CASH WHEAT DECLINES IN NORTHWEST MARKETS

NO. 34

Wheat futures declined sharply in the Pacific Northwest toward the close of the week ending August 16] following weakness in other import-ant domestic markets, according to the Agricultural Marketing Servicel Cash wheat was relatively weaker than futures and showed declines of 41/2c to 5c per bushel from a week ago. Demand was slow from all classes of buyers during the period and the cash market situation continued to be featured by extremely light offerings by growers at count

Cash wheat prices at Portland on August 16 were: soft white, western white and western red, 70c, hard red white and western reactive, hard rea winter 69c per bushel, all basis No. 1 grade in bulk. Wheat receipts at Puget Sound and Columbia' river terminals totaled 1.815 cars for the terminals totaled 1,810 cars for the week compared with 1,847 cars re-ceived during the same week last year, but a large proportion of the current receipts represented ship-ments to coast terminals for storage under federal loans and did not represent current marketings, which remained unusually light. Hindemnity prices on export flour remained at 70c to the Philippines and the Americas, and $1.20 per barrel to China, Hong Kong and Dairen. Trade reports indicate that export flour sales during the week were fair to all of the markets on which indemnity payments were ef-fective. No wheat was reported sold for export from this area during the week. Domestic flour business was slow and California demand for Northwest wheat was generally lack-ing. Inclination of growers in the Pacific Northwest to take advantage of Federal loans on their wheat made for very light cash marketings in Coast terminals. Wheat millfeeds markets remained firm. Weather conditions were favorable for wheat harvesting which was nearing completion in large areas of Oregon. Cash wheat prices at Seattle on August 1st were: western white, 69 % c, western red and hard winter, 68 % c, hard white (baart) 77 c.

The San Francisco wheat market turned somewhat weaker during the past week, influenced principally by sharp declines in northern and east ern markets, together with slower local demand. Despite light offerings, especially of top quality wheat, the prices were around 2½c per 100 lower compared with a week ago. Trading was quite dull. September wheat was 5½c lower at Chicago for the week. Carlot re-2363 George Leith home, returning that evening. They were accompanied home by Will Leith (brother of Roy).

Hot dry weather brought Canadian spring wheat rapidly to ma-turity and the crop was about 50 per cent cut at the middle of August. Early samples were grading high and fairly heavy deliveries were expected at terminals during the week. Harvesting was general in south-western Saskatchewan and cutting was under way in southern Alberta. Prospects continued very favorable. In Europe, harvesting was general over most of the central areas and practically completed in the southern sections. Yields were small in many sections and the outturn will be well below last season. The final estimate places the Indian wheat production at 402,600,000 bushels, which is more than 30,000,-000 bushels above the 1940 harvest and will provide a good surplus for export, according to trade reports. September oats were off 2c per bushel with weakness in other futures and large prospective supplies back in the country.

Two farmers were Clark so far cutting beans August 6th ----Jesse Thornton of Potlatch ridge and Dennler Bros., on Fix ridge. Again something of record was hung up, we believe, when on Saturday, August 17, Henry Reil hauled a load of newly threshed beans to town for Rhinehard Wilken. Monday afternoon threshing operations started on the Jesse Thornton place, and today (Thursday) machines are known to be threshing beans on the Jesse Thornton, Rhinehard Wilken, Henry Reil and Dennler Bros., farms. There are undoubtedly others of whom we have not heard. The quality of the beans are said to be excellent, but as yet no vield figures are available.

As a general rule 90 days elapses between the planting and threshing of beans, but in the case of Jesse Thornton the beans were planted on May 28, and cut August 5th -- just 68 davs!

Old Sol Again Warm Up

Old Sol seems to have a penchant for picking on the week-end as the gence this time.

The mercury started up Friday, reaching a high of 90 degrees. Saturday he did a bit better, reaching a high of 92 degrees, and Sunday it really "went to town," stopping its upward flight at 2:00 o'clock, when t reached the 100 degree mark. From that point it started to fall, and the evening air was cool and pleasant.

On Monday the mercury again decided to climb up a bit to see the world from the top-and reached a high of 99 degrees.

THINK IT OVER By F. R. Stevens

Last Sunday I stood on Temple Hill beside one of the log cabins which sheltered some of the troops of our Continental Army, and on the spot where Washington upheld the ideals of liberty on which they had established a new nation. With this inspiration he quieted the uprising of his soldiers, who were away from home. They thought their hardships and sufferings of eight years had been a failure, but just ahead of them was that triumphant march them down Broadway and the sight of the Red Coats as they left this soil forever.

the Declaration of Independence not only severed our ties with a monarchy, but it definitely set up the ideal of personal liberty as the immutable basis of our government. We have never reached perfection in maintaining that ideal. Perhaps we never will. Imperfect humans can never attain perfect ideals, but grow McDiarmid, in a recent baby came down from Spokane on issue of Public Utilities Fortnightly. Saturday night and spent Sunday at Mr. McDiarmid estimates that close to half the total debt of the electric utility industry is in the hands of life insurance companies.

Speaking of life insurance policy holders, Mr. McDiarmid says: "These people, whether they know it or not, are bondholders. They, and other life insurance policyholders of America have a stake of about $4,000.000.-000 invested in the public utility industry. This stake is concentrated heavily in the mortgage bonds of operating electric and telephone com-panies. Last year it increased by over $419,000,000, representing 53 The Roy Martin family and Mr. over $419,000,000, representing 53 and Mrs. Kenneth Pearson made a trip to Mason Meadow Lookout insurance investments other than public securities.
