Many Not Yet Signed

According to a notice received from H. F. Koster, chairman of the Latah County A. C. A., many farmers have not yet signed Form WR-406, 1940 Farm Plan and Estimate Sheet. The completion and signing of Form WR-406 in no way obligates farmers to carry out the provisions of the 1940 Agricultural Conservation program, but merely makes farmers eligible to participate in any part of the 1940 program.

If this Form is not signed by May 1940, your farm will not be checked for compliance.

A member of the Kendrick community committee will be at the City Hall, Saturday, March 9, from 9:00 a. m. till 4:00 p. m. to assist with these plan sheets.

For the Deary district the same hours will prevail with the member being at the Grange Hall on the same date.

Good Crowd At Juliaetta

Wednesday evening of last week the ladies of the Kendrick P. T. A. took their skit, "The Spinsters Convention," to Juliaetta, presenting it there under the auspices of the Juliaetta P. T. A. There was a rather small audience in attendance, due to a large degree to bad weather and roads, but those present seemed to enjoy the presentation, and the Kendrick P. T. A. is $7.20 richer for their effort.

Commercial Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club will be held in the banquet room of Fraternal Temple at 6:30 p. m. next Monday evening, with dinner served promptly at 6:30.

Come on out and take part in these meetings, it doesn't matter whether you are a member or not, come on out and meet with the club.

Motor Deaths Decline

With an all-time February low of two motor-vehicle deaths, Idaho for the second month maintains her lead over Utah in the contest for greater street and highway safety, says Harry M. Rayner, commissioner of law enforcement.

During February Utah killed 11 and Idaho two, while in January the toll was Utah 16 and Idaho 14. Total motor vehicle deaths for the two months stand: Utah 27, Idaho 16.

Utah slipped, and Idaho gained in about the same proportion. Last year Utah's deaths were 27 and Idaho's 21, so there were seven more killed in Utah and five less in Idaho.

Work on the Texas ridge WPA road project was resumed Tuesday morning according to available reports, but with only a partial crew yet in use.

Work was suspended some ten days ago, due to the continuous rains making a quagmire of the hillside on which the work was being done.

This project, when completed, will be of real benefit to the Texas ridge and Kendrick sections, and it is to be hoped that weather conditions will permit its early completion.

Home Accidents Caused By Haste

Physical factors are not the only causes of home accidents.

Hurry, inattention, carelessness, plus the attitude that "it can't happen here," are important factors in making the home second only to the street and highways as an accident center.

Even after basements and yards have been cleared of rubbish, injury-producing "obstructions" removed from stairs and floors, and defective chimneys or flues repaired, the home can remain an unsafe place in which to live.

Falls, burns, bruises and electric shocks may mean that a house is full of unremoved hazards, but they may also mean that little attention has been paid to avoiding such hazards as do exist. Like the motorist who knows certain road stretches are dangerous and drives accordingly, parents and children can learn to keep out of trouble zones.

It is doubtful if a house can ever be made entirely accident-proof, no matter how painstakingly material hazards are eliminated. But the adult as well as the youngster can contribute to accident avoidance by reasonable habits of caution and an intelligent appreciation of possible risk. Part of safety can be built into a structure, but the rest must be built into the mind.

Urging exceptional care to ward off fires, now that fireplaces are in use in many homes is another safety step, and, contrary to popular opinion, the bathroom with its slippery tub is not the most dangerous place at home. Nearly one out of four home accidents are reported to occur on stairs and steps, with the yard and kitchen closely following.

Putting On Entertainment

On Tuesday, March 12, the Kendrick Bean Growers have a day of free entertainment, including lunch, lined up for all who care to attend.

Elsewhere will be found their announcement ad. of this day.

He Certainly Can

The waiter was taking the order of a pretty girl who was accompanied by a pudgy middle-aged man. When she did not mention the lobster included in the meal she had ordered, he asked: "And how about the lobster?"

To which the fair lady replied: "Oh, he can order whatever he likes." —Exchange.

Back To School

Supt. Mason, who has been confined to his bed with the flu the past five days, returned to his school Wednesday morning.

WHEAT MARKET LOWER WITH LIMITED DEMAND

Wheat markets turned weaker and most of the recent advance was lost during the week ended March 1, states the Agricultural Marketing Service in the Weekly Grain Market Review. Sharply increased receipts as a result of larger marketings of redeemed loan wheat, together with a limited domestic demand and lack of export outlet were the principal weakening influences since little change occurred in crop prospects. Oats and barley were down about 1c per bushel, influenced principally by the decline in wheat.

With most of the winter wheat still dormant practically no change occurred in crop prospects. In the domestic winter wheat belt subsoil moisture is now generally ample in both Oklahoma and Kansas except in southwestern Kansas. Top soil is wet in Nebraska and recent alternate thawing and freezing has been favorable to wheat. The crop in northern sections of the eastern portion of the belt was amply protected by snow during the recent cold weather and in the southern Ohio valley. Prospects remained generally good in the Pacific Northwest. The extent of winter damage is still uncertain in Europe but some injury has been reported in the Danubian countries, especially in Hungary and Roumania. The season has been generally favorable in North Africa where the area sown to wheat is expected to exceed the very large seedings of last year. Rains have been beneficial to the Indian crop and trade reports indicate an outlook equal to or somewhat better than last season.

Wheat futures in Pacific Northwestern markets declined about 2½c and cash wheat 2c to 3c per bushel during the past week, influenced partly by declines in important midwestern markets but also reflected slow demand from all classes of buyers. Cash wheat quotations at Portland on March 1 were: Soft white, 83c, western white 82½c, western red 82c and hard red winter at 82c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade in bulk.

Wheat receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals for the week reflected a fairly good selling by growers during the past week and totaled 844 cars. Indemnity payments on flour for export were $1.00 to the Philippines until March 6, and $1.15 per barrel after March 6. To China and Hong Kong the indemnity payment was $1.40 per barrel. Fair sales of flour to the Philippines were reported during the week.

Recent sales of wheat for rail shipment to the midwest were sharply curtailed during the past week with the narrowing of the spread between markets. Some sales of flour to North Atlantic ports were reported made during the period. However, sales of wheat to Vladivostok were reported as stopped for the time being, following sales of several cargoes to that area during recent weeks. The general wheat market situation in the Pacific Northwest was dull during most of the period with mills and exporters not actively in the market, except for special lots and with growers offering somewhat less freely. Wheat millfeeds markets continued unsettled at the close of the week.

Cash wheat prices at Seattle on March 1, were western white and western red, at 82½c, and hard red winter also priced at 82½c.

The San Francisco wheat market turned somewhat weaker during the past week, influenced principally by declines in other markets and slow local demand.

Arrivals of wheat at Kansas City increased to 639 cars, or over twice the previous week's volume, as the wheat redeemed from Federal loans came to market in quantities. The total in nine important midwestern winter wheat markets was 1,755 cars as compared with 1,245 the previous week and 1,342 cars a year ago.

Demand for cash wheat at Minneapolis was poor during the past week. With receipts much larger and demand slow the general situation was quite drabby. Minneapolis received 1,732 cars of all classes of wheat while Duluth unloaded 455 cars.

Visit Miss Grim

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schupfer and family drove to Clarkston Sunday, where they called on Miss Grim, who has been suffering from heart trouble as a result of the flu. She will be in bed at least another week, and it is doubtful if she will be able to return to her position this term.

News Very Scarce

Try as hard as we might, this week, it just seems as if local news was impossible to find. No one had been anywhere or done anything. Our correspondents, however, appeared to have more events of their neighborhood to chronicle than was obtainable in town.

Better Do Your Part
When a state police officer stops you on street or highway and writes a little orange-colored ticket, he has started something you had better finish, warns the bureau of safety.

If you will read the ticket, you will find you have five days in which to correct the infraction cited; and the department must receive from an accredited garage the post-card portion of the ticket, stating the necessary repairs have been made.

Many motorists slip the ticket in the pocket, intending to give it attention when convenient. They are very surprised to receive a notice later calling attention to the delinquency.

The thing that escapes attention is that these tickets are made a part of the operator's license record and may prove a silent but embarrassing witness later.

Old Santa Still Lives
Grover Whalen, president of the New York World Fair, returning from Europe says the skies are clouded and gloomy over there and that the "one bright star in a troubled and international sky" is the reciprocal tariff program of Secretary Hull. In short, it proves to the world that Santa Claus is still alive.

Boost for the home town—Kendrick. It is yours and mine.

"Stanley And Livingstone"

The offering at the Kendrick Theatre this coming week-end will be "Stanley And Livingstone," a picture founded on one of the greatest adventures of all time.

When James Gordon Bennett, publisher of the New York Herald, embarked his famous order "Find Livingstone," he started a history-making expedition that stood the world on its ears, and this famous story is now presented in film form — filmed in authentic jungle scenery, and presenting a cast consisting of Spencer Tracy, Nancy Kelly, Richard Greene, Walter Brennan, Charles Burn and Henry Hull.

This film is aflame with interest—not only to the lover of history and fact, but to the lover of stories.

In addition the usual shorts will be shown.

The average American citizen wishes that the C. I. O. stood "Cut It Out."

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks—Seems like the Indians and some of our local prognosticators have missed the weather changes by a lot — of course it is admitted we could still have cold weather — but that isn't at all likely. In fact, with squirrels out, buttercups in bloom everywhere, crocuses blooming in local gardens, and shrubs leafing out fast — it seems like spring is really here.

And folks—when spring really gets here, it's time to think about selling cream — for spring graas brings more of it — and cream is cash with us. We endeavor to give you real service — your cash and your can at the same time, and the can is steam sterilized and ready for instant use. You do not have to scrub or wash it to remove chemical tastes or odors.

Extract from the letter of a quick tempered business man: "My stenographer, being a lady, cannot transcribe what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot say it, but you, being neither, will doubtless understand what I mean."

"How'd you get along with your wife in that fight the other evening?"

"Aw, she came crawling to me on her knees."

"Yeah? What did she say?"

"Come out from under that bed, you coward!"

"What are you smiling at?"

asked Noah.

"I was just thinking," replied Japhet, "how lucky it was we could go ahead and build this ark without waiting for an appropriation from congress."

is not so very far away -- and it's time to think of fixing up your place.

With the approach of spring — and it's coming, even if it does seem a bit far away now — our thoughts naturally turn to "fixing up our places." Perhaps the fences need repairing, the barn needs paint — the house needs painting on the outside, and paint and varnish on the inside.

Don't wait until the last minute for these necessities — but come in and let us figure with you now — be ready to go when spring breaks.

See us for everything to "fix-up your place."

Idaho Largely Public Lands

Publicly owned land in Idaho comprises 74.3 per cent of the state area, leaving only 25.7 under private ownership.

Farm lands in Idaho make up 77.7 per cent of the state's area, three per cent irrigated and 74.7 per cent dry land. Other private owned lands in Idaho are divided as follows: Grazing, 8.9; waste, 5.6; mining, 1; corporate limits, 2; timber, 1.6; over, 1.8; and miscellaneous, 5.

The federal government holds 66.6 per cent of all land in Idaho. National forests account for 31.1 per cent and public domain for 35.5 per cent. The state of Idaho owns 6.3 per cent of the state's acreage; counties, 1.4 per cent; municipalities, .07 per cent; and other governmental units, .01 per cent.

These figures, and enough more to make an ordinary person dizzy are from "Basic Data for Land Classification," Bulletin No. 232 of the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station series, recently summarized by Dr. P. A. Eke, station economist.

The statistical material presented in the bulletin accounts for the ownership of practically every acre of the 53,319,679 within the state of Idaho. The study originally was made in 44 separate county pamphlets as a WPA project, primarily for data on tax delinquency, which Dr. Eke has included in his bulletin summary.
