Well, Folks - Two things are looking up these days -- the war situation and the price of cream. The great American naval victory over the Japs in the Coral sea was the best news we have heard since America entered the war - and the steadily rising price of cream should bring smiles to the farmers' faces.

Of course, we still have the sugar bog-a-boo to face and overcome, but by doing as much of your canning as possible the modern way — freezing in one of ou rlocker boxes — the need for a great deal of sugar at canning time can be eliminated to quite a degree.

So put it on your calendar to do two things today — sell us your cream, and rent a locker

Roy Long Writes

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Long are in Don Morgan. receipt of a letter from their son, Lieut. Roy Long, who is now stationed in Australia. The letter, however, was written on the boat that ever, was written on the boat that took his regiment to Australia, and was written long before the radiotelegram and Mother's Day greeting she received last week. The letter follows:

High Seas
Things have been going along pretty good the last few weeks. I've seen lots of water in that time. One of the most beautiful spots I have seen, however, was Panama.

Mr. and Mrs. Con Andres and son of Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Parks and family of Juliaetta were Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crawford and Mrs. Jennie Hund.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Blanken-We came through the locks in the ship were Sunday We came through the locks in the day time, which was an advantage for us all. The locks are really something, and the vegetation about the canal is beautiful, all shades of green, light, medium and dark. The colors could not be described by me. The ferns aren't any small matter, either, some being four to four and a half feet tall. Palm trees were something that caught my eye, the ones I saw grew right in the city. The jungles really have the plant growth, and I would hate to be lost in it. Grasses grow two and three growth, and I would hate to be lost in it. Grasses grow two and three feet high, then the trees continue on from there. I didn't see any snakes.

The water supply on the boat is something everybody watches very carefully. We all have a canteen, which holds about a quart. We fill it about once a day, and you would be surprised just what you can do the lost of the l

We have crossed the International date line. One morning I woke up and it was Tuesday, and before I knew it — it was Wednesday afternoon. The days are not correct, but it gives you an idea how it works! To give exact days might be valuable information to the enemy.

Sugar Ration Books Issued Thursday evening of last week the work of registering residents of this school district for Sugar Rationing books, at the local school house was completed by L. W. Mason, assisted by Miss Lily Henningsen, Mrs. Doris Salisbury, Miss Iris Tunney, Miss Renfrew and Wm. P. Education

In all there were 452 applications, and 414 books were issued. Quite a number of the rejections were due to "too much sugar on hand." Mr. Mason wishes to thank Mrs. Ined to have on exhibit some of the Roy Ramey and Mrs. Silvie Cook work done by the students during for valuable assistance in taking the year.
