week, resulted in a great deal of hauling to the warehouses here. Hay, grain, beans and wood have been brought to market in large quantities, and the result is better business for everyone.

Farmers in the surrounding country have signified their hearty approval of the contemplated construction of a public feed shed in Kendrick. A place of this kind has been badly needed here, particularly during wet weather so that farmers, when they drive to town, will have a dry place to leave their horses. The matter is now up before the town council and will probably be decided at the regular February meeting.

Moscow is following Kendrick's good example by putting their dogtax ordinance into effect. If the "big towns" want to be copy-cats, it's all right with us - but cop-y the dogs, too. Jesse Hoffman, secretary of the

Your Federal Income Tax

The Treasury Department, Bureau of Internavl Revenue, Washington, D. C., has sent the Gazette a little phamplet regarding "your" federal income tax, which might be of interest, if one only had the time to read it, or even half the time it would take to "digest" the contents.
The table of contents has 54 divisions and the little booklet consists of 62 pages, all telling you just how you can make up your income tax. It is a real "interesting" little thing — that is, the interest goes to the government. Of course, if one is unable to make out the intricacies of this interesting little booklet, he might be able to get two or three more explaining how to understand this one.

A drunk boarded one of those two-story busses they have in Chicago; it was crowded, but he finally found a seat by the driver. He talked and talked. Finally the driver tactfully suggested he go up to the top deck and enjoy the fresh air and wonderful view.

The drunk lurched through the crowd and disappeared upstairs. But in a few minutes he was back. "What's the matter?" asked the driver. "Didn't you like the fresh air or the view?"

"Yep, nice air, nice view," replied the drunk. "But 'tain't safe. No driver."

BUY BONDS!

We're asked to buy some bonds, It's such a little thing to do Compared to those who give their lives,

Their legs and arms, eyes, too. Let's not buy pictures for the walls, Nor carpets for the floor, Nor tables for the living room Nor curtains for the door Until the Japs are conquered,

And defeated is the Hun: And men lay down their guns and And the peace is won.

- Mabel I. Hoffman. In about 60 days, steel springs for upholstered wood furniture will be on the market, according to WPB. The manufacturers may use a limited quantitiy of steel springs under a new WPB ruling.
