked to make, they found it very educational. On Sunday morning the boys visited the dairy farms in the suburbs of Spokane and at the University of Idaho. They had a very interesting trip.

The third graders are rearranging their library. The fourth grade are making booklets on goldfish, water pets and aquariums.

At a Girls' League meeting held Friday afternoon, Miss Graham was entertained with a handkerchief shower in honor of her birthday. She received many pretty handkerchiefs. The League sold pie and coffee at the P.-T. A. dance Friday night. The funds will go to help buy equipment for girls' athletics. They will also sponsor a dance on December 3, at the High School Gymnasium.

The first basketball game of the season was played with Bovill at Bovill on Tuesday night, November 23. The score was Six-week exams were given the first part of this week and report cards will be handed out next week.

Thursday and Friday will be observed as Thanksgiving holidays. The staff will spend these days at various places: Miss Jones at Peck and Kendrick; Mrs. Cook at Kendrick; Mrs. Deobald at Genesee; Mr. Dawald at Kendrick; Miss Lane at Moscow; Miss Graham at home in Peck; Don Lyle in Lewiston; Mr. Levi with relatives at American Falls; J. M. Lyle, Jr., will attend the Idaho Education meeting in Boise as a delegate from Latah County and as president of the Superintendents and Principals Section of the State Association. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Lyle and daughters. Mr. Emery will spend his vacation in Kendrick.

"I Met Him In Paris"

Those picture fans who like a real comedy-romance, will have an opportunity to satisfy their penchant for this sort of play this Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, when Claudette Colbert, radio and screen star, will appear at the Kendrick Theatre in "I Met Him In Paris," with Melvyn Douglas and Robert Young in the leading male roles.

Claudette (Kay Denham) New York fashion designer, has finally achieved her ambition. She has saved up enough money to take a long-anticipated trip to Paris and the "big time" she is going to have. So sure is she that she is going to find her big "romance" in Paris that she once more refuses the offer of marriage of Berk Sutter, a very conventional rich man's son. While in Paris she meets two Americans who "fall for her" and she has the time of her life trying to get things straightened out in her tangled love affairs.

Other regular feature will also be shown.

Walla Walla To Have Air Service

Beginning December 4, an old hard trail, beaten out in pioneer days by covered wagon and horse hoofs, will mark the course of a new air flight, when plane service will be inaugurated by the United Airlines in and out of Walla Walla. The new service will be ushered in with parades and civic festivities.

More Strawberries

Ralph Richardson of Fix ridge was shopping and attending the Kendrick Sales Day last Friday, and brought in with him some extra nice, large ripe strawberries, and a perfect twin squash.

IDAHO RESIDENTS WELL SUPPLIED WITH AUTOS

Idaho has one automobile to every four persons, or two motor vehicles of all kinds to every seven persons. This heavy increase in cars of all descriptions is shown by the registration in the office of J. L. Balderston, Commissioner of Law Enforcement. The heaviest increase was noted in passenger cars, with 7,408 more in the ten months this year than in the same period of any previous year. An increase of 2,003 is also noted in farm trucks. With the increase in motor vehicles, there has been a corresponding increase in the mileage of improved roads. There are now more than 27 cars to every mile of hard-surfaced or graveled highways while there are five motor vehicles for every mile of the 36,624 miles of roads of all descriptions.

Up to November 1 of this year, 109,933 passenger cars had been registered as compared to 102,527 for the corresponding ten months of last year. There are 14,799 farm trucks in operation now while last year there were 12,796. Private trailers or mobile houses were in big demand this year when 17,203 were registered as compared to 14,803 last year. For the registration of motor vehicles of all descriptions, the state received $2,272,332.76. This sum was apportioned as follows: Counties of the state, $1,983,746.50; State Bureau of Highways, $220,416.28, and the Department of Law Enforcement, $68,169.98. The total receipts exceeded last year by $236,597.10.

The registrations of other motor vehicles for the first ten months' period this year were: 10,146 private trucks as compared with 9,248 in the same period of 1936; 14,799 farm trucks as compared to 12,796 in 1936. These two items with the passenger cars make 10,287 more vehicles registered this year than last. A decrease of 40 commercial trucks was shown this year—the figures being 2,071 in 1936 and 2,031 in 1937. An increase was noted in commercial trailers with 454 registered this year and 432 last year. There were 91 more motorcycles this year than last, with a total of 562 for 1937.

Sales Day In Kendrick

While the weather was anything but favorable for Sales Day, last Friday, there was a fair-sized crowd in attendance and the articles brought in were mostly disposed of at a fair price. There was plenty of free coffee at noon, which helped to withstand the cool dampness of the day, the Ladies Aid of the M. E. church serving.

We were unable to get all the prizes awarded for farm products, but we did get the main item—also a farm product—the winner of the baby contest, which went to the baby of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorendorf. Enoch Harrison won three prizes, one for the pint jar of wheat, one for white beans and one for red beans, while Roy Sliflow was awarded the prize for the largest table squash.

Stores reported a very good trade during the day, but not so heavy as in most former years.

We are sorry we were unable to procure the names of all the prize winners, but from the fact that we are putting the Gazette out a day early this week in order to observe Thanksgiving, our time for "rooting around" has been shortened. However, we will be glad to publish them later.

Double-Eight Bridge Club

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Crocker entertained the Double-Eight Bridge club in their home last Thursday evening. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, after which bridge was played at 5 tables.

High scores for the evening was awarded Mrs. W. L. McCreary and W. B. Deobald; second high went to Mrs. W. B. Deobald and Dr. D. A. Christensen, while low scores went to Mrs. S. Cook and J. H. Cairns. Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Keene, Dr. and Mrs. Christensen and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McCreary.

Attended "Dad's Day" at U.

Among those who attended the "Dad's Day" football game at Moscow Saturday were W. A. Watts, R. H. Ramey, John Woody, E. H. Jones, A. L. Dawald, Ernest Schmidt, Roy Long, Bobby Watts, James M. Lyle, Jr., and Henry Emery.

Speakeasies Must Go!

A prediction that illegal liquor sellers in northern Idaho "will be cleaned up before Christmas" was made at Lewiston by M. B. Yeaman, chairman of the state liquor control commission.

He said the enforcement campaign of southern Idaho will be extended to the panhandle.

"This enforcement has resulted in closing 60 speakeasies in the southern part of the state, and in addition 16 have been padlocked and abated following second offenses," Mr. Yeaman said.

"The sale of liquor by the glass must stop immediately. Our agents have been in the northern field and we have evidence necessary to convict."

JAS. EMMETT HELD BLAME— LESS IN FATAL ACCIDENT

The executors and heirs of the Mary Williams estate are not entitled to damages for an accident which resulted in the death of the 79-year-old Mrs. Williams on August 12, 1935; a district court jury decided after 3½ hours deliberation Saturday night. The verdict was unanimously for the defendant, Jas. Emmett of Kendrick, whose car struck down Mrs. Williams on the North-South highway, August 11, 1935.

At the close of the plaintiff's case Saturday morning, Emmett's attorney entered a motion for non-suit. The motion was overruled and two hours later, counsel for the defense had presented facts to substantiate the contention that the Williams heirs were not entitled to damages. They had asked $10,000 for the death of Mrs. Williams, asserting that the defendant was driving with a "wanton disregard for safety" when the fatal accident occurred six miles up the Clearwater river from Lewiston.

The jury found Mrs. Williams was guilty of contributory negligence. She had started across the highway near her home when struck. On the north side of the road waiting to take Mrs. Williams to church, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jenkins sat in their car. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, C. F. Williams, one of the executors, Mrs. W. L. Williams, and others, connected with the estate, testified for the plaintiffs.

They alleged Emmett had failed to sound his horn and veered to the right so far that he nearly struck the Jenkins car. Emmett's attorneys based defense testimony on "unavoidability" and contributory negligence.

The suit was Judge Gillies D. Hodge's last jury action of the district court's fall term.

May Have Clew To Murder

Moscow—Sheriff Charles Summerfield said Monday he had received word from Shoshone county authorities at Wallace that a worker informed them yesterday that he knew the identity of the man found in a forest grave 43 miles southeast of here one week ago Friday.

Summerfield said that he or a deputy would question the man at Wallace Thursday. He added that he was more than ever sure the badly decomposed body was that of a "union" picket. In 1936 several bands of pickets were patrolling the Crescent area where the body was found, last summer.

Identification of the corpse would comprise the second important step in the solution of the "soogan" murder mystery. Last week, a paper of July 16, 1936, was dug from the bottom of the shallow grave where the body had lain by Dan and Werner Ziemann and Darwin Tarry. When first found, the grave was thought to have been dug only a few months ago.

Mann's Got Results

Mann's Music Co., Lewiston, in sending copy for this week's paper said in their letter:

"We got splendid results from the last ad, and consequently we plan on continuing this form of advertising."

This merely goes to show that our statement of "Small want ads. bring big results," is indeed true. Try one yourself.

Ladies Aid Meeting

The Community Ladies Aid will meet Monday afternoon in the basement of the Methodist church. Everyone is urged to come and bring their sewing. Final plans for the chicken dinner will be made at that time.

WHEAT MARKET UNSETTLED BY UNCERTAIN PROSPECTS

Wheat markets were unsettled during the week ended November 18, influenced by uncertain crop prospects in Argentina, states the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Oats were slightly lower following declines in corn but barley was unsettled with feed barley lower.

Uncertainty as to the extent of frost damage to the Argentine crop was the principal unsettling influence in the wheat market during the third week in November. Prices advanced sharply both in domestic and foreign markets when serious damage was first reported but declined to below the previous week's close when later information was less favorable. Greatest damage occurred in the Province of Buenos Aires where trade reports indicate that an average loss of around 40 per cent on about one third of the wheat acreage. Fair to good crops are in prospect in other provinces, however, and harvesting made good progress in northern sections. Prohibition of exports was removed and overseas shipments during the week totaled slightly over 1,000,000 bushels. The Australian harvest made rapid progress and shippers were offering new wheat freely in the European markets. These offerings of new wheat, together with a continued slow demand from European importing countries, was a weakening influence in Liverpool and price declines were greater than earlier gains.

United States wheat markets also reflected the weakness abroad and declined 2c to 3c per bushel with a slow milling inquiry a contributing factor. Marketings of winter wheat dropped off materially with receipts at the principal terminals totaling only 1,220 cars. Millers and shippers were among the principal buyers at Kansas City and a fair quantity of wheat from storage, in addition to the current market offerings, was sold to millers and exporters. Export sales were principally of No. 2 or better hard and dark hard winter wheat for shipment via the Gulf. Exports of wheat to the middle of November this year, totaled nearly 19,000,000 bushels, compared with less than 2,000,000 bushels for the corresponding period last year.

Cash prices were lower with futures, but declines were not so great, since increases in premiums offset a part of the declines in futures. At Kansas City, No. 2 hard was quoted at 83c to 85c per bushel. At Fort Worth No. 1 hard winter was quoted at $1.08½ delivered Texas common points. At Chicago, No. 2 hard red winter was quoted at 96c to 98½c per bushel.

The quality of this season's crop of soft red winter wheat east of the Rocky Mountains is abnormally low, especially as to test weight, the result of infestation of stem rust. Moisture content was materially higher than in 1936 but lower than in 1935. The quality of the soft red winter wheat in the Pacific Northwest states is exceptionally high and slightly better than the 1936 crop, which was also of high quality. The prices of winter wheat declined with hard winter, with No. 2 quoted at St. Louis at 94c. No. 2 was quoted at Chicago at 92 to 94½c.

Marketings of spring wheat were moderate with receipts totaling 482 cars at Minneapolis and 528 at Duluth. Efforts to get wheat unloaded and transferred to lake vessels at Duluth before the close of navigation was principally responsible for the heavy movement to that market. Local milling demand was slow at Minneapolis.

The 1937 crop of hard red spring wheat east of the Rocky mountains is about equal to that of the 1936 crop. Drought and rust infestation caused much shrunken wheat with low test weight.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets were lower along with the eastern markets. At the close of the week, Denver mills were bidding 82c per bushel FOB Colorado common points for No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring. At Ogden, mills were offering 61c per bushel FOB Utah-Idaho common points for No. 2 hard winter and northern spring hard and soft white wheat.

At Portland cash prices declined about 2½c per bushel with hard white (Big Bend bluestem or baart) quoted at 85c, dark hard winter at

All ladies of the community are cordially invited to attend, even though they do not care to join the society.

On Friday afternoon the pupils of Gold Hill school had a literary program. Elmer Wilson presided. Arthur Grayson and Lewis Hunt sang solos, which were much enjoyed by the other pupils. Several others told short stories which they had read, and many book reviews were given. Some riddles were asked and two piano solos given. Each pupil took part and did what he liked to help with the program.

Armistice Day was observed at Gold Hill school with appropriate scripture reading and a discussion of the first Armistice Day and its meaning. "America, the Beautiful" was sung and the flag saluted and pledged. At 11 o'clock the exercises were completed outdoors before an improvised flag pole. The pupils of Gold Hill school are still working faithfully on the memorizing of the Scripture verses for the Youth Bible Crusade. Clarence Wilson, Joyce Lyons, Lewis Hunt and Lois Largent already have won their wall mottoes, as well as their testaments. The following either have their testaments or will receive them on the next delivery of prizes: Thelma Garner, Omie Weaver, Wilma Cuddy, Alfreda Bohn, Mildred Harris, Donald Kuykendall, Elmer Wilson, Rose Ann Cuddy, Lella Grayson, Eileen Garner, Harry Harris, Jake Reibold, George Lyons, Arthur Grayson. WHEAT MARKET UNSETTLED BY UNCERTAIN PROSPECTS

96 and local northern spring at $1.01. Soft white, western white and western red were quoted at 84c and hard winter at 86c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked. Marketings were moderate and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled 713 cars. Local milling inquiry was slow because of a dull flour business and current offerings were taken principally by elevator interests and exporters. Export sales of around 6,000 tons, mostly in parcel lots to the United Kingdom and the Continent were reported during the week. Small lots of high protein wheat went to California mills but local prices were too high for shipment to the central west.

California markets were weak and slightly lower, influenced principally by declines at other markets, since local offerings remained light, with growers firmly holding stocks.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were practically unchanged from a week ago as trading and movement continued light and arrivals at Portland totaled only 21 cars. Feeding types were largely moving to local and nearby mixed feed manufacturers, while malting types were in slow request from both local and middlewestern buyers. No. 2 bright western barley, testing 45 pounds per bushel, was quoted at Portland at $1.37½ per 100 pounds.

Pacific Northwestern oats markets held practically steady with a limited demand at terminal points largely offset by lack of selling pressure from growers. Only 10 cars of oats arrived at Portland during the week and comprised mostly white oats moving to mixed feed manufacturers. An active demand for gray oats was reported at Willamette valley points for seed. No. 2 white oats were quoted at Portland Nov. 18 at $1.20 per 100, with No. 2 gray oats at $1.30 per 100, sacked basis.

adequate that the state has lost several thousands of dollars because the persons whose transactions it was supposed to regulate and check were able to "get away" with that sum of money. This continued for several years and the losses have just been brought to light.

Once the state begins to respect and enforce its own laws with respect to the transactions of public business, the taxpayers will find that the estimates for public expenditures themselves will fall off very amazingly, and that the expenditures themselves will be considerably less than the estimates instead of exceeding them as has been our experience. When the Purchasing Agent is given full control of the duties of his office and all officers, agent and employees are required to cooperate with him, as they have not been doing for some time, the amount of money necessary to meet the needs of government will be materially reduced.

This is only a matter of plain, everyday common sense. It requires only the conscientious adherence by officers to their oath of office. It is not new or startling (except as to practice) and it may not "save you a million" but it will bring about a real reduction in the cost of State government.

The Treasury of the United States is preparing to move four billion dollars worth of gold to Kentucky. The sum is so large it staggers the imagination. It would last you for a couple of weeks at a Broadway night club.

The traffic in obscene matter through the mails is a million-dollar-a-year business.

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks—Thanksgiving is a grand old American custom—but by jinks we often pay the penalty for over-eating and too much high-life the following day. But be that as it may—let's all do just as we have in the past—what's the difference in the next hundred years, anyway?

We hope that on your Thanksgiving table had our butter on it and that you finished your meal with our ice cream. Both are healthy and tasty. If you are not a user now—become one.

First Cutie: "Where do you get your motor accessories?"
Second Cutie: "Oh, I just honk and smile at them and they climb into the car."

My good man, does this dog possess a family tree?
Oh, no, he's not particular about trees.

Visitor From the East: "Is this a good farming country?"
Idaho Farmer: "Why, mister, this land grows potatoes so big it only takes six to make a dozen."

Read the Bullitin—keep posted.

The burlesque performances in Manhattan seem to have gotten too raw even for New York. That is what we call really getting tough.

When the republicans start their revival campaign they might offer prizes for the first state that joins Vermont and Maine.

Good-Bye Caboose

With the railroads going crazy over "streamlining," it will not come as surprising news to the average citizen to learn that "the little red caboose behind the train" has also come in for a share of it. Several of the big railroad systems are removing the little old tower from the top of the caboose and installing bay windows on each side. Here the brakemen and conductors can sit in comfortable, upholstered chairs and watch for the tell-tale smoke of a hot-box or the streams of sparks indicating a binding brake beam. Safety stoves will enable them to cook warm meals as they ride, while electric refrigerators and leather couches easily convertible into beds will supplant the old time wooden benches that served as seats. And so, in this modern age of science and invention, another old tradition passes. The "little red caboose behind the train" is to join the long list of old time memories, while time marches on.
