DEATH BEGINS AT 40 —

AUTO FATALITIES IN 1937

Basic reasons for America's very shameful automobile accident record in 1937 were "too much speed and too little courtesy," according to a new booklet entitled "Death Begins at 40" just issued by an insurance company. The booklet presents a complete analysis of last year's traffic accidents, based on official figures from the 48 states.

There is no intention in the booklet according to the editors, to advocate 40 miles an hour or any other fixed speed as a top limit. It says: "There are times, as in heavy traffic or heavy fog, when 30 miles an hour is suicidal; other times when 50 miles an hour seems reasonable. Every driver should know, however, that if he does have an accident it is more likely to mean death if he is going fast.

Many of the features in the booklet have been prepared especially to show what happens in the higher brackets of speed. It is pointed out, for instance, that a car is four times harder to stop at 50 miles an hour than it is at 25, and nine times harder to stop at 75 miles an hour than at 25. A new word, "durability," has been coined to express another speed factor. The driver's turnability, the booklet shows, decreases rapidly as his speed increases. Thus, he can make only one-fourth as sharp a turn at 50 miles an hour as he could make at 25 and only one-ninth as sharp a turn at 75 as at 25.

Another set of figures shows that if you have an accident while driving under 40 miles an hour there is only one chance in 44 that somebody will be killed but if your accident comes while you are traveling faster than 40, there is one chance in 19 that somebody will be killed.

While the folly of high speed provides the main theme of the booklet, there is a secondary theme that runs consistently through the issue. It is the need for courtesy on the highway.

After analyzing reports of 40,300 fatalities and 1,221,080 injuries in traffic accidents last year, the company's statisticians point to these interesting and little-known facts about accidents:

Exceeding the speed limit was responsible for 37 per cent of the deaths and 25 per cent of the injuries.

More than 94 per cent of drivers involved in fatal accidents were male and less than six per cent female. It does not necessarily follow that women are safer drivers than men; it is pointed out, because adequate data on the relative exposure are lacking.

Ninety-seven per cent of drivers involved in fatal accidents had had one or more years' driving experience.

More than 78 per cent of all fatal accidents occurred when the road surface was dry. Eighty-three per cent of all fatal accidents occurred in clear weather.

More persons were killed on Sunday than on any other day. The heaviest injury toll came on Saturday. More persons were killed between 7:00 and 8:00 o'clock in the evening than at any other hour.

Fatalities increased last year in every age group except that from five to fourteen years of age.

In the last fifteen years 441,912 persons have been killed in the U. S. by automobiles. This is almost double the number of American soldiers killed in action or died of wounds in all the wars this country has engaged in since its birth.

Officials Argue Illegal Charge
Boise.—Motions to amend and set aside indictments brought against them by the Ada county grand jury were filed by attorneys for Ira J. Taylor, commissioner of public works, former prison warden and state democratic chairman; G. E. McKelvey, former commissioner of public works; A. D. Stanley, state highway department engineer, and J. H. Stemmer, state highway director.

The motions to quash the indictments charged they were obtained through instrumentality of State Attorney General J. W. Taylor, who was biased and prejudiced against them, and that therefore the indictments are illegal. The motions also held that Taylor was not permitted by statute to participate in actions for county grand juries against other state officials.

A very pleasant social evening was reported.

CARL AMELING DEOBALD DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Carl Ameling Deobald of Lynden, Wash., former resident of American ridge, and eldest son of Mrs. Mary A. Deobald, passed away at Castle Rock, Wash., Friday, March 18, 1938, death being due to heart failure.

Carl was born at Summerfield, Marshall county, Kansas, October 17, 1887, and when a small boy the family moved to Kendrick, where he received his grade and high school education. Following this he entered the University of Idaho, a student in mechanical engineering.

On March 19, 1913, he was united in marriage to Myrtle Seat of Kendrick, to which union three children were born, two of whom survive: a son, Clayton, connected with the Lynden Plumbing company, and a daughter, Frances, a student at Griffin-Murphy College in Seattle. One daughter, Aletha Mae, passed away in 1919.

After his marriage he and his wife made their home on a homestead near Teakoa, Wash., for five years, after which he farmed near Southwick for several years, later moving to Lynden, Wash., where he had resided for the past 18 years, following his engineering profession. Some of his work was in Alaska, but at the time of his death he was employed by the Weyerhaeuser Lumber company at Castle Rock, Wash.

Funeral services, held in the M. E. church in Lynden at 2:00 p. m. on Monday, March 21, were conducted by the Rev. Rudd and the Lynden Masonic Order, of which he had been an active member for a number of years.

Two beautiful vocal selections, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "When I Walk With You and I Talk With You," were sung by Mrs. Le Coque, accompanied by Mrs. Martin, both of Lynden.

Many beautiful floral offerings were received; these and the attendance at the services indicating the high esteem in which he was held.

Besides his widow, son and daughter, he leaves to mourn their loss his mother, two brothers, Edwin E. and William B. of Kendrick; three sisters, Mrs. Otto Schupfer of Julietta, Mrs. E. E. Bechtel of Seattle, and Eva M. Thompson of Orofino, and many other relatives and a host of friends.

Interment was made in the beautiful City cemetery at Lynden.

Some People Still Superstitious

You know that some people still wear a bag of camphor around their necks every winter? Why do you suppose they do it? Here's why—because of a superstitious belief that it will prevent pneumonia and influenza.

This practice of wearing a camphor bag around the neck, of course, does nothing of the kind. The only way, so far, of preventing these maladies, is by staying away from people who have colds and by building up our bodily resistance. Milk, fruits and vegetables, along with sufficient rest, will do much toward building that resistance.

GOV. CLARK VISITS KENDRICK SATURDAY MORNING

Barzila W. Clark, Governor of Idaho, paid Kendrick a visit Saturday morning in the interest of road inspection.

Arriving here Saturday morning at 10 o'clock he met with a delegation from the Kendrick Commercial club, farmers from the surrounding section and democratic party leaders in the Fraternal Temple.

Following this short meeting the party entered cars and drove to the end of the state highway on Big Bear ridge, surveying the road situation in that section. Following this inspection trip all returned to the Fraternal Temple, where Gov. Clark gave a short talk on the state, its roads and various needs.

Since time was short the party again entered cars and was driven to Lewiston.

Highlights of the trip were the amazement expressed by Gov. Clark at the wonderful country surrounding Kendrick, as viewed from the American ridge, and the top of Big Bear ridge, where Big Bear, the Pine Creek, Texas ridge, Cedar creek and part of Potlatch ridge are very plainly visible. He said he had no idea such a country lay about Kendrick, his previous impression being only of a few small bench farms and pretty canyon slopes.

He promised to do all in his power to better the roads about Kendrick, and to attempt to have the present allocation of road money (Arrow to Julietta) boosted just a bit to permit the building of the road on to Kendrick. All sincerely hope that he succeeds.

WHEAT MARKET UNSETTLED — FEED GRAINS STEADY

Wheat markets were unsettled during the week ending March 18, with the disturbed political situation in Europe and crop prospects the dominant influences, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains were mostly steady to firm with lighter market receipts, a continued moderate export trade in corn and a fairly active feeder and industrial inquiry for all feed grains. Flaxseed advanced around 1c per bushel despite a limited inquiry for the small offerings.

Aside from the disturbed financial and political situation abroad which disrupted trading and caused sharp fluctuations in wheat prices, crop developments were the most important influences in the general wheat situation. World wheat acreage for the 1938 harvest promises to be larger than that harvested in 1937. Winter wheat seedings in the Northern Hemisphere from preliminary reports were near the record 1937 sowings with winter killing less extensive. Spring plantings promised to be near those of last season with soil conditions more favorable. The acreage of all spring wheat to be seeded in the United States this spring is expected to total 22,282,000 acres, comprising 3,613,000 acres of durum and 18,669,000 acres of other spring wheat. This acreage would be about 6 per cent below the 1937 seedings and about 1 per cent above the 1927-36 average. Assuming that abandonment for 1938 will approximate the average from 1928-1937, excluding the heavy losses during 1934 and 1936, the indicated acreage for harvest of durum would be around 3,200,000 acres compared with 2,768,000 acres harvested in 1937 and other spring wheat about 15,800,000 acres compared with 14,758,000 last year.

European winter wheat seedings show a slight gain over a year ago with little indication of extensive winter killing, contrasted sharply with that of last season when abandonment was the heaviest of recent years. Early reports indicate that the total European acreage may approach the 1935 record of 79,000,000 acres. Russian and North African seedings appear likely to be near those of last season. India reports a slight decrease in seedings but trade reports indicate favorable crop developments with conditions generally well above average. A decrease of about 10 per cent is in prospect in China, but Manchurian seedings may exceed those of 1937 by about 10 per cent while Japanese sowings are reported near the high record of 1937.

Marketings of spring wheat remained light with only 316 cars received at Minneapolis and 54 cars unloaded at Duluth. Flour trade increased somewhat and premiums increased.

War Scares In Europe

Real War In The Orient!

But It's Peace, Happiness and Prosperity for the U. S. A.

Perhaps business conditions are not all that they should be, perhaps the price of wheat is down, beans on a slow and low market, and log and lumber prices down. Perhaps some are not satisfied with the present political trend — perhaps the state government or its road policy does not suit you — but these things are, in reality, minor items compared to the problems that war-mad Europe is facing, and the poor fellows engaged in or affected by the China-Japanese conflict. They are facing real problems! There is a battle for national existence!

To us it seems that the European situation may largely be laid at the door of those who are territory-hungry. Those who thirst for more power. Peace and happiness can come only through co-operation—and Europe doesn't seem to know the meaning of the word "co-operate."

As we co-operate in this country, in politics, in business, in our farming operations, in our schools and in our towns — we progress! And progress means in its broadest sense, happiness and prosperity for all. If we all pull together, Kendrick will be a better town. The better the town the more valuable the farms surrounding it become. The more trade that town draws, the better the town. So let's all work together. Co-operation means success!

You will find the Kendrick merchants more than willing to serve you. Try them. They are known to you personally, their word about merchandise is good. They are ready to back that merchandise or personal service. What more can anyone ask?

We are prompted to sponsor this message to the people of Kendrick and vicinity through our interest in community welfare.

WHEAT MARKET UNSETTLED —FEED GRAINS STEADY

Increased 1c to 2c per bushel as a result of more active inquiry from Canadian markets also were unsettled and closed about 1/4c lower than a week ago.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets showed no marked change. Denver mills were offering 75c per bushel. At the close of the week No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring FOB Colorado shipping points. Mills at Ogden were bidding 65c per bushel for No. 2 soft white, 64c for No. 2 hard white and 63c per bushel for No. 2 northern spring and hard winter. Utah-Idaho common points.

Portland soft white and western white were quoted at 87 1/2c, western red at 87c, hard white (white) at 87c and hard red winter at 86c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked. Receipts increased with larger deliveries on earlier contracts and arrivals at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals totaled 927 cars. Local mills and exporters furnished practically the only outlet but export sales totaled only around 1,500 tons. At Seattle western white, western red and hard winter were quoted at 85 1/2c per bushel.

California markets were somewhat firmer, reflecting local supply and demand conditions. Heavy rains have caused considerable damage to wheat in low-lying areas and new crop prospects are uncertain. As a result remaining supplies of old wheat were firmly held. Milling inquiry at San Francisco was slightly more active as a result of improved flour demand but feed wheat moved slowly in limited quantities. A few cars were sold to Mexico but no sales were reported to other areas. Feed manufacturers and mills at Los Angeles were replenishing supplies and demand for local wheat was further stimulated by labor difficulties which restricted water shipments from the Northwest.

The Liverpool market declined with continued pressure of Australian offerings and a slow inquiry from millers offsetting the strengthening influence of the political situation.

Pacific Northwestern barley markets were irregular. Feeding barley was in light request but offerings were also light which was a sustaining influence in the market situation. No. 2 bright western testing 45 pounds was quoted at Portland March 17 at $1.40 per 100, sacked, with malting quality Henchen barley quoted at $1.42 1/2 per 100.

Pacific Northwestern oats markets tended downward, reflecting a slow inquiry from all classes of trade and somewhat heavier offering from growers. No. 2 white oats from the Willamette valley area were quoted at Portland at $1.27 1/2 per 100, with No. 2 gray oats at $1.32 1/2 per 100, both sacked basis, and white oats from eastern Washington were quoted at Portland at $1.35 1/2 per 100, sacked.

It's a Laugh!

Much ado has been made by the auto dealers and dealers' associations, as well as manufacturers of automobiles, that the two weeks just past were observed as weeks to get old klunks off the road and create a better market for better cars by offering to take in trade any old car, of whatsoever description, and put it in the junk heap, to be burned. It's a laugh.

There are just as many old klunks advertised in the papers by dealers as there ever were, the price ranging from $15 up. The cry was set up in order to rid the road of these dangerous old traps, but what happened? Most of them were run on the second-hand lots, given the "once-over" and again placed in the "receiving" line for sale.

The city of St. Louis, Mo., a city of nearly a million people, sent out a news item that eleven klunks had been placed on the funeral pyre and destroyed—thereby making the roads of Missouri safe for travel for all classes of cars. And there were cities nearer home that made a big-to-do about the burning of old cars, when over the names of the dealers in these same cities cars are advertised as low as $15.00 and $17.50 (and not worth it)!

Oh, well, what's the use, you can't dodge all of them all the time, no matter how good a car you may drive.

NO ENTHUSIASM MANIFESTED FOR FAIR IN LATAH COUNTY

Genesee News: Farmers and business men locally are reluctant to become interested in a Latah county fair, especially if it is to be supported in part by an additional tax levy next year. Some who have voiced their opinion are of the belief that it would be a splendid opportunity for 4-H clubs to exhibit their products and display their accomplishments, but on the whole a fair to be successful from every view-point, today must take in many other agricultural, home-making, educational and industrial pursuits, and their must be plenty of entertainment if a fair becomes a success.

The horse played an important part in all county fairs, but today is a machine age, with very few horses left on Latah county farms. A fair without the horse is difficult to picture. It is true there still remains the cattle, swine, poultry, sheep and various household exhibits, but how many Latah county farms are producing show stock? Grains play an important part also in every fair, as do the vegetable exhibits, and here again, outside the grain, diversification in Latah county is limited and naturally exhibits will be limited.

Fairs which have been established for years are about the only shows that exist today, it was brought out by two farmers in Genesee Wednesday. Uniontown, for years extended itself to provide a livestock show that for many years was successful, and now it has passed out. The same is true about Lewiston, one man recalls. The Valley city tried to continue but found a fair a losing proposition.

Clearwater county conducts a fair each year but there a rodeo plays an outstanding part. The district fairs of southern Idaho have a somewhat better chance of existing, because of the diversification of agriculture in the irrigated sections. Puyallup draws people by the thousands, but consider the magnitude of that show. Visit the Iowa or Nebraska state fairs, and notice the amount of entertainment that almost overshadows the exhibits.

The Latah County Fair association is to be commended for its efforts but its members should not feel resentful if they do not find enthusiasm in every part of the county for their undertaking. It is not that people are opposed to a fair but rather that they do not apparently seem interested.

TEAKEAN GOSSIP

We were surprised a few days ago with more snow storms. It seems Old Man Winter came back to say goodbye.

Mrs. Wm. Groseclose is suffering from a severe cold and cough.

Saturday, March 19, Mrs. Anna Harless had a surprise party, it being her birthday anniversary. Some of her neighbors came in and enjoyed dinner with her. The day was pleasantly spent by all.

On account of bad roads our mail carrier has not been able to travel his entire route for a few days. We hope the roads will be better before long.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kime have moved into the Asa Choate house, where Asa and his family formerly lived.

The Ladies Aid will meet this week to work on a quilt that has been pieced for Mrs. Ruby Ogden.

Carol, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller, has been quite ill with flu, but is about well again. Her little sister, Donna Jean, burned her arm quite severely when she fell against the stove.

Mrs. Geo. Kime has been at Southwick for some time, helping care for her mother-in-law, Grandma Kime.

Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Pike came over from Moscow and held services at the Bretheran church here Sunday.

Carroll Groseclose was a business visitor in Orofino Monday.

Elwood Brock went to Orofino last Wednesday, where he is hoping to find work. If he does not locate a job he intended going to Montana soon and visit his father.

Mrs. Nora Olsen and daughter Eva are selling their horses and farm machinery. They will hire their farm work done. They plan to stay on the place and keep a few cows to milk.

Mrs. John Lind returned to her home Friday, after spending some time with her son Paul and family at Kendrick.

An election was held at the church Sunday to decide on delegates to the District Conference of the Bretheran church to be held in May at Twin Falls. Mrs. Carrie Herring and Carl Harless were decided on for delegates.

HOLC FORECLOSES ON 71,733 HOMES IN 1937

Washington.—Uncle Sam at the end of 1937 owned 71,733 homes through foreclosures, or about 50,500 more than a year before, records of the Home Owners' Loan corporation showed.

Foreclosure proceedings started in the summer of 1936.

Up to June, 1936, the corporation operations, from the time it started business in June, 1933, were confined mainly to lending funds to home owners. Loans were made available only on dwellings housing not more than four families, one unit of which the owner occupied.

Here are some official statistics bringing up to date the history of HOLC as a lender and property manager:

Up to November 30, 1937, the latest date for which figures are available, the corporation lent $3,093,459,271, of which 11 per cent has been repaid.

At the end of 1937, the corporation had sold 6,024 homes, owned 55,951 which were rentable. Of the latter, 87.6 were rented.

On December 31, 1937, steps were taken to make the remainder of the foreclosed homes rentable.

There were 611,407 loans being currently paid or less than three months in arrears, compared with 551,023 on December 31, 1936.

During 1937 the number of loans more than three months in arrears declined 100,472 to 290,464. An HOLC spokesman said the majority of these loans "are now in a liquid position." Current monthly installments are being met and a part of the past-due installments is being paid off gradually, he said.

About 12,000 delinquent accounts are regarded as "insoluble," it was said.

Wood Hats Be Worn

In "Oddities in the News" appeared the following, from Indianapolis, Ind., under date of February 14th:

"Wood hats—yes, wood—will be worn by up-to-date men this spring and summer, stylist predicted today at the convention of the men's Apparel club of Indiana and the Indiana Clothiers and Furnishers' association.

"The hats will be of wood pulp, guaranteed — the stylists said — not to warp or splinter."

Now the question arises, just how is one to tell when what are termed "knot-head" legislators, have hats on?

The government has printed over two billion liquor stamps since the repeal of prohibition.

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks—Seems like spring is here for fifteen minutes, and then the next fifteen seems like it's still a few weeks away—but then we must remember that this is March, and it seems like the proverb in like a lion, out like a lamb is certainly holding good.

A young man proved himself wise (?) the other day when a certain widow asked him how old he thought she was. He answered: "I'm just doubtful about making you ten years younger on account of your looks, or to make you ten years older on account of your intelligence."

Dots: "Now, Joe dear, if I do at like the cooking for a month, what will I get?"
Joe: "You'll get my life insurance any your freedom."

Bunk: "What is the greatest water power known to man?"
Hunk: "Woman's tears."

Yes, we sell whipping cream.

Thank You

We wish to express our deep appreciation and thanks to the community for their quick action in saving our home from fire Tuesday.
