WHAT HAPPENED HERE 20 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

Last Monday evening, April 12, 1920, the Kendrick boosters gathered at the hotel to enjoy a banquet and to discuss anything that might be done for the welfare of the town and surrounding territory.

At the meeting, the problem of paving Kendrick's main street was brought up. This was a worn subject and did not attract more than the usual amount of attention until figures quoted by an engineer, who happened to be present, put the question in a favorable light that interested the audience.

The difference between paving with concrete and macadam was discussed and the difference in price was so strongly in favor of macadam that it was practically a foregone conclusion that macadam was the logical surface to be used.

It was outlined at the meeting that the surfacing of Main street from one end of town to the other was an important step forward and that the greatest step forward Kendrick has ever undertaken will be a wonderful improvement to the town and will result in increased interest in road construction throughout the Potlatch country.

Deputy Sheriff L. G. Peterson was in Kendrick last Friday to attend the meeting of the Presbyterian church members, held in the evening in conversation with Mr. Peterson the writer discovered that he is a member of almost every lodge or secret order in existence. Just how he keeps from mixing the grand halibut, grips, passwords, etc., is a mystery. Following is a list of lodges of which he is a member: Eastern Star, Rebekah, Pythian, Sisters Elks, Masons, Oddfellows, Woodmen of the World, Modern Woodmen of the Knights of Phthias, Scottish Rite, Shrine, D. O. K. K. I. O. O. F., and many others.

Mr. Peterson went to Nezperce and other neighboring points Monday to spend the week looking after business matters for his company. The shortage of feed is a really serious matter in this community. Last week there were farmers in the vicinity of town who had no more grain enough hay to last one day longer—and there wasn't a bale to be had at any of the warehouse. Shipments are coming in every day but the hay is taken in very short time. The unusually long winter has caused the shortage of feed.

Payments totalling $277,650.46 were made to farmers in this county to help them pay the expense of carrying out village and seeding practices to conserve and build fertility on their farms.

The completion of the 1939 farm program has been accomplished three to six months earlier than the 1938 program was wound up last year. More than three-fourths of the payments in Idaho were made before the end of the year and practically all of them before the 1940 conservation practices were started.

High school students, their parents and other residents of Kendrick are interested in knowing more about the work of the University of Idaho. They have been invited to its first All-University day, to be held Saturday, May 4.

Bear Ridge Evening School

Chief Fire Warden A. B. Curtis talked to the people of the Bear Ridge community Thursday evening about the possibilities of forming a volunteer protective fire district for that area. As the plans are now being formulated no definite information can be obtained but it is hoped to have a deputy fire warden for this district during the hazardous season. The state fire control association will also furnish fire fighting equipment, such as shovels and axes, to be in charge of some reliable person in the community, so that in case of fire this equipment can be obtained at a moment's notice, and steps taken toward immediate control of a blaze.

As soon as the weather permits plowing will commence in the Bear Ridge Community park.

JUNIOR PROM HELD FRIDAY EVENING—SUCCESS

Friday evening of last week, the annual Junior Prom was held in the Kendrick High school gymnasium, and was indeed a real social and financial success.

The interior of the big building carried out the theme of the evening, "Fairland," with hundreds of stars of all sizes suspended from the ceiling. All about the walls and sides of the balcony evergreen trees and boughs added to the beauty of the scene. In one corner was the punch "fountain." In another corner was a pretty little lake, with white swans upon its surface.

Even the dance programs carried out the idea, on the cover appeared a fairy castle, printed upon the nut brown surface, and on the interior, of snow white, were the program records for the evening. Each program was complete with its miniature pencil and cord.

The interior was illuminated by soft colored lights, while the orchestra was placed on the bough surrounded stage.

George F. Barnum led the grand march and was Master of Ceremonies for the evening.

In all it was indeed a very pleasant and pretty dance, and one on which the Junior class, Miss Graham, their advisor, and all others who had a hand in it are to be congratulated.

MR. AND MRS. AUG. O. WEGNER OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Aug. O. Wegner motored to their home near Pullman, Sunday, April 14th, to celebrate Mr. and Mrs. Wegner's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

All members of the bridal party were present; Mrs. Ned McCamutt (nee Harnish Wegner) of Spokane, and Mrs. Gus Kruger (nee Martha Silflow) of Cameron were bridesmaids; Herman Silflow and Aug. F. Wegner were "best men."

Mrs. M. Moore (nee Frieda Tiedes) of Kellogg and Mrs. Albert Gienn (nee Henrietta Blum) of Cameron were flower girls.

A very pleasant day was spent by all reminiscing on days gone by and enjoying the sumptuous repast served by the host and hostess. All departed promising to be back for the fiftieth anniversary.

We went back 25 years in our files and found the following account of the above-mentioned wedding, which we reproduce in full:

Wegner-Silflow—Miss Elsa Silflow, the beautiful eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Silflow, and August O. Wegner, a prosperous young farmer of Cameron, were united in marriage at the German Lutheran church at Cameron on Wednesday, April 14.

At 2:00 p. m. the wedding bells chimed their music into the clear air of the beautiful spring day, and as the organ, under the touch of Miss Martha Finkle, breathed forth the first strains of the wedding march, the two little flower girls, Henrietta Blum and Frieda Tiedes, led the bridal procession into the church, strewing flowers along the path.

Next came the bride, attended by her bridesmaids, Miss Martha Silflow and Miss Hannah Wegner. The groom and his best man, August F. Wegner and Herman Silflow, followed. The Rev. Geo. Finkle performed the beautiful ring ceremony. The choir rendered several selections.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST MARKETS SLIGHTLY LOWER

In contrast with the advances in central western and eastern markets, wheat prices in the Pacific Northwest were slightly lower during the week ending April 12, states the Agricultural Marketing Service in the Weekly Grain Market Review. This was the result of an only moderate to slow demand from all classes of buyers at coast terminals for cash offerings. Lack of water freight space for intercoastal movement of wheat and flour was an important factor ending to restrict sales from this area. Export demand also continued dull.

On April 12, at Portland, soft white, western white, western red and ordinary hard red winter wheat were all quoted at 83c per bushel, basis No. 1 grade in bulk. Wheat receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals for the week totaled 652 cars; indemnity prices of flour for export held unchanged at $1.15 to the Philippines and $1.40 per barrel to China and Hong Kong. Sales were reported of steady volume to the Philippines during the period.

The general wheat market situation in the Pacific Northwest continued to be featured by steady sales of both wheat and flour from eastern Oregon and Washington points to midwestern markets. The prevailing spread between prices at principal midwestern markets and the Northwest made these sales possible. Demand from California for Northwest wheat was only moderate and confined to scattered lots of high quality. At Seattle, April 12, western white, western red and hard winter wheat were quoted at 83c with hard white (baart) at 93 1/2c.

The general wheat market situation in the Pacific Northwest appears to be largely one of transportation. When water freight space is available, movement of both wheat and flour is possible, but this continues to be very scarce. Rail movement to the midwest, which is possible at the current spread in prices, has been of steady volume recently and is expected to continue if the present relationship in prices is maintained.

Central California marketings remained only moderate and failure to advance with other areas chiefly reflected slow local demand. Generally favorable new crop prospects in important California producing areas also tended to hold local price gains in check.

Wheat prices were 1c to 1 1/2c higher during the week at Chicago, influenced mainly by war news. A much improved demand for cash wheat prevailed at Minneapolis during the week. Flour demand broadened following European war developments. Receipts were somewhat smaller than during the previous week with Minneapolis arrivals of all classes totaling 1,533 cars while Duluth unloaded 528 cars. Movement of redeemed Federal loan wheat at Kansas City continued of good volume and wheat arrived at that market from Texas, intermediate territory and the Pacific Northwest. Arrivals totaled 656 cars compared with 712 the previous week.

On the basis of conditions as they were on April 1, the United States winter wheat crop is estimated at 626,215,000 bushels. This is around 137,216,000 bushels less than the 1939 crop. Although conditions improved generally since December, there is still uncertainty in small areas where the outcome of a considerable acreage of late sown, ungerminated and poorly rooted wheat is dependent upon the moisture supply received during the next few weeks. This situation is most acute in the heart of the hard winter wheat area centering in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma, with portions of Colorado and Texas.

Due to plentiful precipitation during the winter and early spring and mild winter temperatures, winter wheat prospects in Idaho have improved materially since last December 1. On the basis of condition of the crop on April 1, a crop of 16,238,000 bushels is in prospect. A crop of this size would be about 14 per cent larger than the average crop of the 10 years—1929-1938. The crop was reported in uniformly good condition, especially in north Idaho. Abandonment is expected to be light, except possibly in a few areas in southeast Idaho where some fields dried out badly following germination last fall. Wheat in many of the high elevation areas is still covered with snow, but growers expect the crop to be in good condition when the snow goes off.

N. P. PRESIDENT SAYS CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

With almost 11 per cent increase in operating revenues for the first two months of 1940, and crop conditions in the Pacific Northwest the best in many years, the Northern Pacific railway's traffic prospects are better than for 1939, President C. E. Denney told stockholders at their annual meeting in St. Paul.

Commenting on the agricultural outlook in Northern Pacific territory, Mr. Denney said: "Crop conditions in our west end territory (Washington, Idaho, Oregon and western Montana) including fruit, berries and truck crops, are the best in many years. There have been no damaging frosts, and frequent heavy rains this spring have built up moisture reserves. Since the main crop in that territory is winter wheat, adequate moisture supplies at this time virtually insure a normal or better crop. Crop observers state that such favorable prospects in this area have not been duplicated since 1932, and probably one would have to go back to the early 20's to find general conditions similarly promising."

East of the Continental divide widespread apprehension has been felt through the winter due to a lack of both surface and subsoil moisture, this being particularly true of eastern Montana and North Dakota. However, precipitation in the form of both snow or rain during late February and March has far exceeded that normally received, and at this time surface moisture supplies are adequate for planting and for early growth of grains and grasses. Irrigation water supplies are now deemed adequate on practically all projects in our territory.

"Livestock has wintered well and their numbers are substantially increased due to retention of breeding stock last year. Due to the failure of the winter wheat crop in the southwest, acreage limitations have been relaxed and farmers' intentions to plant" according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, indicate that acreage in small grains, notably wheat, will be increased from 8 to 12 per cent over last year in the states in our territory. Such increase in area, together with a favorable prospect for yield, accompanied by the anticipation of quite satisfactory prices, justifies a feeling of genuine optimism as to agricultural conditions in our territory this year."

THINK IT OVER

By F. R. Stevens

One hundred and sixty-five years ago, on April 19th, the stone walls along the road from Concord to Boston were lined with patriots, each with a flintlock gun and a determination to prevent the army of a dictatorial king from capturing Hancock and the patriot's powder stored at Concord.

Paul Revere had ridden during the night, and the response to his call showed that a new government, based on freedom of body and soul, was being born to take its place among the nations of the world.

The red coats shot their way through Lexington and on to Concord, then down a narrow lane fenced with stone walls and locust trees to the "rude bridge," where they met the "shot heard round the world." Dictatorship in America had received its first serious blow.

The lane with the stone walls and locusts are still there. On one side is the common grave of the hirelings of the king. The "rude bridge" is replaced by concrete and beyond it on a mound is a statue of a Minute Man, with his flintlock, facing the lane as if still watching for the enemy which would destroy his liberty.

Maine and Massachusetts observe April 19th as a holiday. Patriots' Day and lay aside their regular work to do honor to those humble patriots, known and unknown, who from beyond the bridge or from the stone walls struck their first blow for freedom. It would be well for patriots, who are enjoying this liberty throughout our whole nation to pause on that day for a moment and look with seeing eyes for the enemies that are creeping along the hedge and sneaking toward us in the dark.

Our present enemy is not here with gun and uniform. He is working in our midst, writing propaganda for newspapers and uttering gibberish speeches over the radio. Though directed by those in civilian clothes, the propagandist is still in the pay of foreign powers.

He creates strife between groups, and undermines our ideals. The old decadent forms of dictatorial governments, whether represented by a George III, or Hitler, or a Stalin, are dressed up until they look like something new and attractive.

Let us all join with Maine and Massachusetts on the 19th, while they do honor to the patriots of the past and then confidently face the future. Into this fog and confusion the spirit of Paul Revere will ride again. American patriots will always defend their liberties.

"Honeymoon in Ball"

The romance of the most exotic South Sea island, the glamour of the gay life on Fifth Avenue and the thrills of a new kind of love story have all been combined to bring to the screen "Honeymoon in Ball," starring Fred MacMurray and Madeline Carroll, one of Hollywood's favorite teams.

It tells a rapid-paced story of a brilliant career woman who hung out a "no help wanted" sign for prospective boy friends until a new kind of man came along to change her mind. Madeline plays the Fifth Avenue girl who tries to ban love from her life — Fred is the big obstacle to her plans.

This South Sea island picture will be seen at the Kendrick Theatre this week. In addition the regular shorts will be shown.

Poultry And Eggs

The monthly survey of the commercial hatcheries by the Agricultural Marketing Service indicates that there has been a decrease in the number of chicks hatched the first three months of this year as compared with the number hatched last year.
 Decreases in hatchings were probably due to the unfavorable feed-egg ratio and to the large stocks of eggs in hand January 1, and to the low prices which producers received during the last of December and early part of January.

Community Church Meeting

The last quarterly conference of the church year will be held on May 28, at 3:00 p. m., at the Community church.
 Looking forward to this meeting the Finance committee of the church finds itself faced with the necessity of raising approximately $474.00 to meet all outstanding obligations. Next week we hope to call on all friends of the church who will be interested in helping to raise this deficit.—The Finance Committee.

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks—Seems like the weather man just can't behave himself very long at a time. The egglet on the water faucet up there must be a bum one, and it just keeps dribbling along. However, we can't seem to remember a time when the alfalfa—or wheat, for that matter—looked any better at this time of year. A bit of sunshine is all that is needed to keep things on the "grow."

And speaking of growing—how about "growing" us just a bit more cream. We could certainly use it—and we can't help but believe you could use the money we will pay for it.

We want you to try our butter. Ask for "Fridge O' The Potatoes" Creamery butter at any of the local stores, or here. You are sure to enjoy its fresh, churned sweetness and fine flavor.

Diner: "Waiter, I can't find a single clam in this chowder."
Waiter: "That's nothing! You might just as well try to locate a set of wicker furniture in our cottage pudding!"

When you always tell the truth you don't have to remember what you've said.

Jealous Bob: "If you don't stop seeing my girl, you and I will play Santa Claus."
Henry: "How's that?"
Bob: "Your nose can be the fireplace and I'll hang a sock on it."
