WHAT HAPPENED HERE 20 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

Miss Martha Wegner, daughter of Gus Wegner of Cameron, underwent an operation this week at Pullman for appendicitis.

Commencement exercises for the graduating class of 1920 was held in the Grand Theatre on Wednesday evening, May 26. J. Herbert Bainton of Colfax delivered the address to the class. His subject was "Life's Open and Closed Door." Superintendent D. R. White presented the graduates and Harry Stanton, president of the board of trustees, presented the diplomas to the following graduates: Florence Hollada, Elizabeth Daniels, Eula Crocker, Dan Gley, Hugh Parks, Roy Florence, Harold Hanson, John Dammarell and Donald Miller. The senior class play was given on Friday evening, May 28. The play, "And Home Came They" was laid in the lobby of the Van Winkle Inn. All the members of the graduating class took part in the production, assisted by three other students of the school.

T. P. Morrison, for three years the superintendent of the Orofino school has been elected superintendent of the Kendrick school to succeed Supt. D. R. White, who has been superintendent of the Kendrick school for the past three years. The board has decided that owing to the necessity of increasing salaries, the high school teaching staff will have to be reduced by one teacher. The school has been operated during the past two years under the junior high school plan. The school will be returned to the former four-year school.

Kinden Items—The farmers were very much pleased about the rain that fell the first of the week.

Miss Leah Smith returned home Saturday from her visit at Palouse. She also attended the eighth grade graduating exercises at Moscow.

Mrs. Rube Garner, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bobb in Elk River, returned home Saturday. The barn dance at C. Henry's Saturday night was a decided success. A large crowd was present and everyone had a most enjoyable time. Beginning with the Crescent end of the district, the road has been graded as far as Walter Knight's place, at this writing. We are surely glad to see the improved condition of the road.

News of Lenore—Fishing up the North Fork river apparently is a failure according to a verdict passed by some Washingtonians, who motored up there in a Saxon to spend a few enjoyable days fishing. A down-pour of rain and a broken differential was all they encountered that could possibly be called pleasure. Not many of us would enjoy going up all these hills backward in a car.

Miss Myrtle Pea of Myrtle training school was compelled to give up her school two days of last week, owing to a severe case of tonsillitis. A very amusing stunt took place at the Homer Hughes charavari when he passed around some red beans covered over with bitter chocolate. Everyone took some, at first thinking they were chocolate covered nuts.

Big Bear Ridge—Miss Mary Galloway is at Avon with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Bowers. Miss Claribel Ingle has gone to Lewiston and Clarkston for a visit with friends. John Heath is spending the week at the home of his brother, Newt, on Texas Ridge. Miss Mayme Slind is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Hjalmer Dahlberg, at Deary.

WPA Work Discontinued

In line with a drastic, sensational reduction of WPA quotas for the state, district No. 2, comprising the 10 northern counties of Idaho, must reduce the working load on WPA projects by 600, this reduction to be accomplished by today (Thursday, May 23) according to Arthur Dingler, Coeur d'Alene district manager of WPA. This order affected both the Kendrick and Deary projects, which includes the Texas ridge project.

Further information regarding this matter will be given as soon as obtainable.

Stores, Bank Be Closed

Today, Decoration Day, the local bank, the postoffice, and according to present information, all the stores will be closed for the day. It is presumed that business institutions usually open on that day (confectionerys, garages, etc.) will be open as usual.

Foreclosure Of Farms

A statement issued by Governor Black of the Farm Credit Administration reveals that 12,508 foreclosures were completed by the Federal Land banks and the Land Bank commissioner in 1939. Thirty per cent lost their farms because the owners could not carry the debt, and 53 per cent did "not do his honest best," according to Black.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace recently criticized these foreclosures and succeeded in getting control largely in his own hands. His belief, expressed at the time, was that there should be fewer crack-downs on farmer-debtors. He said they should be given liberal extensions in order to enable them to pay off their mortgages.

STATE FIRE WARDEN BE LOCATED AT KENDRICK

Three forest protective districts, including the Craig mountain district which covers the immediate Lewiston area, the watershed of the Lewiston Orchards irrigation district and other areas, with headquarters at Craigmont, was established by a proclamation issued by State Forester Franklin Girard and received at Lewiston Sunday, says the Lewiston Tribune.

The Craig mountain fire protective organization, which is effective June 1, is being set as a result of agitation for protection following the Webb creek fire last year. The warden will have complete charge of issuing slash disposal and burning permits and will seek to educate the public and enforce forest service regulations which will apply. All correspondence regarding the issuance of permits should be addressed to the warden at Craigmont, Forester Girard said.

The warden of the Kendrick forest protective district will have similar duties in his district. He will be situated at Kendrick and requests for permits for slash disposal and burning in the Kendrick area should be addressed to him there. The headquarters of the fire warden in charge of the Maggie creek forest protective area is at Kamiah where he will issue permits and oversee fire protection of the Maggie creek district.

The districts were established under order of the state forester Friday in compliance with the provisions of the Idaho law. The warden will have fire fighting equipment available for emergency use in the Craig mountain area but during the first year, at least, the fire control will be dependent largely on volunteer crews who will work under the warden's supervision.

Editor's Note—We presume the same conditions will apply in the Kendrick area as in the Craig mountain section.

Child Health Conference June 4

As announced in last week's Gazette, there will be a child health conference held in the Kendrick school building on Tuesday, June 4, when a free "clinic" will be held for all children of pre-school age, all of whom will be given a health examination, with Dr. D. A. Christensen in charge, assisted by Mrs. Clifford Davidson and two public health nurses—Miss Havenor of Lewiston and Mrs. Siefert of the Kendrick district.

In order that the general public may more fully understand the importance of these child health conferences, we take the following from the United States Department of Labor Child's Bureau publication:

"The purposes of the child health conferences are to educate parents in better methods of child care and to provide or stimulate the provisions of continuous health supervision for all children of the community from birth through school age.

"The Conference is organized for preventive service exclusively and primarily for the health supervision of children who are free from infectious disease or other acute or chronic illness. In other words, its function is to keep the well child well and to promote his best possible state of health."

Remember, the first conference will be held on Tuesday, June 4, from 1:30 to 4:30, and will be held on the first Tuesday of each month thereafter.

CRASH SENDS CAR HURLING INTO CLEARWATER

Orofino, May 26—An unknown number of people apparently met death about 9:35 Sunday night in the Clearwater river about six miles west of Orofino after their car had rammed the rear of one driven by Gus Radegast, Lenore, and tumbled into the river, according to Deputy Sheriff Wayne Herres, who investigated.

Although Radegast's car was heavily damaged and was thrown 30 feet against the cliff on the south side of the North & South highway, he and his wife, Gertrude Radegast and daughter Betty Ann, 7, escaped injury.

A Plymouth hub cap torn off in the collision was the only clue at first to the identity of the car, Herres said, but Sheriff George Pankey later reported that Don Tracey, Orofino, had furnished a further lead. Tracey said the car passed him a little before the accident going at a rapid rate and he saw that it was a deluxe Plymouth coupe. He said the driver was wearing a light hat and he "thought" a woman was with him, Pankey said. Tracey said he "caught part" of the license number, a Washington plate, C-1694. The C would signify Spokane county. He added that he may have jumbled the number.

The Plymouth plunged out of sight in the river and Herres said the water was too deep and too swift to effect its recovery in the dark. An effort will be made to find it at daybreak in the morning. Meanwhile he appealed for anyone with a clue as to the occupants to notify him.

Radegast told Herres that he was driving westward toward his home at Lenore when the accident occurred. He said he could see the lights of the car coming up from behind him, and failed to understand why it didn't slow down or pass. The impact caved in the back of his sedan, and the front end was damaged by striking the cliff, total damage being about $200, Herres said.

The Plymouth hurtled over the side of the road and dropped about 25 feet down the sharp embankment to the river. The accident occurred about one-tenth mile east of the Nez Perce and Clearwater county line. Herres made the investigation alone because Sheriff Pankey was ill.—Lewiston Tribune. (Monday).

Three Clarkston residents are believed to be victims of the Sunday night tragedy in which a coupe hurtled into the Clearwater river six miles west of Orofino after striking another machine. They are: E. J. Bath, 39, science instructor at the Clarkston high school; Mrs. Vera N. Rognstad, 47, and Mrs. T. S. Belts, widow, 63. Officers of four counties worked from early morning until dark yesterday, dragging the river and employing an airplane and a home-built "treasure-finder" to locate the car in the 20-foot deep stretch of water without results. They will resume operations this morning.

Bath and his two companions, relatives reported, were apparently returning from a picnic outing on the North Fork, where they had gone Sunday morning. Miss Doris Rognstad, daughter of Mrs. Rognstad, became alarmed when the party had not returned by about 3:00 Monday morning and notified Sheriff Ben F. Taplin, of Asotin county, who contacted law enforcement officers. Her fears were realized when she read in yesterday's Tribune the account of the car with unidentified passengers plunging in the river. The group was in such a car as described.

Mr. Bath was boarding at Mrs. Belt's residence, 1049 Eighth street, Clarkston.

Two boats and a wrecker were used in the dragging operations yesterday and swept the river with cables from the point where the machine went into the water about 200 yards downstream, and reaching to the center of the river, Deputy Sheriff Wayne Herres, Orofino, told the Tribune by telephone last night. He expressed the belief that the car had been swept downstream by the current. The equipment will continue to work on down the river today. Placer mining had so riled the river that it was impossible to see into the depth in which the car is thought to lay.

Two boats, operated by Frank and Ralph Emerson of Ahsahka, experienced river men, and powered by

Some Wheat Down

The short but heavy thunderstorm of Friday night, with its accompanying wind, put down some wheat in this section. Norla Callison reported considerable of his heavy fall wheat, especially in the "pockets" where it grows rankest, as downed, but said he expected much of it to straighten up. And from other ridges come like reports.

Wheat in many localities is starting to head, and from all indications this harvest will see a bumper crop in the Potlatch section. It is to be regretted that the price indications do not match those of the yield.

Beans are practically all sown now, although the wet, late spring has made the weed problem really something to reckon with.

KENDRICK-JULIAETTA ROAD WORK SOON BE BEGUN

At last the repairs have been received for the state-owned rock crusher which has been set up near the Anderson place between Kendrick and Juliaetta for about a month, but has been inoperative due to failure of repair parts to arrive, and that soon gravel will be applied to the road between Juliaetta and Kendrick.

At present, as we understand it, gravel will be crushed for the resurfacing and oiling of the road between Juliaetta and the end of the present permanent oil near Arrow, with oiling operations to take place as soon as possible.

Gravel is also to be crushed for the Juliaetta-Kendrick link of road, which has just undergone a thorough remodeling at the hands of Ed Dammarell and crew. It is to be hoped, and every effort is being made, to have this new gravel road, when completed, treated to a "dust coat" of oil.

Rock will also be crushed by this plant for the permanent oiling of the Main street and School House hill road in Kendrick. These oiling operations to following the rock work as fast as possible.

It is thought at this time that oiling operations in Kendrick will begin about June 15. However, if rock and oil operations should begin on the Arrow end first the Kendrick work will probably be delayed another fifteen days.

The permanent oil of Kendrick's streets will be an improvement long needed, and while it will cost a goodly sum it will be well worth the price. It will do away with the ever-hanging dust clouds in the summer time, despite the best efforts of the city marshal, Ed Long, and his sprinkling wagon, which will in turn save the village many dollars a year in water costs, gas, tires, etc.

They can't all be expected to come at once, but village improvements, like those of a home, should be done as rapidly as money and time will permit.

Slaying Mystery Solved

According to press dispatches Sheriff O. B. Nelson of Benewah county stated on Thursday of last week that he had found the dentist who made the false teeth and a widow whose death was reported in Lewiston and at Portland—and these were the clues which helped him to solve the four-year-old murder mystery known as the "soogan case" by leading him to the slayer of Joe Provost. Sheriff Nelson reported that he had obtained a full confession of a young lad alleged to be Warren Vinson; that he had struck Provost, about 60, on the back of the head with the butt end of a gun, Nov. 4, 1936, and three days later buried the body in a shallow grave thirteen miles north-east of Kendrick, in Latah county. Provost's widow is said to have been located, living near Vancouver, Wash.

Prosecuting Attorney Keeton of Benewah county said he had filed a charge of murder against young Vinson, the alleged slayer, who is held in the Benewah county jail without bond.

Burning Hillside

Clifford Davidson, Edgar Long, and L. W. Mason Tuesday made a serious attempt to burn off the hillside back of the Mason home to remove the fire danger from dry grass, and really accomplished a lot in the way of reducing the hazard. However, the grass was just a bit too green to make a first class job of it, and will be undertaken again a day or two.

The hillside presents a real fire menace that must be removed.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST WHEAT MARKETS SHOW DECLINES

Wheat markets in the Pacific Northwest declined again during the week ending May 24, principally reflecting further weakness in other important domestic markets, states the Agricultural Marketing Service in the Weekly Grain Market Review. Weakness in the general grain market situation and unsettledness in most commodities brought about by the war in Europe were important influences in United States wheat markets during the period under review, and generally considered the dominant factors in the market.

An important feature was the announcement on May 22, by the secretary of agriculture of the loan program for the 1940 wheat crop, with average loan values to producers of about 64c per bushel. The average loan value is about 57 per cent of parity, which on April 15, was $1.13 per bushel. The 1939 loan value averaged 63c per bushel. The increase in 1940 was in the soft winter wheat region. An average loan rate of 64c per bushel, together with parity payments of 19c per bushel assures wheat farmers co-operating in the AAA program a return on the average of at least 83c per bushel at the farm. Loan rates at terminals are as follows: No. 2 hard winter at Kansas City, 77c; Omaha, 76¼c; Chicago, 81c; Gulf ports, 83c; No. 2 dark northern spring at Minneapolis, 87c; No. 2 amber durum, Minneapolis and Duluth, 81c; No. 2 red winter, Chicago and St. Louis, 81c; No. 1 soft white at Portland, 73c per bushel.

Declines in wheat futures at eastern markets during the past week again resulted in lower values at Portland. Cash wheat prices declined along with futures and principal classes at this market on May 24 were 1½c to 2½c per bushel lower than a week ago. Movement of wheat by rail from this area to the midwest was effectually stopped by the narrowing of the spread between markets and there were trade reports of some reselling of wheat purchased by midwest interests during other recent weeks. Sales of wheat to California from this area were reported light and mostly of special lots to complete milling mixtures. No sales of northwest wheat for export were reported during the period. Local mill demand was fair most of the week and about sufficient to absorb the current light offerings from the country. For the most part, however, trading and movement of cash wheat in the Northwest was light during the week with generally unsettled conditions prevailing. Wheat millfeeds markets, however, held about steady, despite lower wheat prices. Crop prospects in the principal producing sections of the northwest continued to be reported generally favorable, with winter wheat, barley and rye heading. Some freezing temperatures were reported in elevated eastern localities in Oregon.

On May 24, at Portland, soft white, western white, western red and ordinary hard red winter were all quoted at 72¼c per bushel, basis No. 1 grade in bulk. Wheat receipts by rail at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals during the week were moderate at 521 cars. Indemnity payments on export flour were $1.00 to the Philippines and $1.30 per barrel to China and Hong Kong. Flour sales under the indemnity plan were reported good until toward the latter part of the week when they slackened materially. Cash wheat prices at Seattle on May 24 were: western white, western red and hard winter, 73c; hard white (bhart) 85c per bushel, all in bulk.

The San Francisco wheat market developed further weakness during the week ending May 24, influenced principally by declines in other markets and slow local demand. Trading and movement were quite dull throughout the period, and, while offerings from central California growers remained relatively light, prices were mostly 2½c to 5c per 100 lower compared with a week ago. Bay region mills restricted wheat purchases to small, scattered lots because of the current slow flour business.

Light selling pressure from California growers reflected the small remaining supplies which were being firmly held because of rather uncertain new crop prospects. Reports indicated further deterioration

Utah Kills More

Eighty per cent more people were killed on the streets and highways of Utah than in Idaho for the first 25 days of the month, declares Harry M. Rayner, commissioner of law enforcement. Utah killed nine and Idaho five. Total figures for the two states, including the first three months of the year, are: Utah 39,

Idaho 30. Pedestrians evidently cannot stand the rigors of the traffic climate of the Beehive state. So far this year 13 have been killed, compared to seven for Idaho. For the year 1939, 51 pedestrians were "liquidated" while Idaho accounted for only 30.

WHEN the American Flag was just one day old, on June 15, 1777, it was hoisted for the first time over General Washington's headquarters near Bound Brook, New Jersey. Forever May It Wave!

On the thirtieth day of this month the cemeteries of the land will blossom again with bouquets and wreaths of flowers, tender tokens of loving remembrance, and amid the thoughtful beauty shall wave those silent sentries bearing the Stars and Stripes of our country—standing symbolic guard over those that rest beneath the sod, a vigil of banners reminding that others who followed are awake and on guard upon the selfsame soil in which they sleep, now, as we pay our due respects unto our departed.

Gene Perryman, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Perryman, who last week suffered severe burns on his right hand and arm when he fell into the ashes of a bonfire at the family home, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Lewiston, to receive treatment. He is still a patient there at the time of going to press, but is reported as getting along as well as could be expected.

George Leith is busily engaged these days painting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hund in the west part of town. It is being painted white with a light blue window trim.

"Swanee River" Colorful Drama
One of the most colorful and romantic periods in American history—the days of minstrels and river boats—has been magically preserved for us in the songs of Stephen Foster, who set the very heart of America to music. He wrote "The Old Folks At Home," "Old Black Joe," "Swanee River," "Jeanne With the Light Brown Hair," and many other old favorites that are still being played and sung as much as the newer hits.
In beautiful technicolor, "Swanee River" takes movie goers back to the romantic, colorful days of Foster's time. The cast contains some of the best-known players of the silver screen—Don Ameche, Andrea Leeds, Al. Jolson, and many others. It's here this week-end, May 31, June 1.

because of rust which appears to be rather severe in part of the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys. Rust also has caused some deterioration in coastal counties and this is tending to offset to some extent favorable conditions in other areas and the larger acreage planted to wheat by California growers this season. Offerings of wheat from the northern states were fairly liberal but intermountain shippers reported a strong holding tendency.

Prospects for wheat in the United States show little change although some improvement was noted during the period. Generally favorable conditions prevailed for winter wheat especially in much of the western belt where substantial rains were received. Progress was mostly good in Oklahoma and other southwestern states. The new crop was beginning to ripen in north central portions of Texas with conditions mostly fair to good. Plants were heading also in southeastern Kansas and in many sections of Missouri. In the Ohio valley wheat continued to make mostly good advances with some heading reported in the lower portions of the valley. Conditions were generally favorable for spring wheat with moisture ample practically everywhere except in South Dakota, where crusted top soil retarded germination of some late seeded grain. Seeding was about completed at the close of the week. In Europe, abundant moisture with warmer weather stimulated growth in Italy and France. Crops made fair progress in the Danubian basin but more warmth was needed to promote growth of the backward crop. Heavy losses in crops were indicated in Belgium and Holland as a result of the invasion. In the Russian Ukraine, crop conditions were reported satisfactory to good but elsewhere growth was irregular. Spring seeding, however, made good progress under favorable weather conditions.

The May estimate of wheat production in India places the crop at 398,496,000 bushels compared with the corresponding estimate last year of 366,688,000 bushels and a final estimate of 370,608,000 bushels. In the southern hemisphere, good rains favored germination of wheat in Argentina and made conditions favorable for planting flax. The third official estimate placed the Argentine wheat crop at 119,453,000 bushels. Adding carryover from last season and deducting normal domestic requirements and exports to date this would leave only about 25,000,000 bushels for export at the middle of May. Trade reports indicate that Argentine exporters have withdrawn quotations on shipments to Europe. Inadequate rainfall continued to delay seeding in western Australia but progress was fair in other areas. Trade reports indicated the sale of over 1,750,000 bushels of Australian wheat to Greece early in May. Australian wheat was quoted FOB ports on the basis of the official rate of exchange at 68c per bushel.

A Real Cat Story

We've heard cat stories and cat stories, but here's one that we believe really wins the prize—and it's a true one too:

"It seems that one day last week Mr. and Mrs. Claud Jones decided that they had too many cats about the place, and hearing of a neighbor who needed a couple, picked up two half-grown felines and deposited them in the trunk of their car, then set out for the neighbor's home.

"One of the cats decided that the inside of the car trunk was too small, and started exploring. Soon Mr. and Mrs. Jones heard plaintive mewls and yowls apparently progressing along the top of the car. They stopped and investigated; could see not cat, yet the noises continued, finally ending up in the center of the car, just above the windshield, where the radio speaker may be installed.

"Investigation disclosed the cat had made its way from the trunk of the car, between the lining and the steel top, to this location. Coaxing, calling, threats, etc., proved of no avail, so Mr. Jones was forced to remove the top lining of the car to rescue "kitty."

"The whole operation is said to have 'made him very unhappy,' but it had to be done."

Fishermen Report Luck

Sunday morning L. D. Crocker and Don Miller departed for the wilds of the upper Potlatch in search of finny beauties, returning Sunday evening, reporting fair luck. Lester, however, had one fish that made up for all those who got away on past trips and that day—a trout measuring 25 inches in length. A real catch, if you ask us.

Marvin Long departed a little later Sunday for the same territory in search of the same thing—and came home with the limit.

Fighting Daughters
Daughters of the American Revolution, 4,000 strong, met in Washington recently and let it be known that the "home front" must always be well-armed, and kept ready for a fight. These patriotic women favor neutrality, but preparedness must never be overlooked.

Until recent years they have been greeted and addressed by whoever happens to be President of the United States. Now the Daughters are on rather chilly terms with both Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt.

This is the fiftieth anniversary of the Daughters of the Revolution, and like Time, members of the Society, go marching on.

Only One Graduate

And she had a regular graduation with an out-of-town speaker.

Swimming Popular Sport

Swimming has again become a popular sport, after some two weeks "lay-off" due to cool weather.

The creek now echoes to such cries as "betcha I can touch bottom," "I'll dive off that cliff," and "watch me swim under water."

The creek is quite low for this time of year, the weather warm, and the youngsters taking full advantage of the situation.

outboard motors, had difficulty in negotiating the swift current, and workers ran into further problems in the giant rocks tumbled into the river when the road was constructed along the cliff. These snagged and broke the drag cable three times. The boats carried the cable out into the river and back to shore, reeling it out to form a loop. The wrecker then pulled the loop toward shore in an effort to capture the missing car. —Lewiston Tribune (Tuesday).

Garage Been Painted

Thursday and Friday of last week painters were very busy repairing the front and signs at the Kendrick Garage. The front was repainted its traditional colors of red, white and blue, with signs in a contrasting color.

The big storage tank also received a coat of gleaming aluminum paint with its sign in red, white and blue.

The whole now presents a neat and pleasing appearance. It is wonderful what a little paint will do, properly applied.
