MORE ABOUT ARMED FORCES

Somewhere In Scicly August 31, 1943 Dearest Mother, Dad and All:

Now that we are in bivouac and enjoying a few days of rest and peaceful life, I will try and write a letter instead of V-mail. We were pretty busy throughout the campaign here, making it hard to answer many letters, which I was more than glad to get.

I've seen quite a bit of this island, being in the division that made the drive across the island, and also the drive along the northern coast. The island is nothing but mountains with small valleys between, and the most of the towns are built around the top of a mountain.

When we first made our appearance the villages were practically deserted. Now the people have come down out of the hills and started their little business places going again. They are also starting little markets around our camp areas, doing a thriving business as far as grapes, melons, wine and eggs are concerned. Also some of the barbers come out here and give shaves and hair cuts. Some of the men come around and gather up laundry. If you want to pay the price-the women do the work

Now for a little of my experiences I used to think that slit trenches wouldn't help much, but found out to California — I think. My hands were pretty soft at first. Calouses and blisters seemed to form on my hands rather quickly — maybe it was because I was in a hurry. For some reason, those cappore shells some reason those cannon shells coming overhead and landing close by made me want to hug the bottom of a hole. When we would go through a village what people were left would really give us a cheer. The prisoners would even ask us for cigarettes and candy.

The only means of transportation here, as in Africa, is horses, mules and a few oxen. The people here seem to think that we carry a store around in our pockets, one fellow even asking me if I had a loaf of through and the shidten are transfer. bread, and the children are always asking for candy. They don't know what gum is — they eat it like

We are now getting paid in "lires" instead of dollars and cents, each lire is worth a penny. I'm sending a few of the smaller ones so you can see what they are like.

I see in the "Stars and Stripes" that it is possible for you to send small packages now, but I wouldn't try to send much. I would like to have a pen and pencil. I lost the one

It seems like I have run out of things to write, so will close for now. Here's hoping this finds you feeling as well as ever.

Thomas Weber.

Thompson: Ready to start on his flying car-eer, John Brewster Thompson, naval aviation cadet at Livermore, Calif. wrote to his mother, Mrs. Hugh B. Thompson, Colfax, as follows, under

"You should see the planes out here! They have about 250 or 300 of them in the air most of the time. I live right across the street from the main field. They have fifteen fields here that they use. They wash out a good many fellows here. A person has to be crazy about flying or he can never stand the strain of flying three hours a day. I know I will be very crazy about it.

"I don't think ground school will be so hard. We have navigation, recognition and code, one hour of athletics and power plants (study of engines) each day. This morning we flew up above the clouds. I believe it was the most beautiful sight I have ever seen. I can't begin to tell you what it was like."

Sgt. and Mrs. Elmer Emery of Geiger Field, near Spokane, were Kendrick visitors between trains on Tuesday, visiting his uncle, Henry Emery, and with friends.

Dale Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Miller, Kendrick, has received his call to active duty in the Army Air Corps, and leaves for Fort Douglas, Utah, Monday, Sept. 27. Dale has been enlisted in the Air Corps Reserves for over a year.

Sgt. William Johnson, who is stationed at Waco, Texas, is spending a 15-day furlough with friends and relatives at Leland.
