Ed. Long, Fred Bolon, Aaron Mc-Crery, Carl Brown and Otto Rauschke left early Monday morning for the little North Fork of the Clearwater. They went by way of Dent and Big Island and expect to be gone at least a week.

A very enjoyable day was spent at the J. M. Woodward home on Potlatch ridge, July 4th. A number of the neighbors were invited to spend a comfortable Fourth there. A long table was set under the large shade trees in the yard and a splendid dinner served. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the Woodward family home were the A. It is said that Jesse Hoffman of Leland was the first white baby born on Potlatch ridge. He was born a little over 40 years ago (we are not telling his exact age). He is a good physical speciman of what the Potlatch can produce.

Some Log

On Wednesday of last week Craig Brothers brought to the Thomas sawmill a sample of the "saplings" Claud says they have up on their timber place. The sample was of the Ponderosa pine variety and cut five logs of 16 feet and one of 14 feet in length, making a height of 94 feet to the lower limbs. This tree cut approximately 8,000 board feet, it measuring better than five feet at the butt. The estimated hight of the tree was approximatly 150 feet.

It took a "22" Caterpillar, with double block and tackle, a team of horses and six men a full day to put the six logs at the landing, ready to load on the trucks. The men had to dig 400 feet of trench to keep the logs from rolling down each truck, with smaller logs for binders, to keep them from rolling attendance. off. These logs were for the most part high grade lumber and were estimated to run from 80 per cent to 90 per cent clear lumber, which was specially cut at the Thomas mill for the Craig company. There were clear boards running as high as 34 inches in width and 16 feet in length. The tree had an estimated value of approximately $300.00. When they undertook to saw the largest log (butt cut), it jumped had to be hoisted back in place with a big jammer. Mr. Thomas made special rangements to saw these large logs and the Craigs are very proud of the fine lumber taken from themand justly so.

KENDRICK CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MONTHLY MEET

The regular monthly meeting of the Kendrick Commercial club was pendicitis. Some three weeks ago held in the City hall Monday even-Billy went to Rockland to work on ing, with 14 present to take part in the farm of his grandfather, Gustav the deliberations, among the most important of which was the election

N. E. Walker, chairman of the Highway committee reported that a group had gone to Lewiston during the past week and consulted the district engineer regarding the oiling of the newly-graveled road between Kendrick and Juliaetta, so that it could be used more com-fortably for grain hauling, but that Brammer connected for a home run, Mielke and Ramey for three base hits, and Dick Blewett collected the proposition was not looked upon favorably by the engineer for the favorably by the engineer for the reason that it doesn't happen to be more than probable an entire new road will be built. previous times. The chairman, with the help of a new committee (the planning committee) will name his committee heads soon. It is hoped by this method to be able to have something definite in view for each and every meeting, and that the gatherings will be more interesting for those attending; especially is this true in the entertainment features of the club, which have been noticeably lacking of recent months.

But it must be remembered that it takes more than one man and a committee to make a Commercial club, and it is hoped that every business man in the town will in the future take more interest than in the mountain. #### PACIFIC NORTHWEST WHEAT MARKETS SLIGHTLY FIRMER

Pacific Northwest wheat markets, both cash and futures, were slightly higher for the week ending July 5, principally reflecting advances in important midwestern markets, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the Agricultural Marketing Service. Cash wheat markets in this area, however, were quiet with slow, demand from all classes of buyers. Light trading and movement was reflected in carlot receipts of only 292 cars of wheat at Puget Sound and Columbia river terminals FROM AMERICAN RIDGE during the week. Growers were offering only sparingly at country points during recent weeks, which has also tended to restrict movement at coast terminals.

Cash wheat prices at Portland on July 5 were: soft white, western white, western red and hard red winter, 73c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade in bulk. Flour indemnity payments on export flour were 80c to the Philippines and $1.10 per barrel to China and Hong Kong. It was reported that sales of flour for export were comparatively light during the period, due in part to the holiday and also to no indemnity that one cargo of Northwest wheat was sold to Shanghai during the week under the subsidy plan. Domestic flour business was reported as rather slow and mill demand was not active during the week. Crop conditions in the Northwest are now of increasing interest to the trade, with reports indicating that eastern Washington winter wheat is about normal but that spring wheat has been damaged materially by the recent drought in that area. Wheat millfeeds markets remained firm and unchanged at the close of the week. Cash wheat prices at Seattle on June 5 were: western white, western red and hard winter 73½c, all basis

No. 1 grade in bulk.

The San Francisco wheat market was quiet but held about steady during the past week with firmness in other markets and relatively light offerings tending to offset the moderate local demand. Prices held nearly unchanged from a week ago.

July wheat advanced 1c to 1½c per bushel in Chicago the past week. To arrive bids to the country for new crop wheat for July and August shipment were about the same as the net Chicago price for No. 2 red, hard or yellow hard winters. A combination of small receipts and good mill demand firmed premiums further at Minneapolis, especially on higher type milling grades.

Denver mills were bidding 60c per bushel FOB Colorado common points Mr. and Mrs. Wade Keene and son for No. 2 hard winter, No. 2 northern spring. At Ogden, basis FOB Ogden, bids were 52c per bushel for dark hard winter and dark northern spring.

Harvesting of winter wheat made good progress and prospects for wheat remained generally favorable both in the United States and Canada. In the great plains area harvesting progressed rapidly, being one-half to three-quarters done in south central and eastern Kansas. Cool weather retarded the ripening of wheat in northern portions of the eastern belt and operations were interrupted by rain.

Spring wheat made good progress in Minnesota but some of the crop was heading short in the Red River valley because of dryness. Continued cool weather favored the crop in North Dakota and good growth was reported for most of South Dakota. The outlook for wheat in Europe remains uncertain, but reports from number of important producing areas forecasts harvests much below daughters of Rogersburg, came on those of last season. Harvesting of Monday to visited at the home of new wheat progressed actively in Italy during the week under favorweather conditions and yields able of fair to good, but no abundant crop, is expected. Found Nest Of Snake Eggs Saturday, while Edgar Long and Edgar Dammarell were assisting in unearthing the big concrete slab at the mouth of Brady gulch, they Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Silflow and found something they were not exactly looking for, although the articles found were perfectly harmless -- for the time-being. They brought their find to the Gazette office (eight in number-and two left in the nest) and they proved to be what was, without doubt, a fine nest of rattlesnake eggs. Although the snakes were not quite far enough along to tell just exactly what their nationality might be, their heads proved to be rather large for the rest of their body, which, the spectators agreed, was a pretty good inndication that they were of the rattler variety. Anyway, we didn't care to keep them to see what they might turn out to be, so we gave them to a man who want-ed to take them home and show his family-and he was welcome. We don't care to indulge any more fancies for poisonous snakes or insects since we went out of the "black widow" spider business some two or three years ago. It was a good find and a good kill at that.

Future Farmers To Convention Five members of the Kendrick chapter of Future Farmers will attend a part or all of the state convention of that organization at Moscow this week, which began July 9, and will end Friday, July 12. Those making the trip include Bob Watts, Kenneth Woody, Eugene Mattoon, Kenneth Wolff and Deryl Ingle. There will be judging of beef cattle, horses, sheep, swine and poultry, both from a market and breeding standpoint. Some of the boys will be given a chance to grade milk and also enter a farm mechanics contest.

The winners of the livestock, dairy and poultry contest are offered a free trip to the National Future Farmers convention at Kansas City

The boys attending will have an opportunity to meet other prominent Future Farmers of the state, talk with them and exchange ideas. Each afternoon at 4 o'clock the University swimming pool will be open to the boys. This meeting, therefore, offers a variety of educational and recreational activities.

"Little Old New York" The boisterous town of the good old days, when cows roamed Fifth Other liabilities avenue and a barmaid-or a ladycould win a man like Robert Fulton, inventor of the first steamboat, are brought vividly to life on the screen in the production of "Little Old New York," which comes to the Kendrick Theatre this coming Friday and Saturday nights, with Alice Faye, Fred MacMurray and Brenda Joyce heading a splendid cast. Alice Faye is portrayed as a spirited belle of the brawling waterfront, headlong in love with handsome Robert Fulton, fighting the whole town to win his love and share his glory—in those bolsterous, romantic days when New York was new and life was really worth living.

The pictures of the Louis-Godoy fight will also be shown.
