"Kentucky"
Practically everyone has heard of the famed Kentucky Derby—one of the classics of the Bluegrass state. It is going to be seen right on the screen here in Kendrick this coming Friday and Saturday nights, with Loretta Young, one of the screen beauties, and Richard Green in the leading roles. Beautiful and chivalrous men, and magnificent thoroughbreds—a great drama of the famed Bluegrass state—in full technicolor. It's a picture that you'll not soon forget. A love, all fire and pride that springs from the hearts of all true Kentuckians, whether it be about horses or their beautiful women.

There will be the regular shorts and comedies to fill out an evening's entertainment.

Well, if there is another World War and Uncle Sam gets into it, it will be necessary for congress to raise the legal debt limit considerably higher than forty-five billions.

KNOT-FREE LUMBER HURRIED BY PRUNING

Nature takes centuries to produce knot-free lumber but man has come to her aid and hurried up the process. Studies at the U. S. Forest Products laboratory, Madison, Wis., of the formation of knots in pine trees have shown that early pruning is one of the best and most practical ways of helping nature produce knot-free wood. Successful pruning of farm woodlands depends, among other things, upon the size of the tree, the size of the branches, and the rate of diameter growth of the trunk. Naturally the fastest healing woods take place when the pruning scars are small and when the tree is growing rapidly in diameter. Confining the knotty wood to a small core at the center of the tree produces the greater amount of clear lumber from the log.

In dense woodlands, thinning to give the trees more light and space aids in more rapid growth and promotes quick healing of pruning wounds. A limb cut smoothly and close to the trunk heals over much sooner than does a stub left by knocking off the branch with a club. Splinters and long stubs add to the time required for the wound to grow over, and if accompanied by the formation of pitch pockets, bark enclosure, or decay will retard the production of clear lumber for many years. The limbs, whether living or dead, should be removed from the trunk up to a distance of at least 16 feet with a saw when the trees are not more than four inches in diameter.

In parts of the United States, particularly in the South, there are extensive second-growth forests, the future value of which could be greatly increased as a result of proper pruning. In trees pruned when small the extent of knots in each log will be definitely known and the grade of lumber to be obtained can be determined in advance of cutting as well as the value of the lumber the trees will produce.

IN THE HOLE

All "the tricks of the trade" are apparently known to Mexico, which imposes a 12 per cent production tax; has a brand new 5.7 per cent export tax, and levels federal taxes and local taxes on silver. Before silver gets away from the country it is loaded with a total of 20 per cent direct gross taxes, according to Frank L. Kluckhohn of the New York Times. These taxes are paid by Americans.

Then over the border the silver flows, and goes to be unloaded onto Uncle Sam, who pays 42 1/2 cents an ounce for it. By hooks and crooks the Mexican government gets practically the 64.64 price that the President has proclaimed for direct relief to seven American silver producing states, where the population depends upon their mining industry, just as farmers do on their crops.

Universal, leading newspaper in Mexico City makes the statement that silver and gold purchases by the United States increased from 48 million dollars in the first eight months of 1937 to 70 million in the corresponding months of 1938. And then comes the joker, as Universal adds: "If we had not had this fortunate increase we would have felt in all its magnitude, the decline in petroleum exports." The United States has made no positive demands upon Mexico to return the stolen American, British and Dutch oil properties—even though Mexico's leading newspaper admits that Mexico collects most of its prosperity out of "Softy" Uncle Sam. But, Mexico has a new bag of tricks, and at present is unloading stolen petroleum in Germany, Italy and other foreign countries, with consequent losses of trade for the United States.

The United States government owns over 2,250,000,000 ounces of silver.

Most of this silver came from outside of our country. Our mints, treasury vaults and other places of safety cannot find room for it.

So, there is a hole in the ground at West Point. That hole is lined with steel and concrete. The mammoth "box" cost over $500,000. Inside there is interred thousands of tons of silver for which the transportation alone amounts to about $150,000. The United States government is in a hole, and Mexico did it. The surplus silver is in the West Point hole in the ground.

WHEAT MARKETS REMAIN WEAK—FEED GRAINS LOWER

Wheat prices exceeded trade needs. Most classes of trade awaiting more settled market conditions to replenish stocks. Bay region mills generally showed interest in high protein offerings and availability of relatively cheap barley restricted takings of wheat by poultry feeders.

At Kansas City, choice milling types showing medium or higher protein ruled steady to 4½¢ higher for the week despite the loss in futures. Ordinary protein samples displayed weakness and closed 3¢ to 4¢ lower. Arrivals of wheat at Kansas City increased to 983 cars, approximately 10 per cent of which consisted of new crop wheat from Oklahoma and southern Kansas.

Barley markets in the Pacific Northwest were very quiet with demand and offerings light. Seven cars of barley were received at Portland with the same amount at Seattle during the past seven days, going principally to mixed feed manufacturers. On June 15, No. 2 bright western barley weighing 45 lbs. was quoted at Portland at $1.30 per 100, sacked, while eastern Washington white barley was quoted at Seattle on the same date at $1.25 per 100 sacked. Supplies of barley in Northwestern areas are reported very light with resulting small market offerings by growers.

Mixers and feeders were reported substituting other grains for barley where possible and this tended to make for slow demand although the light current market offerings were readily absorbed. No interest was shown in malting types of barley in this area, with supplies reported practically depleted and prices only nominal.

Oats markets of the Pacific Northwest held steady and unchanged compared with the previous week. Eight cars of oats were received at Portland while none arrived at Seattle during the period. Demand at terminals was not urgent but the light market offerings were readily taken at steady prices. Remaining supplies of oats in Northwest producing areas were readily taken at steady prices. Remaining supplies of oats in Northwest producing areas are reported very light with only occasional cars being offered at country points. On June 15, No. 2 white oats were being quoted at Portland at $1.45 per 100, sacked, with No. 2 gray oats nominal.

WE NEED MORE CONTENTED COWS
HAROLD THOMAS, Editor

EDITORIAL

WELL, FOLKS—Seems like it just can't quit raining these days—but oh, boy, the pastures are sure growing green—and if could just take care of all the pasture that is now on hand, cream would be easy to get—and, about all there is to it now is to bring old Bossy in from the pasture and watch the big round dollars flow!

You know, we pay cash for your cream, "on the spot" and it makes us feel good to get it and it should make you feel good to get the money it brings in. Just try us on your next "batch". You know you can go right over to one of the sears and get just what you want. Sell your cream at home and buy at home. Try our butter—"Pride O' The Pot-latch", we know you will like it. "latch", we know you will like it.

Just because a man says he "accumulated a healthy pile of chips" doesn't mean that he was cutting kindling.

John Smith was reading statistics in the newspaper: "In New York a child is born every two minutes."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed Mrs. Smith, "and we had planned on staying there two weeks."

Asked to pray for warm weather so that her grandmother's rheumatism might be cured, a six-year-old knelt and said: "Oh, Lord, please make it hot for grandma."

THUMB NAIL RESUMES OF IDAHO HISTORY

By Glenn Balch

no unauthorized latecomers horned in on the profits.

The trip was a trying one for the unfortunate prospector. The "committee" kept insisting upon haste, very likely prodded Wilson with gun muzzles if he showed inclination to dilly-dally. And, to further strain the atmosphere, Wilson either could not or would not, point out the spot. He said he couldn't.

The "committee" did not believe his excuse and made no bones about it. They cajoled him; they threatened him; they promised him dire punishment unless he took them directly and at once to the place where he got his nuggets. Wilson insisted that he couldn't.

Finally, in high anger, the "committee" took the prospector back to the Mission and reported to the anxious and hopeful assembly. A howl of outraged indignation went up from the men at this incredible injustice that was being perpetrated upon them. They were certain that Wilson was unwilling to share good fortune with his fellow men. So aroused were they that straightway they made preparations to hang Wilson, and, so the story goes, only interference by the Mission Fathers prevented them from carrying out their intention.

Thus ended the Wilson "excitement". The men disbanded, went home disgruntled, cursing the country as barren. Subsequently the Coeur d'Alene region developed into one of the nation's greatest mining centers, and the industry in Idaho today is surpassed only by agriculture in economic importance.

TEAKEAN GOSSIP

We are having plenty of rain now—more than we like, as it isn't so good for hay-making.

Most of the folks from this community attended the Children's Day program at Cavendish last Sunday. The children did extra well and some special music was given. A bountiful lunch was served at noon and a good sermon delivered in the afternoon.

Mrs. Ellen Coe is conducting a vacation Bible school at the Brethren church.

Elwood Brock came home last Friday and is now looking for another job.

Mrs. Carroll Groseclose is spending awhile with her father, Gus Harless. She is doing the cooking while he puts up hay.

The weather has not been very favorable for picking strawberries, but the pickers manage to work between showers and keep some ahead for the buyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schleifer and little son Milo have moved to Headquarters, where Fred is working.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Groseclose spent the week-end in Orofino visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Olsen.

Sam Harp has been suffering with several severe carbuncles.

Our telephone lines are practically useless now. A double line is being built, but is not yet completed.

True To Type

New York World's Fair heads have gone to considerable trouble to arrange a series of educational exhibits. But the average visitor's panoramic view will still be a fan dancer, a roller coaster and a hot-dog stand.

If you can look your family straight in the eye, you're living right.

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR MISS ELMA JONES

Miss Elma Jones, whose marriage to Everett Hamond took place Friday evening, was the inspiration for a gay party given in her honor by Mrs. Thorvald Nelson at her home on Big Bear ridge on Thursday afternoon of last week. The time for this occasion was announced for 2:00 o'clock p. m. and friends of the guest of honor were not tardy in their response.

The entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Claude Jones and included vocal numbers by Helen and Betty Halseth, accompanied by Mrs. Oscar Slind. A flower guessing game followed, after which a messenger (Little Roger Jones) arrived and drove his gaily decorated toy automobile into the living room, presenting Miss Jones with miscellaneous gifts. At the close of the afternoon delicious refreshments were served from a lace-covered table, artistically arranged with centerpiece of pink roses and pink tapers in crystal holders. Mrs. Halvor Lien presided at the coffee urn.

The occasion was one that will long be remembered by the guests as well as Miss Jones and hostess.

Guests included Mesdames Halvor Lien, Oscar Slind, Chas. Bowers, Albert Nelson, Claude Jones, Ernest Jones, H. Kortemeier, Grant Clemmehagen, R. H. Ramey, W. A. Watts, O. E. Havens, Frank Abrams, Lou Meyers, Roy Emmett and W. Jones. Too True!

When you pull down the town in which you live you are doing yourself an injury, and when you do all you can to build up your town you are indirectly building up your own interests. It is a good plan to banish the idea that all good things are to be found in some other place than your home town. When your vision gets as narrow as that it is a good investment in contentment to take a little trip and get your eyes opened. Give your town a boost every time the opportunity offers. You can be certain that it will do you no harm and cost you nothing. Above all, patronize your home institutions—including the printing office.

KENDRICK BESTS GRANGEVILLE IN SUNDAY'S GAME

The Kendrick baseball team pulled what seemed to be a lost cause, out of the fire last Sunday when they went to bat in the last of the 8th inning with a game against Grangeville, played at Juliaetta.

Kendrick was trailing 2 to 5 with the head of the batting list up, when they started pounding Pitcher Scharnhorst for 5 hits, connected with 2 errors, which netted the Kendrick lads 7 runs, to put the game on ice 9 to 5.

Jump led off with a hit, Ziemann was safe on an error, Ramey wiggled to drive in Jump and Ziemann scored on Millard's sacrifice fly to centerfield. Briscoe batted for Flesham and was safe on an error. Kanikkeberg sacrificed the boys along and Henry drove out a 2-bagger to score Ramey and Briscoe. R. Armitage drew a base on balls and Jump got his second hit of the inning to score Briscoe and Armitage. Ziemann struck out to end the inning and Kendrick's scoring. Jump with 3 for 5, Ramey with 3 for 4, and Henry with 2 for 4, led the hitting parade.

Henry allowed 8 hits and struck out 5. Scharnhorst allowed 10 hits and struck out five. Heath, who relieved him in the 8th, allowed 1 hit and struck out 1.

Line-up for Kendrick was: Ross Armitage ss, Jump lf, Ziemann c, Ramey rf, Millard 1st and cf, Flesham cf, J. Armitage 2d, Brammer ss and cf, Henry p, Briscoe, Leavitt and Kanikkeberg, subs.

The line-up for Grangeville: Heath c, Earp ss, Haas 1st senger cf, Scharnhorst p, Kurdy 2d, Wessel rf, White ss.

All eyes will be on Kendrick when they meet the Lapwai Indians at the Juliaetta diamond next at 2 p. m. If Lapwai will have undisputed possession of first place in the Valley race Lewis-Clark baseball league. Kendrick wins they will play with Lapwai and possibly two teams for that first place will necessitate a play-off to decide the winner, who will play other first place teams in the Prairie and Hill division. Dan Ziemann says he will play Lefty Kanikkeberg against Lapwai team. "Kanik" has and lost no games this season when his old soupbone is right hard man to beat.

In addition to "Kanik," Kendrick will have John Henry, who has and lost 3 and W. Brammer has lost 1 and won none, in the line-up.

Girl Rescued From Furnace
Helen Ricfie Baird, two-year-old Seattle girl, recently lifted the ing over the furnace and accidentally slid down the hole into the jacket surrounding the furnace. The mother telephoned Phillips, operator of a nearby Cross Highway first aid station. Phillips sped to the home, hole in the pipe and liberated girl just as firemen arrived with a hand. The furnace was low, wise the child might have been seriously burned.
