Smaller offerings by growers as market prices of corn and wheat continued below government loan basis, announceprice adjustments to those complying with allotments in 1939 agri cultural program and a more active inquiry from millers and other domestic buyers, were the principal strengthening influences. Prospects of abundant supplies in relation to prospective requirements continued to be the dominant influence in the general wheat situation. United States stocks of old. wheat carried over from last season. were nearly double those of a year ago and amounted to 154,072,000 bushels. These stocks compare with, a revised figure of 83,214,000 bushels on July 1, 1937, and are the largest since 1934. Included in July 1, 1938 carryover, were 59,258,000 bushels on farms; 31,833,000 bushels in country elevators and mills; 22,190,000 bush els in commercial stocks and 40,-791,000 bushels in merchant mills. Carryover stocks of wheat in Canada at the close of the season July 31, were about a third smaller than a year ago and were estimated at 23,411,000 bushels, compared with 32,938,000 bushels a year ago. Adding carryover to 1938 production as estimated from conditions at the first of August, would give a total North American supply of around 300,000,000 bushels larger than last, year. Threshing returns indicate good crops in important producing areas in Europe. The French harvest is nearing completion and trade estibefore the opening day, Mr. Lyle mates place production at 335 to will be at the school building on 370 million bushels. Prospects for the new wheat quite favorable in Argentine and have improved during the past month in Australia as a result of beneficial moisture. Shipments have Argentine and remaining stocks available for export at the middle of August totaled only about 29 million bushels. This compared with the middle of August through the remainder of the season last year. Australian shipments continued relatively large with over 104 million bushels shipped January to the middle of August compared with 79: million for the same period last year. Around 35 million bushels of Australian wheat are still available for export or carryover compared with 29 million bushels shipped out from the middle of August through December, 1937. Domestic cash wheat markets gained more than futures with some increase in premiums as a result of a more active inquiry from millers. With current market prices below Federal loan values, offerings from growers continued to decrease. The announcement of public conservation and price adjustment payments to those complying with acreage allotments of the 1939 agricultural program, also tended to stimulate demand. Wheat growers who com-ply with the 1939 acreage allotments will qualify for advantages of other phases of the program, including conservation payments, price adjustment ,eligibility for loans on wheat if a loan program is in effect next year and renewal of crop in-

Marketings of winter wheat dropped off sharply with a total of only 3,122 cars received at the principal terminals compared with 5,304 cars for the previous week. The protein of the wheat tested at Kansas City was slightly better than for the previous week. Cash prices were up 2½c to 3½c per bushel with No. 2 hard winter quoted at Kansas City August 19 at 641/4 c to 68c. No. 4 red winter sold at 59 1/2c per bushel. Politics vs. Personality

American voters continue to conound those who try to simplify the results of current primary elections into some pro- or anti-New Deal meaning. The latest instances come from Ohio and Idaho. In Ohio, Senator Bulkley, carrying a presidential indorsement, turned in a smashing victory over former Governor White Mr. Bulkley still has a formidable hurdle to take in the November elec-toin where he will be opposed by a vigorous young Republican, Robert A. > Actually contradictory and diverse political currents are moving over the face of America today. Some day soon alert observers will perceive that the New Deal is no longer an adequate political symbol. It has come to represent a personality rather than a clear-cut program. It is neither definite enough nor large enough to cover the many social and governmental aspirations of the American people. Those who oppose the President as well as those who support him would do well to recognize that measures designed to meet fundamental needs are sounder political bases than any personality.— Christian Science Monitor.

ANNUAL HEREFORD TOUR SLATED FOR SEPTEMBER

Plans are being made for the third annual Hereford tour to be conducted September 9 and 10 through southwestern Washington and the adjoining section of Idaho, G. T. Mc-Alexander, county agent, announces. Although a definite itinerary is not yet complete, tenative plans include visits to 15 or 16 outstanding.

clude visits to 15 or 16 outstanding Hereford herds. Luncheon will be served to the entire group each day, and Friday evening the delegation will meet at Lewiston for their annual steak dinner.

Considerable interest has been shown in past tours, and stockmen shown in past tours, and stockmen from northwestern Oregon, northern Idaho and all parts of eastern Washington are planning to attend the tour this year, according to Mr. McAlexander.

By attending the tour, stockmen will have the opportunity of seeing more than 1,000 head of purebred Hereford cattle, and some of the outstanding Hereford sires of the northwest.

The tour will start at the University of Idaho at 8:00 o'clock the morning of September 9, and from Moscow will travel to Pullman where stockmen will observe the stock of the State College of Washington. The tour will then proceed through Whitman and Garfield counties, ending at Lewiston the evening of the first day.

The second day will be spent in visiting herds in Idaho, Lewis and Nez Perce counties of Idaho.

Children Have Feet Badly Burned

In way of cleaning up the town of Juliaetta, the marshal had been burning out some old stumps. They had eveidently burned even with or below the ground level, but were still on fire. While playing Saturday the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Leavitt (name not known) stepped in the smoldering ashes. stepped in the smoldering ashes, burning his feet quite badly. How-ever, he happened to have on sandays and the burns were not so severe as those received on Tuesday by the little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. DePeel, who was barefoot and stepped into one of the burning depressions, burning her feet quite badly, the skin peeling from them as she ran to her home.

the same as was indicated a month ago. If a crop of this size is harvested it would be about 4 per cent less than last year's crop but about 25 per cent larger than the 1927-36 average production. The early crop which usually amounts to around 5 to 10 per cent of Idaho's total potato crop was larger this year than usual. The quality, however, was not unusually good with considerable damage from black rot reported. The late crop, as a whole, developed well during the month and except in a few scattered areas was in very good condition on August 1 with good yields expected.

My church calls me to her heart.

She asks my service and my loyalty. She has a right to ask it! I will help her to do for others what she has done for me. In this place in which I live, I will help her keep aflame and aloft the torch of a living faith.

-William Henry Boddy.

The most of us frankly admit the place of the church in the community life and are therefore ready to do our share when its needs are brought to our attention.

After all, someone does have to do the work which makes the church effective. Among the primary needs of any church that is really to serve its community is that more or less intangible thing we call moral support-and financial support. Moral support is really more important by far than financial but without money no organization is able to function in these times. We, as the finance committee, feel that when the people understand these needs, there will be adequate response to meet them. We ask, therefore, that you plase study the budget printed below and be prepared to receive those who call on you with understanding. Insurance ....
