Bulldog, "Sour-Mug," Has Changed From Old Habits

Probably the most pugnacious appearing, but one of the most amiable members of the dog family is the bulldog. He is the dour looking fellow with the mashed-in face, the wrinkled brow, bowed front legs and the pronounced turned-up lower jaw.

Because of the bulldog's expression he has been nicknamed the "sour-mug," observes a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer. In reviewing the history of this breed it is noticed the dog has changed from a tugging, vicious biter of bulls to one that is peace-loving, a perfect companion and intelligent despite his facial contour.

This dog's past, was one of a dark shade. In fact, there was a time in England when bulldogs appeared headed for oblivion. Early in the 17th century the barbarous "sport" of bull baiting, a test of endurance between a dog and a bull, was frowned upon by folks possessing kindness to dumb animals.

Bulldogs used for this cruel practice were naturally more massive than those of the later type. The gallery of "sportsmen" gathered in a veritable "arena" to watch a bulldog grab the bull by the nose. It was a tugging battle to the death for either animal.

The dogs were trained to hang on to their "prey," to tug and pull until the bull would fall to the earth exhausted. Invariably, the dog was gored in this bloody one-sided battle. There were exceptions when the bulldog triumphed, and money changed hands.

Calcium and Phosphorus Important Body Minerals

The greater part of the body's mineral content consists of calcium and phosphorus, mainly combined with oxygen as "lime" in the bones and teeth. These two mineral elements, states a writer in the Detroit News, are also important in the soft tissues and body fluids. The red cells of the blood are dependent on their content of iron. The proper contraction and relaxation of the heart muscle depend on the presence of the right proportions of calcium, sodium and potassium salts in the blood plasma.

Copper, like iron, is believed essential in the process of hemoglobin formation in the blood. Manganese appears to have important relations to growth and development, to reproduction and lactation. Iodine is important as an essential constituent of thyroxine, characteristic product of the thyroid gland.

Potassium, sulphur, sodium, and chlorine are also essential to bodily health and are widely distributed in normal foods. There are other mineral elements such as aluminum, zinc, fluorine, etc., found in very minute amounts and their function is not so well known.

Horse Racing Terms

"To nose" is the term used when one horse leads another by the length of the nose. To bet "on the nose" means to bet to win. The horse that "places" runs second and the one that finishes third "shows." To bet "across the board" on a horse is to wager money on the horse to win, to place and to show. To parlay is to make a multiple bet on two or more horses in different races. If the first wins, according to an authority in the Detroit News, the original bet and the winnings are bet on the second horse and, if the second wins, the entire sum again is bet on a third horse, if it is a three-horse parlay, etc.

"The Devil's Tower"

"The Devil's Tower" is situated in Crook county, northeastern Wyoming, and is probably unparalleled anywhere in the world as an example of columnar rock. It is composed of a rock similar to granite, but known as phonolite, because of the metallic sound obtained when a thin piece is struck. The structure stands 865 feet above the brilliantly colored foothill on which it appears to rest. The diameter at the base is close to 1,000 feet. The top, which has an approximate area of an acre and a half, is covered with sagebrush, ferns, mosses, and grass.

Epitaphs in Shorthand

Once epitaphs on tombstones and memorial tablets were engraved in shorthand so the family could freely express unkind opinions of the deceased—and still keep them from the public. One such tablet, hanging in St. Mary's Church in Sculptoates, England, states that the lady, who died in 1761, "was a poor sinner but not wicked, and ungodly but not unrighteous." — Collier's Weekly.

The First Mirror

The process of depositing metallic silver on glass to produce a mirror was discovered by Baron Liebig, a German scientist, early in the Nineteenth century. He found that by pouring silver ammonium nitrate, mixed with certain reducing agents, on a glass plate the silver would precipitate and form a film of pure metallic silver on the glass. From this discovery has evolved the present-day method of mirror manufacture.—Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

N. B. LONG & SONS KENDRICK, IDAHO

IDAHO OFFICERS STILL FIGHTING AUTO SLAUGHTER

About 60 per cent of the persons killed in automobile accidents upon Idaho highways during the first four months of this year died in crashes that occurred on Saturday's, with the greatest number on Saturday nights between seven o'clock and two hours after midnight. This was disclosed in the reports received at the office of the Safety Education Bureau of the Department of Law Enforcement in Boise. The toll since the first of the year up to May 1, was 38 as compared to 37 for the same period last year. Of this number it means that 22 persons who started upon the auto trips on Saturday never reached their destination because Death, the greatest traffic cop of all times, stopped them upon the highway.

Eight deaths were chalked up during April while there were 12 in the same month a year ago. Five of the eight persons were killed on Saturday. Late at night of the first Saturday two were killed when an auto with four people rolled from the top of White Bird hill to the gulch almost a mile below. On each of the other following Saturday nights three cars drove off the road near St. Maries, Ferdinand and Lewiston, killing one person in each accident.

The four Saturdays in March took a toll of 13 of the month's total of 17, starting with one death on the first Saturday night at Wallace, two on the second Saturday at Nampa, four on the third Saturday night at Blackfoot, and six at Idaho Falls and two near Downey, on the fourth Saturday night. One of the deaths in March was a woman who was injured in an accident on an Ada County highway, Saturday, New Year's day. This would make the Saturday toll 14. One of the three deaths in February occurred at Payette on a Saturday.

The death toll shows the sex of the victims to be 25 male and 13 female. The ages were: 0-9 years four, 10-19 years four, 20-29 years eleven, 30-39 years two, 40-49 years five and over 50 years twelve. Children killed were two girls, four and six years of age and two boys, three and four.

The toll by counties for the four months are: Bingham 7, Bannock 6, Bonneville 4, Canyon 3, Ada 3, Cassia 2, Shoshone 2, Jefferson 2, Idaho 3, Benewah, Payette, Twin Falls, Jerome, Latah and Nez Perce, one each.

Two Motor vehicle deaths occurred off the highways during April. One was a girl of four killed under the wheels of a trailer upon private property and the other a boy of 14 who fell from a truck traveling upon a road to a farm house.

Rodent Control Essential—Murray

Boise.—Attempts to artificially reseed denuded range lands are "inadvisable." T. B. Murray, Idaho representative of the United States biological survey asserted, unless they are accompanied by rodent eradication or control campaigns.

"To what extent rodent injury has prevented or retarded range recovery from the effects of overgrazing, even when livestock are moved from the area, is not known," Murray said, adding:

"On deteriorated range lands, jack rabbits may consume as much as 99.4 per cent of the perennial grass forage."

Rodent control work in 1937 was carried on in 43 of Idaho's 44 counties, Murray said. A total of 608,891 pounds of bait was distributed on 5,314,071 acres of public and private lands for controlling all species of rodents.

"Range land areas on which ground-nesting birds are found during the spring and early summer months were covered to protect succulent growth from rodent damage," Murray said.

"This type of control operation becomes increasingly important as the number of wild life species increases."

Too Much Speed In Town

Some of the young "sprouts"—and some of the older branches, too, for that matter—seem to think that just because their car engine can make the thing go up to 60 or 80 miles per hour, that they have to get a lot of it out all at one time. Well, that's all right, but Kendrick's Main street is hardly the place for such exhibition.

Last Sunday morning while the youngsters and their teachers were gathering at the Community church for Sunday school, some reckless individual flashed in between two crowds of children, some of whom had just crossed the street, and others ready to start, and his car missed by only a few feet some of the little tots. The reason? Too much speed. The car was going 30 or more miles per hour, at least. It's a shame to subject the youngsters to such dangers. Common courtesy and regard for others should tell anyone that a speed of 30 or more miles per hour through town is a dangerous practice.

Signs at the entrance of town seem to mean only so much wood and paint to the reckless driver.

Isn't It Funny?

... that so many business men will get up in the morning, refresh themselves with a dose of advertised fruit salt, clean their teeth with an advertised brush and advertised tooth paste; wash with an advertised soap, shave with an advertised razor; put on advertised underwear, advertised hose, garters, shirt, collar and shoes; seat themselves at an advertised table in an advertised chair and eat advertised breakfast food and bread, drink advertised tea, coffee or cocoa; put on an advertised hat and gloves, light an advertised cigarette, with an advertised match; go to the office in an advertised motor car, give letters to a typist who uses an advertised machine, using advertised paper and carbons; sign their letters with an advertised pen containing advertised ink . . . and some people think that advertising Doesn't Pay!

Quite a Difference

The average American workman who labors only 18 minutes for a pound of bacon would have to work at least twice as long to make a similar purchase in most any foreign nation, a survey of comparative buying power and wages has shown.

For example, the Englishman would have to work 45 minutes at the prevailing British wage; the German 89 minutes and the Belgian 156 minutes. Almost the same ratio applies to all standard foodstuffs, the survey shows.

In this respect, a market basket filled with 1 pound of butter, 1 pound of bread, 1 pound of beef, 1 pound of bacon, 1 pound of potatoes, 1 dozen eggs, 1 quart of milk, and 1 pound of sugar would represent 1½ hours of labor by an American industrial worker at the prevailing wage average. For the same grocery order the Englishman would work 3½ hours, the German, 7 hours and the Belgian 14 hours.

AL. G. BARNES-SELLS FLOTO CIRCUS COMING TO LEWISTON

While no circus so far this season has been scheduled for Kendrick, lovers of whitetop amusement will be glad to learn the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto combined Circus will give an afternoon and evening performance at 2 and 8 P. M. in Lewiston Thursday, June, 16th.

The big show this season is crowded with new wonders, not the least of which are several exciting European acts. In this category fall famous Rieffenach and Yom Kan troupes, both of whom the past two years have been the continent's reigning circus sensation.

Hundreds upon hundreds of the world's foremost arenic stars take part in lengthy program, including such gargantuan features as five herds of elephants all performing at one time; cavalcades of clowns, mass feats of equitation, grouped perchists, an aerial ballet of 50 lovely lassies, countless comely, reckless equestriennes mounted on educated, streamlined steeds, and all staged amid colorful, glorious pageantry.

Mabel Stark, the world's only woman tiger and lion subjugator, after two years of moyle work, has returned to her first love, the circus. She offers with the big show this year the thrilling climax of her long, successful career. Behind triple bars in a vast amphitheater she forces 30 snarling, ferocious jungle beasts to perform. Anna Merkel is another daring young woman who each performance defies all gravity laws. Still others are the Mizzi Rose Sisters, Olvera Brothers, Panneau and countless others.

Doors to the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus will open at 1 and 7 P. M. to permit leisurely inspection of the mighty new menagerie which for 1938 includes 900 furred and feathered creatures.

You Can't Sell Good-Will But It's Here With Us!

We Want To Share It With You!

Good-Will is an item mighty hard to define. It is that immeasurable something that tends toward a spirit of friendliness, of co-operation, of willingness to aid that is sometimes called good "fellowship." But call it what you may, you will find the merchants and business men of Kendrick more than happy to share it with you.

Good-will is an item on which no man may set a price, but its existance is something that goes far in the business world. It goes with every item or personal service sold. It makes buying and selling and the transaction of other business in Kendrick a real pleasure. It furnishes a common basis or meeting ground for everyone. Some call it fellowship — but after all what does a name matter? It is really faith that provides the basis for most business transactions.

Kendrick business men are prepared to meet you on your own ground — to discuss your problems with you and to help you.

Can you say as much of the out of town merchant — the man who neither knows you or care? What basis of common meeting can there be? Does he know of you or your problems? And if you told him, would he care? The answer is "No."

Come in and see the home-town business man, Talk over your problems with him. He knows you, His word can be depended upon. He is willing to back up every item he sells — if for no other reason than your Good-Will. Think it over.

We are prompted to sponsor this message to the people of Kendrick and vicinity through our interest in community welfare.

Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Ingle were Moscow visitors Friday.

A LIST OF "DON'TS" FOR THE AVERAGE MOTORIST

Every little "Don't" is a chapter on safety all its own. This might be said of the list of "Don'ts" found in the Idaho Motorist Guide, issued recently by the Law Enforcement department. Some of the principal "Don'ts" are as follows:

- Don't drive with improper license.
- Don't drive while drinking.
- Don't drive with improper lights; or fail to dim your headlights when meeting another car at night.
- Don't fail to have a rear-view mirror attached in proper place.
- Don't forget your speed depends on conditions existing at the time and place.
- Don't park on highways—pull off of shoulders.
- Don't forget the pedestrian has the right-of-way.
- Don't drive through or attempt to pass a funeral procession.
- Don't forget our children—they all do the unexpected.
- Don't fail to slow down at school grounds.
- Don't fail to stop behind a standing school bus that is taking on or discharging people.
- Don't pass another car on an intersection.
- Don't fail to remember that when two cars approach an intersection the driver on the left shall yield right-of-way to the vehicle on the right.
- Don't attempt to pass another vehicle on a curve or hill, or at any time when your view is obstructed.
- Don't operate your horn to greet the other fellow, it is a warning signal.
- Don't clave the keys in your car when it is unattended.
- Don't drive with a dirty windshield.
- Don't disregard "stop" or any other traffic signs.
- Don't ignore signals from a police officer.
- Don't suddenly start, slow down, stop, back or attempt to turn without first giving suitable sign.
- Don't fail to yield the right-of-way; it takes only a moment, and the accident that results from fighting it may take hours, days, or even months of your time.
- Don't think that a signal automatically gives you the right-of-way; that person making a turn must carry the burden of caution, and the turn must be made when the conditions of traffic permit.

MORALS OF GOVERNMENT AT STAKE

The investigation of the Tennessee Valley Authority is at last under way. In the opening sessions, a number of exceedingly grave charges affecting directors, policies and activities of the authority were made. In the course of the investigation, which will take a substantial length of time to complete, all parties involved will be heard, and will be given an opportunity to present their side.
The important thing is to make this investigation thorough and impartial. Charges and countercharges must be weighed, not in the light of politics or of partisan considerations, but in the light of truth. Nothing relevant must be kept hidden. No one must be whitewashed.
The senators and representatives on the investigating board are charged with a grave responsibility. Few investigations in our congressional history have been as important. Far more is involved in this question than whether money was wasted or spent wisely, or whether the TVA has been administered efficiently or inefficiently. The morals of governmental policy that cannot help but affect every taxpayer, every worker, every investor, and every private enterprise in this country.
Millions of thinking citizens will be watching the TVA investigation. They want the truth—plain unprejudiced.

Agate Is Special Mascot; Many Kinds Are Reported

The agate is the special mascot of the farmer and gardener, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald. It was, however, believed to be powerful as a general mascot all over the world. In ancient Rome it was considered the most fortunate of all stones if mounted in a ring, and another Roman belief was that it would cure affections of the eyes. Eastern races, notably the Persians, considered that this stone conferred eloquence and brought to its owners good fortune by inheritance or through a document.

There was a superstition also that it made its wearers lovable and beloved. In one reference book it is stated that there are numerous kinds of agate—cornelian, amethyst, quartz, jasper and even the opal are classed in this section. There are star agates, moss agates and clouded agates. The milky white agates are often artificially stained—an art of ancient origin. In a brilliant green they are most salable.

Some fine agates come from Scotland and are there called Scottish pebbles. In the shops in the Highlands they are sold as souvenirs.

"Government of, By and for the People" Traced

According to Rev. H. Barker's "English Bible Versions," the first appearance of this phrase "government of the people, by the people and for the people," found in Lincoln's Gettysburg speech was in the preface of the old Wickliffe Bible, translated before 1384, in which it is declared that "this Bible is for the government of the people, by the people and for the people." The Home Book of Quotations states that a careful examination has failed to disclose this passage in the Wickliffe Bibles available.

Theodore Parker used the phrase in three different addresses, delivered in 1850, 1854 and 1858, to illustrate what he called the American idea of democracy. Daniel Webster used almost the same words in a speech in 1830. John Adams in an address in 1798 employed the phrase "a government made by themselves (the people), for themselves and conducted by themselves." Thomas Cooper in 1795 published a pamphlet in London entitled "Some Information respecting America" in which he stated "The government is a government of the people and for the people."

European, American Plan

When a hotel is operated on the European plan the guest pays a stipulated amount for his lodging only. If he eats at the hotel he pays for his meals separately, just as if he were eating at an independent grill or restaurant. Under the American plan the guest pays for both lodging and meals at a regular rate. In the early history of the United States most of the inns and hotels were run on the American plan, but now there are very few hotels operated on this plan except in the smaller cities and at resorts. The European plan prevails in most foreign countries. In this country some hotels combine both plans, leaving it to the wish of the guest to pay a regular rate for lodging only or for both lodging and meals.

The Dry Tortugas

The Dry Tortugas are a series of islets, ten in number, at the extreme end of the Florida Keys, and extending some distance into the Gulf of Mexico. They form part of a county of Florida, and are low, barren and desolate, except where partly covered with mangrove bushes. The islets are of coral formation, and are defended by fortifications. On Bush or Garden Key is Fort Jefferson, and a lighthouse. During the Civil war the port was used as a penal station for rebel prisoners.

Indians Cruel to Dogs

The burning of a white dog was an annual religious festival of the Indian tribes of Ohio. After a pure white dog was found, his legs were tied together so that he could be hung onto a pole that stretched between two forked posts stuck in the ground. Underneath the dog was built a fire, and while the redskins yelled and danced around the primitive altar, the animal would be lowered to and then raised from the blaze. It was slowly tortured until life was gone.

Indians and Sign Language

Aside from Indians, most persons who become skilled at the art of pantomime or sign language employ gestures of face, hands and body to make themselves clear. Indians are noted for keeping straight faces when they talk with their hands, but then, Indians used this device often when dealing with unknown or enemy tribes.

Galileo

Galileo was born in Pisa, the house standing almost in the shadow of the leaning tower where in the Sixteenth century he proved the law of gravitation—a truth which nearly cost him his life because it was contrary to the teachings of the period.

HOW THE BANKS AID THE GOVERNMENT

Normal and Emergency Needs Met by Advances of Commercial Banking Credit

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — The American commercial banking credit system is an absolute essential in the financial operations of business and government, Harold G. Moulton, President of the Brookings Institution of Washington, D. C., said here recently in an address before the Graduate School of Banking conducted under the joint auspices of Rutgers University and the American Bankers Association.

If the flexibility and expansibility provided by commercial banking credit were eliminated, Dr. Moulton declared, "it is scarcely too much to say that the economic system itself would shortly be destroyed."

"Normally the amount of credit extended by commercial banks to the government is small in amount and for the purpose mainly of financing temporary requirements in anticipation of tax collections or bond sales. But in periods of war and acute depression, when the financial requirements of government expand with great rapidity, the expansion of commercial bank credit is on a tremendous scale. Such is the case at the present time.

How Public Needs Are Financed

"The purchase of government securities by individuals and by the commercial banks provides the government with the means by which its manifold activities are financed. The Treasury obtains the funds, with which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other government credit agencies finance their operations, through the sale of securities, largely to commercial banks. These funds, in turn, have gone to the assistance of distressed banks and other financial institutions, to aid industrial and agricultural enterprises, to finance new public and private capital construction, and to provide relief to the unemployed."

Dr. Moulton declared that it is not true that the world depression was caused by a breakdown of the American banking system "which did not, in fact, occur until the depression had been under way for more than three years." He added:

"Nor is it true that the world maladjustments existing in 1929 can be explained simply by undue extensions of commercial banking credit in the preceding years. These maladjustments involved world agricultural, industrial, commercial and financial relations."

FARM ACCOUNTING REVEALS LESSONS

Principles of Sound Business Management That Apply to All Farms

An analysis made of detailed records kept by a group of Wisconsin farms revealed several important lessons and the principles of sound business management derived from them apply equally well to other farms, says an article in the Bulletin of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association. The article says: "Investment costs, including interest, depreciation, repairs, taxes and insurance, are approximately two-thirds of all farm costs. Furthermore, these costs are largely independent of the production program of the farm."

"This means that if a farmer cuts his production of crops or livestock, he increases his investment costs per unit of product produced, as a smaller number of units must then carry as large an expense load as before. This illustrates the importance, from the standpoint of costs, of operating a farm at or near capacity."

"Investment mistakes are more costly than many others because they cannot easily be corrected. If a farmer pays too much for his farm, his investment costs will be abnormally high as long as he owns it. If he constructs a $4,000 barn, when a $2,000 barn would have served his purpose, he will have excessive barn costs, year after year, during the entire service life of the structure."

"This emphasizes the importance of a knowledge of investment values and the specific investment requirements of individual farms."

Determining Real or False Economies

"In working for greater economy, it is essential that the farm manager be able to distinguish between a real and a false saving. This can be done only through a careful estimate of the contribution to income, over a period of time, of each item of expenditure. Only if more is saved in expense than will be lost in income, can a contemplated cut in expense be designated as a real saving."

"For example, dropping dairy herd improvement work may result in a yearly expense reduction. The question to decide is what effect the dropping of this work will have on the present and future income from the dairy herd. If the estimated loss in livestock receipts due to a lowered efficiency in feeding and breeding is greater than the original saving, then it would obviously be a false economy. "Substantial savings can be effected on many farms through the use of more home grown garden produce and farm cured meats. Why pay out money for products of this kind that can be produced much cheaper at home? The money saved from the family food budget can be used for the purchase of many things that will make the farm home a more comfortable and pleasant place to live."

Well, Folks—As the weather grows warmer, so does politics, and especially at Washington, D. C., where congressmen are busy squabbling over the election funds reportedly given them as WPA grants and other funds. It looks like it will be "A hot time in the old country at election time!"

But instead of worrying about this and that, including the heat, take home a quart or more of our ice cream and really refresh yourself. Not only good, but good for you.

Now that the salad season is on, try one made with our delicious cottage cheese. Is it very good when perched atop a ring of pineapple?

Try these items. See for yourself.

Must Have But One Card

More than one social security account number will cause delay in the payment of benefits to an unemployed worker, Supt. L. B. Lyman said in a warning issued to Idaho workers.

Records of individual workers' earnings from which weekly benefits will be computed when payments begin next September, are identified by a comparison of name and social security account number. If a worker uses more than one number, he may in some instances lose his benefits. In all cases there will be delay until the accounts can be properly reconciled.

In some cases, Mr. Lyman said: "Workers have applied for a new number to replace a lost social security card. The worker should have applied for a duplicate of his original number." As a solution, Mr. Lyman offered the following advice: "Contact your present employer to determine which of your numbers he is using in reporting your wage earnings to the Idaho Unemployment Compensation Division. All social security cards other than the one being currently used by your employer should be mailed to the Social Security Board, Baltimore, Maryland, with an explanation that they represent duplicate numbers and the reason why they were issued. In each case the number that you have retained should be indicated upon the card mailed in for cancellation. Use one number only, no matter where you work or how many times you change jobs. This will eliminate future trouble and delay."
