Notice To Subscribers

Faced with the rapidly advancing prices of newsprint, inks, metals and all other materials entering into the production of a newspaper, we find that we will be forced, beginning September 1st, to advance the subscription rate of the Kendrick Gazette from $1.50 to $2.00 per year.

Until September 1st, however, we will continue to accept new subscriptions and payments on old subscriptions at the rate of $1.50 per year. We cannot, however, accept any subscription at the old rate for more than one year in advance of the present expiration date.

We had hoped that OPA would hold the price front and we would not be forced to take this step. However, prices are continuing to advance and we must raise our subscription rate in order to meet increasing production costs.

MORE ABOUT ARMED FORCES

Dress now, and will greatly appreciate it if you will send the paper again. During my stay here at the Black Hills Teachers college I will be enrolled in the courses required by the Army for all Aviation Cadets.

Dear Mac and Bill: Well, I'm finally finding out just what makes the army tick. I don't mind the army life a bit, but the heat here is something I sure miss.

Will you please send me the paper so I can keep up on the home activities, for I sure miss the old Gazette.

Juliaetta News Items. Week-end guests at the Ira Fix home were their daughter, Mrs. Wayne York and children of Lewiston and Mr. and Mrs. George Benjamin of Clarkston.

We Want You To Tell Us. Last week, the Kendrick Commercial club mailed out the following letter and questionnaire, and it is the opinion of everyone in the club that you fellows in the Armed Forces should have the same privilege of expressing your choice as those at home.

The members of the Kendrick Commercial Club believe that you would like to have a voice in naming the public projects that can be developed in this community for post-war construction to provide employment for those men that will be thrown back into civilian life after the war.

The Federal Government has provided for the establishment of a five-man post-war planning board in each county. The duties of these men will be to develop projects presented to it, to a point where a contract can be let on short notice.

A Few Facts Worth Remembering

Since the last World War, $10,000,000,000 has been spent for improvements to American railroads. For every dollar of additional stocks and bonds, the railroads have spent $10 for additions and betterments. In 1918 there was an average of $10,000-worth of railroad equipment for each man employed. Now each man uses $20,000 worth.

Moving fighting men and fighting equipment, war materials, food and fuel has been the biggest transportation job in history. Railroads in 1943 are moving twice as many ton-miles of freight as in the corresponding period in 1918.

Freight rates generally are no higher now than when the war began. There are 600,000 fewer freight cars in service today than in 1918, but they carry 22 per cent more.

There are 26,000 fewer locomotives than during the first World War, but they are better locomotives and turn out more work per day.

In the first three months of 1943, passenger traffic was virtually twice that of the corresponding period in 1918.

Troop movements quadrupled those in the first World War.

The general level of railway travel costs in recent years has been the lowest in railway history.

Railroad employees in 1942 averaged 1,842,000 in 1918, and in 1942 employees received in wages $2,932,000,000, as against $2,614,000,000 in 1918.

Railroad taxes, per dollar of revenue, increased from 4.6c in 1918, to 16.1c in 1942.

Speaking of Unions. "Hey, what are you doing?" yelled the foreman.

"I'm just sharpening a pencil," called back the bricklayer.

"Well, don't let anybody see you. That's a carpenter's job, you know."
