The general wheat situation turn ed somewhat easier, influenced principally by the larger movement of new grain from the southern hemisphere, less active inquiry from European importers and less apprehension concerning the domestic winter wheat crop, as moderate rains furnished needed moisture in Oklahoma and Texas. Marketings of new wheat increased in Argentina and exports during the week totaled 2,-Jump of Winchester, were united in 500,000 bushels, the largest weekly, shipments since last June. Australian shipments were also of good volume, totaling 2,462,000 bushels, making a total from the southern hemisphere of nearly 5,000,000 bushels. With over 33,000,000 bushels of wheat on ocean passage, European importers were apparently less concerned about supplies and were less engineer and is at present located interested in North American wheat. Australian shippers, however, were offering less freely toward the close of the period, influenced by the relatively higher prices quoted on competing grain.

Marketings of spring wheat increased materially with 488 cars received at Minneapolis and 165 cars at Duluth. Demand for cash wheat, however, was less active and premiums on cash grain were lowered 2c to 4c per bushel. Weakness was

WRITES OF STATE PROBLEMS

A dignitary of a certain church organization recently made inquiry sistance of an undertaker. The inquiry was eventually referred to the Attorney General's office which investigated the subject with considerable care and released an opinion

The law definitely forbids that embalming be practiced without a license, an embalmer being defined means of a chemical substance, emboth, as to disinfect and preserve the body." Embalming is compulsory only in the case of death by communicable disease, or transportation of a body for long distances through populous centers, in such manner to endanger the health of the public. An undertaker, on the other hand, is defined thus: "One whose business it is to make preparations for the burial of the dead and driving. and manage funerals." It becomes apparent that the practice of embalming, and that of undertaking are essentially different. In the words of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin:

"Embalming is not required by any law of the state. It is not essential to public health, safety, convenience, or comfort under present conditions of burials and cremations. It is not universally practised, especially in rural communities. Just what proportion of buried bodies are embalmed in the state there is no eviber of embalmed bodies annually buried in this state is large. Some have religious scruples against em-God, just as others have religious scruples against cremation. Since an embalmer's license before he can bury the dead? The qualifications required for obtaining an embalmer's license would add nothing to his fitness for burying an unemcomfort or morals."

Statutory authority and judicial decision combine to determine that there is no justification for requiring an undertaker to obtain an embalmer's license. Health authorities may not interfere in the privilege of any citizen to conduct a lawful business on the grounds that it might be dangerous to the public health, when there is no evidence that public health is endangered.

It follows that the particular church organization which brought attention to the matter, or any other, may care for and conduct funeral services for its members. acting as undertaker under the aforesaid meaning of the word, without supervision or legal restriction. Exception of course, must be made in the matter of contageous disease. Needy families may accept from their church this preparation for the burial of their dead, as well as subsequent funeral service, with no fear of illegality or infraction of public health laws.

(Lack of time will necessitate a temporary discontinuance of these articles. Atty. General J. W. Taylor).

It Is Different Today

There has come to light what is said to be a set of rules posted in 1854 by a store (unnamed) that is still in business. We cannot vouch for the authenticity of the document, but it seems typical of the Puritanical thought and practices of that time and shows us how far earlier employers went in ruling the lives and conduct of their people as compared with today. Be that as it may, these 1854 rules make interesting

The Resolution of Every Kendrick Business Man

The passing of the years have seen the rise and fall of Kings and Queens, the rise and fall of great nations and the rise and fall of businesses great and small - the coming of the automobile, aeroplane, radio, great ships croosing the Atlantic in less than four days - and it has all been made possible by mans' resolution to advance in the face of difficulties.

As it is with the great things — so it is with the business men of Kendrick — a resolution to advance. New things have come to Kendrick with the passing years. Cooperative marketing organizations, a creamery, a cannery, a sawmill — new stores and new business interests — all a step forward.

With the coming of 1938 these business men are resolved to serve you to the best of their ability —to make Kendrick a more desirable place to trade and to do your marketing. All, therefore invite you to make Kendrick business houses your business center. You are cordially invited - won't you come?

We are prompted to sponsor this message to the people of Kendrick and vicinity through our interest in community welfare.

Of Interest To Farmers

"Fair debt adjustments benefit creditors as well as farm debtors," says C. C. Clark, district farm debt adjustment supervisor in the farm security administration, who has been helping with farm debt adjustment problems in the eighteen counties from Boise north: "By avoiding unnecessary costs incident to court action, most cases can be adjusted to the mutual advantage of all the parties concerned."

Farmers with excessive debts should take steps to refinance their farms, and if necessary consult C. C. Clarke, district supervisor with offices located in the City Hall building at Moscow. Already, thousands of farmers in this state have been refinanced on a sound basis by the loans made through various credit agencies. Hundreds of these loans have been closed with the aid of farm debt adjustment service bringing about an agreement between the farmers and their creditors so that the old debts could be paid off with the new money borrowed.

Mr. Clarke will be in his office at Moscow on Tuesday and Wednesday, February 1 and 2 and he invites those who are interested to come in at that time and confer with him.

The Kendrick Theatre will again on this Friday and Saturday nights give its patrons another big double feature show, the first being Harold Bell Wright's "The Californian," one of those real westerns such as only Wright can pen, with Ricardo Cortez as a phantom bandit who rides on a raid for scarlet vengence. The second feature is "Think Fast, Mr. Moto"—an amazing story of adventure and mystery and romance. It's an orential story and one that will command attention, especially at this time. The story ranges from Farmers who wish to keep an ac- San Francisco's tortuous alleys to provements and is about ready to open for business. It is occupying the last vacant building in town —and so Kendrick goes one step further forward. We want to congratulate them and to wish them ever success in their new venture.

Every business makes the town that much better place in which to spend your cream check. Just you bring the cream to us. We'll furnish the check. What do you say? Fair, isn't it?

A girl met an old flame who had turned her down, and decided to high-hat him.

"Sorry," she murmured, when the hostess introduced him to her. "I didn't get your name."

"I know you didn't," replied the ex-boy friend, "but you tried hard enough!"
