Bean Conditions

Very favorable growing conditions prevailed for beans during July. The August 1 estimate is for 14,252,000 bags, or five per cent more than the July 1 estimate and the third largest crop on record (only in 1935 and 1937 were the bean crops larger). Although most of the important bean producing sections shared in starting a health contest between this increase, the greatest improvement occurred in Michigan and New York, where the August 1 estimate is 11 per cent above the July 1 there are now 37 enrolled. GRAIN MARKET FIRMER DUE TO EUROPEAN CONDITIONS

Domestic grain markets strengthened materially during the week end-ing September 17, influenced principally by an increased European inquiry resulting from the stress of political affairs in central Europe, states the Weekly Grain Market Review of the U.S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Wheat prices advanced sharply from recent low levels but lost part of the gain later when the European tension eased. Feed grains also turned firmer, influenced by the strength in wheat and lighter market receipts.

European political affairs were-the dominant influence in the firmer wheat situation since harvests confirm abundant supplies. The Argentine surplus available for export is officially estimated at 24,726,000-bushels and shipments during the week totaled over a million bushels. Australian shipments amounted to 1,363,000 bushels and Black Sea shipments were nearly two million bushels including 1,304,000 from Russia. Russian offers were again. Last week grades were received withdrawn, according to trade refrom the University of Idaho for students enrolled in that institution from Kendrick. The Kendrick High school average was above the average of the university. Wheat production in the Orient were the standards sufficiently high from present indications will be to receive full acceditation with no about 5 per cent under last year's small outturn and about 23 per cent below average. Reduced plantings in China and unfavorable weather in Japan and Manchuria and parts of north China were principally responsible for the smaller harvest, which is now estimated at 696 million bushels compared with approximately 732 million bushels last year. Production in China is placed at 616 million bushels, in Japan at about 45 million and in Manchuria at about 35 million bushels. Domestic cash wheat strengthened materially but for most classes of wheat gains were not so great as in foreign markets. Spring heat prices in Minneapolis advanced about 3 1/2 c per bushel, while Winnipeg prices were up 5c. Marketings dropped off rather sharply with receipts totaling 1,644 cars at Minneapolis and 1,965 cars at Duluth. Milling inquiry was fairly active and cash premiums advanced about 1c per bushel. The trading basis was changed to the December future and at the close of the market on September 16, No. 1 dark northern was quoted at 74c to 75c.

Increased export inquiry and the smaller country marketings were a strengthening influence at Winnipeg, where No. 2 Manitoba northern was quoted at the close of the week at 60c.

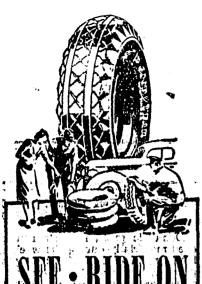

Winter wheat markets advanced 2c to 3c per bushel as marketings dropped off and demand continued fairly active. Receipts at principal winter wheat terminals totaled only 1,742 cars compared with 2,098 for the previous week and 1,960 for the corresponding week last year. Dissatisfaction with current market prices, inclement weather, and fall seeding operations were factors in the reduced movement. Milling inquiry was only moderate but export business was reported somewhat larger as a result of the government export program. At the close of the week No. 2 hard winter was quoted at Kansas City at 64c to 68c. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted nominally at been studying the costs and methods 64c to 65½c. The Chicago market was firmer with a generally good demand, particularly for choice wheat, which was sparingly offered. No. 2 soft red winter was quoted September 16 at 68c to 70c and No. 2 hard winter at 67½c to 69½c per bushel. At St. Louis No. 2 red winter was quoted at 69c to 70c and No. 2 hard winter at 70c per bushel. Arrivals were of only fair quality and went mostly to elevator buyers. Mills were purchasing the higher grades.

Intermountain and Pacific Coast markets also turned firmer with purchases by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation of southern Idaho and Utah wheat at loan values, a strengthening influence in addition to the general situation. Government purchases were on the basis of 50c per bushel at shipping points for No. 1 soft and western white and No. 2 hard winter. Ogden mills advance quotations 1c to 6c per bushel and at the close of the market September 16, were bidding 44c for No. 2 soft and hard white and 48c for No. 2 dark hard winter FOB Utah-Idaho common points. Mills at Denver were bidding 49c per bushel FOB Colorado country points for No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring.

Cash prices at Portland advanced 1/2 c to 21/2 c per bushel, with No. 1 soft white quoted at the close of the week at 65½c, western white at 641/2c, western red at 631/2c and hard red winter at 65c. DEEP TILLAGE SHOULD BE PRACTICED IN THE FALL

The best time to practice deep tillage is in the fall when the soil is dry and quite hard, suggest Dr. H. W. E. Larson, extension soils specialist with the Idaho agricul-tural extension service. He explains that at this season the maximum amount of shattering of the hardpan layer takes place,

Dr. Larson points out that deep tillage is needed on irrigated lands where slick spots occur, on dryland farms and on all lands containing impervious subsoils in addition to

Benefits to be realized from deep tillage, according to the specialist, are improved root penetration, increased water storage capacity of the soil and reduction of erosion. A satisfactory deep tillage implement can be made from an old auto axle or plow beam. It is generally not necessary to go as deep as 15 or 16 inches, according to Larson, since satisfactory work can be performed by only going 10 to 13 inches in most fields.

The amount of power required to the state the soil to a depth of 16

Before beginning any deep tillage,

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks-A lot of water has flown under the bridges since last week, and troubled are the brows of men who carry the affairs of state in Europe. It looks like France and England have sold the Czechs down the river to Hitler, and it's "Double, double, toil and trouble" in central Europe. Well, I guess that's really none of our affair. We should worry what happens in Europe, we've got troubles in our own land.

This effort of F. D. R.'s to "purge" the Democratic party always reminds us of Russia and Germany. They're always having a party "purge" over there. The only difference seems to be that they line them up and shoot 'em on that side of the water. The attempted results are the same, remove the fellow from power that you don't like—the ways of doing it are different.
