SIX UNITS PROPOSED FOR LATAH COUNTY SCHOOLS

Savings in school costs, rising in

The survey was undertaken some two years ago as a WPA white collar propect. A separate report has been prepared for each county and indings. The reports by counties tress more largely the possibilities of efficiency and economy through combinations; the state report deals with the effects of the state equalization fund,

These county reports are to be used as a basis for arguments to various school district trustees as to the benefits of consolidation in lower taxes and increased efficiency, in a series of meetings planned by Condie for the winter months.

The main report provides for the establishment of administrative areas that roughly correspond to the greatly enlarged school districts, and attendance areas, an attendance area being the district in which a school, either elementary or high, is located. The 88 districts in Latah county, under this plan, would be reorganized into six administrative units.

provide less efficient administration. "Only two districts in the county, Moscow and Potlatch," says the re-"provide educational opporfunities that meet and excel standards for Idaho."

This finding was in the face of the discovery that whereas the average assessed valuation for the state as a whole which could be levied on for the support of one student was $359.16, that Latah county figures showed $4,004.63, making it one of the higher counties in the state.

Thus, it is pointed out, the extremely large number of tiny districts has led to a big school tax to Moscow Tuesday evening, where Don Jones; Hampshire ewe, tricts has led to a big school tax to Moscow Tuesday evening, where Don Jones; Hampshire ewe, tricts has led to a big school tax bill ($317,923.33 in 1935-1936) with- Mr. Lyle held a special football out providing in most districts, the school. minimum standard of education. Here's what the committee recommends to improve that situation: Consolidation into one administrative unit, with one high school, and one elementary school, Genesee, South Thorn Creek, Aurora, Pine Grove, Blaine, Thorn Creek, Lenville, Aspendale, Smith, Lone Star, Ebel, Gray Eagle, Jain, and districts No. 6, No. 7 and No. 29 in Nez Perce

As a sample of possible economies to be effected, the survey has analyzed the results of this combination. In 1936-1937 the proposed consolidation districts spent $40,605.01, while under tentative figures for consolidation the total expense would be only $21,988. This would make it possible to reduce the levy from 7.52 mills to 5.39 mills. This one consolidation is the only one for which detailed estimates have been made, but the system given in the survey can be applied to other districts of the county.

The second unit would consist of Kendrick, Fix Ridge, American ridge, Steele, Taney, Yellow Rose, Crescent, Gold Hill, Boulder Creek, Elwood, Pine Creek, Fern Hill; Long Meadow, Union, Cedar Ridge and Juliaetta. The high schools at Juliaetta and Kendrick would be combined. Elementary attendance units would be maintained at Kendrick and Juliaetta, provided climatic and road conditions do not make transportation unsafe.

The third unit would be composed of Stanford, Pine Hill, Buckhorn, Bear Creek, Avon, Helmer, Deary, Liberty, District No. 87 and Bovill. There would be one high school attendance unit. All grade children could be transported to Deary for an elementary unit. The fourth district would have one high school unit, with center at Troy, and probably as many grade students as could be transported would also center at Troy. The district would include Randall Flat, Cornwall, Troy, Olson, Burnt Ridge, Miller, Pleasant, Mig Meadow, Pleasant Hill, Golden Shield, Spring Valley, Little Bear ridge and White

District No. 5 would include Moscow, Evergreen, Naylor, Viola. No. 13, Mount Tomer, Flanagan, Hunt, Mountain View, Pleasant Valley, Union, Ferndell and Mountain Gem. A high school at Moscow would care for that district and as many children as could safely be transported to Moscow. The sixth district would consist of all units in the northwestern corner of the county, with one high school attendance area. Potlatch, as the center, would provide for all students that could safely be trans-Borled to that point Four districts, said the report, Mrs. O.E. Havens and L. D. Crock-

Foreign wheat markets fluctuated with day to day changes in the European political situation. At the close of the market September 23, prices were slightly lower than a week earlier. The Winnipeg market was barely steady as a result of larger offerings despite a sharp increase in export business. No. 73 Manitoba northern declined to 60c and No. 3 Canadian western durum to 48%c per bushel. At Liverpool United States Pacific white wheat was quoted at 73c, Australian wheat at 80 ½c, best grades of Russian wheat at 68c, No. 3 Canadian Manitoba at 78½c. Southern hemisphere shipments were relatively small, with only 878,000 bushels from Argentina and 1,685,000 from Australia.

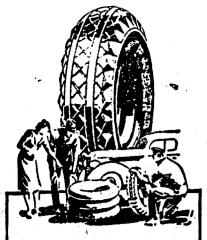

Export sales of wheat by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation from the inaugeration of the plan to September 15, totaled 2,841,000 bushels, according to an announcement September 24. Flour sales totaled 145,000 barrels, the equivalent of 688,021 bushels wheat. Sales of wheat averaged 11c per bushel and flour about 40c per barrel under the purchase price. Domestic wheat markets were somewhat irregular during the past week, with cash markets generally following fluctuations in futures very closely. At Portland, cash wheat prices at the close of the period ranged from 1/2c. lower to 1c higher on various classes as compared with a week ago. Wheat receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals dropped sharply to only 447 cars, reflecting principally short marketings by growers at country points. Export demand was fair, with sales of around 12,000 tons reported made to the United Kingdom and the Continent during the week, with both white and red classes included in the sales. Mill demand was fair, with buying generally confined to special lots for immediate needs, and market offerings were generally sufficient for current needs of buyers. Flour sales to the Philippines under the indemnity plan totaled 21,036 barrels for the week, and sales under the general subsidy totaled 20,739 barrels, with the Philippine indemnity payment at the close of the period at 35c and worldwide from Pacific Coast ports at 50c per barrel. At Portland, at the close of the period, soft white wheat was quoted at 65c, western white at 6416c, western red at 63c, hard white (baart) at 67c and hard red winter at 66c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, sacked. Public Camp Wreckers

Every autumn season a small group of backwoods burglars, operating under the guise of big-game hunters, systematically break in and rob isolated national forest guard stations of bedding, cooking equipment and rations, which to rangers on winter patrol, may mean the difference between life and death.

Commenting on these depredations, Regional Forester Evan W. Kelley states that locks, doors and windows of public outposts are often maliciously smashed to gain entry, and in some instances, even the batteries for the telephones are stolen. When leg-weary patrolmen reach the stations during the severe winters, they find nothing but the wreckage and cabins drifted full of Another form of destruction to public property, less serious from a life-and-death standpoint but far more costly to the taxpaver occurs at public campgrounds in the national forests. Here, where more than a million summer visitors enjoy themselves every vacation season, small groups of hunters make their headquarters and wreck havoc on the surroundings. Rustic tables and benches, fences and outbuildings constructed at considerable public expense are wantonly hacked to pieces and used for firewood to keen rowdy parties warm. Trees and shrubs planted for landscaping are axe-marked, broken and trampled until killed. Campground and direcsigns are used for target practic and shot to pieces.

Expenditure of taxpayers' money to employ guards for the protection of Forest Service buildings and campgrounds through the hunting season has not previously been considered practical, says Mr. Kellev but as investments in these develop ments increase and with a continuation of present destruction, these measures may have to be resorted to Local forest officers will bend every effort toward apprehending hunting thieves and campground destroyers and local sportsmen are especially urged to keep a lookout on forest developments that mean much to the people of their community.

Improvements At Station The Jay Stout Service Station is completing the installation of a new and modern rest room in the building, all making for the comfort of the traveling public.

BUSINESS TRENDS!

In this modern day business conditions are more critical than ever. Business practices have been growing for years to a more complete centralization. We now business functions being taken care of in one establishwhich a few years ago would have taken several firms to care for. In this centralization credits have also come under close scrutiny. The time, expense and trouble which each business formerly went to in insuring against credit losses have resulted in there being a central credit bureau handling these matters at far less expense. This has re-sulted in a material gain for the purchaser. There being less overhead charged on each piece of merchandise sold, because of virtually no credit losses, naturally, the customers money goes further.

We find ourselves in a very peculiar position. We are essentally a cash business. There has been as yet, no cream customer of ours, whom we have told to wait till next week for payment. On the other hand, and meaning only to extend friendly accom-modation and not long-term credit, we find that, especially due to our locker boxes, we have a good many hundreds of dollars on our books.

Now, therefore, we take this opportunity to advise one and all, that—beginning October 1, 1938, our business will be handled somewhat differently than in the past. Beginning on that date, we are placing all locker boxes on a strictly cash in advance basis. We also request that all delinquent box rent be taken up at once. After that date, if any delinquent hox holder finds one of our padlocks on their locker, that will be our reminder of a pastdue account.

On the same date our milk route is going to be covered on a strictly milk-ticket basis. These tickets will be for sale both in our office and on the route. We request a ticket and a bottle for each bottle of milk or cream delivered. At the same time, due to savings which this will make for us in handling our business, the price of milk will be reduced to
