KENDRICK, LATAH COUNTY, IDAHO, THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1939

NO. 13

WHAT HAPPENED HERE 20 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

The Gazette of 20 years ago this week contains a very interesting article from Jim Winegardner (Sardine) under dates of Feb. 9, 1919, that time stationed at Base Camp B, Squadron No. 1, 7000 A. E. F. "I came down to Nide, rather expecting to find a banana climate. Well, there were oranges on the trees, all right, but they were cold season—when they were out of the sun. I am having a great time and everything is fine here. Friday I took a trip to Monte Carlo and the Italian Sea. We transferred into Italy at half a mile by automobile. It was a wonderful trip and we were real sights to see." There were much more of Mr. Winegardner's letter, which we would like to put in time and space forbid.

Items—Mrs. J. K. O'Connell of Moscow received the following message from her son Edgar, who has been with the 74th Engineering in France: "I have just returned and am glad to feel the good old U. S. A. under my feet."

A short letter from J. H. Heath, 21st Co., 20th Engineering in France, was also printed in this issue, which says, in part: "Under the sun you know that only one day ago today was the last time I stood on American soil (rather in Montana). We left Camp Amerlison University on Feb. 15, about 11:30. We were loaded on our boat Hoboken, where we lay in the harbor until about midnight of the 17th. Then came our trip, which I will never forget. We had a surprise on March 1st, when we were attacked by submarines at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and were sure some excitement was in store. We arrived in port at night about dark on March 17th."

London News Items—Everybody was off the road Sunday when Mr. H. H. H. stepped team. There is sure to be a class to him now. Fred Crook is also the proud owner of a new team. I. E. Foster wears a smile that won't come off over the value of a couple of pure blood Hampshire lambs, and A. Allen is wearing the same kind of a smile over the arrival of a pair of white-twin calves. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Langdon returned to the ridge Sunday. Mrs. Langdon met him at camp Lewis, where he was discharged from army service, and they have been visiting relatives on the east end of Juliaetta.

Big Bear Ridge—Alfred S. Nelson and sister, Miss Stell, who are attending the U. of I., are spending their vacation at home. . . . Leonard Fairfield has rented the W. Reid farm. . . . Rufus May and family are moving from the Pine Creek bench to the A. Hooker farm, which they have rented. . . . Miss Evelyn Tesch and Johanna Hooker are Sunday guests at the home of N. Rogstad. . . . The roads and fields are drying nicely and if this weather continues plowing will soon begin.

Leland News—Reports say that Paul Craig has a good well of water in his place south of town, at a depth of a little over 200 feet. . . . The Red Cross is soliciting clothing and such other articles as may be helpful to the refugees of the war-ridden districts of Europe.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Methodist church, held last Monday night, it was decided to go ahead with building operations at once. Although the contract has not been let nor the plans not as yet definitely decided upon, it was agreed to make the church a modern structure in every way. A full basement will be one of the features of the new building and it is quite likely that a furnace will be installed. It will be a credit to the town, when completed.

Attend F. F. A. Banquet at Lapwai—Don Lyle and Kenneth Wolfe, president of Kendrick F. F. A. chapter, were invited guests at the Lapwai future Farmers' banquet last Friday evening. The banquet was prepared under direction of Miss Kathryn Emery and the Home Ec. girls of the high school. Entertainment was furnished by F. F. A. boys and other high school students.

In the near future Lapwai is to be a guests for other F. F. A. chapters of the northern part of the state in a field day. The purpose is to bring farm boys together for friendly competition.

To Show Fat Stock at Spokane

Hereford steers owned by Ray Jones, Don Jones and Chas. Bowers are taking on bloom and finish for the Spokane show in May. These animals are out of high grade cattle, raised by Galloway Bros. These cattle will furnish plenty of competition to other competitors, if they do as well in the future as they have in the past.

Among the boys competing for prize money in the fat hog classes will be Kenneth Woody, Kenneth Wolfe and Harvey Thornton. . . . The Kendrick chapter would also like also to secure a class of fat lambs for exhibition.

He Cut Down The Old Pine Tree

N. E. Ware brought to the Gazette office the other day somewhat of a freak in wood, in that the tree he cut was something like three feet in diameter and showed 114 rings at the butt. In splitting the blocks he came across a pitch pocket near the heart that distinctly showed axe marks, showing that someone, many years ago had already chopped into the tree for some cause or other, the pitch pocket being 70 rings from the bark of the tree.

Potlatch Creek High Saturday

Potlatch creek was the highest Saturday evening that it has been for many months, with the murky waters carrying a good deal of drift material, especially dead snags from the upper country.

Bear creek was the high tributary of the stream, with the water lapping the ties on two of the railroad bridges between Troy and Kendrick. The section put on an all-night patrol along the track, but no damage was done by the water.

The creek subsided considerably by Sunday morning, following a cool night, and since that time has dropped by degrees. On Thursday morning it was nearly back to its usual spring condition.

It was estimated Saturday night that it could carry some four to five feet more height before lapping the ties on the railroad embankment about town.

Bear Ridge Evening School

Spring is being manifested on Bear ridge by several of the farmers ordering or buying baby chicks for the future farm flock.

Log Drive Middle of April

Hundreds of people who never saw a log drive are looking forward to the middle of April, when the annual drive of Potlatch Forests, Inc., is expected to take place on the Clearwater river.

Students of Washington State College and the University of Idaho schools of forestry are waiting the event and if they can match wits with the weather man, will be on hand "somewhere along the river" when the logs come in.

High water last week brought in a large number of logs, but it is believed there is approximately 24 million feet of timber still in the North Fork of the Clearwater, "winged" up on banks, gravel bars and shoals. These will be driven down by a crew of men under the leadership of E. L. Edelblute, river foreman. The men will live on wagnigans, huge log rafts on which tents are pitched, during the drive.

Cool weather, which followed an early spring heat wave in this section of the country, is holding back the snow in the higher altitudes and it is expected there will not be sufficient high water until about the middle of April.

GRAIN MARKETS DULL AND FEATURELESS DURING WEEK

Grain markets were dull and nearly featureless during the week ending March 24, states the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics in the Weekly Grain Market Review. Wheat prices declined fractionally with some increases in receipts, a slow milling demand and lack of important export trade. Feed grains maintained a steady tone as offerings remained light and somewhat below trade needs. Feeders and industries provided the principal market outlet, since export inquiry continued negligible.

No new developments of importance occurred in the wheat situation during the week. The domestic winter wheat crop made generally favorable progress with beneficial rains received in parts of the belt. Dry weather was favorable for the crop in the Ohio valley, where the ground recently has been too wet for proper growth. Wheat was showing green throughout most of the Ohio valley as far north as Iowa and Nebraska. In the areas west of the Mississippi river, rain was still needed, especially in Oklahoma and in western portions of Texas. In the northwestern plains and the Pacific Northwest, the outlook continued mostly favorable.

Cold weather delayed spring planting in portions of Europe but melting snow allayed fears of drought in the Balkan countries. The weather turned somewhat warmer in France but sleet stopped field work in Russia. Taken altogether, the winter wheat outlook was fair but less promising, if anything. Harvesting was making rapid progress in India and trade reports indicated that the crop would be substantially above earlier expectations.

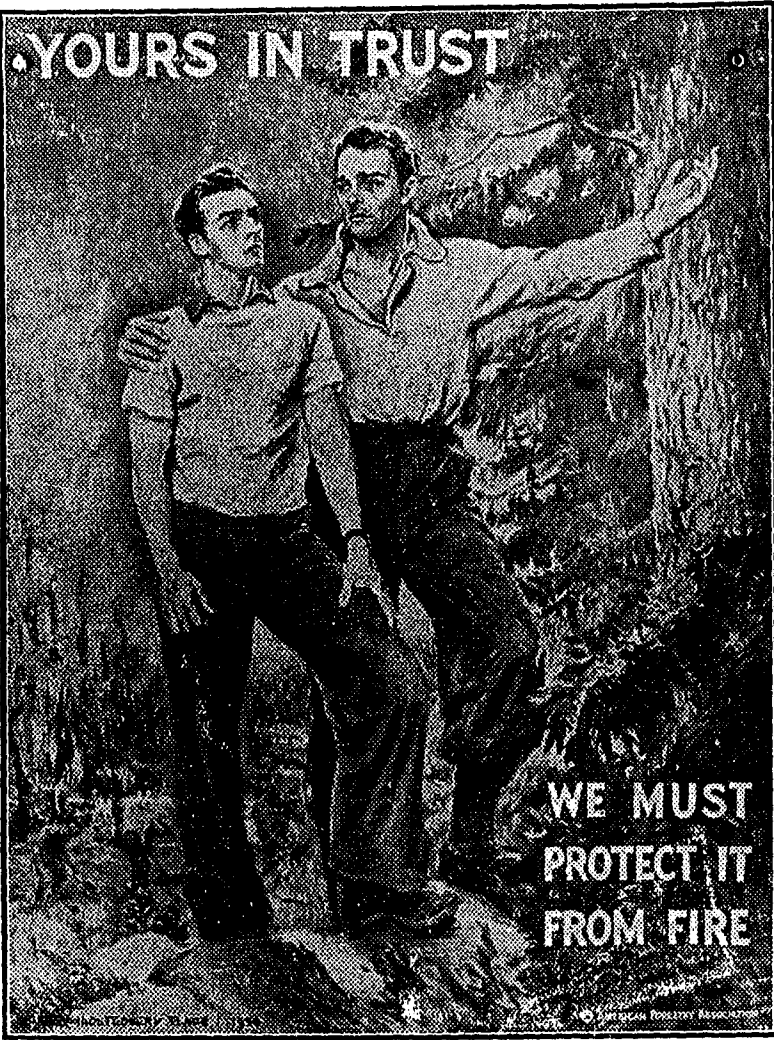

World trade continued dull with a slow movement from exporting countries and a light demand from European consuming areas. Argentine shipments totaled slightly over 2,500,000 bushels and Australian shipments slightly less than 2,250,000 bushels. Black Sea shipments dropped to 632,000 bushels, including 120,000 from Russia. North American shipments in recent weeks have ranged between four and five million bushels with overseas shipments from the first of August through the middle of March totaling 161 million bushels for the corresponding months last season. Stocks on ocean passage totaled around 33 million bushels. Substantial deliveries on previous sales, together with a slow demand from European millers, were a weakening influence at Liverpool and prices tended downward. Greece was reported to be negotiating for about 1,250,000 bushels of Roumanian wheat. Spain for about 3,500,000 bushels from the same country and Italy for about 3,250,000 bushels in equal quantities from Roumania, Hungary and Yugoslavia. Roumanian wheat remained relatively cheap and was quoted at the close of the week at 58½c for Argentine Rosafe, 62½c for Australian wheat afloat and 74½c for No. 3 Canadian Manitoba from Atlantic ports.

Domestic wheat markets declined fractionally, influenced by slightly larger market receipts and slow demand. Export business was dull, although around 10,000 tons were reported sold by Portland exporters to Shanghai. Sales of wheat and flour for export from the first of July to March 18, totaled approximately 91,600,000 bushels according to the Division of Marketing and Exporting Agreements. Of this quantity, the equivalent of 77 million bushels have been exported. Of the total, sales of approximately 67,300,000 bushels have been assisted by the Federal Export program. Sales of wheat by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation under the Federal program have totaled about 54,380,000 bushels and an indemnity has been paid on the export of about 12,980,000 bushels of wheat in the form of flour. At the close of the week, the payment on flour on the Pacific coast was 90c per barrel to the Philippines, $1.15 to China and 95c per barrel to other countries. At Gulf and Atlantic ports, the payment was $1.20 per barrel. Cargo freight rates on wheat from Gulf ports to Europe were reduced during the week about 3c per bushel to 90½c.

Marketings of winter wheat increased materially with a total of 1,810 cars received at the principal central western markets compared with 1,460 for the previous week.

NEW WARPLANE VERITABLE FLYING ENGINE OF DEATH

A new fighting plane that can take off and climb out of sight in 90 seconds was offered by the Curtiss-Wright corporation as a potential defense against high flying bombers.

They are the CW21's meat. It can train its twin machine guns on the average attacking bomber within three minutes after it is reported.

The new defense plane is called an "interceptor" of bombing planes. To intercept them it must quickly reach their altitudes. It does, 5,000 feet in 1.6 minutes, 10,000 in 2.8, 15,000 in 4.2 and 20,000 in less than six minutes.

Military experts report most of the bombings in Spain and China from around 7,000 feet, very few as high as 20,000.

To chase bombers and their protecting pursuit ships, the CW21 can cruise at better than 300 miles an hour at 17,500 feet, and easily climbs to 35,000 feet with its two-speed supercharger and oxygen for the pilot.

These figures aren't mere designer's hopes. They are taken from tests since the plane was completed some weeks ago. It was flown very recently for and by U. S. army flight experts at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio. Captain Hans Reuten, Swiss military pilot, also took a trial spin in it during a visit here.

The ship is relatively tiny, a hornet in appearance. With a full load it weighs slightly more than 4000 pounds. It is only 35 feet across its low-slung wings and 26.5 feet from cowl to tail.

The landing wheels retract into streamlined nacelles. On the 96 gallons its gasoline tanks hold it can cruise 600 miles at normal speed.

Air travelers used to luxury would sniff at the stern pilot compartment of the single seater. It is all business. But the fighting pilot could be thankful for the hard seat, it is armor plate, protecting him from behind and below, the most common directions from which death strikes war flyers.

Unlike the hornet it resembles, the CW21's sting is in its nose, where twin machine guns, one of .30 calibre and one of .50 calibre, are synchronized to fire through the three-bladed constant-speed propeller.

That propeller, plus duplex superchargers on the 600-horsepower Wright cyclone motor, make for the phenomenal rate of climb.

Instead of whirling faster after the plane gathers speed and the pull is lighter, the propeller adjusts itself to take a bigger "bite" of air and thus gives a heavier thrust.

"It's stripped down to a pair of wings, a man and two machine-guns behind a powerful motor," commented C. W. France, vice president of Curtiss-Wright's St. Louis factory.

"The Interceptor is built for one purpose, the destruction of bombing planes, and we think it will do the job."

Tests compare favorably with all known data on foreign military craft, airport attaches here declared. Its swift ascent surpasses most.

Still, flyers asserted, the new plane is as maneuverable as the ordinary army training plane, and can land safely with the motor dead.

IDAHO'S STRICT MOTOR VEHICLE FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY LAW — EFFECTIVE MAY 2, 1939

YOU CAN'T AFFORD — to have your Operator's License and Registration Certificate suspended. This new law is strict — designed to give protection and redress to victims of accidents, who may now secure judgment against any driver for injuries to others, or for damage to property of others. If you are brought into Court and judgment rendered against you, exactly thirty days are provided for you to pay that final judgment.

MANDATORY SUSPENSION of license follows if you fail or are unable to comply with the provisions of this law. It may stop you from ever driving again. Your License or Certificate of Registration will not be reinstated until the claim is satisfied and evidence furnished as to future financial responsibility. This proof may be in the nature of an $11,000 secured bond, or by a certificate from any insurance company that it has issued a prescribed form of $5,000 to $10,000 bodily injury and $1,000 property damage insurance.

and 1,230 a year ago. More favorable prospects for the new crop and the desire of growers to market remaining stocks before spring work became pressing, were apparently responsible for increased receipts. Arrivals at spring wheat markets were also large for this time of year with a total of 820 cars at Minneapolis and Duluth. Marketings in the Pacific Northwest were smaller and receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals dropped to 476 cars.

Cash wheat markets in the Pacific Northwest were firm and higher during the past week, with prices at Portland at the close of the week showing advances of 1/4c to 2c per bushel compared with the previous week. A good steady mill demand during the period as a result of recent export flour sales, together with an announcement that further purchases by the Government would be made in this area, were principal strengthening market influences. On March 24, at Portland, western white, soft white and western red were all quoted at 68 1/2c, with ordinary protein hard red winter at 67 1/2c and ordinary protein hard white (baart) at 69c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade, in bulk.

Offerings of cash wheat by growers at country points were only moderate to light and current market supplies were readily absorbed, principally by millers but with exporters also in the market.

The San Francisco wheat market was only moderately active but maintained a steady tone during the past week as light offerings tended to offset the only fair demand. Prices were largely unchanged compared with a week ago. With a good, soaking rain, urgently needed in practically all central California wheat producing areas, growers were holding remaining old crop supplies very firmly awaiting more certain new crop prospects. Because of the sharply reduced California acreage this season and relatively poor condition of the current crop, returns this season promise to be materially lighter than in other years. Local offerings of wheat suitable for milling purposes were especially light. Steady purchases of Intermountain wheats both for milling and feeding tended to offset the small local supplies. Bay Region mills reported only a fair demand for flour and entered the wheat market for only light scattered amounts. Purchasing for feeding purposes however, were of steady volume with additional gains in feed barley prices a strengthening feature in the wheat situation.

On March 24, at San Francisco, California grown No. 1 hard white wheat was quoted at $1.30, with No. 1 soft white and No. 1 white club at $1.27 1/2 per 100, sacked. Washington-Oregon No. 2 soft white and No. 2 western white were quoted at $1.30 per 100, bulk. Idaho-Utah No. 2 dark hard winter, 13 per cent protein was quoted at $1.35 per 100, bulk, and No. 2 hard winter 12 per cent protein at $1.28 1/2 per 100, bulk.

Pacific Northwest barley markets continued to display a steady tone during the past week and prices at the close of the period were quoted unchanged from other recent weeks. Moderate but steady inquiry for feeding barley was reflected in receipts of 10 cars of barley at Portland and 6 cars at Seattle. On March 23, No. 2 bright western barley weighing 45 pounds was quoted at Portland at $1.20 per 100 sacked basis. Malting quality Hannchen barley continued firm at the higher prices registered last week, being quoted at $1.30 per 100, basis FOB cars Willamette valley or Klamath Falls shipping points, sacked or bulk. Occasional cars continued to move to Midwestern malsters at these prices but remaining supplies are reported small and firmly held.

Oats markets in the Pacific Northwest developed a slightly weaker tone during the past week and prices at Portland declined slightly as compared with the previous week. On March 23, No. 2 white oats were quoted at Portland at $1.37 1/2 per 100 sacked. No. 2 gray oats remained nominal. The weaker tone in the oats market situation here was attributed principally to offerings of feeding quality oats from Montana into this area. Seven cars of oats were received at Portland during the week with 5 cars at Seattle.

Iodine Deficiency Idaho Problem
Idaho is located in a belt which is on the border line of being definitely deficient in iodine, reports Dr. W. M. Beeson of the animal husbandry department at the University of Idaho.

Reports frequently come to the experiment station from communities over the state relating symptoms which definitely indicate iodine deficiency. They have come from areas adjacent to the Snake river in southern Idaho, and especially from the Salmon City and Challis areas. Occasional reports come from northern counties.

Lack of iodine causes what is known as "big-neck" in calves, lambs and pigs. A lack of iodine also causes a hairless condition in pigs. With horses the only symptoms may be extreme weakness at birth of foal.

According to Dr. Beeson, this trouble can easily be prevented. First, feed iodized stock salt. Or make up a home mixture of one ounce of potassium iodide and 300 pounds of common salt. Feeding either of these iodine preparations will prevent iodine deficiency.

ATTY. GENERAL TAYLOR WRITES ON MORTGAGES

In connection with the report of the Joint Committee to investigate school endowment funds, there has been considerable publicity at variance with the facts. Last week's issue of the Idaho Pioneer quoted the report as saying that there would be a loss of $50,000 to the fund if the Supreme Court should uphold the decision of Judge Winstead, which says that the statute of limitations runs against such mortgages. The committee is reported as saying that there are 17 mortgages which would be outlawed if Winstead is right.

I desire to make no criticism of the committee. At the hearing which I attended the members of the committee were uniformly courteous and respectful and showed a sincere desire to do their work honestly and efficiently. But the statement that 17 mortgages—or any at all—received in my office are outlawed even under Winstead's decision, is untrue. Possibly because of the short time at its disposal, the committee could not make the necessary investigation to determine the facts, but the record was before them and clearly and unmistakably shows that not a single mortgage outlawed after reaching my office; and that all mortgages coming to my office are either not yet due or have been renewed by payments or extension agreements made less than five years ago.

The O. F. Peterson loan which Winstead held to be outlawed, fell due April 28, 1929, and interest was paid on December 16, 1932. It was received in the Attorney General's office December 5, 1938, so that at the time of its reception by the attorney general, there had elapsed five years, eleven months and nineteen days since the last payment. If Winstead's theory is right, then this particular mortgage had been outlawed eleven months and 19 days before I received it. Consequently the implied criticism of the Committee that I had "permitted it to outlaw" is completely refuted by the record itself, which was in the hands of the Committee. All endowment fund mortgages are kept in the Department of Public Investments until transmitted to the Attorney General's office and the Attorney General knows nothing about them until they are laid upon his desk.—J. W. Taylor, Attorney General.

Planning Board Be Highway
Use of the state planning as an advisory unit of the highway bureau was proposed by Governor Bottolfo. The chief executive said determined that the planning with its present tie-up with federal water resources board be maintained efficiently. He said he probably would next week new members board.

A survey of Idaho's farm-roads needs probably one of the first tasks assigned the new board, he said. Spend your dollars with merchants and they will come back to you.

New Rear Door Safety Catch

Many sedan drivers, whose minds are never completely at ease when children are alone in the rear of the car, will welcome a new rear door safety catch which has just been made available to Chevrolet owners. The tiny device is simple and inconspicuous but effectively prevents the opening of the rear door from the inside until the front door has been opened. The little unit is fastened with a set screw to the edge of the front door but has no effect on its operation nor upon the closing of the rear door from the outside.

"Men With Wings"

"Men With Wings," a romantic story of aviation and the personal story of two men and a woman. There is considerable excitement and much entertainment in this splendid aviation picture, which was taken in natural color. It is the story on one side of a love that was won, appreciated yet deserted, to end tragically when the love of a greater adventure could not be denied. On the other hand, it is the story of a love that always was.

All who are interested in flying and a splendid story, will have an opportunity to witness it at the Kendrick Theatre this coming Friday and Saturday nights.

There will also be the usual shorts to complete the evening's entertainment.

EDITORIAL
WELL FOLKS — Looks more than ever like spring has come—paint is being applied by the gallon — gardens are being made — farmers are busy getting their equipment in shape for spring work — cars are being washed — and dozens of other signs of spring are in the air — but don't let "spring fever" get the better of your judgment. Don't overlook the income your cows are capable of bringing you. Green grass means more cream — cash in on it. Bring it to us. Get cash — no waiting, no fuss, no bother.

Doctor: "Your husband must have absolute quiet. Here is a sleeping draught."
Patients Wife: "And when do I give it to him?"
Doctor: "You don't give it to him—you take it yourself!"

No matter what your lot in life, be sure you build a service station on it.

Beware when a suit fits like the paper on the wall. Remember, you've never seen a wall bend, brother.

A man who had not been very good during his earthly life died and went below. As soon as he got to the nether regions he began to give orders for changing the position of the furnaces, and commenced bossing the imps around. One of them reported to Satan how the newcomer was acting. "Say," said Satan to him, "you act as though you owned the place." "Sure," said the man. "My wife gave it to me while I was on earth."
