CO-OPERATION SECRET OF HIGHWAY SAFETY

Today, as we drive on the highways of many of our states, we often see a car bearing the words "Highway Patrol" or "Highway Safety Patrol" and the name of the cases, we fail to take the time necess sary to reflect on what the presence of these officers mean to us and our loved ones.

Most persons are aware of the seriousness of the traffic accident problem and they also know that this one problem is taking the lives of thousands of people each year and causing injury to countless thousands of others, bringing a toll of untold sorrow and suffering that is steadily rising each year, but they do nothing about it.

To meet this problem and half this rising toll of death and suffering, the highway patrol was organ ized. In every state in which we find a highway patrol, their presence is being felt in the reduction of traffic accidents. Strict but courteous enforcement of traffic laws, the utilization of every means at their command to educate the people in safety, appearances before public groups and gatherings, speaking on safety, talking to the children, and, in fact, talking before all groups possible; cautioning motorists on the highway; and acting as the good friend of these same motor; ists when they are in trouble.

F. F. A. Boys Take Fishing Trip Last Friday morning 11 F. F. A. boys and Don Lyle stole stealthily away to enjoy fishing and camping in the vicinity of Elk River. We arrived 10 miles above town on the stream of Elk River at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, and immediately established a camp so that we could be off to the nearby stream to try our luck. That evening saw most of the boys very contented, with a fai reatch of fish. We fried fish that only the rarest of chefs could prepare. We left this place Saturday morning to seek a stream where larger fish could be found. Saturday afternoon found us parked a short distance from Elk River on the banks of the river. We enjoyed fishing here to some extent but found that only 7-inch trout inhabited these streams. Some of the boys left for home and more comfortable quarters—seven were left.

Saturday night it rained pitchforks and hammer handles. We were decided dampened the next morning but this didn't cramp our style. That afternoon we took a long hike down the river below the falls. Here we found fish plentiful but worms scarce. The scerery was beautiful but we couldn't use it on our hooks.

Sunday evening seven happy but tired souls trod the steep ascent to journey home. The trip will long be remembered by all taking it.

How It Is Done

Battleships are named after states, of which the U.S. S. Idaho is an example. Curuisers are named after cities. Destroyers are named after deceased naval heroes, the last or full name being used, such as the U. S. S. Brooks and the U. S. S. John D. Ford. Submaries are named after fish and the U.S.S. Bass is a good example.

Well, Folks-The locust trees are almost done blooming here in town, but the syringa is just starting, rains continue to fall and the pastures to brighten and grow greener. Wheat continues in its steady decline, beans are almost worthless, politics are still boiling, the grand jury at Boise is still investigating, etc., etc. So you see, there are bright spots in the picture as well as gloomy ones. Oh, well, in a 100 years it won't worry us!

Have you tried our ice cream lately? You'll find it delicious. By the way, we are again making that delicious cottage cheese! Delight in salads or eaten by itself. Try some today.

Telegrams Pouring In

Thousands of telegrams, for and against President Roosevelt's proposed pump-priming legislation are pouring in on senators and congressmen. Four billion five hundred million is a pile of money and statesmen are of the opinion that after debate on the legislation is started there will be a tremendous deluge of telegrams advising congressmen and senators what to do about it.

Joe: "If I'd known you were so extravagant I would never have married you.''
Dot: "If I hadn't been, father would never have let you!"
