Built 1,000 Planes In January

Military plane production in the United States totaled between 900 and 1,000 during the month of January, an official in the office of production management disclosed last week.

This was better than William S. Knudsen, director of the O. P. M., had anticipated last December. In an address December 13 to the National Association of Manufacturers, urging that every effort be made to speed the output of munitions, Knudsen said that the hope for production of 1,000 planes during January would have to be scaled down by 30 per cent to be correct. This indicated that he believed the number of planes would not exceed 700.

The figures include all types of military planes from giant bombers and pursuit ships to observation and training planes.

Drunks Lose Auto Licenses

Eighteen drunken drivers lost their operator's license depriving them of the right to drive an automobile upon the Idaho highways for one year and three reckless drivers had their licenses suspended for specified periods during the month of January, according to the department of law enforcement.

Records show that the licenses of 396 operators of motor vehicles were under suspension or revocation on January 21, last. Of the drunken drivers 208 were resident drivers and 65 were non-residents; 22 reckless drivers were residents of the state as were the 27 drivers whose licenses were suspended indefinitely because of unsatisfied judgments.

There was one revocation each for the following violations: falsifying to age, involuntary manslaughter and negligent homicide.

During the biennium of 1939 and 1940 the licenses of 853 operators had been suspended or revoked. Of this number 62 revocations were made in December.

Mandatory revocation of driver's license must be made for any of the following offenses, when such conviction becomes final:

1. Manslaughter (or negligent homicide) resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle.

2. Driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotic drug.

3. Any felony in the commission of which a motor is used.

4. Failure to stop and render aid as required under the laws of this state in the event of a motor vehicle accident resulting in the death or personal injury of another.

5. Perjury or the making of a false affidavit or statement under oath to the department relating to the ownership or operation of motor vehicles.

6. Conviction, or forfeiture of bail not vacated, upon three charges of reckless driving committed within a period of 12 months.

Axe Splits Skull

Howard Southwick had the misfortune Tuesday to cut his head severely while he was sawing wood. It seems he was cutting wood with a pop-saw and using an axe as a wedge. The block fell out and the axe flew up, striking him in the head and splitting his skull half through. Even through all this he was not rendered unconscious, however, several stitches were taken to repair the damage.

MEN'S PTA PROGRAM GOES OFF WITH A "BANG!"

Monday in the high school auditorium the regular P.T.A. business meeting was held with Mrs. A. O. Kannikkeberg, president, presiding. Following the reading of minutes and the treasurer's report a letter was read in which Founder's Day was recognized.

The group voted not to sponsor the Health Round-up this year. The membership committee reported several new members. George Barnum then entertained the group by demonstrating his ability as a mathematical wizard. This was indeed a surprise to many and very much enjoyed by all.

The meeting was then adjourned to the gymnasium where the men, in all their "splendor" entertained the large crowd present with a little play entitled "Dress Rehearsal".

The list of characters was as follows: George Brocke—Lady in Red. L. Mason—George. A. O. Kannikkeberg—business and stage manager.

Jim Keeler—Spike, the butler. Frank Abrams—Miss Van Porter. R. L. Blewett—Chess one of the boys. Rev. Gray—Manager. Roy Ramey—Horace, the detective. Walt Marner—"Chet" the professor.

These gentlemen in their charming manner tried to give us an intimate picture of what goes on at dress rehearsal. Well, we will say George Brocke stole the show as the Lady in Red in her flaming petticoat, however, the rest of the cast furnished their share of the laughs.

They closed by inviting all to come the next night at 8 p. m. for the opening performance but all decided they had seen enough.

Refreshments were served in the Home Making department.

Information About Kite-Flying

Although the arrival of spring may turn older brother's thoughts romancedward, it's a ten-to-one bet that "kid" brother's attention will turn—not to love—but to kite-flying, the popular juvenile pastime Benjamin Franklin made famous.

While no one will deny kite-flying is highly enjoyable and affords teen age children a healthful way of utilizing leisure time, neither can it be denied this superficially dangerless pastime is entirely free from hazards.

In itself kite-flying is no more perilous than marbles or jacks. However, the possibility of severe electric shock, even electrocution, accompanies the sport.

In a news release received today John B. Fiskien, the Washington Water Power Company's safety engineer, urges parents to encourage children to fly kites in open spaces, away from electric lines.

Three other points stressed in Mr. Fiskien's kite-flying safety program are:

Use only plain cotton string, never wire or tinsel.

Never climb poles or throw rocks to dislodge entangled kites.

Keep off the highways when flying kites.

In case of emergency, the news release concludes, telephone the local Washington Water Power Company office.

Lewiston Issues Grog Licenses

Four clubs in Lewiston handling intoxicating liquors have filed applications for license at the office of the city clerk, and the council has approved these applications. The next step will be payment to the clerk of $1,000, the annual license fee for clubs as provided in the recently enacted ordinance.

Applications approved were: Club McCoy, by Dick Graves, manager; Fireside Club, Inc., north Lewiston, by Delmer Knowles, secretary; American Federation of Labor central labor council, by George Curran, president, and R. W. Tousey, secretary; and the Elks club. A check for $1,000 accompanied the labor treaty application. This leaves the Foresters club and the Eagles to make application.

The license is for one year and is not transferable.

IDAHO FULFILLS OBLIGATION, SAYS GEN. HERSHEY

"Men, material and morale" are the three essentials for the perfection of national defense," according to a declaration received at Idaho State headquarters from Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, deputy director of selective service.

In commenting on this statement, Gen. M. G. McConnell, Idaho State director, served notice that Idaho expects to supply her share of the nation's essential materials in the defense program. He said, "In administering the Selective Service act, it is our responsibility to furnish our quota to the armed forces of the nation. By July we expect our quota to have reached the tentative quota of 104 inductees."

"We have ample cause to take pride not only in the spirit of cooperation manifested by those who aid us in administering the Act, but also in the type of men Idaho is sending to induction centers. Thus far, our quota has been filled entirely by volunteers and already many volunteers have signified their intentions for the February call."

Gen. McConnell pointed out that in the first three calls Idaho will have supplied 978 men, which leaves a balance of 978 men to be called by July 1 of this year.

Since national headquarters has been unable to gather necessary information before assigning credit to the states for enlisted men in the service, Gen. McConnell explained that until this credit is assigned, quotas for the State and counties will necessarily be based on the number of registrants.

Raymen's Dinner Held February 12

The local church was host to the sub-district Raymen's meeting last Wednesday evening. The women of the church, under the chairmanship of Mrs. N. E. Walker, served the banquet with the help of the girls acting as waitresses. Including the helpers, approximately 110 persons were served. Of this number, no less than 50 were out-of-town guests.

The program consisted of group singing led by Mr. Wm. Fitzpatrick, and special numbers by Mrs. Stewart Compton, Marilyn Schupfer, Noel Thomas, and Mrs. Herman Schupfer. This was followed by ten minute addresses given by four visiting laymen—speakers and subjects being as follows:

A. H. Jones, Moscow, "Compassion Day"; Leslie Taylor, Cottonwood, "Religious Education"; August Jahn, Moscow, "The Christian Advocate"; W. Ellis, Pullman, "Revitalizing Church Members". At the close of each address, opportunity was given for discussion. Mr. Paul Lind served as chairman for the evening.

Since this was strictly a laymen's meeting, the ministers were allowed no voice in the discussion, under penalty of 25 cents fine. One reverend gentleman made a mistake and spoke up. The fine was collected before he took his departure. It was really all in fun.

The visitors seemed impressed to find such a beautiful chapel as the Kendrick church affords and, on the whole, we feel, thoroughly enjoyed the visit to our town.

These meetings are held about every 60 days. The group present accepted Lapwai's invitation for the next meeting.

Kessler Scores Liquor Proposal

A measure in the Idaho house of representatives to permit over-the-counter sale of liquor drew criticism today from Harry Kessler, attorney for the Idaho allied civic forces.

Kessler, in a letter addressed to Governor Clark, said "the legislature of its own violation will hardly pass so vicious a measure."

The bill, calling for licensing by the state of clubs, establishments and regulating the liquor business in the state, was introduced by the house revenue and taxation committee.

"Temperance voters very definitely balk at HB 242 (liquor regulation measure), as between state dispensing and saloons we accept the former as the least objectionable," the letter read.

"Selling liquor in packages only in the state stores forbids public congregating of community drunk and their associates, and had any attempt been made to enforce the law, would have reasonably limited the places of sale."

"To prevent 123 state dispensaries and over 1700 beer vendors, there would be added perhaps 500 whiskey saloons. This proposed double dose of liquor iniquity challenges our patriotism and leaves no alternative but to fight without quarter an administration so flagrantly indifferent to social decency."

WHEAT LOWER IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST PAST WEEK

Weakness in important midwestern futures markets resulted in declines of 1½¢ per bushel at Portland on the May future, during the week ended February 14, states the Agricultural Marketing Service. Cash wheat here followed the full decline in futures and prices on most principal classes registered declines of 1½¢ to 2¢ per bushel for the week. An extraordinarily quiet situation prevailed in cash wheat markets of the Pacific Northwest during the past seven days. A slow demand from all classes of buyers at Coast terminals featured the market. With prices to growers at country points below loan levels, only small amounts of cash wheat were being offered in the open market. Lack of an export outlet for Northwest wheat continued to feature the situation in this area. With exporters not actively in the market for cash wheat, about the only outlet for the light offerings was the moderate needs of mills and some small quantities for feeding purposes. Light trading and movement was reflected in carlot receipts of only 340 cars at Puget Sound and Columbia River terminals for the week. A fair export flour business to the Philippines under indemnity plan was reported during the week, and domestic flour business has shown some improvement in recent weeks. Wheat millfeeds remained only barely steady to slightly weaker here. Trade reports indicate generally favorable conditions continued to prevail over winter wheat areas of the northwest.

The San Francisco wheat market suffered further losses during the second week in February influenced principally by weakness in other markets and slow local demand. Prices of most grades declined 2½¢ per 100 to new points since last July. Offerings were not particularly heavy but were increasingly difficult to place because of slow inquiry from all classes of trade. Mills reported limited flour business and confined wheat purchases apparently was placed in Pacific Northwest and Intermountain markets. Continued uncertainty as to central California crop prospects, particularly in low-lying areas where recent heavy rains caused damage, was a factor in a strong holding tendency among growers.

Quotations at Ogden on February 14, basis No. 2 grade, FOB Ogden mills were dark hard winter and dark northern spring 72¢; hard winter and northern spring 65¢; hard white 75¢; soft white 70¢ and western white 68¢ per bushel. A good demand prevailed for the light offerings of that market.

Denver mills were quoting 62¢ per bushel for No. 2 hard winter and No. 2 northern spring wheat, basis FOB Colorado common points.

The general outlook for winter wheat continues satisfactory except locally in some sections of Nebraska, where moisture is needed and in some Northwest sections. While several hard frozes occurred in eastern portions of the belt where the crop was without snow cover, no material damage has been reported. West of the Rockies the condition of the grain continues unusually good.

In the Balkan countries of Europe, the breaking up of ice in the upper Danube as a result of unseasonably mild weather, has caused apprehension of floods. Serious flood damage has already occurred in some sections. In western Europe, the weather has again turned colder and widespread snowstorms have been received in France. In the Southern hemisphere, subsoil moisture has been replenished by recent rains in Australia. Much more rain however, will be needed for proper development of the crop. The seeding of which will begin in April. Further rains in Argentina have benefited corn and the bulk of the crop is now safely through the critical period, with a large outturn indicated, according to trade reports.

In the United States, further lowering of the grade of the 1940 crop was indicated by January inspections at representative markets. The percentage of the inspections at the markets during the last half of January that graded No. 3 and higher decreased to 32 per cent compared with 44 per cent for the first half of January and 58 per cent for the last 15 days of December, and January inspections at representative markets only 51 per cent graded No. 3 or better in this season against 98 per cent in these grades last year and 54 per cent the six-year 1934-38 average for these months.

IDAHO YOUNG MEN BEST OF LOT PHYSICALLY

Idaho stands at the foot of the list of all states in the Ninth Corps area in regard to rejections at induction stations because of physical disabilities, according to Richard D. Simonton, state medical officer, selective service system for Idaho.

The state of Montana has the next lowest percentage of rejections of all the states, which include California, Nevada, Oregon, Utah and Washington. Idaho's rejections because of physical reasons have a low percentage of .0323, for other reasons .0322, or a percentage of .0645. The state of Montana's rejections for physical reasons alone is 5 per cent, Nevada and Oregon have 16 per cent rejections each because of physical reasons, Utah nearly 12 per cent, Washington 10½ per cent, California 6½ per cent, with the average for the Ninth Corps area 7½ per cent.

Dr. Simonton states that the principal causes for physical rejection throughout the Ninth Corps area were teeth and eyesight disabilities. Only two of Idaho's conscripts were turned down in the November call because of physical disqualifications and both were entirely temporary and have since been corrected. Two of Idaho's conscripts in the November induction were rejected because of illiteracy.

This record of low rejections reflects very strongly the high standard of the physical condition of the youth of the state of Idaho, according to Dr. Simonton. It also indicates that examining physicians throughout the state are making very careful examinations of all the registrants and eliminating those who obviously could not pass the physical examinations at induction stations.

Receives Baby Chicks

Mrs. George Havens on Monday received 262 New Hampshire baby chicks—and she is very busy taking care of them at this time. There will probably be some fine "frys" out there on American ridge one of these days.

Every time we read about a few millions being spent to erect a new airplane factory, we can't help remembering those wooden ships that were built back in 1917. Let's make 'em useful.

Come, Sell What You Wear

The Haven's Circle of the W.S.C.S. is sponsoring a novel entertainment in the church basement Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. to raise money for the church budget.

The idea is to make something and wear it, which will be sold. The woman wearing the most articles to be sold will receive a prize.

Everybody come and have fun. There will be refreshments at the close of the afternoon.

Many Traffic Fatalities
 With and increase in traffic accidents in 1940, as a matter of record and facing the threat of further increase, 16 national organizations with seven million members recently joined in signing an appeal to the membership of 43 state legislatures to meet existing deficiencies in men, money and material.

More people were killed on the nation's highways in 1940 than in 1939. (This was true in Idaho with its 191 traffic fatalities last year.) Aside from the suffering they caused, these accidents mean unnecessary suffering and expense to the public. There are more drivers, more motor vehicles, on our roads than ever before. With industrial activity spurred by national defense, the use of our highways has expanded to an all-time high. Traffic facilities are overloaded. This naturally has resulted in more accidents. Public officials have done their utmost, with the limited means at hand, to hold down the totals.

Two-thirds of traffic fatalities occur in rural areas and generally can only be checked by state police patrols. These forces are already undermanned to adequately cope with the constantly increasing rural traffic problem. Continued effectiveness of official highway safety efforts depend upon legislative support. A re-codification of traffic laws, simplifying and standardizing them in line with the National Uniform Vehicle Code. Full use of uniform traffic signs, signals and markers. Uniform vehicle laws to assure uniform traffic accident reporting. Standard drivers' license laws and provisions for adequate driver examination. Employment of additional trained personnel by states and cities in proportion to the growing volume of traffic.

EDITORIAL

Well, Folks— It's pretty tough trying to write editorials these days, with nothing much to write about except the war and the weather—and, by the way, the weather is a pretty nice subject just at this time, for it is about all it should be—and old Bossy is probably appreciating it too. Both of these subjects are important, but both get tiresome after a while, because our own ideas don't seem to mean a thing, apparently.

So let's talk about cream and cows. You milk 'em, bring in the cream to us and get the cash. After you've done that, try the better butter we make from that very same cream—you'll like it!

Look back over the days you've lived and see if the busiest ones were not invariably the happiest ones.

Blonde (anxiously): "And what is your main objection to embarking on the sea of matrimony?"

Bachelor: "Squalls."

"And this is your bump of curiosity?"

"Right, professor. I got that by sticking my head in the elevator shaft to see if the elevator was going up. It was coming down."

And don't forget—we want to buy your cream! We pay cash.

Rent a locker box from us—we have what you need.

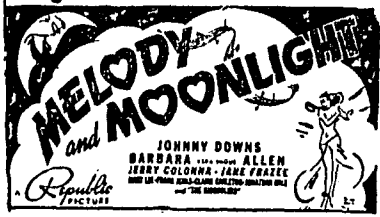

Luckily it's as difficult to break good habits as it is to break bad ones.

Genius is said to be two parts inspiration and ninety-eight parts perspiration.
