HOW WILL DRAFT AFFECT COLLEGE EDUCATION

With enactment of the military conscription act and the opening of college coming at about the same time hundreds of young Idahoans are asking questions about how the draft law will affect their college program.

Since the lower limit of the act as now written is at 21 years of age the majority of the men students in the university will be automatically eliminated, explains President Harrison Dale of U. of I. Most university freshmen and sophomores are 17 to 18 years of age.

A student over 21 who is enrolled as a cadet in the advance course, senior division, reserve officers' training corps, also is automatically exempt under the act. In fact, such a student is not even required to register. He may continue his education and complete his military training in college.

If a student is over 21 and not in senior military training work and is called for military service under the conscription act the university will refund the general fees he has paid at registration time and any unused payments on board and room. He will be given full credit for all work done so that he may resume his education at a later time.

Young men who may be subject to the draft call are urged by President Dale to attend college until their country calls them for military service. "To prepare one's self is to help prepare one's country," says Mr. Dale. "Personal preparedness and national preparedness are one and the same thing."

President Dale is sending to all men students in the university last year a copy of a letter recently issued by President Roosevelt. In this letter the chief executive urges all young men to stay in college and continue their studies until they are called for duty.

Band Brevities

The band this year has many new members, including a complete new drum section, six clarinetists, one trombone player, one BB bass horn player, one Eb bass horn player, and one alto horn player.

The band has elected officers to keep peace and order. Those elected are: Bob Watts, bandmaster; Bill Deobald, sergeant-at-arms; Paula McKeever, librarian; Lois Deobald, secretary.

For the benefit of the many new players (and the aid of old ones) the band will be playing from a beginners book for the coming four or five weeks. To help keep rhythm for the band Herbert Harrison accompanies on the piano.

This year the band has a full 45-minute period in order to get in the practice deemed necessary. Also, each member is required to practice an additional hour at home.

P.T. A. Monday Night

The first fall meeting of the Kendrick P.T. A. will be held Monday evening in the H. S. auditorium at 7:30.

The subject for the evening will be "Character Education As a Background For Citizenship." Mr. Mason will lead the discussion.

This should be a topic in which all parents are interested, so plan to attend. There will also be special music and refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Come out and get acquainted with the teachers, and help make this a live organization.

Sunday A "Scorcher"

Sunday saw the thermometer climb to a new high for the month of September, when the mercury reached a high of 95 degrees!

Monday the mercury perched near its customary 84-86.

The heat was all the more apparent to many — hunters tramping up and down the canyon hillsides in search of the elusive grouse.

The heat is just what the bean men ordered, however, and bean work is proceeding at a good clip.

It is believed it will take some two weeks yet to see the finish of bean harvest, however.

To Hold Sale

Sale bills will appear soon announcing an auction sale to be held Thursday, September 19, by John Phillips, at his place two miles south of Southwick and 12 miles east of Kendrick, on the Leland-Cavendish road, starting at 10:00 a. m., when he will dispose of a long list of cattle, horses, household goods and machinery. Fred Goetz is the auctioneer, and The Farmers Bank the clerk. Lunch will be served at noon by the Ladies Aid.

LELAND HI-LITES

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Leland Methodist church held their charter meeting on September 5, with the installation of officers conducted by the pastor. The ritualistic service was led by Mrs. B. Hoffman; the devotional and program by Mrs. A. G. Peters. Sixteen women have become charter members, and it is expected that others will add their names, as the charter will remain open for a few weeks. This society desires to be of service to the church and to the community.

Rev. J. M. Adams, Methodist church district superintendent, will conduct the first quarterly conference at the church Tuesday, September 17, at 7:30 p. m.

A "Hard Times" social was held in the recreation room of the Leland church Monday evening. Several interesting contests were provided by the entertainment committee. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ervil Woody and Mrs. G. F. Cridlebaugh for their outstanding costumes. The guests formed in line and marched in front of the judges. As they passed about the room, each dropped a coin into the wishing well, as their contribution. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served.

At their regular session Sunday morning, the Young People's class elected Howard Hoffman as their teacher.

Plans are under way for holding the second annual Home Coming of the church on October 13.

A Real Headache

The Bureau of Vital Statistics has a headache, a big headache. Each day hundreds of requests are pouring in from people scattered all over the nation requesting birth certificates, and with each request the bureau officials must write another letter asking for additional information. In the majority of cases the individual simply asks for his birth certificate and signs his name, never realizing that there are probably dozens of persons with the same name or that his certificate might be in another county hundreds of miles away.

Many Pilots Needed To meet the demand for military pilots under the National Defense program the training of thousands of American youths at the Army's flying schools is contemplated, according to word received from Lt. Colonel Charles A. Butler, recruiting officer for the state of Idaho. Young men who are accepted by the army for pilot training are appointed flying cadets. They are required to complete the course of instruction as a flying cadet which requires approximately nine months. During the training period flying cadets are paid $75 per month and receive a ration allowance of $1.00 per day. Their uniforms, medical and dental attention and all flying equipment is furnished free by the government. They are also eligible at any time within four months after appointment to apply for any of the standard types of U. S. government life insurance which is provided at a low cost and may be continued in force after leaving the service. Upon graduation as a flying cadet, the graduate is commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Corps reserve and becomes eligible for active duty with the same pay and allowance as officers of the regular army. The minimum monthly pay on flying duty is $205 when assigned to government quarters or $265.50 when not furnished with government quarters. Candidates for appointment as flying cadets must be unmarried male citizens, between 20 and 27 years of age, and must have satisfactorily completed two years of standard college work. Prospective candidates who meet these requirements for appointment as flying cadets may obtain application forms from the U. S. Army Recruiting station, 416 Capitol Securities Bldg., Boise, Idaho.

Well, Folks—Here we are again with our weekly bit, and honestly it doesn't seem a week since we wrote our last copy—seems like it was yesterday. Boy, how time does fly, and as time passes our churn eats cream, large quantities of it. So we need your cream. Not only do we need it, but we've got the cash to pay for it. There's no waiting, no fuss, no bother when you bring your cream to us. Bring in the cream—walk out the door with the cash.

Yes, we still have locker boxes to rent. All sizes, all prices. See us for one today.

And when you think of butter—think of Pride O'The Potlatch creamery butter. It is obtainable at all the local stores, or if you prefer, at the creamery.

Counsel for the defense was cross-examining the witness, a lovely blonde with big blue eyes.

"Where were you," he thundered, "on Monday night?"

"Out for a run in a car," she cooed.

"And where were you," he belted, "on Tuesday night?"

"Out for a run in a car,"

"And what," he said, "are you doing tomorrow night?"

Prosecuting counsel leaped to his feet. "Your Honor," he protested, "I object to that question."

"And why do you object?" asked the judge.

"Because I asked her first!"

Customer: "I'd like to see something nice in daint ylingerie."

Absent-Minded Floorwalker: "Who wouldn't?"

Health is the thing that makes you feel that now is the best time of the year!
